WELLINGTON CITY COUNCIL

Wellington

Planting a tree is a perfect way to honour a special person or mark an event. It's also a great way to help ensure a greener future.

Wellington City Council has commemorative trees available that can be planted to remember a departed loved one, celebrate a birth, anniversary or special event, honour someone or express appreciation.

Trees cost $184. This pays for the tree, its planting and initial care, and assists with maintenance over its lifetime. We don't allow individual plaques for maintenance and other reasons but you will receive a certificate with a photo showing the tree and its location.

Native and exotic trees including kowhai, totara, oak and ash are available, depending on the planting site. They will be at least five years old and between 1 and 1.5 metres high.

There are four sites in the city where commemorative trees can be planted: Victory Gardens on Mt Victoria, Willowbank Park in Tawa, Karori Cemetery and Makara Cemetery.

We expect that in most cases applicants and their family and friends will want to plant, or help plant the tree. Dates will be discussed when staff will be present to plant or assist. These planting days are likely to be in winter to ensure the trees get off to a good start.

In special circumstances plantings may be possible at other times of year but these will need to be arranged and approved in advance and applicants may be required to do some follow-up watering.

If you want to bury a placenta, or scatter or bury ashes during the tree planting, this can be organised but must be discussed with Council Parks and Gardens staff at an early stage. There may occasionally be a site where this is not possible for cultural or other reasons, for example at Victory Gardens.

Commemorative trees which die or are vandalised within five years of the planting date will be replaced at no cost to the applicant.

If you would like more information on the commemorative tree scheme phone 499 4444 or check our website Wellington.govt.nz
