Wellington City Council and the NZ Transport Agency are working together to unlock the area around Johnsonville, Moorefield and Broderick roads (the ‘Johnsonville Triangle’).

This $11 million project will help to ease peak-hour congestion, make walking and cycling easier and safer and improve public transport.

We’re aiming to provide better transport for everyone.

This work will also boost future commercial and residential growth. It is part of the Johnsonville Town Centre Plan and our new Urban Growth Plan.

Johnsonville Mall may also be redeveloped in the next few years. Whether or not this goes ahead, we’re getting on with unlocking the Triangle. This work will lay the foundation for any road works associated with the mall.

Work started in August 2014 and will be complete by the end of 2015.
