The goodwill of volunteers, combined with the non-profit sector is equivalent to 5 percent of GDP nationally (the same as the construction industry).

What will we do?

- Make it easy for people to volunteer in diverse ways and at different times
- Give employers, organisations and the wider community greater benefits from volunteering.

How will we and our partners do this?

- Develop an online database that is simple to use and connects more people, organisations, skills and values to volunteering
- Tell our stories to get more partners involved
- Expand training in best practice to support a growing volunteering base
- Work with the different voluntary sectors to make it easier to volunteer through our initiatives, including those contained in this folder.

Why do this?

- To recognise the huge contribution of volunteers and enable volunteering to fit more easily into busy lifestyles
- To have a 21st century plan for a 21st century city and broaden the volunteering resource as part of the Wellington experience.

What's in it for you?

- Have fun achieving your corporate social responsibility goals
- Be part of growing our fantastic volunteer base, knowing what is happening and when.

How can you get involved?

- Sponsor or bring your skills to one or more of the above areas around volunteering. Or talk to us with your ideas!
