Seniors Discounts and Services in Wellington

This booklet has been published by Age Concern Wellington in partnership with Wellington City Council in recognition of the contribution that Senior Citizens have made in the Wellington community.

It is based around the goals of the Positive Ageing Strategy, the vision of which is: “For a society where people can age positively, where older people are highly valued and where they are recognised as an integral part of families and communities. New Zealand will be a positive place in which to age when older people can say that they live in a society that values them, acknowledges their contributions and encourages their participation.”

To the best of our knowledge, the organisations’ information, addresses and telephone numbers listed in this directory were correct at the time of printing, but information sometimes changes with time. We would be grateful to be advised of any changes.

If your business or group provide services or discounts to seniors and would like to be included in this booklet please contact Age Concern on ph 499 6646 with your details for our next publication.

Retirement Income and Employment Services for Older People
Work and Income provide a range of retirement income services for older people, including New Zealand Superannuation, the Widows Benefit, International Services, War Pensions Services, the Community Services Card, and extra help in the form of various income support payments. Work and Income also provides employment services to all New Zealanders needing work-search and in-work support.

Can I get New Zealand Superannuation?
To get New Zealand Superannuation (Super) you must be:
- 65 years of age or over, and
- a New Zealand citizen or permanent resident that normally lives here when you apply.

You must also have lived in New Zealand for a total of 10 years since you turned 20 (and five of those years must be since you turned 50), unless when you were overseas you were:

- having special medical or surgical treatment
- doing vocational training
- working as a missionary
- working with Volunteer Service Abroad
- serving in one of the Commonwealth’s armed forces
- working overseas and paid tax in New Zealand on the earnings from that work
- working on a New Zealand-owned or registered ship trading to and from here.

If you spent time overseas, you must usually have been living here before and after you were overseas, unless you spent time in Australia, Britain, Jersey, Guernsey, Canada,
Denmark, the Republic of Ireland, Greece or the Netherlands. That may also count as time lived here in terms of getting your Super.

Applications and payments
The date you apply for your Super is important because it will directly affect when your payments start. It’s important to apply at least two weeks before you reach the qualifying age. Work and Income cannot backdate your payments. Payments are made directly to your bank account every two weeks (this can be a joint account).
To apply, call us first on 0800 552 002 to arrange a meeting.

Other Help
If you live alone you may qualify for a Living Alone Payment in addition to your Super. You can get the payment from the date you started living alone or the date Work and Income receive your application, whichever is later. If your partner has died recently and you apply within 28 days, the payment can be started from the day after your partner died.

If your partner is in long-term residential care you may qualify for the Living Alone Payment. Please talk to Work and Income about this.

If you don’t qualify for Super, you may be eligible for another type of income support, for example if you are a woman alone who is over 50, you may be eligible for a Domestic Purposes Benefit.

If you are an ex-service person and you’re disabled, you may be able to get a War Disablement Pension or Veteran’s Pension. Call War Pension Services free on 0800 553 003 for more information.

The Community Services Card can help reduce the costs of going to the doctor and getting prescriptions. To apply, call our Community Services Card Centre free on 0800 999 999.

If you have a disability, the Disability Allowance can help with the extra costs you have, such as ongoing visits to the doctor or hospital, medicines, extra clothes or travel or gardening services.

Home Equity Loans
Home Equity Release Research
As part of the development of a Code of Practice for Home Equity Release products, the Office for Senior Citizens, in conjunction with the Retirement Commissioner, is supporting an investigation into attitudes to the use of equity release products.

Below is an overview taken from the Office for Senior Citizens website: www.osc.govt.nz/hec/hec-part-one.html

What are "Home Equity Conversion" schemes?
"Home Equity Conversion" schemes are marketed as a way to make available to older people some of the equity in their homes. They are generally loans or advances made against the capital value of people's homes and drawn down in the form of one or more lump sums or periodic payments or annuities. The capital advances, together with accumulated interest on these advances, usually do not have to be repaid until the owner sells the property or dies. Repayment is generally secured by a mortgage over the home.

The growing interest in HEC schemes reflects the fact that owning a freehold home is the preferred way of saving for most New Zealanders. In the New Zealand environment, there is a greater focus on investment in real estate than in private annuities and pension schemes. New Zealanders, on average, have only 22 percent of their net wealth in liquid assets such as shares, bonds or bank deposits. In the United States the comparable figure is 65 percent.

The Minister for Senior Citizens wants to protect the interests and provide peace of mind for borrowers by ensuring that HEC schemes meet certain standards. To draw up the standards the Office for Senior Citizens seeks the views of:
- older people
- HEC providers
- people and organisations interested in retirement financial planning
- people interested in inheritance matters affected by HEC schemes
- people interested in social policy and related issues.

How do Home Equity Conversion schemes work?
For many older people, the money invested in their homes, the equity, is the major part of their net wealth. This wealth helps to reduce costs, but the money tied up in a home is not available to help with house maintenance or other living costs. HEC schemes, sometimes called home equity release loans, enable some of the financial equity in the home to be made available to the home owner, either as a lump sum, a periodic payment, or an annuity.

Under HEC schemes, the home owner, the “borrower”, applies to the HEC scheme, the “lender”, to be paid an amount, the “loan”, and the “lender” in return, is empowered to secure the “loan” against the property. The eligibility of HEC borrowers is largely dependent on their home having a significant value. The funds advanced and the accumulated interest does not have to be repaid until the owner sells the property or dies.

Typically, a HEC scheme will make a loan available to people over 60 years of age who own a property over a certain value. Most loans have similar features.
- The loan will be limited to a percentage of the value of the house.
- The percentage increases with the age of the borrower.
Interest is accumulated on the loan at a variable interest rate.
The interest rate is generally a given percentage, for example 1.5 percent to 2 percent, above the major banks' variable mortgage rates.
Home owners are given guaranteed residency in the property.
The loan and accumulated interest is not repayable until the owner sells their property or dies.
A no-negative equity guarantee ensures that the value of the loan will never exceed the net sale proceeds of the property.

There are three main types of legal structure for HEC schemes: reverse mortgages, home reversions and shared appreciation schemes.

Home Reversions
These types of schemes involve the sale of the property in return for a capital sum or supplementary income. The sale is generally for a reduced price with the borrower having continued rights of occupancy.
Reversion schemes have only recently been available in New Zealand, but overseas they take a variety of forms around the sale of all, or part of the property.

Reverse Mortgages
Reverse mortgages enable older home owners to borrow against the equity in their property. Home owners are able to draw capital sums or periodic payments, annuities or lines-of-credit. The total amount of the loan together with interest charges and any other charges, are secured by a mortgage over the property. The maximum amount that can be drawn against the equity of the property is determined by the provider according to market conditions, taking into account the property's value and the age of the applicants.

The reverse mortgage is repayable on the owner's sale of the property or death. Research shows that reverse mortgages make up nearly 97 percent of the home equity market in New Zealand. This paper primarily focuses on these schemes. It is also useful to be aware of the other types of HEC schemes that are available.

Shared Appreciation Schemes
These are a form of home reversion under which borrowers draw on some of the property's equity and lenders rely on the appreciation of the property's equity on its eventual sale.
For more information please refer to the website

Older people are well advised to identify the cost of the contract they enter into and ask for a financial table giving the annual effect of the compounding interest against the value of their home and to obtain expert and legal advice before entering into any contract.

Rates

Rates Rebate – ph 499 4444
The rates rebate scheme is a “refund” administered by Wellington City Council to low-income ratepayers. The rebate is credited against the rate account. This is a Government-organised scheme controlled by the Department of Internal Affairs and administered by the Council.

It is designed to assist low-income ratepayers with paying their rates. The scheme has been in place since 1973. However, last year the Government announced some proposed changes to the scheme to allow more people to become eligible.

Major changes came into effect from 1 July 2006, the beginning of the 2006-2007 rating year.

- But from 1 July 2008 the maximum rebate amount payable has increased to $530.
- And the income threshold has increased to $21,180 a year and is increased by $500 for each dependent in the household (if you earn over $21,180 and without dependents you could still be eligible so you should contact the rates team).
- Applicants can only qualify for a rebate for the current year – previously they have been able to apply for past years, but this is no longer the case.
- The rebate amount will show as a lump sum payment against the account and will credit the instalment 2 amount (in the past the amount has been divided across all remaining instalments). You need to ensure your first instalment is paid.
- The rates rebate is available to residential ratepayers only.
- The owner/ratepayer must have ownership of the house since 1 July 2006 (e.g. if they bought the house on 10 July they will not be eligible as it covers the entire rating year).
- The application needs to be approved by the Department of Internal Affairs – this can take up to four weeks.

Contact us here at WCC (ph 499 4444) and we will send an application form to you, or you can download one from the Department of Internal Affairs website, www.ratesrebates.govt.nz. This website will also give you access to additional rates information.

RETIREMENT, RESIDENTIAL AND REST HOMES

The village lifestyle: A retirement village is not an old folk’s home! A village offers a fresh lifestyle to those who want to live independently in their own home, whether they are 60 or 90. The term “retirement village” covers an ever-increasing variety of services. Villages range from groups of villas or townhouses, to serviced apartments, to full service communities. Some complexes have villas or apartments only, while others have a full continuum of provision: independent housing, rest home, and hospital. Some retirement villages are beginning to bring into the person’s own dwelling “rest home level” and even “hospital level” care, rather than have them move out to a care facility. Village units or apartments are being built with such future space requirements in mind.

Rest homes: Religious and welfare organisations, charitable trusts, private organisations and individuals operate rest, or residential, homes. Enquiries can be made through your doctor.

Age Concern (ph 499 6646) have a current directory of retirement, residential and rest homes.

Backdoor Rubbish Collection

Backdoor Refuse Collection – ph 499 4444
Wellington City Council offers backdoor refuse collection service to residents who either qualify for a free backdoor refuse collection service or to residents who are able and willing to pay for this service.

Backdoor collections can be provided free for some people. To qualify for a free collection the applicant must show ALL THREE OF THE FOLLOWING CONDITIONS are met:
1. They are either disabled or impaired or they are frail elderly. Applicants, including frail elderly, must supply a written statement from a health professional such as a district nurse, doctor or Foundation for the Blind confirming the disability/impairment/frail elderly status of household member/s. (PLEASE NOTE: Senior citizens do not automatically qualify for free backdoor collection because of age – they need to support the application with a medical certificate).
2. There is no one in the household that is able to carry the refuse bags to the kerbside.
3. They are experiencing financial hardship, such as low household income. Applicants must supply proof of household income (after tax) such as a certificate of earnings. Work and Income New Zealand (WINZ) benefit details or income tax return.

Paying for backdoor refuse collection: For $125.00 a year (approx $2.50 per week) the Council will collect refuse from the resident's back door. A form must be completed and WCC bags must still be used. There is no backdoor collection for recycling.
