Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Strongly oppose

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Removing residents only notices is inherently unfair to residents who have not choice but to park on the street. More often than not, cars will be parked illegally, meaning we have nowhere to park.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Yes

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

On the street (residents only)

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

I live in the area

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, which zone of Newtown or Berhampore is it in?

Newtown east

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Very likely

Why did you select that answer?

I already have a residents only parking permit

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

Very unlikely

If you live in the area, how many vehicles are owned by people in your home?

Thinking about where you park, do you think the new scheme will have an impact on your ability to find a car park in Newtown?

Much harder

The traffic wardens cannot possibly keep up with policing the amount of time that cars are parked within the limit of 2 hours. That requires them to chalk tyres at the time of parking and then come back 2 hours later.

The mix of P120 (resident permit exempt) parking spaces and unrestricted parking spaces.	Strongly oppose

Consequently cars could park at 6pm and remain there until 10am the next morning.

The hospital needs to take responsibility for its employees and provide its own free parking. This would take the pressure off actual residents who are daily juggling to park near their own homes - not just for convenience, but to keep an eye out for vandalism of vehicles, which is alive and well. The overall proposed parking scheme will not work

Parking in Newtown

Parking in the wider Newtown area has been under pressure for years and there have been community calls for action to address this. To manage on-street parking in the area more fairly, we're proposing Newtown and Berhampore will be the first suburbs in the city to have a new-style parking scheme.

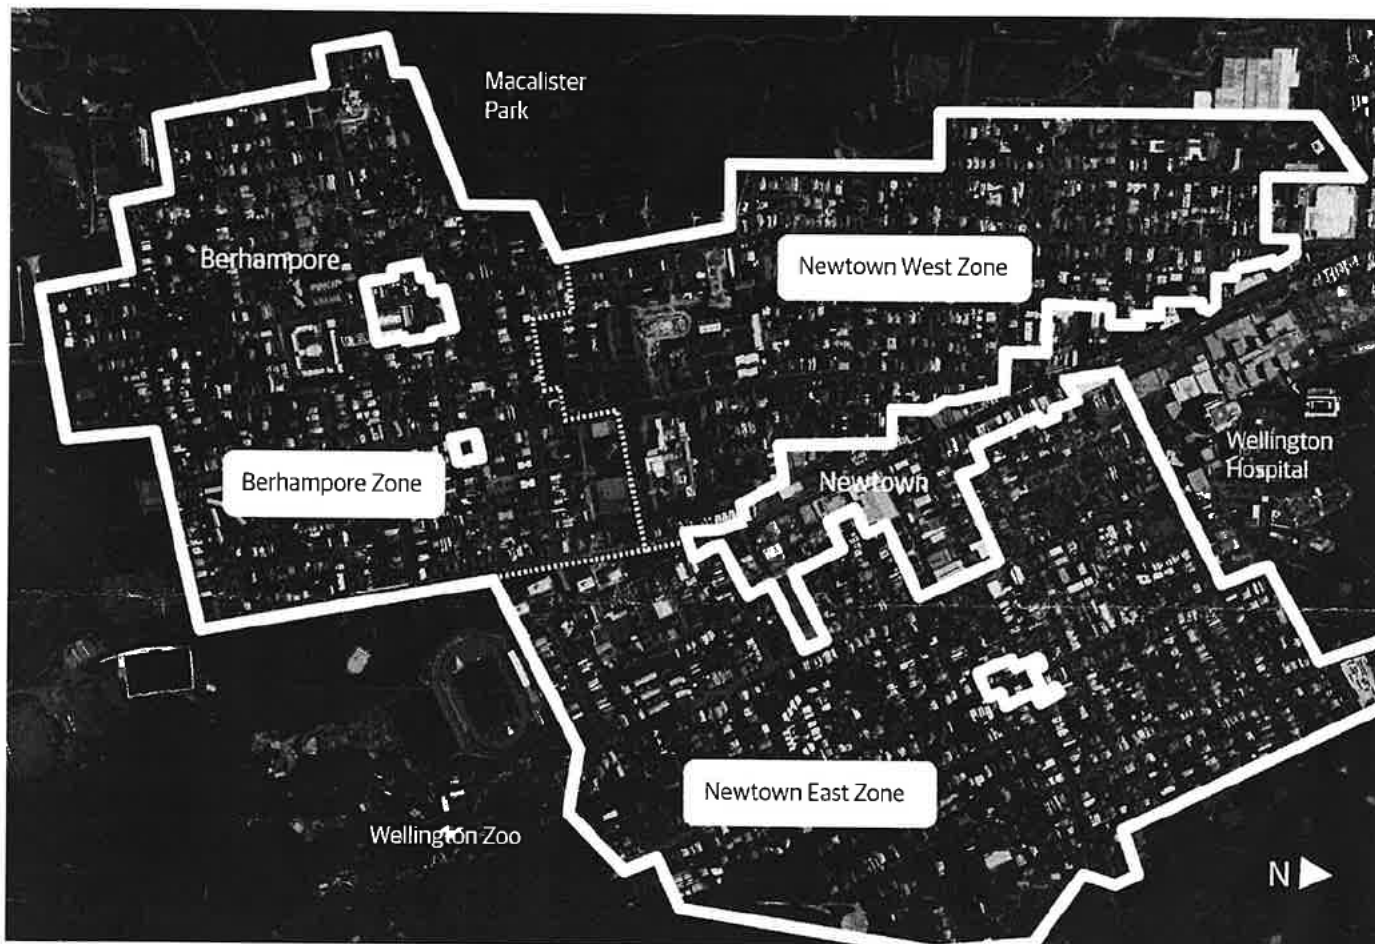

The scheme - developed in line with the city's Parking Policy - will prioritise residents and visitors looking for short-stay parking across both suburbs. It will replace the existing residents' parking zones in these areas.

The changes should:

- make it easier for residents who aren't able to park off-street, to park in the area
- provide short-stay parking for tradespeople and visitors
- more fairly manage the demand and allocation of parking permits.

The parking scheme area is marked on the map below by the thick white line. Some business areas are not within the scheme area, including shops along Riddiford Street, businesses at the intersection of Constable Street and Owen Street, the Berhampore town centre, and shops at the intersection of Luxford Street and Rintoul Street.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Yes       No

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

On the street (unrestricted)       On the street (residents only)       In an off-street car park       In a garage       In a mobility park

In a special park (e.g. EV, car share etc)       Other (please specify)

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?
(The area within the thick white line, excluding business areas.)

I live in the area       I own or manage a business in Berhampore or Newtown

I visit friends who live in the area       I regularly travel through the area

I visit Berhampore and Newtown for other activities (e.g. shop, recreation, Zoo etc)       I live in Wellington

I work in Berhampore or Newtown       I have no relationship

Proposed parking scheme restrictions and permit eligibility

The new-style parking scheme is new to Wellington but works well in other cities in residential areas where parking is under pressure.

Residents who apply for and are granted an annual permit will be able to park in P120 spaces which state authorised residents vehicles are exempt from the time restriction.

The new parking scheme uses three main tools to fairly share on-street parking:

- short-stay parking (P120s), with exemption from the two-hour time-limit for resident parking permit holders
- eligibility criteria and priority groups, to guide how the permits are allocated
- a cap on the total number of permits issued for a resident parking area (85 percent of the P120 spaces).

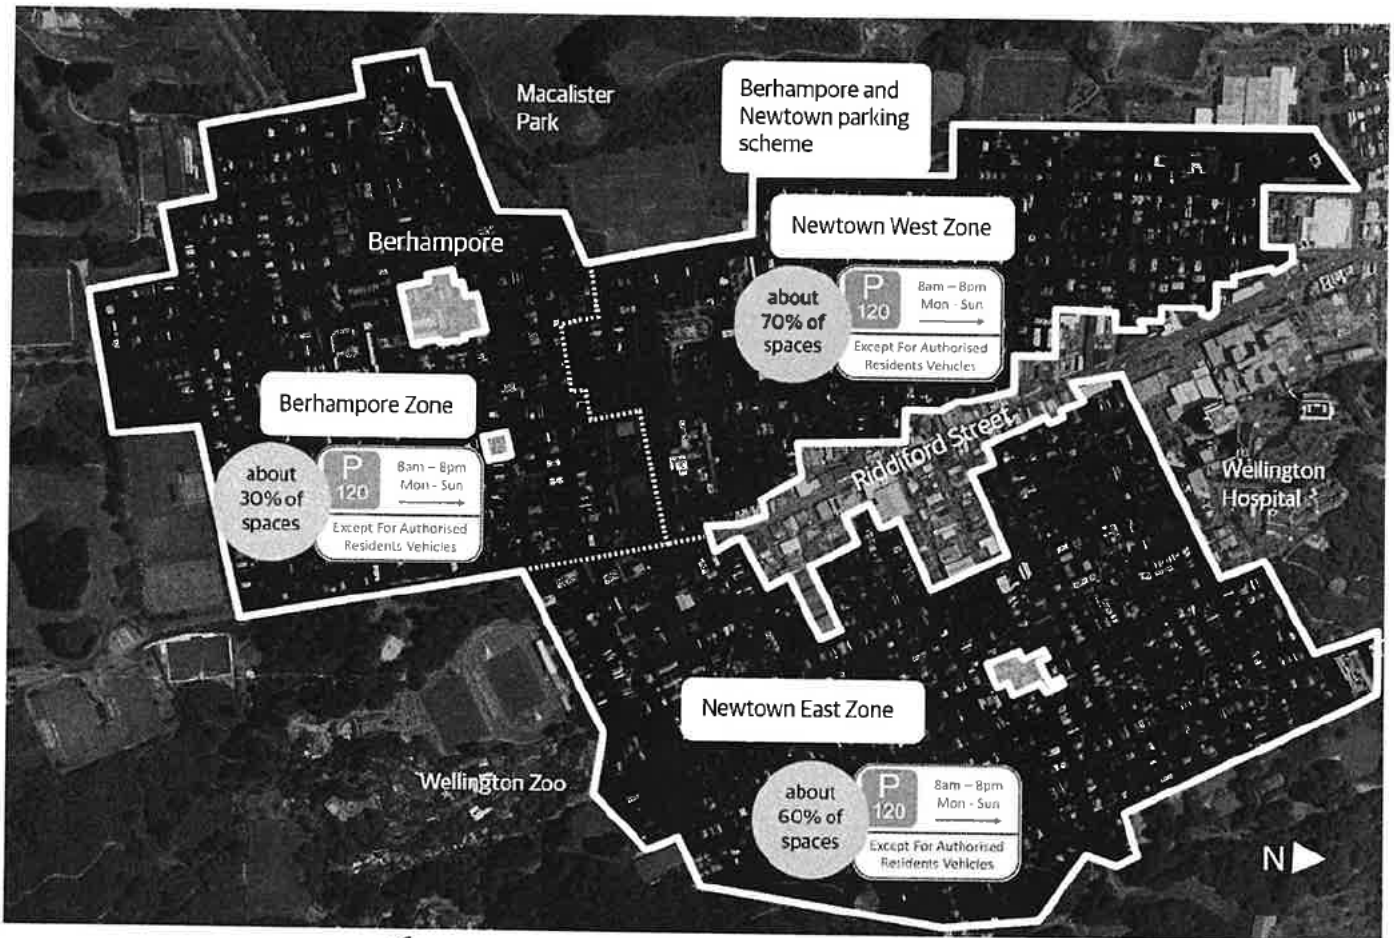

In most residential streets in Newtown and Berhampore, most of the on-street parking spaces will be a mix of two-hour parking (resident permit exempt P120s, 8am-8pm, Monday-Sunday) and parking with no restrictions where anyone can park at any time (unrestricted).

There will be a few streets where almost all the parking will be two-hour, and a few, where for now, all the on-street parking will remain unrestricted.

It's proposed about 70 percent of the parking in Newtown west will become P120s (resident permit exempt), 60 percent in Newtown east and about 30 percent in Berhampore.

Group 2 of the prioritised permits gives imperative to a population segment predominantly wealthier segment of the current population. Group 3 uses arbitrary dates (1930s, 1940s) to prioritise parking. There seems to be little consideration of the impacts of nearby parking loss or specific needs in the prioritisation. The only part of this segmentation I have no issue with is Group 1.

If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here.
I am speaking only about the Berhampore segment of the proposed parking. With the volume of displaced vehicles and the disjointed nature of the P120 zones, there will be increased pressure on surrounding areas not included in the zone. It is likely that many people will have to park long distances from their houses, which is very problematic for the elderly, families with young children, and less mobile residents. Berhampore as a suburb has a very large number of dwellings with no off street parking.

Something has to be done but it would have been great to be part of the solution ie open consultation would have been useful. There is also a major issue with the bus system WCC and the Regional council need to work together to change the operating model. I don't drive but have been forced off the buses by their unreliability. For our whfÅnau of 4 (2 parents + 2 kids) who have lived in Newtown for 16 years it would have a very serious impact if we were unsuccessful in obtaining a permit. Their father/my partner can,Äôt do his job without a private vehicle. For this reason we would like to understand the appeals process or at least kbow if there is one.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Newtown west

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Very likely

Why did you select that answer?

We are a family of 4 and my partner is a builder who uses the family's one vehicle for work. He has to use a private vehicle as it is the only viable option in terms of transporting tools and materials

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

I have lived in Colombo St for 16 years and the parking problems became an issue when the new hospital opened. The suspect the majority of the non-resident car parks will be used by hospital works for this reason they need to 24hr, 7 day. I would strongly urge the council to work with the hospital to find a viable parking alternative for our hospital workers. It is going to be very difficult for them to find affordable parking and as a community we need the hospital workers to feel supported.

Kia ora Wellington City Councillors,

Submission on proposed parking, bus, bike and pedestrian changes

Te Whatu Ora – Capital, Coast and Hutt Valley (Te Whatu Ora) operates Wellington Regional Hospital, the tertiary hospital for the Wellington region. Approximately 5,000 people work at this campus.

Wellington Regional Hospital is located in Newtown and is a locally and regionally significant destination. Journeys to and from the campus make up approximately 20% of the daily vehicle movements on Riddiford Street. Te Whatu Ora acknowledges the significant work that has led to the proposal to change on street parking controls in Newtown and improve connections for public transport users, people on bikes, and pedestrians.

We have previously expressed support for Paneke Pōneke and are pleased to see the existing safe cycleways in Island Bay and Newtown will be connected by this proposal. This facility will provide safe access to Wellington Regional Hospital from more parts of the city. Investment in active transport infrastructure, including the changes proposed in this consultation, are likely to support more people to be more active and improve population health.

It is essential that Wellington Regional Hospital is accessible to patients and visitors who are travelling from across the region. Travelling by car is the only suitable mode due the specific considerations associated with using health services for many people. Wellington City Council should consider how changing the controls on parking near the hospital will impact patients accessing the care they need.

Te Whatu Ora has shared our travel surveys with Wellington City Council officials, including the most recent edition undertaken in December/January 2022/23. We are committed to maintaining a productive partnership with Council, recognising the important role that Wellington Regional Hospital plays in providing health care to our community and region.

The latest travel survey showed 16% of staff, approximately 800 people, use public transport to get to the Hospital each day. The improvements expected from the proposed changes to bus stops and lanes will make journeys faster and more convenient for those staff, and others who choose public transport in the future.

Many Wellington Regional Hospital staff work shifts that start early or finish late. It is also not uncommon for staff to work long hours. The complexity of working at a tertiary hospital makes commuting more complicated for many of our people than typical commuters. Around 63% of staff rely on a single occupancy car to get work according to our travel survey. Currently, around 800-1200 staff use on street parking in the suburbs surrounding the Hospital.

Even with the ambitious mode shift targets in our Travel Action Plan, there are currently not enough carparks on site to accommodate all staff who drive to work. Te Whatu Ora is undertaking a feasibility study for supplying additional car parks on site, however, if approved, this is still several years from completion.

To limit the potential disruption to health services in the Wellington region, Te Whatu Ora requests that no changes be made to parking controls in the Newtown East area until after the bike lane and bus improvements are completed. We also seek a review of the impacts of the parking changes in Berhampore and Newtown West prior to introducing any changes to Newtown East.

We also recommend considering increasing the time allowed in short stay parks from two hours to three hours near Wellington Regional Hospital, to increase the suitability for patients and visitors who choose to park on street.

Te Whatu Ora strongly urges Wellington City Council to consider the feedback submitted by our staff, patients and visitors, and seek to mitigate the impact of the proposed on street parking changes where possible.

I reside at [REDACTED] Newtown, I am writing in to object to your proposals for parking change in the area, WCC has caused a lot of parking problems in the area by putting in bike lanes and removing parking. Also you state that resident parking will be given to residents, who are the residents, owners of expensive houses. I am living with 2 other car owners on this property that we don't own, we are old and out-patients of the hospital, we need cars to shop and get around. You are creating a class distinction and that is not on and I for one oppose it.

Tene koe

I am opposed to the Proposed Parking Scheme for Berhampore and Newtown. I am a resident of Newtown.

My reasons include the following:

"The Proposed Parking Scheme is meant to prioritise residents and help ease parking pressures"

- however for Green St it will actually make it more difficult for residents as the new scheme relies on residents to have a resident's parking permit. The criteria for getting these are restrictive, including the fact a household can only have two permits associated with it. A number of the properties in Green St are flats with more than two residents and cars associated with it.
- Green St is one of the earliest streets laid out in Wellington, pre-dating cars and also featuring workers cottages, built on small sections, boundary to boundary and against the road edge, meaning few properties have off-street parking or the ability to create off-street parking
- The deliberate limiting of residents permits and enabling them to cover half of Newtown under one permit will put even more pressure on Green St residents being able to park in their own street, with residents from other parts of Newtown being able to park there as well.
- The forcing of residents to purchase a permit for $195 a year is in effect merely another Council rate, with under the current system residents having the option to park for free but risk the chance of not securing a parking place, the buying of a permit simply nearly guarantees a park in the 'Residents Parking Only' section. So currently it is an option, not a requirement to being able to park your car near your own place of residence.

"The Proposed Parking Scheme is meant to provide more short-stay parking for tradespeople and visitors"

- There are already short term parks (both 60min and 30min) available in the street with a good turnover of vehicles and at least one parking spot usually empty.
- There is ample parking for shoppers along the main street and surrounds already
- Tradespeople working on a property currently seem to have little trouble in finding a park and are tolerated well by residents. Green Street is a small street and residents know each other and accommodate disruptions such as work on properties.
- Only a minority of work undertaken by tradespeople on a domestic house will take less than two hours.
- Newtown already has an adequate number of short-term parking places to accommodate visiting shoppers.
- In fact studies in other cities have shown that a 120 minute parking time means spaces tend to be occupied by business employees who can simply move between parking spots in their morning, lunch and afternoon breaks.

"The Proposed Parking Scheme is meant to more fairly manage the demand and allocation of parking permits"

- Artificially limiting residents permits to 80% will create disadvantages for people, for example someone who moves to the area halfway through a permit year
- While prioritising houses without off-street parking is reasonable, other priorities are not.
- Mobility / disability issues could easily be accommodated through the existing Mobility Card system which would also better accommodate the needs of this group with the permit attached to the person, not a vehicle
- Prioritising EVs is unreasonable, this is both mixing a political objective with what is meant to be a scheme to improve parking, and also blatantly favours the wealthy and will continue to do so until there is a wide range of EV's available at all tiers of the 2nd hand car market.
- Re-assessing a resident's priority ranking every year will create uncertainty and anxiety for people about where they will be able to park on an ongoing basis and is unfair. As Council doesn't require developers to provide off street parking, a large development in the area could easily mean that long standing residents can have their ability to park near their home withdrawn by an influx of new wealthy neighbours (or not even neighbours, the development could be anywhere within the proposed zone.

There is equilibrium and balance to parking in Newtown currently, the loss of parking spaces caused by the establishment of the cycle lanes affects visitors to the hospital, and to people visiting the businesses along Adelaide Rd towards the Basin Reserve. parking in the residential areas of Newtown does not need this radical change.

If the proposed parking scheme is pushed through the number of 'Visitor permits' is too few (at 50) - these could easily be taken up by one regular visitor a week. There should be 100 at least. There should be exemptions for specific occupations eg home help that come in to assist disabled or medically unwell people.

Parking in Newtown

Parking in the wider Newtown area has been under pressure for years and there have been community calls for action to address this. To manage on-street parking in the area more fairly, we're proposing Newtown and Berhampore will be the first suburbs in the city to have a new-style parking scheme.

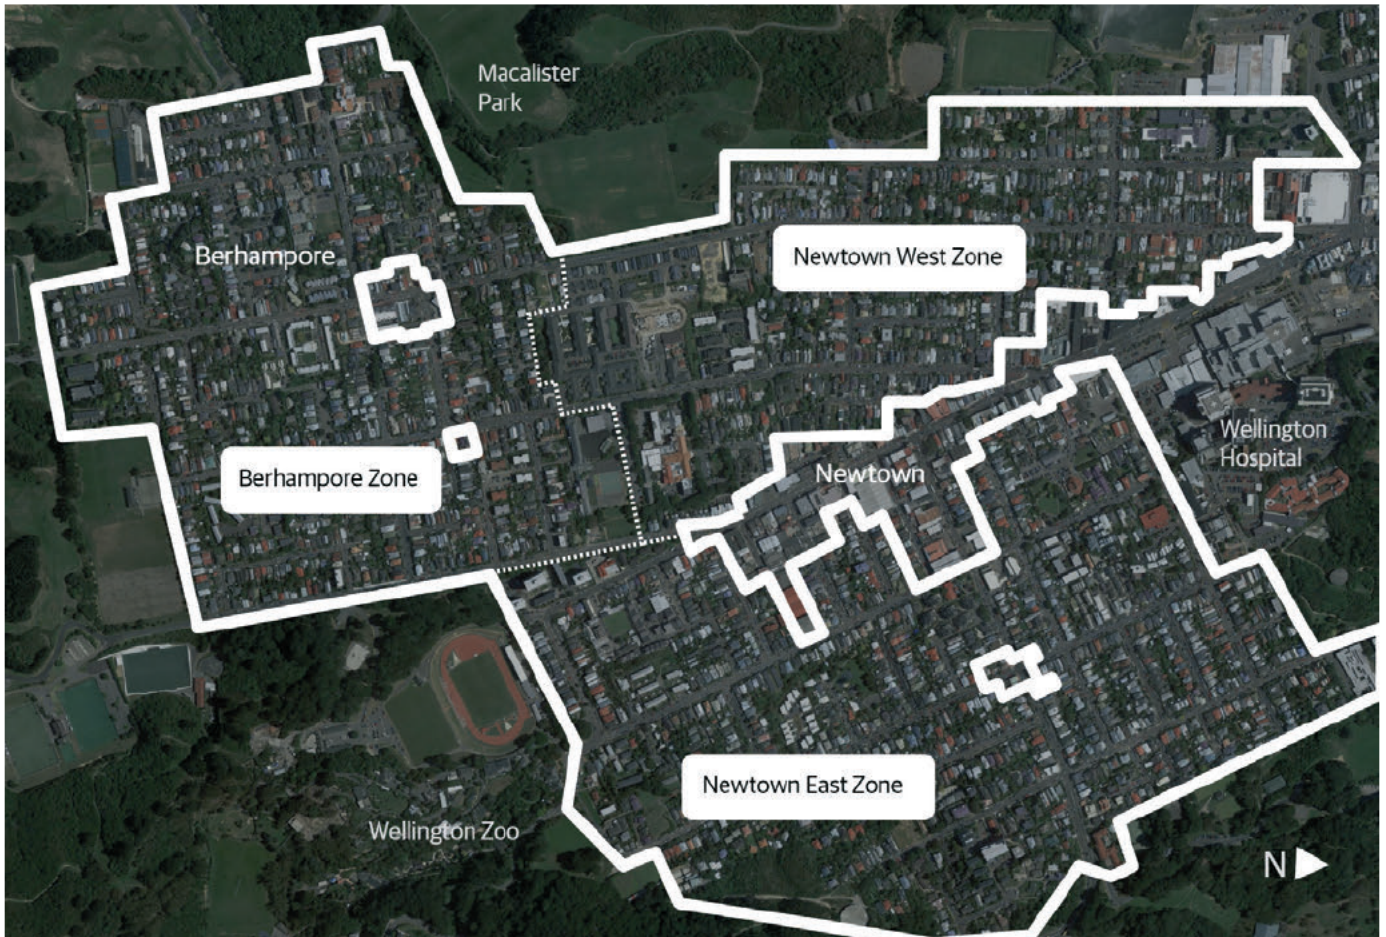

The scheme – developed in line with the city's Parking Policy – will prioritise residents and visitors looking for short-stay parking across both suburbs. It will replace the existing residents' parking zones in these areas.

The changes should:

- make it easier for residents who aren't able to park off-street, to park in the area
- provide short-stay parking for tradespeople and visitors
- more fairly manage the demand and allocation of parking permits.

The parking scheme area is marked on the map below by the thick white line. Some business areas are not within the scheme area, including shops along Riddiford Street, businesses at the intersection of Constable Street and Owen Street, the Berhampore town centre, and shops at the intersection of Luxford Street and Rintoul Street.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Yes       No

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

On the street (unrestricted)       On the street (residents only)       In an off-street car park       In a garage       In a mobility park

In a special park (e.g. EV, car share etc)       Other (please specify)

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area? (The area within the thick white line, excluding business areas.)

I live in the area       I own or manage a business in Berhampore or Newtown

I visit friends who live in the area       I regularly travel through the area

I visit Berhampore and Newtown for other activities (e.g. shop, recreation, Zoo etc)       I live in Wellington

I work in Berhampore or Newtown       I have no relationship

Other (please specify)

These questions should of been sent to the occupiers first - there is a major change to a street dependent community & the data needs to be good & current to ensure there are no oversights moreso when parking fines will be on the increase, and the area heavily monitored!

memo? what are the rules for them?

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, which zone of Newtown or Berhampore is it in? (See map above)

- Newtown west   
  Newtown east   
  Berhampore zone   
  Business area, not in the scheme area

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a residents exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

- Very likely   
  Likely   
  Undecided   
  Unlikely   
  Very unlikely

Why did you select that answer?

If a business uses its vehicles during the day & only parks at night & finishes work before paid permit residents — They won't need a parking permit in the P120 zones
 The business in our area has 4 vehicles — they won't need a permit & will still have access to the P120 areas
 MAJOR OVERSIGHT - Parking issues — are night & day.
 This is based on 2019 trends not 2023

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

Other (please specify)

can't believe with all the time we've had — & the major change to an area dependent on parking we did not ask these questions of the actual residents of the streets.

Thinking about where you park, do you think the new scheme will have an impact on your ability to find a car park in Newtown?

WCC should not be basing these changes on a small amount of submitters and some who do not live in the area.

Proposed parking scheme restrictions and permit eligibility

The new-style parking scheme is new to Wellington but works well in other cities in residential areas where parking is under pressure.

Amazing how many people one talks to - who are

Residents who apply for and are granted an annual permit will be able to park in P120 spaces which state authorised residents vehicles are exempt from the time restriction.

unaware of these changes but understandable

The new parking scheme uses three main tools to fairly share on-street parking:

- short-stay parking (P120s), with exemption from the two-hour time-limit for resident parking permit holders
- eligibility criteria and priority groups, to guide how the permits are allocated
- a cap on the total number of permits issued for a resident parking area (85 percent of the P120 spaces).

as there is too much going on

In most residential streets in Newtown and Berhampore, most of the on-street parking spaces will be a mix of two-hour parking (resident permit exempt P120s, 8am-8pm, Monday-Sunday) and parking with no restrictions

on Election time - work - etc

where anyone can park at any time (unrestricted).

There will be a few streets where almost all the parking will be two-hour, and a few, where for now, all the on-street parking will remain unrestricted.

It's proposed about 70 percent of the parking in Newtown west will become P120s (resident permit exempt), 60 percent in Newtown east and about 30 percent in Berhampore.

You should not be discriminate against if you live in a flat. P120 - too short for a suburb that is a strong health business. minimum P240! This is a residential area NOT A CBD! This parking policy is based on old data - night time parking is an issue not just day time parking because of changes since 2014 ie Emergency housing unable to park in town - more work @ home, apartments &amp; NO no longer supplying car park &amp; transport system that has issues!

If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here. This is a major change to a low income suburb, student, retired people, cash poor, trades taxi/uber drivers .. Each street - should be given the opportunity to discuss the policy and how it is to be applied to their st &amp; the impact. &amp; have input to non P120 areas → why would someone get a permit if they only night park more so if a permit limits them to a zone?!? but then again parking permit is about parking 8:00am to 8:00pm so shouldn't matter if they have a permit or not.

In the words of WCC - "we are doing you a favour" by combining the two submissions

1. A temporary project process - Cycle Lane
2. Parking Policy Permanent change Project

therefore a 4 week timeframe even though a standard singular submission is 3 weeks.

this should have being a six week submission or two separate submissions - the respect these projects required! <sup>and election year!!</sup> <sup>more so with old data - 2019 for the parking being used.</sup>

A favour - is something asked not told

A favour - is an act of kindness - this timeframe is not!!

I strongly recommend that WCC met with residents of the <sup>affected</sup> streets - this should have being done & could of been done.

WCC have said they have met & let KO know about the changes to the parking policy - But have KO let their tenants know! How did WCC ensure this happen?

If the Newtown flats tenants have a park why would they need to access 2 parking permits?

I understand if there is no KO parking but when there is??

Was this information available in multiple languages for the tenants of KO & Council tenants??

- there are times when vehicles are towed due to maintenance - please can these be towed to an area that does not take parks away from residents. the area behind the stadium (Newtown) could be used.

What will happen when a ticket is given to P120 but the owner does not know & does not move their car on? or it has being dumped?

Does the policy address this?

Yes - People will learn (maybe) But we do get vehicles dumped in the area? so will WCC be able to move these vehicles on sooner?

Our Street would like to meet with Paul Barker to discuss our options. And be able to have input on the plans for our street. We are a diversity small st - so would offer good examples for the parking plans.

Now days with modern technology & knowing that in Newtown Garages are too small for the modern car - I strongly recommend that we consider utilising the space in front of these garages by allowing the owners to park parallel to the garage (street part in front of them) without ticketing them.

This would definitely increase parking in the area! Why wouldn't you? The owner's not going to get upset with themselves or neighbours with the owner! Come on WCE we can do this one!!

- there's a fair few of these under utilised spaces!!!

Kia ora folks

So sorry this is late, I hope it can be accepted (even though I don't work for an embassy ;-) my submissions are as follows:

I strongly support the Parking Plan for Newtown.

I strongly support the street improvements for Berhampore and Newtown.

Any other comments:

I encourage Council and all its partners to think laterally and holistically about the interaction between travel demand and landuse in improving these parts of the city and their contribution to the city and region.

Subject: Feedback on Newtown Parking Proposal

Hi Laurie,

I've missed the deadline for feedback on the Proposal for changes to Newtown parking. I've been out of town over the holidays with no internet access. Can you please submit this for me.

Overall I accept that a solution to parking is required to improve the wellbeing and vibrancy of the area of Newtown. However, this parking proposal is going to shift the problem not solve it.

- 1) Many of the people affected by this proposal are hospital workers. All three major hospitals in Newtown should be required to provide sufficient off street parking for all their staff and visitors, in the same way that the two supermarkets provide a large amount of off street parking. This needs to happen BEFORE any changes to parking on the street, otherwise there will be a health crisis of not enough staff. This will hurt people needing hospital care, people visiting the hospital as well as the financial wellbeing of hospital workers from across the city.
- 2) Every large facility in the Newtown/Berhampore area that attracts a crowd needs to provide parking off street to lessen their impact on residents. The Zoo and Newtown Park in particular need to provide many more off street parking spaces.
- 3) There seem to be hidden agendas of penalising petrol users and that parking in general is bad. The reality is that EVs take the same amount of parking space. Increasing numbers of parked e-bikes also make the footpaths less safe for pedestrians. So rather than removing parking spaces forever, there needs to be talk of providing replacement parking spaces off street. Such as a council owned parking building at each end of the main Newtown shopping street. A vibrant shopping centre needs more people visiting using a wide range of transport methods. This needs to happen BEFORE the changes to parking.

- 4) Inter-suburb public transport needs to increase so it is more feasible than using a private car. Travel from Brooklyn to Newtown by car is easy, but by bus is a very much longer trip via the CDB. This needs to happen BEFORE the changes to parking.
- 5) Council should not permit any high density housing developments without the provision of some off street parking. Not every house has a vehicle, so it should not necessarily be one park per house, it might be a ratio of one car park between 2 houses, and include off street EV charging and space for all forms of bikes.
- 6) Obtaining every form of resident parking voucher, visitor permits and tradie permits needs to be accessible at multiple locations directly in the area. I've recently needed a tradie permit to work in Mt Victoria and the only way to access a tradie park permit is by a trip into the CBD and the cost and time of locating an inner city park to then visit the council building in business hours. A respected parking scheme needs to easily work for the locals not against them. At a minimum I would expect both supermarkets, both petrol stations and the library should provide a good range of hours and access points.
- 7) EV owners should not have higher ballot rights than other types of vehicle owners. This is will discriminate against and penalise lower income people who cannot afford the higher prices of EVs. A ballot is a ballot.

Proposed Berhampore and Newtown Parking Scheme

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the Newtown and Berhampore Parking Scheme.

Hospital Users

In my opinion Ngā Puna Waiora Wellington Regional Hospital makes a big contribution to Newtown, with hospital staff, hospital visitors, and day patients from the entire Wellington Region (Kāpiti Coast, to Porirua, to Wairarapa) all potentially contributing to the local economy, and looking for parking in Newtown. Apart from reading that Council held hospital-only consultations for this Scheme, the summary is woefully short on analysis of hospital parking requirements. My suggestions are:

- Hospital day-patients need the ability to park all day (frequently there are long waiting times for appointments, or patients are asked to attend several departments, e.g. x-ray, or to see a specialist) and an appointment stretches out over the day.
- Please allow Hospital Administrators to provide parking day passes for day patients and visitors who expect to spend the day with a patient.

On Site Hospital Parking

The hospital has an underground car park and car parking created during construction of Te Wao Nui Children's Hospital. Word on the street is that the Hospital will build a new multi-storey car park on the corner of Riddiford Street and Mein Street. If this happens:

- Health funding should not be diverted to pay for another multi-storey car park
- The safety of hospital workers walking to their car at night is a top priority
- Can Council lend any further expertise to assist hospital staff to reduce their number of private car journeys?

Mobility Parking

The proposed Parking Scheme puts residents first, but it does not give any special consideration to people with mobility issues. In the case of parking, I would include people with toddlers under 2 years as needing priority parking. The Council is collecting annual data about who is applying for a parking permit in the area, making it feasible to:

- Mark out a mobility park within 20 metres of a person's address who has proven that they have mobility needs, or a toddler under two years
- Remove the mobility park if the application is not renewed, or the toddler is over two years

Parking for Tradespeople

Often there will be multiple tradespeople working on a job, especially a big development like a Kāinga Ora build. They will need all day parking. My suggestion is for:

- Council to issue all-day permits for tradespeople, rather than homeowners (with visitor permits available for minor works)

Ineligible Vehicles & Kerbside Cuttings

Some more thought needs to be put into these sections, for example:

- It is valuable to have people owning trailers in our community, they need a place to store them
- Will Council remove unwanted kerbside cuttings for properties that were designed to have garages, which were subsequently remodelled into an extra bedroom?

Parking Days & Times

Two hours parking seems quite restrictive for people who are visiting Newtown. There could be any number of reasons for visiting, e.g. visiting friends, eating out, shopping, etc., two hours is a limited amount of time for doing more than one activity. I suggest:

- P180 would allow people to do more than one activity, which could include contributing to Newtown's economy

Parking congestion seems to be more prevalent during the weekdays than in the weekends when friends are more likely to want to visit. My recommendation is:

- Change the Scheme to make the parking restrictions effective Monday – Friday only

Number of Permits Per Household

Admittedly, many households cannot exist with only one vehicle, but it is likely that some could. The journey to limiting car usage starts at home. I suggest:

- Allow the default to be one resident's parking permit per household, with two available if a reasonable explanation is supplied as to why two permits are required.

Timing of the Implementation of the Scheme

As noted above, from the summary of the Scheme it is not possible to gauge the size of the impact of the Hospital on parking in Newtown. Assuming that the impact is major, and that a solution is in the offing, then I would prefer to :

- Delay the implementation of the Parking Scheme until a solution has been rolled out for hospital parking, otherwise, hospital parkers will be pushed further afield, masking the problem and not resolving it.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge the people who have made a conscious decision to make most of their journeys without a private car.

Thank you, again, for the opportunity to comment on the summary of the scheme.

I would like to speak to Councillors in support of this submission.

Ngā mihi nui,

Carol Comber

To the City Design team

Hello

I am a resident of Newtown and your proposed new parking scheme has recently been brought to my attention and I would like to offer my feedback. Unfortunately, it is too late to send a FreePost form to reach you by the close-off tomorrow so I trust my feedback by email will be accepted.

In your letter of 12 September 2023 feedback is requested by 8 October 2023. Just under a month is far from sufficient time to gather proper and informed feedback from residents, businesses, and property owners on the impact the proposed changes and suggested improvements will have upon the suburbs of Newtown and Berhampore. I live in a small complex of twelve residents and just one letter came to this building. If this is the case for other residential complexes, it could be that there has not been sufficiently wide dissemination of these proposed changes throughout these two suburbs. It gives the impression that the seeking of good faith feedback is lacking and decisions have already been made regardless of feedback received. I hope this is not the case and that there is a genuine desire to learn how these changes may negatively impact many of the residents in these neighbourhoods.

Your letter states that you wish to make changes to the transport system so it will be easier for people to live with fewer cars or without a car in Newtown and Berhampore and to provide better options for getting safely and easily around. What people? Does this include older people? (of whom there are many). Disabled people? The options being "walking, biking, and taking the bus". I am retired and I both walk and use the buses at off-peak times. Biking, however, is not an option for me and I imagine for many others who live in these suburbs. The hilly topography of Wellington limits these options tremendously. The buses are also limited in their destination reach (the reliability of which is subject to the vagaries of driver availability). My car, therefore, is critical for enabling me to do church volunteer work visiting the elderly and infirmed. I am sure my situation is replicated in many different contexts for people who reside in Newtown and Berhampore.

While having good alternative means of transport is very important, it is clear from your letter that you wish to reduce the cars in these suburbs and this scheme is aimed to apply pressure on car owners and free up the streets. It is interesting to note, however, that the introduction of the new bus and cycle lanes opposite the Newtown Hospital is now the greatest cause of congestion in Newtown. A long line of slow-moving cars reduced to one lane alongside virtually empty bus and cycle lanes. The options you are proposing are not viable for everyone and impinge upon many people's ability to undertake their work, social obligations, and day to day demands.

Your letter does say for those of us who are residents we will be able to apply for a resident permit that exempts us from the P120 time limit. That is something, but very little further information is given. Are all residents eligible? Transparency around the proposed resident permit is needed and if charges are going to be introduced this information should have been included in this letter soliciting feedback, not on a website. Especially so if potential extra charges are planned when many are already under financial pressure.

Finally, of concern is the use of imprecise language in your letter - e.g ..."there may be fewer on-street spaces available to park all day and you may have to park further away. For people who need to drive, you may have to park further away or look at off-street options. There are minor parking changes near businesses on the bus and bike route". In this way, any potential negative impacts of this proposed parking scheme on business owners, property owners, residents and others are obscured while more precise language is employed in talking up the suggested positive options. Calling for meaningful feedback under such uncertainty seems unfair and arbitrary.

I trust this feedback will be properly considered.

Sincerely
Lindsay Atkins
Newtown, Wellington

This proposal doesn't take into account safety of hospital workers, and people who genuinely need to park in the area. It will drive people to leave jobs at the hospital, which would prove disastrous for our already struggling healthcare workforce. These guys work hard to care for us, and to ask them to walk 10 or more minutes in the middle of the night is asking for trouble. I am not against cyclists, but people need choice, and not everyone can cycle. Some of the proposed changes will have a very negative impact on the people of Newtown, Berhampore, and Island Bay as the amount of parks being removed or restricted will mean driving to those locations could be almost impossible. Please think about the people who really need to park there, my husband is one of them and he needs to get home safe to me and our toddler at the end of his shifts

I'm a shift worker at the hospital. These changes would mean I wouldn't be able to park my car and safely get home to my family after a night shift finishing in the middle of the night. I've been turned down for a parking permit from the hospital. Please think of hospital staff safety, who work hard to keep us well. All these proposed changes could simply mean people leave their jobs at the hospital, which would have a severely negative impact on our already struggling workforce.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I agree that parking is an issue, but making most of the parks resident parking only has a lot of downsides. 1. It really makes it difficult for people who work at the hospital to go to work. 2. Most people would rather drive around for an extra few minutes to find a free park, than pay hundreds of dollars a year for a resident one. There should still be spots along the roads that are free all the time. I like the idea of introducing a few more resident parks, but not everywhere. Plus, they better get parking staff to come check on the cars because I'd be very upset if they never checked the area and people without a resident permit were leaving their cars in our spots.

I'm worried about my neighbours being able to find parks as currently it is difficult for people. I'm also worried about staff now needing to pay for parking. Other than the disqualification of anyone living in a commercial zone, the parking scheme is overall well designed. However, this isn't London or Singapore and Wellington's public transport network isn't ready for it. The hospitals first needs to sort out their staff parking problem and the WCC needs to stop consenting apartments without parking and allowing mechanics and panel beaters use the road to store their customers' vehicles. The proposal to disqualify commercial zoned residents from the entire scheme means that elderly and mobility impaired family members won't be able to stay with me when they need to access the hospital. I don't know where tradies are expected to park if I'm not allowed to give them a visitor permit. How this is fair when people who do have their own off street parking have the option to apply for a permit?

I question the beginning of Donald McLean street remaining unrestricted when the spaces, if not already monopolised by the panel beater and mechanic, are almost impossible to access. I don't understand why it is assumed that people living closer to the shops don't need parking permits. Not everyone buses or bikes to the CBD for a 9-5 job. Some of us work at the airport when buses aren't running. Where will tradies park when working on properties in the commercial zone? Family staying overnight in Wellington to use the hospital and who do have mobility permits won't be able to park anywhere. This arbitrary designation between commercial and residential zones is unrealistic and unfair.

Monday to Sunday restrictions too long; the time doesn't allow for unforeseen reasons for the length of time; lack of consideration for limited mobility/trades people/delivery/trailer use if required/lack of time to frequent suburb businesses where two hours is the maximum allowed/reduced ability to support local/enjoyment lessened as needing to monitor the time/additional stress for those already stressed with restriction and extra time needed for appointments.

Zoo patronage may dwindle with boundary close to it; the zone boundaries include newer dwellings where off street parking is not provided; additional cost for ratepayers who may already be struggling; parking outside the proposed zones may place those parking at increased risk of safety.

Parking restrictions on P120 zones should only be until 6pm on week days and not at all on the weekends. I think it,Äôs wrong to have the P120 parking restrictions apply on the weekend and up until 8pm on week nights. I live in Te Wharep≈çuri St and there are no parking problems on the weekend. It will make having visitors, especially spontaneously as happens in natural life, a nightmare. I visit other friends by car in restricted parking zones/coupon parking zones where the restrictions don,Äôt apply on the weekend and that works well.They live much more centrally than we do in Berhampore. I am alarmed that the current proposal says that visitor parking permits must be registered the day before online. It should be able to be done online as the need arises on the day. Life can,Äôt be scheduled neatly in advance with visitors. It,Äôs too restrictive and unrealistic.

Whilst I am not thrilled about the added expense for a parking permit, I can accept the change to P120, but I reject them running until 8pm on weekdays and running all weekend. This is too extreme and punitive/limiting for visitors. The P120 shouldn,Äôt apply on weekends or after 6pm on week days.

It is grossly unfair that I would only be eligible for 25 passes because I have an off street garage. I pay the same rates or slightly more as I have a stand alone house and we should be able to have as many visitors as my neighbour's. Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Don't know

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

The idea of having to apply for a visitor exemption/parking the day prior to it is required is impractical. Often our visitors are here longer than 2 hours but not a full day. I'm concerned that the parking will push out into the unrestricted streets where it's already hard to get a park eg: Stanley Street. Has there been analysis done that there will be enough permits available for households in the area? It's difficult to know if the demand has been quantified and what happens if you don't get an exemption?

Parking does not seem to be difficult to find in Berhampore. This seems to be a solution in search of a problem. Couple with the proposed removal of parking by Wakefield Park it will make it even harder for people visiting for sport to find parks. For most public transport will not be a feasible option.

Our property is on Roy St, and one of the busiest times is the weekends because of the Zoo visitors. Prioritising residents, and educating zoo visitors on the ample parking opportunities behind the track and field area adjacent (the southern side), would be hugely helpful. There is very little in the way of effective parking signage directing Zoo customers to this area, in my opinion. This is evidenced by the scramble to access the area beside the Zoo playground area (and bus turnaround area/the northern end of the sports ground.

I don't understand the rationale to propose a self contained bike lane going uphill but not downhill at sections of this plan. At Adelaide road Wakefield park for instance there is a car park next to the football pitches and clubhouse which could be used/expanded on (already council owned I believe). Why isn't this utilised so that there can be motorised traffic and separate cycle lanes in both directions? It seems to defeat the purpose of having safe bike lanes that everyone can use if there is only a bike lane in one direction. It won't drive bike use if you're only safe one way and it won't help to instil confidence in younger cyclists - how can parents safely send their school children to SWIS school from Island Bay on a bike when they will be returning back at 11 years old sharing a single unprotected bike lane with large goods vehicles, trucks, utes and cars rattling along at 50kph (the current and proposed speed limit at that section of road coming down from berhampore to the beginning of island bay next to Wakefield).

We only have a few residents parks and they make it much easier for young families such as ours to park. If one of the priorities in your website is to make it easier for those to park who need it most, then I don't understand the point of changing it to make it harder for people who love here

Removing dedicated residents parking area from Streets that are close to the shops will make it harder for residents to find parks during the day as these will be fully utilised by people visiting the shops/cafes/bars etc. Green St is one of the earliest streets laid out in Wellington, pre-dating cars and also featuring workers cottages, built on small sections, boundary to boundary and against the road edge, meaning few properties have off-street parking or the ability to create off-street parking.

I am concerned about inadequate provision of parking for hospital staff and urge the WCC and the hospital to provide a solution for safe, close, and fair parking for staff. I am concerned about equity in the council's proposal for determining priority status for obtaining resident parking permits based on the age of the house being older than 1930 and owners of EVs. Not everyone can afford an EV. I am concerned that residents will be forced to pay for this scheme over and above their rates bill.

I have opposed the above because I believe the way in which the option being proposed with its priority selection of certain types of residents being prioritised over others is unfair. For example, why is it that a resident from a dwelling older than 1930s has priority over another whose dwelling is say building in 1935 yet they both had to rely purely on on street parking? Why should a person with an EV car have priority over a resident who does not? On this later point, this smacks of priority given to those on higher incomes because they are the ones who are currently more likely to own an EV due to the cost of EVs. Also, the policy assumes that people living in the same dwelling relate in a way more akin to families - sharing assets such as a car. For flatmates - this is not necessarily the case. The policy also assumes a lot about peoples occupations and when/how they can get to work. I am also concerned that unrestricted parking to only 40% of parks in the Eastern Newtown area, will mean that we will have problems finding a park for our second car. It is already hard enough finding parks, but with unrestricted parking being so limited, this will make it tricky. I am also very concerned for the hospital staff not having suitable parking. Hospital staff work shifts and travel in from many parts of the city and beyond. Travelling to work by private car will be made particularly hard when they loose parking. It is imperative that the council works with the hospital to find a workable solution for staff. We cannot afford as a city to loose more hospital staff because their work conditions become untenable because parking is unavailable or so expensive they decide to leave.

I support prioritisation, but I'm not sure why people in multi-unit dwellings are so far down the list, and why EV owners are so high. Yes, it's good to encourage EV ownership but EV owners are more likely to be affluent & healthy - able to walk a few metres to their car, whereas people in multi-unit dwellings are more likely to have health issues, young children etc, and may be more in need of a park right outside their house. There needs to be more consideration given to ensuring that socio-economically disadvantaged residents aren't FURTHER disadvantaged by this scheme e.g. use a sliding scale for permit fees so that it's more affordable for low-income.

Why did you select that answer?

Parking is already a premium in our street and in our local area, as well as Newtown in general. This is particularly noticeable in the evenings and weekends, especially on Sundays. There are more cars in Newtown due to the increasing number of new builds with more than one unit on the title, subdivision of properties and social housing. Many of the social housing occupants drive ubers or taxis and have personal cars. The overflow of these cars are parked in other streets. Also, many flats with young professionals have at least 3-4 cars per property which easily fill up streets that are nearby their properties. It will be very unlikely that I may even get a carpark even with the proposal of a residential permit, as there are a huge amount of personal cars in the area.

I think that people with electric cars should not get priority over other people. This is prioritising wealthy people who can afford EV's over poorer people such as students, large families, older people. It is a very middle class perspective and assumes that people have a spare $40,000 to buy an electric car. I strongly support Priority 1 but to put priority 2 above all others shows a total disregard for the majority of the Newtown population.

It is interesting that some streets do not have any residents parking in them, If this proposal goes ahead then it needs to be fair to all residents. For example; one part of Lawrence Street has residential parking but the other part does not. Parts of Owen St and Roy Street and Wingate Terrace, Russell Terrace, Herald Street etc. There needs to be equity.

You are allowing houses to be built with no off street parking, taking away parks for cycling and now expect us to squabble over the remaining on street parks. We will see side streets further impacted. Why was no effort put in to develop the off-mainroad cycle routes proposed many years ago. The permit scheme appears to contrast with landowners rights to privacy requirements to have anyone visit them. By providing WCC visitor details, landowners visitors lose anonymity when visiting others. I would prefer to see a coupon style parking that landowners can distribute to visitors.

I appreciate the councils efforts to cater to a range of needs. Removing parking along the cycle way route is important for space, safety, and a great idea. And the reducing of commuter parking is a great solution for dealing with the removal of parking along this route. Over time, the cycle way will reduce demand for parking, and this is a good start for the process. A bit of inconvenience in the interim while more people get used to bussing, biking etc will be necessary to make for a better outcome in the long run. As long as we stay vigilant with providing parks to disabled people (see below), the cycle way and parking changes will encourage more people to find active and/or low carbon modes of transport. Regarding parking eligibility, the main adjustment to the plan I'd like to see is providing mobility (/permit) parking (for non residents), and allowing permit applications from some contractors who might need it (who might not technically count as a trades worker). I'd also like the see resident parking capped at 1 per dwelling, with exceptions (where it's capped at 2) to make it equitable.

I support the parking plan, because of the great outcomes for biking and encouraging switching to lower carbon modes of transport (bussing and micro-mobility). The car parking doesn't affect me a lot because I mostly travel by bike or just pass through when driving. From time to time, I visit a friend in Regent Street for music rehearsals, which requires transporting music gear (in the car). We would probably be able to make it work with the P120 parking. And here, are my suggestions to make the restrictions and eligibility part more equitable: I would appreciate there being a range of fair criteria for non-resident contractors who can apply and pay for an annual exemption permit - ie. contractors that might not technically be tradesworkers, but still require a motor vehicle for work equipment, such as cleaners (if needing more than 2 hours). Scatter some mobility parking, in addition to allowing mobility permit holders to park in resident parks. Re resident parking allocation limit - I think it should be capped at only 1 with exceptions to make it equitable, such as allowing a cap of 2 for renters (with say 5+ in their house/flat for example) and for any other residents with a particularly large amount of people in their house, maybe multiple/large families (eg. 9+ people). But ultimately, a bit of inconvenience in the interim while more people get used to bussing, biking etc will be necessary to make for a better outcome in the long run.

Street space is a limited, valuable public resource and I strongly support these proposed changes to re-prioritise and share how it's used. If anything, I'd encourage you to go even further, as it's necessary to enable the kinds of bus and bike improvements you are proposing to make. It's not possible or desirable for people to privately establish their own safe, efficient and environmentally sustainable transport networks. It is, however, possible to privately secure parking. Your proposals for how the remaining on-street parks would be prioritised seem fair and reasonable. The cost of an annual permit to have unrestricted use of on-street parking is extremely reasonable - it's a fraction of what it would cost to rent a car park in the area for a year. To help give a greater number of households a better chance of securing a permit, I would propose making the cost of a household's second parking permit higher than the cost of their first. A day pass should be able to be activated on the day (i.e. in the very moment) someone wants to use it, like how paid parking is currently activated via apps in the CBD.

 at the moment I can manage to find a park either resident or non within a street or 2 of my house - usually have to walk a while. All the non resident parks are taken by workers but I can still manage to find one. This scheme will mean I cannot park anywhere near my house without buying a permit or our household will be restricted to 2 permits in a lottery situation. I am a young worker & this will cost me more money. Also if our house is not allocated a permit or 2 where then do we park ?? You give priority to EV vehicles which is discrimanatory - I cant afford one of those.

at the moment I can manage to find a park either resident or non within a street or 2 of my house - usually have to walk a while. All the non resident parks are taken by workers but I can still manage to find one. This scheme will mean I cannot park anywhere near my house without buying a permit or our household will be restricted to 2 permits in a lottery situation. I am a young worker & this will cost me more money. Also if our house is not allocated a permit or 2 where then do we park ?? You give priority to EV vehicles which is discrimanatory - I cant afford one of those.

Whilst I support public transport & walking - this is not always possible - shift workers cannot use public transport - these people have no priority. People who work jobs that means they have to travel from place to place - also no priority. This scheme will make life so much harder. Where do I park if I can't park anywhere near my House ?

This recognises that roads are a shared space to allocate fairly according to need. As more & more people live in these suburbs, transport needs to be more efficient - and we have just a few years as a world to almost halve our climate pollution that's a thickening atmospheric blanket overheating our world. That's to give us half a chance of staying within a humanly adaptable 1.5 degrees celsius of warming. As a high polluting nation, NZ is expected to cut emissions much faster to be fair and encourage global cooperation. Carbon dioxide from our petrol takes over 10,000 years to fully disappear from that climate pollution blanket - 10,000 is not a typo. All we invest to encourage walking, biking, scooting and public transport, pays huge dividends in health gains, climate threats and offshore credit bills. Accelerate car share too - to cut private car ownership dependence.

It seems to me to be a money making opportunity. I also worry about the nurses and others who work at Wellington Hospital being squeezed out. We're already losing nurses on a huge scale - I can't believe that they are already having to pay for parking - this will ensure that they pay (and possibly highly) making it more likely that we will lose them. Extremely unfair and unjust they are doing a huge service to the community yet we are penalising them on a daily basis

I think the proposal to make people pay for their residents parking is unfair. The people who need the parking ie those in council housing with little or no resident parking attached are the ones who will need to pay but who are likely to be the ones who cannot afford to pay for the parking permits. There should be a scheme allowing those in council housing, on welfare benefits (particularly with children) who need a car to be given free permits.

It,Äôs seems unfair that you are proposing that residents who live in the area pay money for parking permits when the cost of living is already so high. Also in our place we have 5 people all of whom have different jobs and need cars for transportation so giving out 2 per household is unfair as we have 3 cars that need off street parking. I disagree with the need at all for this parking scheme to apply to many of the areas in Berhampore proposed before a proper assessment of the impacts once the changes have been made to road layouts. Doing it prior seems wrong to me as you are only working with estimates rather than actual figures. For example, right now there is significant roadworks underway in Adelaide road which has temporarily removed a number of parks and there are still a significant volume of car parks available in surrounding streets (e.g Chilka, Burwah, Jeypore, Duppa, Lavaud, Dawson, Blythe Street etc etc). - Parking permits to such a volume of areas is overly burdensome and unnecessary regulation at this time and will only add to the pressure/stress for residents for no apparent need. It appears this is a grab for more cash from residents who already facing increasing costs of living. - Has there been an in person assessment of the streets to survey/view the area and the potential impacts and requirements? - This scheme is not 'opening the streets up for all ages and abilities. Many people rely on cars such as elderly, disabled and parents. Even the majority of those who own bikes and occasionally use them when the weather suits, still own cars. There are hardly any bikes on the street in cold, windy, rainy weather or in the weekends noting the need to visit multiple places around the city and attend to multiple tasks. A focus on the current poor public transport system is needed. - The system and bike lanes only support the well-off who can afford electric bikes, and afford permits, or can afford to move or build off-street parking. If the scheme is to be implemented (although I disagree as noted above), I provide the following comments: I disagree with the restriction period from 8am-8pm. This should be earlier, say 6 or 7pm. I can't see why many visitors to the area would need to be here past 6 or 7pm (there is no late shifts at hospital in this area or lots of shops). - The time period for the weekend should be longer (e.g. 3-4 hrs) to allow for visits from friends etc (that don't require a whole day, but can require longer than 2 hours! e.g. birthday parties, afternoon BBQ's). - I disagree with the proposed cap for resident permits. 15% for P120 parks is too many for Berhampore. That is, for 100 parks down say Chilka street and Duppa Street, 15 would not be able to be available for permits. Berhampore does not require as many P120 spaces in many streets as say Newtown does. - Disagree with the prioritisation for electric vehicles at this time. Again this is only benefiting the higher socio-economic groups who can no doubt afford electric vehicles and electric bikes etc. Suggest this should be removed and re-visited in a few years time when they are more common/affordable. I'm also unclear how people will be able to charge their electric vehicles if they can't park directly outside of their homes? - I disagree that Chilka street and side-streets off this and Duppa Street require parking permits (along with others listed above) given the many, many number of spare spaces currently available. However, if this stays as proposed, then I request Stanley Street is also a permit area. The fact that the surrounding streets are proposed to be permit parking (Britomart, Chilka, Duppa) would put a lot of pressure on Stanley Street which is right in the middle of all 3 and would be free parking. Many would likely choose to park on Stanley rather than pay for a permit. This will mean those on Stanley will either have to pay for a permit to park on a different street such as Chilka Street (if this is even permitted?) or blocks away (if those free streets are not also full). Again I don't think WCC has actually visited the streets to actually see the potential impacts. - Alternatively to above, I request that those on Stanely be permitted to apply for a permit on surrounding streets (e.g. Chilka) despite living on a no-permit street so that we can at least park reasonably close to our house when we can't actually park on our street. - I disagree with the proposal for visitor passes to be logged the day before. Surely with technology, the pass can be logged the day of use. The day before provides no flexibility for change of plans or spotaneity. - If remains as day before (which I disagree with), there needs to be ability to cancel its use and not lose the pass (i.e. can be used again) if there is an unforeseen change in plans and the pass is not required. $18 per day seems ridiculous as this is more expensive than some car park buildings in town which are designed to make a profit!

Why do the parking restrictions apply to Chatham St and Dawson st and not to Blythe St? Finding on the stree parking is currently not an issue, nor is there an issue with people parking for extended times. Currently the only issue is the narrowness of the road when people use as a thoroughfare and a lack of visibility turning in and out of Blythe and Dawson because people park too close to the corners!

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

This is a fantastic scheme which will start to deal with the issue of too many vehicles, not enough places to park them, and the frustration of local residents. I look forward to it being rolled out in other parts of the city. No doubt some people will object to the cost of resident permits, but I appreciate that this only covers the cost of administering the scheme and is not a revenue generating exercise. I seldom take a car to Newtown, but when i have gone to visit a friend who lives in Picton Ave, the time taken to find a park can really impact on the visit. Last year when my husband was taken to hospital by ambulance and I needed to drive there, a lot of time was taken up by finding somewhere to park (no hospital parking available) so i could go to see what was happening. I think there will be more casual parking available with this scheme. Also, and very importantly, this scheme gives a signal to everyone that filling up public space with private property ie parking, is not a given.

These changes will make it easier for residents to find parking, and also to allow visitors to park. It is obvious that many people drive to work in Newtown and park on the street, but due to the age of the suburb, many properties do not have off-street parking themselves (or the ability to create it, as the houses are built very close to the front of the sections). It is right that the priority for parking is firstly given to residents. I strongly support the limits to the number of resident permits per household, as this will encourage people to think about their transport choices when they are looking for housing - it will be a known quantity.

The control of parking in this way frees up space for bike lanes, which will make it easier and safer for people to choose to travel by bike and not car.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Don't know

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Fully support! Fantastic idea, our streets shouldn't be occupied by our cars all the time. I support an increase of P120 in Berhampore areas, especially around schools, elder villages and sport zones, lots of kids and older people move in these zones and less cars means safer zones. We should clear main streets to allow buses, bikes, scooters and pedestrians to use them safely, we can store our cars farther away (i.e hockey stadium, parking bag in Russel Tce, etc). In the end, parking our cars in a public space is not our right, it is a privilege, and a permanent use of the public space (roads/streets) for a private purpose (store our cars) should be compensated to the rest of the citizens. Well done Wellington City Council!

Fully support the proposal, great idea! I recommend increasing the areas under P120 in Berhampore, especially around Berhampore school (i.e. Stanley street) and around Lavaud st, these areas are busy with kids and young people, having clear areas will increase the safety of the zone and also the traffic. Other countries are starting to implement 50-200m car free areas around schools and sport zones, while Wellington might not be there yet, it would be good to send the right message reducing the cars activities around these areas.

If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here.

Fully support! i believe the public space need to be regulated in a fair manner, so everybody has the same access and right to use. I suggest an increase in the P120 zones, especially in those areas more commonly used by children like Berhampore school (Stanly st) and sport areas like Lavaud st and Adelaide Rd., also along bus routes (all the way up to Rantoul st). Berhampore has several areas with available parking around our neighbourhood not right on the main streets (i.e. bag of parking on Russel Terrace, Hockey area, Adelaide sport field, no during weekends, etc.). Parking your car 5-10min walk away from your house should be the norm, we are in the middle of the capital city! And parking you car in the public space is not your right, it is a privilege.

Newtown Playcentre is located on Harper Street. The whole street is shown as having P120 parking. This would make it very difficult for those who attend Playcentre to be able to find parking. Some parents drop off children for the session while others remain for the whole 4hrs so P120 parks would not be able to be used by these members, so members (all of which have young children) would need to park much further away and walk with their children to the Playcentre. We have members coming from as far as Miramar and Brooklyn, and members with multiple children where biking or public transport is not an option for them.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Strongly support

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

We live in this area and strongly support the proposal because we think it will be fairer and encourage greater use of active transport options like walking and cycling. We are also hoping the bus service is going to be more reliable now.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

I like the 120min parking idea and think it should be trialed before putting in the other changes. If what you say is true and parking will be easier for residents and businesses as long term parkers can't use them, it should also be less congested for cyclists and buses moving along Rintoul St

I am a carpenter. I need a van to run my business however it is not possible to fit a van in our very small garage the way your prioritisation works. It seems I would lower the priority and it concerns me that I may not be able to get a permit. I also strongly disagree with the prioritisation of electric vehicles; this is simply prioritising wealth. Electric vehicles are not carbon neutral and they clog up the roads making unnecessary journeys which could be better made by public transport or active travel just like petrol and diesel vehicles.

It seems to be a costly ballot system. Businesses are not considered high priority. It also is a reaction to significant loss if parking due to cycleway proposal. Parking permits could become a new currency here. There is no control of where the 120 free parking could be.

These changes are massive and we need to have this introduced over about 3 to 5 years. Households and businesses need to be eligible for a minimum of 3 permits per household and businesses at least one permit. Over time you can introduce change. But not at this speed and like this. Anyone who obtains a permit should not have it ripped out from under them in a subsequent year. You have an obligation to make this a just transition. Nor are your survey questions neutral. None of your questions asked about whether we strongly agree or disagree about whether this will cause significant hardship to households in our densely populated suburbs. You didn't ask if the timeframes support a just transition. Blair.

A major issue for me is that businesses are not entitled to residents parking. I have operated a business on Rintoul Street for nearly 3 decades (since 1995). I have a work vehicle that is necessary for moving tools and equipment to customers businesses and houses. That vehicle is not optional for me. I live and work in the same building and have always shared that house with other households. You should at the very least provide transitional rights to business owners such as myself to enable us to have at least on vehicle for the business that gets the equivalent of a residents park as well as enabling householders to have resident,Ãs parking permits too. We are a part of the community here in Berhampore and businesses like mine are essential services. I do not agree that you should limit the permits to 85% in the resident,Ãs areas. That is not fair. You are bringing in a harsh rule all of a sudden that impacts us significantly. For now you should let all households have up to 3 permits and then see if there is an issue. Test it before you cause such hardship. It might be okay. The fact that we might not get a permit in a subsequent year and get no warning is highly problematic. We are family focussed households and we need the cars ,Ã all of a sudden to lose the ability to park outside our homes is a massive problem. You really are not giving enough transitional options in any of this. Why would households with offstreet parking be eligible for less visitor permits? They will still have the same number of visitors? $18 is too high. We live here. This is our home and you want us to pay $18 to have grandparents and family members to come to dinner on Sunday? This seems unnecessary. You need to provide us with more options for our family and friends. My girlfriend comes to stay more than 50 nights a year. There is no bus between her suburb and mine so she cannot bus. As a tradesperson I will pass on the costs of parking in these areas to my customers. This means that in this lower socio-economic community anyone who has broken locks will be charged more. What better options can you come up with? This is not a wealthy area. I have almost always lived in shared households in Berhampore. This is a densely populated suburb. Many houses are like mine, multiple family units in the same shared space. You need to recognise that and provide houses with up to 3 residents permits, at the very least for a transitional period such as 2 years that enables people to adjust and leave the area or come up with other options. For households like mine a car is not optional. I have to transport children to Big Air for gym, to the badminton hall in Hataitai for training, and to many other events. It is not possible to catch a bus and be at those events after school, nor is it financially viable to use a ride share to drop and pick up kids. This is a family friendly suburb and while we all support each other with car pooling, we need cars to do our share, buses and bikes are not an option in most cases. I do not agree that electric vehicles should be given priority for resident permits. You need transitional provisions for us all. You could introduce something like that after about 3 years. That is a just transition for such a significant change to our community.

You are just shifting the location of the problem Your parking proposals will push the hospital workers up to the end of Rintoul and surrounding streets. You are moving the problem not managing it. What other options have you got to support hospital workers to get to and from work? Tailored shuttle services to their suburbs? Remembering they work shifts 24 hours a day. Removal of parking The maths of the number of parks you think are available is out of date. Outside my shop at 211 Rintoul you have 3 parking spaces. There are only two as the third was removed years ago. The P10 outside my shop at 211 Rintoul should be useful between 8am and 5pm, business hours, but should be a residents park in the evening for the locals. But, one of the local businesses, the laundromat, operates after 6pm, where will their customers park? They come after work to do their laundry but what parking is there for them? If you are creating all these new parking restrictions how will you, police, them?

Why did you select that answer?

I use a car nearly every day and don't have off-street parking being a 1910 house without any cost-effective way of achieving off-street parking. - It is not practical, convenient or efficient to bike or walk to the areas we need to get to. - We used to use public transport a lot more, however, this has become exceedingly poor and unreliable and we have had to revert back to daily use of car. - It is irresponsible and inaccurate of WCC to cite being climate friendly when these changes will not make any significant change and will likely increase carbon emissions from cars spending longer on streets, driving further from their homes to park or having to take different routes to get home. - A decent public transport system would contribute significantly more to offset climate change and would service a much greater proportion of the population. Simply saying this is not your remit is socially irresponsible and not servicing the needs of your residents. Restricting transport (removing cars) at this time will not benefit the majority of residents, such changes should be timed with significant improvements to public transport, including after hours and weekends improvements. - Additionally, for 'climate change', essentials such as clean, safe water supply and fixing the ridiculous volume of leaking water should be the priority for spending, not the 'nice to haves' such as cycle lanes. - Limiting choices (by removing cars) at this time and charging people for parking, in a cost-of-living crisis, is socially irresponsibly and will disproportionately impact vulnerable and lower socio-economic groups. If cycle lanes a proposed do proceed (which I oppose), there needs to be allowances made for directly affected people to have reasonable access to their homes, for example: - deliveries, - unloading vehicles - filling trailers (for dump loads, etc). - renovating their home (i.e. need for rubbish skip).

DISAGREE with the need at all for this parking scheme to apply to many of the areas in Berhampore proposed: - A key statement for the need for this proposal are inaccurate for many streets, that is, Parking IS NOT under pressure for many of the streets WCC has proposed to include in the scheme. - This is clearly evident by the current removal of many parks to accommodate the footpath works currently underway on Adelaide Road (between Wakefield park and Berhampore shops). Multiple car parks have been removed, yet there are still significant volume of car parks available in surrounding streets (e.g Chilka, Burwah, Jeypore, Duppa, Lavaud, Dawson, Blythe Street etc etc). - The application of parking permits to such areas is overly burdensome and unnecessary regulation at this time and will only add to the pressure/stress for residents for no apparent need. - Such a scheme could be considered for all areas in Berhampore in the future if/as demand changes, but is not required at this time. - Has the WCC actually been to these streets to survey/view the area and the potential impacts and requirements? It appears a blanket need has been applied without actually viewing and properly surveying the Berhampore area. - This scheme is not 'opening the streets up for all ages and abilities', it is in fact disadvantaging the many, many people who rely on a car. Even the majority of those who own bikes and occasionally use them when the weather suits, still own cars. There are hardly any bikes on the street in cold, windy, rainy weather or in the weekends noting the need to visit multiple places around the city and attend to multiple tasks. Bikes and the current poor public transport system are inadequate to fill this gap/need. - The system and bike lanes only support the well-off who can afford electric bikes, and afford permits, or can afford to move or build off-street parking. It disproportionately affects the lower socio-economic groups, disabled, elderly, large families, and those who are financially challenged. - Disagree that this is not a revenue gaining scheme, while permits may pay for enforcement, the money from tickets for infringing the rules would definitely provide extra revenue for the council - this statement you made is therefore also inaccurate. If the scheme is to be implemented (although I disagree as noted above), I provide the following comments: - I disagree with the restriction period from 8am-8pm. This should be earlier, say 6 or 7pm. I can't see why many visitors to the area would need to be here past 6 or 7pm (there is no late shifts at hospital in this area or lots of shops). - The time period for the weekend should be longer (e.g. 3-4 hrs) to allow for visits from friends etc (that don't require a whole day, but can require longer than 2 hours! e.g. birthday parties, afternoon BBQ's). - I disagree with the proposed cap for resident permits. 15% for P120 parks is too many for Berhampore. That is, for 100 parks down say Chilka street and Duppa Street, 15 would not be able to be available for permits. Berhampore does not require as many P120 spaces in many streets as say Newtown does. - Disagree with the prioritisation for electric vehicles at this time. Again this is only benefiting the higher socio-economic groups who can no doubt afford electric vehicles and electric bikes etc. Suggest this should be removed and re-visited in a few years time when they are more common/affordable. I'm also unclear how people will be able to charge their electric vehicles if they can't park directly outside of their homes? - I disagree that Chilka street and side-streets off this and Duppa Street require parking permits (along with others listed above) given the many, many number of spare spaces currently available. However, if this stays as proposed, then I request Stanley Street is also a permit area. The fact that the surrounding streets are proposed to be permit parking (Britomart, Chilka, Duppa) would put a lot of pressure on Stanley Street which is right in the middle of all 3 and would be free parking. Many would likely choose to park on Stanley rather than pay for a permit. This will mean those on Stanley will either have to pay for a permit to park on a different street such as Chilka Street (if this is even permitted?) or blocks away (if those free streets are not also full). Again I don't think WCC has actually visited the streets to actually see the potential impacts. - Alternatively to above, I request that those on Stanley be permitted to apply for a permit on surrounding streets (e.g. Chilka) despite living on a no-permit street so that we can at least park reasonably close to our house when we can't actually park on our street. - I disagree with the proposal for visitor passes to be logged the day before. Surely with technology, the pass can be logged the day of use. The day before provides no flexibility for change of plans or spontaneity. - If remains as day before (which I disagree with), there needs to be ability to cancel its use and not lose the pass (i.e. can be used again) if there is an unforeseen change in plans and the pass is not required.

See earlier comments re disagree with the need for permit parking on many streets in Berhampore (e.g. Chilka, Duppa, Lavaud, etc - see above) given the many, many number of spare spaces available on this street (despite many spaces on Adelaide being removed for current footpath works). ## Submission on the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme, walking, biking and bus improvements from the University of Otago Wellington

About the University of Otago Wellington

The University of Otago Wellington (UOW) is a campus of the University of Otago. We are predominately a health sciences campus and, as well as undergraduate and postgraduate teaching, have significant research interests including in sustainable cities, transport, housing and health. We employ around 350 staff and have 1000 tertiary students. We provide clinical training for medical, physiotherapy, and radiation therapy students. UOW provides the only radiation therapy training course in New Zealand, with these students completing all their studies at our Newtown campus.

We are tenants and property owners on the Wellington Hospital campus.

Many of our staff have clinical as well as academic responsibilities, and work at Wellington Hospital, Hutt Valley Hospital, Kenepuru hospital, in general practices or in other health services around the greater Wellington region. Some staff work half of the day in one part of Wellington, and the other half at our Newtown campus, so require flexibility in their travel arrangements and have limited time to commute between sites. Likewise, our undergraduate students are required to undertake multiple clinical placements across the region's healthcare facilities during their time of study.

We have historically occupied buildings on the Wellington hospital campus, however seismic issues with our main building meant that half of our team moved into offices in Central Wellington for the past 18 months. In 2024 we will be fully moving back to Newtown, with staff and students spread between the Wellington Hospital campus and a building on Hanson St.

The University of Otago has a sustainability strategy, Ti Kōuka,<sup>1</sup> and has committed to becoming net zero by 2030. Around 9% of our emissions are from staff commuting.<sup>2</sup> In our Wellington campus around one-third of our staff take public transport to work, one-third drive, and one-third use active modes i.e., biking and walking to work.

Overall perspective

Our response to this proposal is twofold and conditional:

- 1) We would like to express support for Wellington City Council implementing the Newtown parking plan and proposals to connect the cycle network between Island Bay and Newtown. The recent and proposed improvements to cycling, walking and public transport in Newtown and its surrounding suburbs are of direct benefit to many of our staff, who already travel to work by these modes.
- 2) However, we also need to ensure that we can get all our staff to work, and that the proposed solutions for parking do not unduly disadvantage our highly valued staff who live further afield (e.g., Wainuiomata, Hutt Valley, Porirua, Wairarapa and Kapiti Coast) or who must incorporate other responsibilities, such as clinical practice and childcare, in their working day. This means that it is critically important that there is sufficient investment in Wellington's public transport system to meet the volume of commuters and travel needs of our staff, and that sensible options are available to our staff for whom walking, cycling or public transport is simply not an option.

There is a significant risk that we will lose staff who are critical to our business if they are unable to find affordable, practical methods for getting to work.

When considering the number of commuters travelling by car into Newtown, for whom alternative methods of transport are not an option, we request that the Council ensures that they have counted our staff and students in addition to those of Te Whatu Ora.

We were not approached directly regarding this round of consultation on the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme, so have had limited time to formulate a response. As such, we would appreciate an opportunity to make an oral submission at the appropriate time.

Further comments

In addition to what is being proposed, we suggest the following improvements to make it safer and more convenient for our staff and students to travel to work:

- We support Wellington City Council and Greater Wellington regional Council's continued focus on public transport improvements throughout the city and region. However, for the new parking scheme to be successful, it is critically important that the Council continues to increase the frequency and reliability of public transport services. The Council also needs to aim to reduce the number of connections required for staff travelling to and from Newtown, particularly for those people travelling from further afield such as the outer regions of Wainuiomata, Porirua and Upper Hutt. An express bus between the railway station and Wellington hospital during peak commute hours is especially critical.
- We support the Council continuing to work in partnership with people with disabilities. There are specific issues related to ensuring continued access to parking for people who can only use cars and design features such as wide cycleways that may be needed for those who can cycle but might need modified bikes (e.g. adult tricycles).
- Wellington City Council should continue to implement Paneke Pōneke, the city-wide network of connected cycleways, as quickly as possible. The faster a full cycle network is available, the less disruptive the proposed parking changes will be for our staff and students and the faster we will be able to meet our net-zero commitments.

- We support full physical separation of cycleways from motor vehicle traffic, in line with best practice and evidence internationally. Fully physically separated cycleways ensure that biking becomes an option for people regardless of their current level of cycling experience and confidence. Physical separation from traffic, and connected cycleways, are vital to unlock the potential of the network, particularly for groups who are currently less likely to cycle, including women, children and young people, people biking with children, and people who are less confident cycling.<sup>3-5</sup> We note that international evidence demonstrates that sharrows, which are part of the proposed approach between Newtown and Berhampore, are objectively unsafe and disliked by cyclists.<sup>3,6</sup>
- We encourage greater provision of on-street bike parking in the vicinity of the hospital and beyond. Lack of secure bike parking is a key reason individuals with bikes do not take specific trips.<sup>7</sup> We would welcome bike parking facilities that cater for a wide range of bike users including those with cargo bikes and modified bikes (e.g. adult tricycles). We support the provision of secure bike parking in residential areas that may help to enable those with limited home facilities to securely store bikes.
- The Council's parking and transport plans also should address security for commuters in the areas surrounding the hospital campus, particularly afterhours.

In conclusion, while we support the intent of the Berhampore and Newtown parking changes, and bus, bike and walking improvements, and we commend Council leadership in the development and upcoming implementation, we strongly request that the Council addresses the needs of our staff and students in their planning when progressing with the next stages of this work.

We would welcome the opportunity to provide an oral submission to Council as part of this process.

Yours sincerely

Newtown East - Coromandel St (south end) and Colville St. Parking surveys for the two new Kainga Ora housing blocks found these areas are already over 100% occupied. They fill up at the end of the weekend, so permit hours should be 24/7. Kainga Ora promised good ebike parking and charging facilities in its formal consultation - but they have been removed from the actual build. WCC map lacks detail for parking in this area: please ask your draftspeople to visit the site, then re-consult based on accurate drawings. Many houses on Southern Walkway lack road access. Parking in upper block of Coromandel St is therefore already "double-booked", even before 2 new Kainga Ora complexes and the apartment/boarding houses surrounding St Helen's hospital site.

All of the explanations relating to parking are only political spin because there is no mention of the hospital. A quite a few years go, the council introduced Resident Parking areas in Wilson Street when there were large areas of available parking in the this or any of the adjacent streets. Some time later, the hospital decided to charge a parking charge. The Monday that was applied, their was no available parking space anywhere close to the hospital. THIS IS THE PROBLEM IN NEWTOWN. True, the introduction of cycleways and the building of some apartments have made a contribution to the shortage of parking space but the major problem is the need for parking by hospital patient and staff at the cost of Wellington residents. The provision of parking facilities is a hospital responsibility, it is not a ratepayer responsibility. Providing hospital parking facilities is no different to other facilities from MRIs and X-ray machines to wheelchairs and crutches and, as such, it is a Government responsibility - more so, now that the government has eliminated Hospital Boards. The council should be pushing loudly and hard for the government to make proper use of the space on the hospital grounds. There are two parking areas that, if turned to parking buildings, could accommodate in excess of 2000 spaces. Furthermore that could be constructed in stages without emptying more cars into the local streets.

We live here. Although, from an aerial view or a casual inspection, we appear to have a drive, the property dates from 1927 and even our Toyota Corolla does not fit down the driveway with enough space to get out of the car. A larger car scrapes the gateway.

The 8am-8pm, Mon-Sun is draconian. 8-6 is more reasonable and should only apply Mon-Fri. This would allow some normality allowed to other parts of Wellington, such as visiting friends for evening a meal or just socialising. The same remarks apply to weekends.

Could have similar to the resident permit exemption, an additional one designed for people who work in the area. Also would there be P120 areas where resident permit exemption do not work to prevent resident parking from taking up spaces used primarily for businesses? It seems those might be light-blue retained spots on the map?

I am worried about the restriction for houses/flats with two separate dwellings in (e.g. our house was built pre-1910 and contains two households) but under the restrictions and eligibility we would come far down the list as we have a shed that must have been a garage at one point. However, we can't open the doors and it wouldn't fit a modern car anyway - even a ford focus! Our house is owned by a landlord and we don't have a say on the shed's suitability but it reduces our eligibility for a resident's park and I can imagine others are in a similar situation.

"make it easier for residents who aren't able to park off-street, to park in the area" I fail to see how this is going to make it easier. at the moment it is just about possible to find a park often not outside the house but in a surrounding street. With this scheme it will be impossible as you are capping the permits per house if it is even possible to get a permit. There are 4 people in this house , shift workers , using public transport is not feasible. What happens if not even 1 permit or 2 permits are issued ? there is not parking around the streets at all. It should be possible as a resident to park outside your house. This will cost an extra $400 a year [ if granted ] which looks like a lottery. Putting EV vehicles above others is discriminatory. My property is close to the hospital. It is hard to park but at least it can be managed within a street or 2 - these leaves nowhere close by.

My house is close to the hospital - this will exempt workers but also make it impossible to park anywhere near the house if you are capping permits &amp; only allowing 2. lots of houses are a flatshare situation. this is discrimination.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Oppose

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

For my area it's trying to solve a problem that doesn't exist and adding more cost and administrative burden on resident ratepayers. Ultimately I can see that it's trying to get ahead of extra demand from densification urban development and the transport changes. But I think it's better to see if those issues actually arise rather than add this extra hassle and cost in advance of there being an actual issue for the part of Berhampore I live in.

I think that for my area of Berhampore. West Berhampore. adding restricted parking is unnecessary. currently there is no issue for me as a resident finding on street parking and this proposal will add more rules and restrictions where I don't see the need. There are empty parks at all times of the day. Because there are no off street parks for any house (reserving kerb space for that house only) there are ample parks for everyone to share on street and it works well.

I'm concerned you're introducing new costs to these residents when they have no choice. P120 is an unrealistic time limit for people who regularly visit or work in the area, P180 makes more sense but overall I don't agree that any restriction should be put on these streets. This also should not apply in the weekend considered those who visit family/friends since the street are less likely being taken up by hospital workers.

If I am going to be paying for a resident permit (which in the current proposal, we wouldn't be required to but I foresee us having to anyway with blythe being unrestricted) I would like Blythe to be included on the permit zone. this would be to make it so that it doesn't turn blythe in effect into a one lane road. Also think that residents who lose their park on Adelaide road at the bottom of Dawson will find it hard parking on Dawson. I do support the bike lane however, I just think that them having to pay the same as everyone but not get a park outside their house is a bit unfair. They should get a discount at least.

We live on blythe, and we see that street is not restricted in the plan. However we anticipate that because of that Blythe Street would become a target for people parking and not want to pay for a permit. So getting a permit seems like a backup for us to be able to park near our home.

Obviously speaking from my own perspective from living on Blythe Street, but if Blythe is left out of the zone, it will become a popular place for people parking. With the proposed right turn being taken away from luxford into Rintoull, Dawson/Blythe St will become a MAJOR route for people traveling from island bay to rintoull st. This means that if Blythe has lots of parking, it will become a bottleneck as it effectively becomes single lane traffic (this is pretty much already the case, especially during school runs).

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Strongly oppose

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

A big 'no' to residents without off-street parking having to pay to park outside their own home. It's unfair to add costs to poorer households, who would have bought or rented without knowing this cost was upcoming. What about families who need to park nearby for unloading kids, sports gear, groceries, etc. Parking services are already covered in rates, so each household with no garage should have one free park. After that divvy them up as per 120P or unrestricted.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Berhampore zone

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Very unlikely

Why did you select that answer?

Because I am on a fixed income (pensioner) and cannot afford further costs over and above my rates, which used to cover, and should cover, parking on the street outside my dwelling which has no off-street parking.

I am strongly opposed to the basic premise that a ratepayer with no off-street parking should pay to park outside their own house. This has made it difficult to answer the related survey questions about free day passes, which are predicated on the respondent accepting the residents' annual parking fee. WCC feedback surveys often have this design slippage and affects community engagement quality. This is why citizens often feel like the WCC 'feels the fear and does it anyway'. By all means ping commuter parkers, but don't penalise ratepayers who bought their no-garage properties without the knowledge that this would become an additional local govt fee. Rates should cover at least one free park for these houses. If this residents' parking fee is 'revenue-neutral', I think a way to allow one park per household should be found.

Please consider forcing the hospital to provide improved parking space for visitors. It's very difficult to find parking. I don't want to take sick children or parents on public transport or on my 'cargo bike' to hospital appointments. I want to drive and get a park without added stress. Improved hospital parking (which you could enforce on the hospital!) would solve all these carparking issues in the Newtown and Berhampore community, rather than WCC spending excessive time and money enforcing residential parking.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I support the need to reduce the number of vehicles around the streets of Newtown. I do think that the council needs to consider the following: 1) If you want to reduce the parking spaces for people, the absolute priority needs to be to improve public transportation options around Newtown and to make it more affordable. This would provide more of an incentive to not use their cars. This has been a problem with the Council's wider transport approach. 2) I do not think enough consideration has been made for staff to park in the hospital, so I would appreciate that WCC works with Wellington Hospital to ensure there is adequate parking for staff.

I think the visitor permits and p120 are great ways to support households without cars who still need deliveries, occasional parking for trades or grandparent to drop/pick up kids. Overall well thought out scheme though I suspect some will find it confusing or not like it

Dawson street is mentioned as having 31 parking spaces on one document another show 28 and considering low curb section and fire hydrant I get 25 or 26 depending how you count the top section where Dawson St. meet Chatham St. So how do you calculated the 85 % for our street.

I think this will be great for freeing up some carparks in the area, and hopefully, long term for reducing the number of cars per household that park long term on the street. This will encourage people to think about their need for a car if they aren't using it regularly, or whether they need to add parking on their property.

The hospital should be required to provide affordable multi-level car park for staff and patients, as current parking is inadequate, which puts more pressure on surrounding residential area parking spaces in Newtown. Hanson Street -consideration should be given to making the south end (from Hall to Stoke Streets) one way southbound, because this end is currently too narrow and legally parked cars are often damaged due to space. Doing this and looking to drop speed to 30km/h would calm traffic, deter the route being used a 'rat run' in the mornings to avoid Adelaide Rd traffic light and provide a generally safer and quieter route (cyclists currently use this route and also children at the playground). If adopted a combination of parallel and diagonal parking could be used to maximise spaces available for residents.

- Prioritisation for permits should be based on need, i.e. top priority for elderly and disabled persons, 2nd priority for people with no off-street parking (no special priority for EV vehicles as this is discriminatory, as not everyone can afford to change their car to get priority). Simplify and remove barriers for people with small garages (mainly Pre 1930's) to enable them to extend or replace with bigger garages/car pads etc. Do you need to use permits for skip bins, if so more should be issued or exemptions made in case of building works on older properties. Restricted parking time 8am - 8pm, suggest restricted time to 6pm, otherwise this restricts people visiting properties at off peak times.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Having to register for visitor permits the day before is completely impractical. $18 per visitor permit is excessive. Removing more than half the street parks on Rintoul Street will make the area a parking nightmare. There is no information on what happens where a new bike lane will run in front of a home - how are families supposed to drop off heavy bags of shopping when they have to park streets away from home - just park temporarily on the cycle lane? And what happens to disabled people who can no longer park outside their own home?

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

$18/day is excessive. My strongest objection is that these have to be activated the day before - it just isn't practical to schedule in friends/family visits the day before.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I oppose the current scheme for the following reasons, that I believe it discriminates against groups of people, however with a range of improvements that I have suggested below it could work. There are a number of problems with the current proposal the main one being that it discriminates against people of a lower socio economic group. It is wrong to give priority to electric vehicles as it is mainly wealthier people who own these. It is unfair to people who have an off street parking space that they are not entitled to 50 free passes for year as they have just as many visitors and use just as many trade people (ie plumbers, electricians etc.) All households should have 50 passes per year especially as those with off street parking are so far down the list to apply for a parking permit to start with. The visitor parking permits do not take into account emergency needs for a tradesperson or similar to visit ie: blocked drains where a plumber comes on the same day. You have to be able to action the permit on the day a person is visiting NOT the day before. The fee for the parking pass discriminates against those on a lower income, what you pay should be based on your income or if you have a gold card or community services card. The parking time restriction is too short it needs to be a minimum of 180 minutes especially near the zoo where it takes at least 2 hours to get around the zoo, people won't have the time to support other local businesses such as cafes and shops. This will lead to a downturn in profit for local businesses. The area around Roy Street needs more disabled parking spaces and the parking spaces. The parking spaces need to be marked out individually as often people take up too much room and stop more cars from being able to be parked.

I appreciate the councils efforts to cater to a range of needs. Removing parking along the cycle route is important for safety and encouraging more people to cycle. Reducing of commuter parking is a great solution for dealing with the removal of parking along this route. As long as we stay vigilant with providing parks to disabled people (see below), the cycle way and parking changes will encourage more people to find active and/or low carbon modes of transport. Regarding parking eligibility, the main adjustment to the plan I'd like to see is providing mobility (/permit) parking (for non residents) and allowing permit applications from some contractors who might need it (who might not technically count as a trades worker). I,Äôd also like the see resident parking capped at 1 per dwelling, with exceptions (where it's capped at 2) to make it equitable.

I support the parking plan, I think it will encourage switching to lower carbon modes of transport (busing and micro-mobility). It will also help make it easier for those of us who regularly cycle into Newtown, Berhampore, and Wellington central via those suburbs. The car parking doesn't affect me because I travel by bike, but here, my suggestions to make the restrictions and eligibility part more equitable: Scatter some mobility parking, in addition to allowing mobility permit holders to park in resident parks. Especially near areas where it is a necessity to go, such as the supermarket. Resident parking allocation limit - should be capped at 1 with exceptions to make it equitable, such as allowing a cap of 2 for renters (with several people living in a house/flat) and for any other residents with a particularly large amount of people in their house, maybe multiple/large families (eg. 9+ people). This will get more people get used to busing, biking etc will be necessary to make for a better outcome in the long run.

A parking scheme is only as good as the enforcement of it. There is a lack of detail on whether the council has resource to carry out the enforcement of this plan. People will take advantage if regular enforcement does not occur. I don't think any plan should be implemented until the enforcement resource required is available. Hospital workers safety who work the pm or night shift do not have been considered a high enough priority. Maybe council should sell the parking building it purchased on Tory Street and getting a deal to build one on hospital grounds with the money. We all need the healthcare system at some stage of our life.

I have seen some concerns from some community members about what it means to actually have off street parking (i.e. concern that they may not be able to get a residents exemption/permit because they,Äre determined to have an offstreet park, even if that is a garage too small for a regular car, or a small space in front of the house that isn,Ät actually big enough to park in) - I think ensuring that people have a pathway to a permit through a conversation with the council (acknowledging this increases administrative burden) would alleviate some feelings of unfairness.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Overall, I strongly support the proposed scheme. It is a good attempt at providing a fair solution to long-standing problems that should have been addressed long ago. We are talking about the use of public space for private good, and some restrictions on residents' use are well justified. The scheme will only work, however, if employers (especially large ones including the hospital first and foremost) must devise transport and parking schemes for all their employees that do not require the use of on-street parking. There are large private car parks within Newtown that are empty much of the time and especially at night when some shifts end. For example, Te Whaea and two large supermarkets (one almost opposite the hospital). Commercial arrangements could be made that allow the use of space within these car parks for employee parking, and the council should play a role in facilitating such arrangements. Ideally, the parking arrangements should be worked out in tandem with integrated transport systems for workers coming from outside the area, e.g. employee-centred public bus routes/timetable arrangements, shuttle buses to Wellington railway station, incentivised car pooling systems, etc. etc, so that less single private vehicle journeys are required in the first place.

Exemptions must prioritise people with disabilities first. I did not pick up the details of eligibility of tradespeople for exemptions. There must be reasonable exemption for this purpose. Strongly support the provisions of the "ineligible vehicle types" section. Large vehicles such as boats, traveler vans, food trucks, commercial trucks on the road or road reserve are an unjustified nuisance for other residents and visitors alike.

Having lived in the area for 13 years, I disagree that the parking is under strain as there are regularly parks available in our street during the day both on weekdays and at the weekend. If we take our car out that is parked on the street, we can easily find a park when we return. The majority of people that park in our street (Kenwyn Terrace) work at the hospital so the easiest way to reduce the requirement for parking in the area is to require the hospital to provide parking for their staff. Also if you changed the rules back to making it mandatory to provide provision for parking when you are building a new dwelling would also solve the parking problem. I see this as a money making exercise by a council who has no idea what they are doing and have wasted money on frivolous crap when they should be fixing crucial infrastructure like the water pipes.

If you have any comments to make about the restrictions and eligibility of the resident exemption permits, please share them here.

I am concerned about the maximum number of permits that can be issued per household. While I agree we need to reduce the number of vehicles and not incentivise more coming to the area, this does not address the fact that many people actually need vehicles for their work. Add to this the housing issues in the area where lots of people can live in one dwelling and it seems unfair to limit the permits. I strongly oppose prioritisation being given to those with electric vehicles. I believe that most people would love to be able to afford an EV, but they are not affordable and you are therefore discriminating against people on lower incomes. Those considered to have off street parking due to having a keen ramp is unfair too. I know of several properties where the only way to get a vehicle in to the property would be by going in on an angle, which would be impossible if any other cars were parked nearby. So many garages in Wellington are very old and very small and given how many people rent, it's not as though they have the power to improve the situation. As I am unable to use what you consider off street parking in my situation and many others, I would like it to be recognised that people may need to park across their own driveways and assurance that this would be OK. It is frustrating because sometimes in doing this it encourages others to park across driveways too. Does the council have the capacity to deal with any complaints? I am hugely concerned with how this will run operationally given the pressure on the council. I have recently gone through a process to get my commercial dog walking licence and it has taken a year, and still don't have confirmation I have it. I realise this is a different department, but this parking scheme seems to have huge operational requirements and council have not been clear about how this will be covered. A huge pressure on parking in Newtown is from the hospital. Why is there no work happening with the hospital to ensure that workers have safe close parking to work, it's sure we can say they could use public transport but this is not working perfectly and workers coming from long distance should be thought about. We only need to look at Christchurch, it's similar situation to see that this is not ideal for these amazing staff who work hard.

Why is this not being done across all of Berhampore? Huge pressure will be put on areas in Berhampore closer to hospital than say Duppa Street.

Dear Members of the City Council,

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to provide feedback on the proposed new parking scheme for our community, specifically concerning the changes planned for Roy Street. While we appreciate the need for adjustments in the transport system due to Wellington's growing population, we have some reservations and concerns about the proposed changes.

Firstly, limiting parking permits to only two per household poses a significant challenge for residents like us who are renters and have multiple vehicles. Many households in our area consist of more than two adults and therefore, own more than two vehicles. This limitation doesn't seem to take into account the diverse needs of our community.

Additionally, the proposal to charge residents for parking permits without guaranteeing a parking space at any time of the day seems unfair and counterproductive to the stated goal of prioritizing residents. If we are expected to pay for parking permits, we should reasonably expect some assurance that parking spaces will be available when needed.

Furthermore, the relocation of hospital staff parking to areas farther away from the hospital is concerning, especially considering the safety issues in the Newtown area during late hours. The lack of a multi-story car park serving the hospital exacerbates this problem. It is crucial to address the parking needs of hospital staff and the safety of their commute.

Regarding public transport improvements, a trial period to demonstrate the reliability of the transport system could encourage more commuters to use it. Currently, many of us cannot rely on the existing bus services into town, which is why personal vehicles are still preferred. A more dependable public transport system would help alleviate parking issues.

It is also worth noting that this parking scheme appears to be proposed in isolation from other policies, and there is insufficient context provided on how these changes relate to broader transportation strategies and initiatives.

Lastly, the proposal to charge for parking permits on "Zoo days" does not appear to prioritize residents' needs. Additionally, it may discourage those who wish to visit the Zoo for more extended periods, which could impact the local community and businesses positively.

In summary, we believe that the current proposal needs further consideration and adjustment to better serve the needs of the residents, renters, and commuters in the Roy Street area. We hope that the City Council will take our concerns into account and work toward a parking scheme that genuinely benefits the community.

Thank you for your attention to this matter, and we look forward to a more inclusive and equitable solution for all residents in the area.

Sincerely,

Niall Mollahan

Unfair proposals for people in a house share situation. We all need vehicles for work. The transport system is chronically unreliable so cannot be relied upon. A blatant cash grab from council. What the area needs is suitable parking for hospital workers. What are they to do now, apply for 50 day passes to go to work. Then what? Shortsighted

Dear Members of the City Council, I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to provide feedback on the proposed new parking scheme for our community, specifically concerning the changes planned for Roy Street. While we appreciate the need for adjustments in the transport system due to Wellington's growing population, we have some reservations and concerns about the proposed changes. Firstly, limiting parking permits to only two per household poses a significant challenge for residents like us who are renters and have multiple vehicles. Many households in our area consist of more than two adults and therefore, own more than two vehicles. This limitation doesn't seem to take into account the diverse needs of our community. Additionally, the proposal to charge residents for parking permits without guaranteeing a parking space at any time of the day seems unfair and counterproductive to the stated goal of prioritizing residents. If we are expected to pay for parking permits, we should reasonably expect some assurance that parking spaces will be available when needed. Furthermore, the relocation of hospital staff parking to areas farther away from the hospital is concerning, especially considering the safety issues in the Newtown area during late hours. The lack of a multi-story car park serving the hospital exacerbates this problem. It is crucial to address the parking needs of hospital staff and the safety of their commute. Regarding public transport improvements, a trial period to demonstrate the reliability of the transport system could encourage more commuters to use it. Currently, many of us cannot rely on the existing bus services into town, which is why personal vehicles are still preferred. A more dependable public transport system would help alleviate parking issues. It is also worth noting that this parking scheme appears to be proposed in isolation from other policies, and there is insufficient context provided on how these changes relate to broader transportation strategies and initiatives. Lastly, the proposal to charge for parking permits on "Zoo days" does not appear to prioritize residents' needs. Additionally, it may discourage those who wish to visit the Zoo for more extended periods, which could impact the local community and businesses positively. In summary, we believe that the current proposal needs further consideration and adjustment to better serve the needs of the residents, renters, and commuters in the Roy Street area. We hope that the City Council will take our concerns into account and work toward a parking scheme that genuinely benefits the community. Thank you for your attention to this matter, and we look forward to a more inclusive and equitable solution for all residents in the area. Sincerely, Jack O'Carroll

As I said where am I going to get the amount to pay for the permit???? I cannot dispose my car but I cannot apply for the permit. Even with the permit it will be hard for me to get a parking space cause this scheme will make it harder. Why don't you build a carpark for visitors????

I believe this scheme will not fix the problem but instead shift the problem to other parts of Wellington. I am pro reducing cars on the road and believe the cycle way is a great way to do that, however this parking scheme seems like more of a revenue generating exercise than a problem solving exercise. This scheme also fails to take into account the renter population who will need more permits than this scheme appears to allow.

The main effect will be to penalise people who work in Newtown, including hospital staff and school teachers. They will be ineligible for a parking permit and most working days tend to last longer than 120 minutes. On-street parking pressure has been increased by the change in planning rules that allowed dwellings to be built without off-street parking, especially with the newer apartment blocks.

The need to pay for each pass penalises household who need multiple vehicles due to work/family commitments. The fee is a new council tax pretending to be a favour to residents This scheme claims to help short-term visitors and tradies to find parks. But most tradies don't work after 5pm or on weekends. Weekend parking is never a problem

I wonder where care givers are going to park when they are there for more than 2 hours. The Newtown Residents have supported this proposal from what I understand (how nice of the council staff to actually complete true and proper consultation on this for a change). However, there are a lot of competing uses of this space. The hospital has been there longer than many of the residents that live in the area and acknowledgement needs to be given to those that work shift work starting at times when public transport isn't available. No other business in Wellington is expected to provide parking the way there is a cry for the hospital to provide parking. (The hospital isn't blameless here either though). Those that live in houses without off street parking moved in/rented/bought knowing this. I think it is also unreasonable to have this policy 7 days a week - Monday to Sunday as you say.

The scheme is too wide and should be confined to central Newtown. Not guaranteeing residents (households) at least one off street park where they live is unacceptable. The Council should be consulting with major employers such as Wellington Hospital to develop solutions that enable workers (particularly those working shifts) to safely get to and from work.

All households should be entitled to at least one resident parking permit. House owners pay rates and should be given preference to people visiting the area for work or any other reason. It is outrageous to not guarantee residents at least one off street park, regardless of whether they have offstreet parks on their property. if there are fewer parks due to bike lanes etc, then the Council or major employers in the area such as the hospital should rectify the issue by building a car park building/s.

Generally I think it,Äôs good to prioritise but weird that houses with no off-street parking get two permits before those with off street parking get any. I think that those with no off-street parking should have priority for one permit, but once they have one permit then those with off-street parking should be the same priority for their first permit as those with no off-street parking for their second permit. I think it,Äôs good to give flats priority over dwelling with one family for multiple permits as they are less likely to be able to arrange transport together.

I don't think berhampore should be included, you can usually find parks, it's not like near wellington hospital or other built up areas in Newtown. I have family from out of town who visit regularly and older parents who visit frequently along with friends. I think it is horrible if this goes through they will no longer be able to pop over or have the stress of your parking restrictions. We already have a parking zone for the school which is great. I think this is not good use of public money when we have bigger issues. Maybe focus on the safety factor around Newtown and berhampore ie theft and attacks happening around the hospital before the car park zones

The parking scheme doesn't take into account the number of employees who park in Newtown. Especially from the hospital. This plan will make an already impossible parking situation worse.

I support restrictions on parking in newtown smd beramphore. We need limits on how many vehicles people can park on street for free. One neighbor has 8 vehicles. We need more parks for those without full mobility We need parking at intersection corners to be stopped, there are high risk intersections in newtown because sightings are appalling. Large motor homes on street take too much room and are a hazard when parked at corners

I don't think it's fair to A. Take more parks away, and B. Make people pay to park, fix the pipes, streets, and make the streets safer for everyone in town. Meaning all the 'homeless people,' that abuses people, drink during the day and urinate on the streets. I think those are all much more important and would help our city so much more :) these ideas are just dividing our city more and more. And is such a shame to see.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I support changes that prevent commuters parking for a whole shift - day or night. I am uncertain about the impact of the proposed permits particularly when the number of parks is being heavily reduced. I have been approaching the council for several years about parking difficulties. I am very concerned when it has already been so difficult what it,Äôs going to be like. It is possible that providing the P120 option will continue to shut residents out. I support the idea but don,Äôt think there will be enough capacity. It,Äôs likely to need 100% of remaining parks to be resident only.

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Very likely

Why did you select that answer?

I am disabled, living alone. I gave up owning my own car due to difficulties getting a park near the house. I am heavily reliant on others coming daily to help me. Visitors passes of 50 will be insufficient so may be necessary to get a permit for at least one family member car. This is far from ideal as different cars come depending on who is helping.

I have carers come daily, lack of parking significantly impacts on my care service. The cycle lane will remove all parking from outside my house and over 100 parks. I will qualify in first and third allocation for permit but this only benefits me if I buy a car again. Relying on paid carers for daily visits means a high dependency on a P120 being available but I am worried that having these parks will lessen the number available for residents when it,Äôs already been so difficult. The P120 parks will be needed for doctors appointments, shoppers, hospital appointments and visitors, community centre visitors etc. If we,Äôt been given this scheme years ago I would have felt more positive but can,Äôt see things being better when losing so many parks. I have opposed the 8am to 8pm - if I am understanding it correctly that would mean anyone could park between 8pm and 8am so permits would provide no benefit. Given number of hospital staff at night, the parking pressure doesn,Äôt currently ease at night time.

The scheme seems so complex in how it is allocating permits you need to have a PHD to understand it. Having restricted parking until 8pm and then at weekends also seems unfair. You are removing parks in areas used for recreation near the Athletics track and football pitches. Are all social sporting activities a max of 2 hours or is this the councils way of being the fun police? It looks like Wellington does not want people to own cars regardless of whether they have lived here for years or are moving here for the first time. The consultation period is short compared to how quick you want to make changes. Its ashame you cant fix Wellington's water pipes as quick.

This scheme seems like it has been created with little thought to the people who currently live in the area and the staff who work at the hospital, who need to park. The scheme seems so complex in how it is allocating permits you need to have a PHD to understand it. Having restricted parking until 8pm and then at weekends also seems unfair. The area is growing so needs more parking, not less. Assume people have cars and pay rates penalising people that don't have off street parking is not fair. Charging residents to prevent hospital workers taking our parks can't happen. I cycle to work everyday just like the good boy you want me to be. I Leave my car at home so don't charge me for that. Need a car, pretty much everyone does! The space outside my house in a residential street just available. Time limits I assume is a way to justify all your wardens. People are not made of money, cut your costs before revenue gathering methods. Deeming a parking space (empty road ) outside a residential address with no driveway as being attached to that house is far cheaper than admin on a residential parking scheme, limited free vouchers printing, parking signage, fee collection, debt collection etc etc. You don't have to do anything apart from let all Wellington know just like don't park on the footpath. There's pars for residents as they'll get offending cars towed and forces hospital workers to bike or use public transport. No parks for them, plenty of parks for residents and little cost to the wcc to admin. And you still get the chance to involve a parking warden! Win, win, win. Limiting parking, roadways or reducing is not the way to go, your proposed solution will not solve the issues, it'll cause more and more pain and will not work. If it goes ahead I will not apply for a resident permit and will park in the area and will not pay fines. Melbourne has a nicer climate too.

Newtown west

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Very unlikely

Why did you select that answer?

If I had a driveway there would be no need to have a parking permit. I already pay higher rates for living in the area and the street outside my property should be considered my driveway and be used by residents of the street. Making that the norm and then making it possible for me to get the car towed would deter other people that work in the area from driving to work and use public transport. I pay rates to live in the area and cannot afford to pay to park in the area as well when those with drives do not. Leaving a space available is by far the cheapest option for the wcc as nothing needs to be done and no admin new signage etc. Homeowners have cars and need a parking spot. It is not fair to charge existing residents when the problem has been caused by others. Your scheme further punishes local ratepayers and is absolutely stupidly ridiculous. Half thought though unfair, will not work or help the ideology or reasons you state. It,Ãs totally unintelligent.

I have no idea who has thought of this it,Ãs it,Ãs totally wrong that Newtown residents are no longer allowed to have cars. That,Ãs what I take from this. This scheme is hair brained insanity. Limited permits, a number of free passes. Hello are there adults working for the wcc I can talk to please. Totally oppose everything above. And I,Ãm even more astounded at the stupidity. You said the area is growing therefore you need more of stuff not less! Please make parking available and free to ratepayers and base the parking spaces on the number of driver,Ãs licenses held in the area. Assume we all actually have a car that needs parking somewhere. Why assume no one has a car wants to drive or needs a park?

So you want the limit parking so you can fine people. Wcc thinks people are cash cows. Just stop people working at the hospital parking in residential streets and that will solve the issue. Give them more spaces or give residents spaces outside their own property with the right to tow.

The house I live at has a very small garage that leads onto the road. However, this part of the property is not included in my rent agreement - the landlord,Ãs son owns this garage and keeps his belongings in there, my flatmates and I do not have access to this area even though it is technically at our residence. It is ridiculous that this is included as off street parking when it is not mine. Also, prioritising electric vehicle owners is prioritising the rich and taxing the poor. It is so incredibly unethical when EV,Ãs cost tens of thousands (even with the subsidy), but these cars are given priority simply because I can only afford a $1500 toyota. I am 100% in favour of a greener community and if I could have an EV i would in a heartbeat. But it is not that easy, and pretending like it is and making the lower income households suffer is not the answer.

I cannot afford the $195 per year just to park my car outside of my house. I am a student that struggles to make ends meet every week. In order to remain in my course (Midwifery), having my own method of transport is mandatory.. I cannot catch the bus to the hospital at 2am when I am called in to deliver a baby. I am in favour of moving towards a greener, more climate friendly community. But.. please don,Ãt make us poorer people have to pay for it when there are no other options available for us. It is not safe for me to cycle to the hospital in the dark. I do not get paid for my placements and I earn barely enough to cover rent, food, bills and petrol. Living is already so expensive and the thought of having to pay an extra $195 per year makes me incredibly anxious and scared.

You should re-look at whether the P120 restrictions need to apply 7 days a week everywhere. Monday to Friday work week restrictions may suffice for areas further away from the hospital. In these areas, the major issue is parking being taken up all-day from Monday to Friday by hospital and other health service employees, who arrive between 6.30 and 7.15am, and leave between 4 and 6.

If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here.
I support the new approach, which will lead to fairer distribution and allocation of residential permit parking. Although I didn't see it mentioned as an issue in any of the background documents, I am aware that the short, tightly held avenues of Newtown have been able to get the required proportion of signatures to have residents parking established, whereas longer streets with more transient residents have not been successful.

Many households in this area are shared flats with multiple cars belonging to different members. Only allowing 2 permits per household is ridiculous when multiple people live there and need cars. I work at the hospital and walk as much as possible, but when I,Äm on call and there is an emergency over night, I need to have my car close by. With the current proposal I would not be able to get a permit, as my flatmates are also working professionals who need their cars. What do you expect people to do with their cars who don,Ät have a permit? If you live in the area, then you should be eligible.

People shouldn't expect to park their private property on public land. Free parking is a waste of public space that can be better used by people as leisure space (outdoor cafe seating) or to help people to get around - ie cycleways.

There isn't a huge demand for parking in Berhampore as there is in Newtown, so I don't think the proposed scheme and removal of some parking on Adelaide Road would create a huge amount of change or disruption. However, it would be good if there is a way to incentivise people who live on restricted streets to purchase permits. For example, large parts of Britomart, Chilka and Duppa Streets will be restricted but Stanley Street will not be. It could create a parking nightmare if residents on those 3 streets chose to park for free on Stanley Street instead of paying for permits for their own street. It would be disappointing if the scheme creates perverse incentives in an area where parking already functions fairly well.

It is being pushed through too quickly, with little consideration for impacts on long term residents, who have been unaware of some of these details. The value of my property will have gone down a lot, so moving (eg to somewhere with more offstreet parking) is not a great option at this point either. Very bleak for anyone with mobility issues or for bigger practicalities like tradespeople etc. My own daily parking is less of an issue - it's accessibility for exceptional/rare events that will make living here unpleasant. Awful lot of deprioritising of current residents in a subwrb that has functioned well for relatively few cyclists. A more robust bus system is also needed in order to justify this shift in the short term.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I support residents having priority for parking in suburban streets - as in the Parking Policy which was agreed in 2020. I would support some of the spaces being for 180 mins rather than 120 mins - this is more realistic for some activities such as some hospital appointments, and meetings of various sorts. I don't think there is a need for the restrictions to be 8am-8pm every day. As an initial step I would support 8am-6pm Monday - Friday. If this proved insufficient over time then an increase to the limits could be considered. One benefit of this would be that residents could have visitors at the weekend without using up their visitor permit allocation, and without the cumbersome process of applying for a permit the day before. We don't always know the day before that someone will be coming to see us, and even if we do, finding out their license plate number to apply for the permit would be a difficult extra step. The whole pay-by-plate system seems problematic in a residential area where a number of residents are elderly and struggle with online systems.

The yes or no questions about the restrictions are too limiting. I support having time limited parking with residents' exemptions but there is a case to be made for some of the spaces being for 180 mins rather than 120 mins - this is more realistic for some activities such as some hospital appointments, and meetings of various sorts. If in fact the activity is over in less than 180mins then the driver is very likely to move on - unlikely to stay longer just because they can! Also I don't think there is a need for the restrictions to be 8am-8pm every day. As an initial step I propose 8am-6pm Monday - Friday. If this proved insufficient over time then an increase to the limits could be considered. The proposed scheme is not supported by robust analysis or assessment. Based on the first round of MCA results, Options #13 and #14 were shortlisted. After Parking Services feedback, Option #2 was added to the shortlist. This makes no sense as of 14 Options considered in the initial multi-criteria analysis, Option #2 was assessed as the 3rd worst option out of 14 (MCA Table 10). There were 8 higher rating Options that could have been added to the shortlist. At a Newtown MCA Short-List Workshop on 15 November 2022, Council staff considered the short-listed options against new criteria and considered alternative weighting of criteria. The conclusion of this assessment was that: „ÚThe top performing short-list option across all sensitivity tests was Option #13 ,Äi Resident and Coupon Parking with an overall weighted score in the range of 0.5-0.75 compared to Option #2 (0.1-0.3) and Option #14 (0.1-0.35). This demonstrates the robustness of the assessment result with respect to the assessment criteria.,Äù And yet with some tweaks, Option #2 has become the proposed solution. This raises serious concerns about the validity of the process. The analysis and assessment in both the MCA and at the MCA Short-List workshop have been ignored and it is clear that there is no evidence-base that supports the decision-making. This is an important scheme that impacts thousands of people and Wellington deserves better than decisions being made without robust analysis and assessment. The Newtown Parking Management Plan Business Case notes that a new proposal was presented on 19 April 2023 due to ,Äùtransitional transport improvements becoming increasingly critical and the possibility that coupon parking could negatively impact hospital staff, raising questions about the validity of choosing Option 13 in the initial MCA and posing reputational risks for the Council,Äù and a ,Äùrevised preferred option (Option 2B) was proposed, which is a variation on Option 2,Äù. It is very difficult to understand the reasoning to discredit Option #13 due to the ,Äùpossibility that coupon parking could negatively impact hospital staff,Äù, but replace it with Option #2B which will even more negatively impact hospital staff. This new Option #2B was then assessed against a ,Äùdo Nothing,Äù scenario and was identified as delivering greater benefits than doing nothing. Crucially, the initial MCA identified that Option #2 was likely to generate a 3% increase in greenhouse gas emissions, whereas Option #13 would have delivered a 2% reduction. According to the Newtown parking Management Project Business Case: Section 77 of the Local Government Act requires a local authority, during a decision-making process to: ,Äç Seek to identify all reasonably practicable options for the achievement of the objective of the decision; and ,Äç Assess the options in terms of their advantages and disadvantages. By ignoring the multi-criteria assessment and the determination of the Newtown MCA Short-List Workshop, WCC may be in breach of LGA Section 77. Additionally, the MCA was assessed for Newtown and not Berhampore despite Berhampore clearly having different issues that need resolving than Newtown. WCC does not appear to have conducted any detailed analysis or assessment of potential options that is specific to Berhampore. Other concerns about the MCA process include: WCC paid consultants (Abley) to consider the merits of various options. Despite

WCC repeatedly stating that the scheme would prioritise residents, the Parking MCA notes that „For all options, there is a consistent increase in the number of short-term parks,“ (MCA p4). Further the determination of the criteria and weighting to assess the options, (decided by Wellington City Council parking management board), put reduction of carbon emissions as the most important factor with 40% weighting, with the ability of residents to get a park only weighted at 20% which was the same weighting given to annual parking revenue from fees and charges (MCA Table 4). It is unclear why residents parking was not prioritised during determination of criteria and weightings. And it is not acceptable that WCC is promoting the scheme as prioritising residents, given the weightings for emissions and revenue as well as the focus to only consider options that increase the number the availability of short-term parks. Only Options 2, 11, 12,13, 14, included a cap on the total number of permits issued to residents (MCA p6). And yet all 3 short-listed options came from this group. It is unclear why caps on total number of permits were not included in the other 9 long-listed options, but it does appear that they were negatively assessed due to the absence of caps. This reflects very poorly on the objectivity of the process as outcomes may have been materially different if caps had been applied consistently across all options. Insufficient attention has been given to WCC,“s capability for enforcement of the scheme WCC has failed to provide details about enforcement, including the costs and resource required to enforce the scheme adequately. The P120 / Residents scheme will only work if it is properly enforced and as Residents are paying to use these parking spaces, there is an obligation on WCC to ensure that it is being properly enforced. Passages in the Business Case that appear to suggest that enforcement and compliance will be low. These include: „Managing expectations as to how often staff will be able to be on-site to monitor and enforce (p19) „ Parking Services don,“t have the staff/resources to be on-site to monitor roads or remove vehicles at all times (p19) „ To gain some efficiencies Parking Services will rely heavily on technology; for now, they will rely on existing staff to monitor parking. (p25) This scheme represents a massive increase in the number of parking spaces that will require enforcement and these parking spaces will predominantly be P120 / Residents Exempt parking spaces. P120 / Residents Exempt parking spaces In will require greater levels of surveillance than existing Residents parking spaces, as Parking Services wardens will need to be monitoring how long non-permit holders are parking in the parking spaces and not just if non-permit holders are parking in the parking spaces. In order to be properly enforced every P120 / Residents Exempt parking space may need to be visited by a parking warden at a minimum of once every hour to ensure non-exempt vehicles are not parked for more than 2 hours. This will not only be extremely expensive, but it appears from comments in the Business Case that Parking Services will not have sufficient resource to undertake effective enforcement of the scheme on its introduction. A scheme without enforcement will result in misery for residents seeking to secure on street parking near their place of residence. WCC should have published the methodology and agreed standards for enforcement. Answers to questions like those following are unknown: - How often will each P120 / Residents Exempt parking space be checked? - What percentage of non-exempt vehicles that stay 3 hours in a P120 / Residents Exempt parking space do WCC expect to identify and ticket? - What additional Parking Services resource will be required to enforce the scheme, and what will the cost be? - What will the penalties be and how much revenue is expected to be generated from non-compliance? Need to prioritise Residents in Berhampore & reduce social engineering P120 / Residents Exempt parking spaces are a solution to cater to the needs of short-term parkers as well as residents and they are unlikely the best solution to meet the parking needs in Berhampore. A better proposal for residential Berhampore would be to have 75% of the P120 / Residents Exempt parking spaces kept exclusively for Residents, with the remaining 25% a mix of P120 / Residents Exempt and P240 / Residents Exempt. This would prioritise residents' parking needs but also allow residents to have unplanned social visits from friends as well as allow tradespeople to stay for more than 2 hours. It is unacceptable social engineering that if residents want over 2-hour social visits from the less-abled, elderly or families with small children who wish or need to drive to make the visit, then a day's notice and potentially an $18 fee need to be made to WCC. There needs to be more residents parking spaces at the southern end of Berhampore as WCC is planning an extreme reduction in parking spaces on both sides of Adelaide Road in an area with a very high number of residences that do not have off street parking. Lavaud St, Blythe St and Rintoul St (and maybe Glendavar Tce and Stirling St) will all need to have residents parking spaces to accommodate the displacement off Adelaide Road. This will be most keenly needed on Saturdays as Wakefield Park users currently utilise many parking spaces on Adelaide Road, Dawson St, Duppa St and Akatea St. It is non-sensical and disappointing that WCC have determined without any evidence in the Wakefield Park Parking Management Plan that no users of Wakefield Park will park north of Wakefield Park in the future. The impacts on traffic volumes and the impacts of a greater number of occupied parking spaces do not appear to have been carefully considered. Has there been any study or analysis on the impacts of traffic on side streets from additional traffic of people looking for parking spaces and greater parking space occupancy? For example, it will not be possible for Dawson St to accommodate heavy P120 / Residents Exempt parking space occupation on both sides of the road without gridlocking traffic as the street is too narrow to support parking on both sides unless there is significant under-occupancy as there is now. There is a need for targeted engagement and proper consultation. For transparency and fairness, it is vitally important that residents, business owners and others are given an opportunity for proper consultation. This means there needs to be more consultation on the scheme that includes details of the enforcement strategy as well as proper costings and analysis specific to Berhampore as well as analysis on the implications to side street traffic and parking space availability. There also needs to be targeted engagement with those most impacted.

I have no choice. I have no off street parking nor the financial means to modify my property to accommodate off street parking. WCC is determined to remove nearly all the on street parking near my house and convert nearly all the closest remaining on street parks to P120 with residents permit holders exempt. Despite WCC claiming that they are putting residents first, thi is not true. WCC are actually trying to force residents to give up their cars as well as prioritising short stay visitors over residents. I expect further measures from WCC to restrict residents parking in Berhampore and Newtown.

Residents with Electric vehicles should not have higher priority than those with a non-electric vehicle. Many people can not afford an electric vehicle and they should not be disadvantaged in this way simply for being poorer than others. The scheme also penalises those practicing multi-generational living or house sharing. Many people are unable to afford to own their own home individually or rent individually and they may need to cohabit with others. Again, as per Electric vehicles, the prioritisation appears to favour wealthier people over other residents. Residents who have unusable garages (many are old and too narrow for modern cars) should not be penalised. Consideration should be given to giving higher priority to residents with the greatest local need, i.e those with the lowest availability of on street parking like those whose closest current on street parking is being removed by WCC. For example, Berhampore residents who live on Emmerson St or Russell Tce where there should be sufficient unrestricted parking spaces could have lower priority than people on Adelaide Road or Luxford St where parking spaces will be in very tight supply.

It is unclear why Berhampore is being included in this scheme as it has completely different parking issues than Newtown. In Berhampore, the entire need for a parking scheme is being caused by WCC poorly considered and executed bike lane project. Berhampore does not have the same need for short-term parking that Newtown has. The Berhampore scheme should be focused on resolving the issues which are being created by WCC heavily reducing on street parking availability for residents, their friends and their people serving their residences (couriers, trades people, etc) living near Adelaide Rd, Luxford St and Rintoul St, and WCC reducing parking availability for people looking to frequent businesses in Berhampore. P120 / Residents Exempt parking spaces are a solution to cater to the needs of short-term parkers as well as residents and they are unlikely the best solution to meet the parking needs in Berhampore. A better proposal for residential Berhampore would be to have 75% of the P120 / Residents Exempt parking spaces kept exclusively for Residents, with the remaining 25% a mix of P120 / Residents Exempt and P240 / Residents Exempt. This would prioritise residents' parking needs but also allow residents to have unplanned social visits from friends as well as allow tradespeople to stay for more than 2 hours. It is unacceptable social engineering that if residents want over 2-hour social visits from the less-abled, elderly or families with small children who wish or need to drive to make the visit, then a day's notice and potentially an $18 fee need to be made to WCC. The P120 / Residents scheme will only work if it is properly enforced and as Residents are paying to use these parking spaces, there is an obligation on WCC to ensure that it is being properly enforced. But almost no information has been provided about enforcement. In order to be properly enforced every P120 / Residents parking space may need to be visited by a parking warden at a minimum of once every hour to ensure non-exempt vehicles are not parked for more than 2 hours. This will not only be extremely expensive, but Parking Services will most likely not have sufficient resource to effectively enforce the scheme. A scheme without enforcement will result in misery for residents seeking to secure on street parking near their place of residence. WCC should have published the methodology and agreed standards for enforcement and WCC should immediately publish them now. Answers to questions like those following are unknown: - How often will each P120 / Residents Exempt parking space be checked? - What percentage of non-exempt vehicles that stay 3 hours in a P120 / Residents Exempt parking space do WCC expect to identify and ticket? - What additional Parking Services resource will be required, and what will the cost be? - What will the penalties be and how much revenue is expected to be generated from non-compliance? There should be more zones to increase the prospects of residents finding a P120 / Residents Exempt parking space near their residence. The current three zones are too large and more zones would be better. There needs to be more P120 / Residents Exempt parking spaces at the southern end of Berhampore where there is a planned extreme loss of parking spaces on both sides of Adelaide Road in an area with a very high number of residences that do not have off street parking. Lavaud St, Blythe St and Rintoul St (and maybe Glendavar Tce and Stirling St) will all need to have P120 / Residents Exempt parking spaces to accommodate the displacement off Adelaide. Prioritising households with an EV is ridiculous! Wow - privileged much WCC policy peeps?? The settings of the policy whether intended or not will have more significant impacts on some households - large ones (flats, inter-generational households, multi-whfÅnau households), people who work multiple jobs, people who work outside 9-5 hours; people who have to have a work vehicle which can't be used for personal use. And lets get real what that means is in relation to some of those categories then the households being disproportionately impacted are more likely to be lower income and ethnic minority households, Many of these households rely on cars because the public transport (aside from being unreliable) doesn't operate routes/hours that work for them. I think 2 permits per house may be too blunt in some situations. There should also be scope for some kind of case by case category for eligible households to give them a higher weighting even if they're in a lower priority group ... this might include health/mobility issues not severe enough for a mobility permit, young kids, elderly, household size etc Additionally - the annual cost will be prohibitive for some households - those with a low income or a fixed income in particular . There should be some nuance in the policy settings for these households. Why not trial the policy in suburbs which already have residents parking in place - if this is what you want to roll out, trial it in an area(s) that are used to paid parking already. Berhampore should definitely not be first cab off the rank for testing the parking policy - given it's only needed in this suburb in the first place due to the cycleway and trying to screw over hospital staff in Newtown. I've heard the hospital has lobbied for an extension to the parking implementation to give their staff time to 'mode shift'. I'd prefer you test it elsewhere first but if it is being tested here then the Berhampore phase should not be implemented before Newtown. Finally the consultation - which isn't really consultation given how much is locked in already - will be missing out many of those in our local area disproportionately impacted. The consultation materials are dense, in places they are technical and not easy to understand even for those well educated with English as a first language. The material is split over too many documents files and splitting it over zones makes it a lot of work to dive into. The summaries don't really give you the full scope of the impacts. Let alone those households that reply on a cellphone for internet access. Council could do better given how important it is to get this right - other options could have included more specifically targeted letterbox drops with a better detail of the potential impacts for residents on that street and things like temporary footpath markings to indicate where changes are happening. Perhaps also supplementing the consultation with something more targeted when you run the demographics of this particular survey and realise how non representative it is of our local population.

Currently our street is unrestricted meaning we would not need an exemption. However very little faith that the council won't rapidly extend the scheme - spillover vehicle movements as those without offstreet parking search for new parking as a result of the planned cycleway through Berhampore will mean a quick review and extension. Once it gets extended we will apply for an exemption.

Prioritising households with an EV is ridiculous! Wow - privileged much WCC policy peeps?? I think it requires more nuance and council could do better. The visitor pass is a h~çhfÅ - applying online the day before and needing rego numbers - yeah/nah. Again discriminates against larger whfÅnau. One side of our immediate whfÅnau coming for Xmas day is 26+ people coming from around the region that's 6 cars minimum even with car sharing.

Yes parking is often tight in Berhampore but currently a scheme is not needed. The real reason a scheme will be needed in the immediate future is the removal of current parking for the cycleway. I keep hearing people say these policies will help switch people out of cars but the reality is many of us are not cyclists and never will be. It is unfortunate that WCC seems to be more stick less carrot in the aim of getting people to switch transport modes. More effort around working with the regional council to improve buses would be great. At the drop in centre it appeared council thinks the bus situation is fixed because cancellations are down to 1%. Nevermind that peak hour buses are often full when they get to Berhampore as long as the peeps in Island Bay can catch the bus. Maybe we're so 'inner-city' we should just be walking again fine for the small size, fit and able households not so great for the more complex households.

In our street (Burwah St) it seems silly that only one side has restrictions as these will be probably be used first by "park and riders" and other non residents who already use the street but currently without issue as we all park in a way that maximises the available spaces - ie perpindicular to the kerb rather than beside the curb. Any change to this would cause there to be even less parks

Garages are old and to small to use for modern vehicles. Why do those with a garage get no permit but if you don't have a garage you can get 2? Parking is not a problem on the weekend so why is this included? Parking is not a problem after 5pm so why is it being extended to 8pm? Why are you disadvantage if you have a garage for visitors parking permits? Consideration for families who need cars has not been thought through. As hospital parking is the main contributor to parking issues why are local ratepayers being disadvantaged.

Parking is not a problem on the weekend so why is this included. It is also not a problem after 5pm and should not be extended to 8pm. Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I live at 1/6 The Parade & the parking outside my house will be removed as part of this scheme. I strongly oppose the scheme & would insist that the parks outside my home remain. There is a real safety issue with putting my 2 young children into my car & taking them out too. Simple things like unloading shopping, etc. will be very inconvenient once the parks have been removed. The vehicles travelling north (past the Dee St roundabout) tend to accelerate so it would be very dangerous for me to park in my drive (people tend to be very impatient and make foolish mistakes) whilst navigating buses, traffic, pedestrians, cyclists. The roundabout at Dee St has poor visibility and there have been many near misses as vehicles travelling north are not paying attention to traffic going around the roundabout. The median barrier is too wide on The Parade which is unnecessary - you could still retain the car parks on either side of the road if the traffic was separated by a dotted white line (like you have done down Adelaide Rd heading towards the basin). This also 'forces' traffic to slow down. The barrier encourages people to 'not stay in their lane'. There is inconsistency with your plans as you are assuming everyone is suddenly going to start riding a bike. I would like the opportunity to provide verbal opposition on your plans when the time arises so please get in touch with me. Thanks, Mahesh

This proposal is failing to address the key issue in Newtown, which is that the hospital does not have appropriate, affordable, or enough parking solutions for staff working in the hospital. The council should not be making it harder for people to come and work in Newtown, especially when the majority of people doing this are nurses, doctors and other health related professionals. The council should be prioritising building a large multi-level car park for staff and patients, that has minimal fees. This will get staff off the streets of Newtown, and allow more space for residents. Further, there is always talk of improving public transport, but as far as I can see, this is only helpful for daylight hours. What about nurses that have to be at the hospital for their shift at 6.45am? Or those that finish at 11pm at night? Will there be busses that will take them out to all the different suburbs around Wellington and even Lower Hutt / Porirua? I highly doubt it. Making hospital staff park further away will also make it more dangerous for the female nurses/staff who have to walk long distances to their cars late at night. Is the council going to provide security staff for this also? I have lived in Newtown for 12 years AND I have studied at the universities AND I work in the hospital as a health professional. I park my car on the street. Yes it can be difficult to find parking at certain times of the day. And where able I use public transport to get into the city to avoid loosing my park or having trouble when I return home. But overall, I always manage to find a park, even if I have to walk 5 minutes or so to my house. I am ok with this. Usually at night and on the weekends it is no problem. Residents shouldn't have to pay to park in the suburb they live in, and the permits shouldn't be restricted to two per household. How about those who flat or have multiple people living in one apartment. Why should they be disadvantaged for house sharing? The most reasonable solution for Newtown/Berhampore, is to allocate land to build parking buildings and have these spaces available to rent. Stop trying to force people out of their cars by removing parking when the city has an ineffective public transport system that is unreliable, expensive and inappropriate for shift workers.

I do not agree with installing more residents parking. Only allowing for 2 residents permits per household is wrong. It is common for people to flat or apartment share in Newtown, but often still have separate cars. Anyone who lives in Newtown should be able to get a permit if residents permits are being put in place.

Do not put in more resident permit parking. Permit parking makes living and parking in Newtown overly complicated and difficult. Residents shouldn't be charged for parking on the street. People should be able to park for longer than 2 hours in Newtown. Visitors to homes and the hospital shouldn't need to stress about time restrictions on their parking space

A lot of students live in this area and this plan would screw them over. I live in a flat of 5 medical students who need cars to commute to placements outside of the central Wellington area. This proposed plan would make it impossible for all of us to keep our cars and secretly impact our ability to get to required placements.

There are basically no unrestricted parks left. The hospital workers rely on these parks to be able to staff your primary hospital.

Having to apply for a visitor permit the day before the visit isn't just impractical, it is also an invasion of privacy. People don't always know if they're going to have to visit the day before. No other parking scheme anywhere else requires such a forward commitment, what happens if you have to cancel your plans? Do you get a refund? Also having to pay for a full day when your visitor is only going to be there for 3 to 4 hours will stop a lot of people being able to visit family for dinner etc. It's not good for social well-being, especially for some of the more vulnerable people in the area.

Prioritising electric vehicles over other kinds is not nice, you're giving advantage to people who already have more resources than others, also people who have EV's need somewhere to charge, so are most likely the people who will have a garage or other off street park

This scheme is poorly thought out and needs to go back to the drawing board. WCC needs an agreement from the hospital on staff parking. The hospital is the largest employer in Wellington and the staff cannot be leaving patients, to roam around Newtown looking for another 120m park because they can't park eight hours. They are critical and life saving staff. So WCC STOP being so pro cycleway and anticar focused because this what this is about trying to make cars disappear by removing parks. That is not happening though. Because PT is not up to standard and most do not want to cycle. It is no coincidence that you are pushing the cycleway up Rintoul through at the same time taking at least 100 parks. Along with taking at least 150 parks from Adelaide Road and allowing apartments to not have carparks you are contributing to the problem. Hence this scheme. But the Public Transport is obviously not good enough to convince people to not use them. So those cars need to be parked. People in Rintoul Street have no idea about this even with your very recent box drop that you were pressed into doing has only reached one in three on Rintoul. The parking and the cycleway are very Linked you won't be able to do one without the other. It looks like the parking won't get the numbers. Congrats to the lab workers who did a petition for 65 people against we will be watching to make sure that is included. Also the Medical centre on Rintoul Street will be in trouble with one park left outside. Have you thought about the Insanity of all this just for on average 2200 cyclists in all of Wellington per day.! It is likely as it is Govt money that it will never happen, I guess that's also why doing two things in one consultation before the election is before us. The saying is that this is for the residents of Newtown is nonsense most of them are not for it. Or selfish enough to put the Hospital staff at risk. It will exclude 20 % in the permit allocation and they will not necessarily get a park near their house and will have to pay for that. Go back to the drawing board after the election with the money you have left.

This is a scheme that will not work. We will be better off all round with unrestricted free parking. The demand for parking will still exist. This is an attempt by WCC to cover their own removal of carparks. The hospital staff should actually come first in the priority list. How do we get on if your nurse is off shift looking for a park??

These consultations are a pointless waste of time, because every single one gets posted in Cycle Wellington Facebook group and the survey is hijacked by hundreds of cycling loons who lie about living in the area and make up rubbish. The Aro Valley one had near identical answers stating that they had to weave through traffic to get up the road, where as in reality, there is never any traffic in the section at all. It's an expensive solution looking for a problem. Supposedly we need these changes because "it should be busier in 20 years" and this will solve the ongoing climate crisis, when in reality it'll do practically zero. Electric cars and light rail will have more of an impact. None of the surveys undertaken have measured whether car numbers have reduced on the routes where cycle ways have been introduced, just how many extra bikes are counted (which are minimal) and make an incorrect assumption that those would have been car journeys. All you are doing is making residents lives worse.

I think more consideration is required to the household permit limit of 2. Eg. for people living in flats. I lived in a flat in Newtown with 6 people, and many of us had a valid reason for having and needing a vehicle (eg. for work). But many households eg. families, may only have/need one vehicle. Meaning one of their residents parking allocations could be redistributed to larger household that require them. I also don't quite understand the reasoning for prioritising older houses (built before 1930) in the parking allocation? More detail around this would be appreciated.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

The proposed parking scheme aims to "make it easier for residents who aren't able to park off-street, to park in the area" and "more fairly manage the demand and allocation of parking permits" however, I don't think the proposed changes will best achieve these outcomes. Those who do not get a pass may find it harder to find a park, same with those who live in areas with unrestricted parking as there is likely to be increased demand for those parking spots. Not all of the prioritisation criteria for permits seem fair to me.

Monday-Friday hours would make more sense and would decrease the admin involved with the proposed visitor pass system. I think having to apply for a visitor pass ahead of time is a bit weird, this process doesn't account for unplanned visitors, flexibility etc, What are people who need their cars but miss out on resident passes supposed to do? It's not viable for everyone who doesn't get a pass to get rid of their cars and use other options. The cost will likely impact households/families/individuals with lower incomes more which is not fair. While I understand the logic behind prioritising electric vehicle owners, they tend to be from more affluent households and again disadvantages households with less money.

I strongly oppose having to enter details for visitors a day in advance of people visiting. This is not practical and not everyone has access to the internet. I feel strongly that paper visitor permits should be issued so that if things happen without advance warning, guests can come and park for more than two hours without having to plan this in advance. Whilst I overall support the concept, I think that a few things should be tweaked. I think prioritising EVs is an unfair move at this stage, as it prioritises those who can afford EVs. Until there is sufficient mass of EVs available on the second hand market, I would think it would be better to prioritise smaller vehicles over larger vehicles, rather than prioritising EVs.

- I think that the p120 should apply 24 hours, and perhaps even be shorter - I think it's unfair at this stage to prioritise EVs over other vehicles - until EVs are sufficiently affordable and a critical mass of them are available on the second hand market, the priority is artificially benefiting those with more wealth. Instead I think that we should prioritise permits for smaller vehicles over larger ones

Not logical and far too imposing - who wants to lodge applications for visitors for heavens sake!
 Where do the 15% who aren't granted parking permits go to park? EV's or not, NZ is not a country where you can get around without a vehicle - spend the money on improving public transport would be your best bet.

I fundamentally disagree with a resident permit scheme that charges residents to park outside their homes. A lot of people in the area will not be able to afford the permits. Wellington City Council took away parking spaces & are now proposing to charge residents so they have access to parking. Is Wellington City Council planning to return the favour of publicly publishing my name, suburb & comments by publicly publishing the name, suburb & comments that are made by the governance members when they make their decisions? In the past there have been issues of lobby groups causing issues for people who expressed views that were in conflict with the lobby group. What action will Wellington City Council take should members of lobby groups cause issues / persecute people with different views?

The restrictions will make it incredibly difficult for all the people who work in the area. Where will they park? Where will relatives & friends who are visiting park? Your parking restrictions proposition will give our visitors a choice of 25 visits where they are exempt from the restrictions (for a 24hr period??), night time visits or just 120 min visits - which makes it feel very transactional. How will this work for people who need regular support?

It's really expensive, and that's supposedly just to cover having people out there enforcing it- if its not a revenue grab like yall are stating then like... you don't really need to be doing that in the first place. The current residential parking is restrictive enough

Our off street parking is too small for anyone to park but it still counts as off street parking which means we can,Äôt have as many visitors and also may not be able to get a permit and therefore need to sell our car and so can,Äôt get our kids to after school activities or get to places we need to.

It will make many students and hospital staff who cannot afford to pay the hospital parking (mostly taken up by visitors to the hospital anyways) or the fees of other parking lots near the area. This will increase the stress already felt by the medical professions and students by 10 fold and will not be appreciated. Finding parking is already a strenuous task, please try to be considerate of the people who have no other choice but to come by vehicle since taking the bus will be wasting hours of my day which I can use to study and pass my exams.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Oppose

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

If WCC can guaranty, patients would be seen within 120 minutes at their medical centres.
 Permanent residents of 20years and more should be exempt from paying for any permits.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Yes

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

On the street (unrestricted)

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

I live in the area

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, which zone of Newtown or Berhampore is it in?

Berhampore zone

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Undecided

Why did you select that answer?

I have been living in Berhampore for 31 years. I have been paying my rates without fail. If Residents Exemption Permit is introduced, it should be without cost for such residents or for residents of over 20 years.

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

Unlikely

If you live in the area, how many vehicles are owned by people in your home?

Three

Thinking about where you park, do you think the new scheme will have an impact on your ability to find a car park in Newtown?

No change

Do you support the scheme's proposed parking restrictions?

Resident Exempt Permits should not be charged for residents who have been living in the area for more than 20 years. I have been living in Berhampore for 31 years.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Strongly oppose

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I strongly oppose the change in parking arrangements for Berhampore. This is revenue gathering in the worst possible time. With cost of living increases, higher council rates, encroachment fees. This is totally unjustified taxing of citizens who live in the a relatively poor area. Shame on WCC. Try managing your core budgets and core duties properly first before taxing your communities for your ineptitude.

The eligibility criteria is so unfair. I have a carport at my property that is far to small for even my hatchback bmw, it's likely smaller than would get approval from a modern day consenting process. I can't park my car there. yet I will be placed down the list in terms of eligibility for receiving a permit? Stupid, unfair, needs to be revised

Maximum of 2 resident permits per household disadvantages those living in flatting situations. Often those who live in flats need separate vehicles for attending different studies/work. This means that for flats with more than 2 vehicles, those who do not receive permits will have restricted areas in which they can park. As of now we do not face problems finding on-street parking near our home.

Parking on our street is primarily used by the residents, and 120 minute parking spaces would likely also only be utilised by residents with a resident exempt permit.

3 Staff travel to Newtown to work and need to be able to park (public transport is not a viable option for these staff) We are a busy mechanic workshop - we then have customers vehicles, which we currently park in Newtown East zone when we have finished working on the vehicles. This is because lots of customers drop their vehicles at 7am and bus into Town and collect them at the end of the day (while we are working on there vehicles). WCC need to consider having long term parking to cater for staff working (not just hospital staff) and customers who are onsite for longer than 120minutes Our staff are not eligible for residents parking, some of our customers might be?? but this will add to the frustration that we encounter daily finding parks - and make it harder for us - it's like WCC don't want businesses to succeed.

I would like ride share services forced to comply with the 2 hours if you implement this, or even better banned from the parking areas. I see this proposal as nothing more than an indirect tax from a council with an anti car ideology. It stinks. A fundamental reason for the stress on parking is the council desire to go for high density housing where the developers don't need to provide parking. I don't see why I should be impacted by poor decision making by civic leaders. The only thing worse than this idea is the poor implementation of the cycle lanes (and this comes from a cyclist).

I live next to the zoo. Most visitores to the zoo stay for over 2 hours. Council Off street parking for zoo patrons is woefully inadequate. Bus connections to the zoo are inadequate and have been since the bus changes when the number 10 was cancelled.

I think that your parking nazis are going to be ticketing young familioes visiting the zoo. You have inadequate infrastructure in place to offer parking off the street and you have run the bus service into the ground through mismanagment meaning this is not a viable option. Get the house in order before you contemplate making changes.

These restrictions are RIDICULOUS and will make it so much harder to park, when the current problem is very minimal with regards to car parking in Berhampore. I think it is OUTRAGEOUS I will be asked to pay to park outside MY OWN house. (This is making me sound like a middle aged woman which I resent - I am in my 20s and very annoyed about this)

Personally, I park daily in the areas of the proposed parking scheme and I don't have difficulty finding parks. As students, we are already under financial pressure and this scheme would only help those who have the financial means to pay for permits and visitors pass.

we need street parking as our residential home does not have off-street parking. This would add to the financial pressure we already feel as a full-time student who studies at the hospital (at times parking near Newtown).

Those who are under financial pressure cannot afford to purchase additional day passes. Those who have partners that visit the household will struggle to find parks. I believe these restrictions will affect those with lower income who are already struggling with the current financial situation.

The locations of the P120 are majorly located in the residential areas. Currently we do not find difficulty finding a park on the same streets the scheme is planning to change, hence I find it hard to understand the need of restricting parking with a time limit.

Having these restrictions means there must also be the same effort put into monitoring and enforcing them otherwise they will be useless. Prioritising electric vehicle owners is skewed towards advantaging those with higher incomes. Those without off street parking also often don't have the option of a plug in model (by virtue of not being guaranteed the ability to park close enough to their property to park it). Will there be a corresponding increase in charging points in these suburbs? How will parking around sports grounds be managed, eg Martin Luckie Park - when games are on here parking is impossible for locals and dangerous parking is often observed, yet there is little by way of enforcement.

Remove the restrictions. Remove the cycle lanes (the cycling proposal is pure greenwash) and make the bus services better and much cheaper. Buses are a much more versatile, able to transport larger amounts of people, more democratic (suitable for all ages, health conditions, etc), more suitable for the local climate and topography and quite possibly more environmentally friendly (if well-used and efficient - ask experts Robert and Brenda Vale) mean of transport than bikes.

If you actually want to do anything other than turn the entirety of Wellington into a WEF sponsored 15 minute ghetto, stop trying to jam more people in, its that simple. But as I suspect you're to arrogant to consider that restricting any sane persons ability to move freely is a bad idea you're just going to ram this through anyway in typical fashion and inspire a number of people to just leave anyway.

Its not immediately clear what some of the problems are that these proposed changes are designed to fix and why this us better. So its hard to support some aspects of this plan. Newtown West already has chronic parking issues in resident only zones that go un-enforced (from hospital workers). There is no information shared about how WCC see enforcement playing a role in the new system. Without it, residents will continue to be impacted and change will be ineffectual. Could the onus also be on the hospital to overcome some of the problem by building more parking or organising some more useful public transport options for their staff? There seem to be some very non user friendly aspects of the proposal for no good reason. Why should I need to tell WCC a day ahead that someone is visiting me and I want to use one of my visitor parking permits? This feels icky and almost like surveillance.

I don't see the purpose that WCC would need to know the day before that a visitor permit is being used. If its online, why cant it operate like city parking does now? This feels very inconvenient and non-user friendly for residents for no good reason?

I believe the number of on-street carparks is too large, particularly on Rintoul street. Exiting off-street carparks feel dangerous with the lack of visibility due to on-street parking. There also isn't enough space for cars and buses to pass each other on the street.

The categorisation of "off street" parking doesn't work in reality. We have an old garage which doesn't fit a modern 5 seater car in length-wise, a car has to stick out and block the footpath. However under the new system this is categorised as "off-street" parking and we will be penalised by not being issued full visitor passes or potentially not an on-street resident's pass.

The way "off street" parking is defined needs adjusting as it's unfair for parks deemed as useable on paper but not in reality. At my dwelling: We have an old garage which isn't longer enough to fit a modern 5 seater car. The car has to stick out and block the footpath. It doesn't seem fair that we're going to be penalised for that, by being entitled to less visitor passes. We also have 2 cars (a personal car and a work car), so imagine might be penalised further by potentially not being issued with 2 resident passes because we have "off street" parking on paper only but not in reality. We also have two teenagers living in our house, one of which is learning to drive now and is looking to but a car so we potentially have 3 (or 4 if the other teenager drives) cars for our household. We will absolutely be parking our car over the footpath, if we don't get used sufficient resident passes. Furthermore, the fact that electric vehicle owner are given priority at the top of the resident permit passes seems difficult. We have a hybrid car. Where do hybrid vehicles fit into the system?

As a rate payer and property owner in Berhampore I am really disappointed that this information was not clearly communicated directly in written or email form, it is only through community action online that I have been made aware of these proposed changes. The centre of Wellington city is dying and now the council is wanting to do the same to the suburbs with this proposal, where for a lot of the time in some of these areas there is no issue. It would be great to see our rates spent on things that improved the city as opposed to asking for money on top of rates for things that are going to make it a less appealing place to live.

These are not 'free' passes, they have been paid for in the fee that residents are paying when they pay for their permit. This is spin to make it seem like you are giving something for nothing. I oppose the prioritising of different vehicle types EV vs others, not everyone is in the financial position to buy an EV so it seems discriminatory to base eligibility on this.

If you are going to identify a small dead end st of 23 houses as needing to be permitted then at least identify the whole st. To mark one side of the street as needing permits and the other as not is ridiculous. When it is also surrounded by streets that are permitted it seems you are making a joke of what you are trying to do by keeping a whole side of the street unpermitted.

The driveway and garage / ramp condition is terrible, all other conditions reasonable. People with legitimate off street parking will simply not apply for permits. There are plenty of "garages" and "driveways" (in Berhampore Newtown) that are not usable for off street parking for a range of reasons. Eligibility would depend on what is the definition of garage or driveway and could end up with people modifying their existing structures just to escape the condition, even requesting curb ramp to be removed etc. Imagine policing that! Keep it simple stupid.

I work at the hospital. I am not allowed a permit to park at the hospital because I do not do shift work and am within walking range 40-45 minutes. Where I live in Island Bay, I am a steep climb to my house via dark stairways in winter from the Parade, or a long walk up windy roads. I drive and park near the zoo end of newtown and walk from there to the hospital. This means I can remove the hurdle of the walking up Volga street, importantly it feels unsafe walking alone in the dark through the secluded walkway beside the Chinese cultural centre and the road there is not walkable as there are no footpaths. The bus section finishes at the Chinese Cultural centre, before you go around the corner (with no footpath), so having to pay for an additional zone to get to a safe walking place at the top of Volga street seems pretty counterintuitive. The bus zone should be flexed the 1 bus stop to avoid this additional unsafe walking area. Volga street does not feel especially safe to ride a bike. Electric bikes are fairly heavy I and I don't have anywhere to park it undercover at my residence, I am looking at this but wonder how the steps to the rear of my house would be negotiated with an electric bike.

This is a poorly thought through scheme. I support cycleways. I am however concerned the council is not protecting existing residents parking and is not properly engaging with residents. Instead, the council is ramming through an untested and ill-suited P120 scheme. The reason there aren't currently enough parks is that there is not enough residents parking. Instead, parks on the street are being taken by SWIS and the construction firms working on the private hospital. Both the school and the hospital have plenty of car parks or land for cars to park in. The P120 scheme will not fix this problem and may make it worse. There is a lack of recognition of individual circumstances. It should be that for example family members who regularly care for others who live in Berhampore are able to park for as long as they need to. Carers cannot be expected to limit their visits to two hours. I urge the council to stop, reconsider this misguided plan, and avoid creating another Island Bay style fiasco.

This whole scheme is poorly thought through and does not recognise how people actually live. I don't see why teachers and parents parking on the street outside SWIS - where there is plenty of space for parking - should get to take a park at all. Same goes tradies working on the construction site at the private hospital, who park on the street and often overnight when the hospital has ample parking. Parking should be residents with some unrestricted for visitors. Take for example childcare - my mother comes and looks after my baby several times a week for several hours. This would restrict her to a two hour visit. She is not going to cycle here from karori. The day passes are not sufficient. The P120 zone does not fix the primary issue which is the fact there is no resident parking and the parks we do have are taken by the school and the hospital who should provide their own parking.

It is hard enough to park without the parking scheme being enforced. As a working member of the hospital, if the parking scheme was to go ahead - it would make me less likely to stay and work at Wellington hospital longterm. Being a healthcare worker is long hours, and using public transport to get to and from the wellington hospital if you live far away i.e. in the northern suburbs would make things hard and unsafe for people working late shifts.

Great to see the parking plan being put into action and test a bunch of new ideas to ensure the right people get access to the parking spots when they need them. It seems silly to be prioritising and subsidising the storage of private property for those that can afford the luxury of owning a car.

I look forward to seeing the parking plan being put into action. The P120 is great for car share services too and I hope this is made clear via signage and information about the changes once they are being implemented. Visitor passes sound like a good idea and it would be awesome to see some public data on how these are used alongside trade tokens to get a better understanding on who is using the parking. I wonder how the eligibility factor and zone cap will affect peoples sense of entitlement to the luxury of owning a vehicle and being able to leave it wherever they like.

It seems absolutely ridiculous to have to pay for parking in an area of Wellington (around Duppa/Chilka/Akatea street) that is not central to the city, a 30 minute walk from the hospital where we, a group of 3 young females work as doctors (with limited bus options due to chronic cancellations of the 1 Bus Route), and it would lead to us moving from our rental in Berhampore to a better suburb in Wellington that is safer, has more access to buses, and more central if we are paying for parking anyway. Wellington City Council needs to re-evaluate its priorities and work on street safety (lighting etc) as well as bus frequency and reliability to solve its issue with transport, not punishing vulnerable residents who only have private transport options to safely travel to and from their workplaces with the hours that they work.

In regards to the more central areas of Wellington where we have lived, I have often been understanding (if not a little confused by the need to pay for) of resident and coupon parking zones. However, Newtown and Berhampore are hardly central and the majority of people who do park or live in these areas long-term are healthcare workers - so Wellington City Council is essentially making it even harder for Wellington Hospital staff to practically come to work in an already desperate and pressured system. At the very least, there is no way Newtown or Berhampore residents should have to pay for a parking permit in an area they already pay rent or WCC rates in.

The zones should remain as they currently are, making parking cost-prohibitive with appalling public transport for an alternative is just a money grab from WCC with minimal benefit to the residents of Berhampore and Newtown (who mostly don't struggle to find carparks outside of their house).

It's good to introduce short term parking as it makes no sense for people who work in the area to drive in and take up a space all day. Hopefully it will lead to less cars being parked on the road as this is a waste of space and makes it harder for other vehicles to get through as a lot of the streets are narrow.

My preference would be to see any parking on Russell Terrace limited to one side of the street only. Allowing parking on both sides creates a one lane road and a major squeeze point for buses. I travel thru this section (from Hockey Stadium to rotary at Mansfield) nearly everyday and it is like playing a game of chicken. Bus drivers have a hard enough time navigating Wellington's twisty and narrow roads, why add to this challenge by allow people to store cars on both side? Limiting the parking to one side only in areas like this will lead to a lot safer rides and less stress for the drivers.

Parking in Newtown

Parking in the wider Newtown area has been under pressure for years and there have been community calls for action to address this. To manage on-street parking in the area more fairly, we're proposing Newtown and Berhampore will be the first suburbs in the city to have a new-style parking scheme.

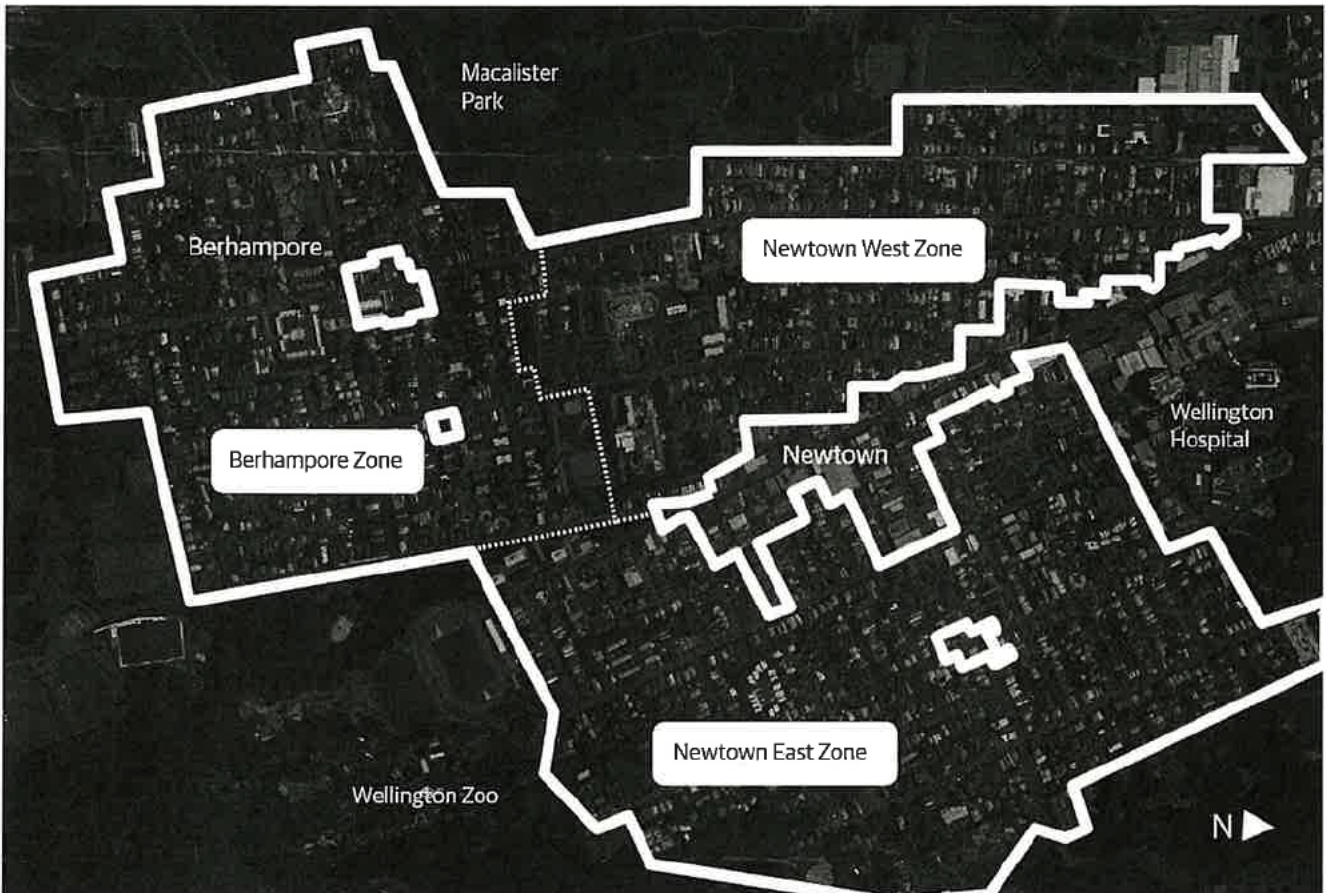

The scheme – developed in line with the city's Parking Policy – will prioritise residents and visitors looking for short-stay parking across both suburbs. It will replace the existing residents' parking zones in these areas.

The changes should:

- make it easier for residents who aren't able to park off-street, to park in the area
- provide short-stay parking for tradespeople and visitors
- more fairly manage the demand and allocation of parking permits.

The parking scheme area is marked on the map below by the thick white line. Some business areas are not within the scheme area, including shops along Riddiford Street, businesses at the intersection of Constable Street and Owen Street, the Berhampore town centre, and shops at the intersection of Luxford Street and Rintoul Street.

Proposed parking scheme restrictions and permit eligibility

The new-style parking scheme is new to Wellington but works well in other cities in residential areas where parking is under pressure.

Residents who apply for and are granted an annual permit will be able to park in P120 spaces which state authorised residents vehicles are exempt from the time restriction.

The new parking scheme uses three main tools to fairly share on-street parking:

- short-stay parking (P120s), with exemption from the two-hour time-limit for resident parking permit holders
- eligibility criteria and priority groups, to guide how the permits are allocated
- a cap on the total number of permits issued for a resident parking area (85 percent of the P120 spaces).

In most residential streets in Newtown and Berhampore, most of the on-street parking spaces will be a mix of two-hour parking (resident permit exempt P120s, 8am-8pm, Monday-Sunday) and parking with no restrictions where anyone can park at any time (unrestricted).

There will be a few streets where almost all the parking will be two-hour, and a few, where for now, all the on-street parking will remain unrestricted.

It's proposed about 70 percent of the parking in Newtown west will become P120s (resident permit exempt), 60 percent in Newtown east and about 30 percent in Berhampore.

I appreciate the concerns residents have about finding carparking spaces.

Many hospital, hospice, Wellington City Mission, Salvation Army and Ronald McDonald staff and volunteers park in Newtown streets. They are valuable in keeping our health services and charities running. Please allow them to continue to park during their working days in these streets. Don't be short sighted and cause more health & charity workers to resign. The health of Wellington depends on your decision.

While I appreciate the encouragement to rely on public transport and other methods like cycling, the available resources are insufficient at this stage. Many of these streets are off-street residential areas used by residents who may not have the privilege of off-street parking. It's expensive enough as it is to live here, let alone to have to pay for parking next to your own home, or extra when you have visitors around- this should not come at an extra cost, it should be a right. These parks are also used by staff and students at the hospital because there are no staff parks available or they can't afford parking at the hospital. They are at the hospital all day/night. It's unreasonable to expect them to move their car every 2hrs. These parks are also used by whfÅnau visiting patients who often spend longer than 120mins with them, especially the main support person. The parks are also used by patients who can't afford to park in WRH. Sometimes patients are waiting in the waiting room for over 120mins just for their appointment to start. It can also be very difficult to find free street parking for an appointment anyway, especially for patients who may live far away from the hospital and are unable to rely on public transport to get to their appointments on time. This proposal is only creating more barriers toward members of the public. It's contributing to the pressures felt by the cost of living crisis as well as further restricting access to sufficient, equitable healthcare. It will also put more pressure on staff and students who are expected to show up to their shifts/placements every day and are particularly reliant on parking because public transport is merely not feasible for them.

It's hard enough to find parking at the moment. To add a significant cost on top of this is unfair and inequitable towards people who are already struggling financially. Especially those who are living in the area and may not have the privilege of off-street parking.

I work at the medical school/hospital. I usually park in unrestricted parking on the street and this will make it basically impossible for me to park for work. I live in Northland and work part time, also being the primary caregiver for three children. Driving takes 18 minutes (+ 5-10 minutes to park and walk). The bus takes about 60-80 minutes. I often need to come over to teach for 2-5 hours and then get back home to the children. I think the work I undertake at the medical school has high social value and this will make it exceed difficult for me to continue to juggle this role amongst childcare if I cannot quickly get across town and park within walking distance of the hospital. Please don't do this.

In my whare, there are 4 of us with vastly differing schedules but all of which require time at Hutt and Porirua for clinical placement. It is not viable to catch public transport as it cannot get us to the hospitals in time for a 7am ward round, thus we are forced to drive. But if we must now add the cost of parking, with 1/2 of the house without a resident permit - we will be struggling to park after long days of placement out of Newtown.

Need more unrestricted parking remaining especially deep in Newtown east where people who are working do not take up parks at current so it seems incredibly unnecessary to add short term parking when the purpose of parking in this area is primarily because people live there,Ä¶ not for an hour long rendezvous. Many people, students like myself, pay north of $250 per week in rent. We are in a cost of living crisis and now you want to add parking permits to this? And not even enough for an average flat to be guaranteed a park per week (as not everyone is allowed to acquire a residents permit).

I think there are some good merits in this parking scheme to make it easier for residents and short-term visitors to Newtown, as well as the long-term vision for Newtown as housing intensifies. I think we also need to consider that we have students and staff who do not have the luxury of living within a 30-minute bus ride of Wellington Regional Hospital and these proposals may bar them from fair access to the hospital

Its important in this process that while we provide improved parking access for those who live in Newtown and Berhampore that we allow space for those who study and work in Wellington Regional Hospital who currently fall outside of reasonable access of our public transport network. While we are supporters for promoting active modes of transport, it doesn't seem fair when there are students who would commute over an hour on public transport.

A significant proportion of parks in the area are utilised by hospital workers and those visiting whanau in the hospital. It is unfair for already overworked, underpaid employees to be expected to pay for additional parking, or for whanau to pay to visit sick loved ones in the hospital.

It's important to remember that roads are public spaces, that is, they are for people, not just cars. A lot of people feel entitled to leave their car on the road but they probably need educating that this isn't a legal right.

I think with the increasing density of these suburbs (and we need that density), it makes sense to limit parking to those who need it - either for those who live there, or for those who are passing through (time limited). I mostly ride a bike to these areas but would accept the time limits if I was driving, and would normally only be staying this length of time anyway.

The P120 parking spaces are only good for when I have a short commitment at work in Newtown. However when I have to stay the day at work in the hospital I struggle to find parking close by and often find myself running late due to the difficulty, and then even later because I have to walk 15minutes from the park. The number of P120 parks is greater than the unrestricted ones, which are almost always already occupied. Sometimes I am forced to park in a P120 spot because I can't find an unrestricted park and make it to work on time, but then have to leave work after 2 hours to move the car which is inconvenient and stressful and not always possible.

The idea is great but there just isn't enough parking or affordable and efficient public transport at the moment for people working and studying at the hospital, who can't afford to live in town.

I'm a student studying at the Otago campus at the hospital. I live out of town and commute in, mostly by driving because the bus takes too long and I can't work on it, and also the costs of the bus is more than it costs me to drive. I also bring other people into town as well. The competition for parks with hospital staff is already hard and the amount of parking available will be reduced dramatically. Ideally a multistorey parking building on hospital grounds would help solve this issue, with student passes available, but for now, parking in this area is my only option. The walk is a little long but I can work with that, however any more and it just wouldn't be feasible.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Strongly oppose

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

It is very difficult for staff and students at the hospital to get hospital carparks. Not allowing people to park longer than two hours will likely cause people to park further away from work if they want an all day park, which means they may have to walk by themselves at night to get to their car which is far away. This feels unsafe for many people. Staff and students at the hospital also may live far away and require a car to get to work, rather than rely on public transport. Reducing carparks will impact patients, and will put people off working at the hospital.

Lots of people flat with multiple people which means they will likely have more than one car, as they won't be sharing their cars. They shouldn't be restricted to per dwelling as this is unfair for people who need their cars for work.

Whilst I am more than happy to bus to Newtown, I,Äm concerned for those visiting Wellington hospital. As a health professional in the hospital, patients need to be able to access car parking should they be unable to use public transport services, particularly for those travelling from outside the cbd. Already patients are struggling with this, and parking inside the hospital premises is expensive putting pressure onto lower income individuals for making long term (ie more than 2 hour) hospital visits. I think this could cause an accessibility issue that disadvantages those outside the cbd.

Hospital visitors and workers already struggle to find appropriate parking, this does not cater to them - often need to be at hospital as a patient for longer than 2 hrs. Creates further barrier for accessing healthcare.

There are hundreds of staff who work at the hospital who are unable to secure a carpark at the hospital staff carpark due to limited spaces and unaffordability for some. Many work out of the city (Hutt, Wairarapa, KfÅpiti etc.) and dual step public transport just is not feasible when considering the long and unsociable hours worked. If this proposal proceeds there will be many staff looking to move from working at WRH. There needs to be a council-WRH focus to secure more reliable and affordable staff (which includes all staff including non-clinical, Otago Uni staff and students) parking before blanket restrictions are put in place. Without this, there is a serious risk of harm to staff welfare and ultimately patient care.

As students studying at Wellington Hospital we are not eligible for parking at Wellington Hospital and so the only place we can park is the surrounding streets in Newtown. By adding these permits it will make it extremely difficult for any student who has to drive to access Wellington Hospital.

You bet - this is incompetence. I grew up in Newtown, I go there every day after work to provide care to my dad who lives there, I have also been a CCDHB hosp staff member for 10 years, and I go to numerous activities in Newtown. Our family members will not qualify for residents parking so will only be able to park for 2 hours when visiting day - this is completely unworkable and will impact on his ability to care for himself (but I guess that is irrelevant to WCC as WCC is anti-elderly). In addition 2 hours is insufficient time to attend a hosp outpatient appointment. Hosp staff parking is also going to be a further nightmare, pushing pressure to every corner. Its quite clear the purpose of this whole proposal is to (1) generate revenue for the WCC through parking fines and (2) to make it as difficult as possible for people to travel by car, even when that there is their only option due to age and health - well done once again WCC

I'm concerned about the removal of car parking options for hospital and university workers without the increase in more reliable, express bus services and secure bike storage facilities. Also many patients and their whanau can spend much longer than 2 hours at hospital appointments and hospital parking is expensive and very limited. Suggest the proposed time limit should be longer than 2hrs.

In general, I support the parking proposals. I'd suggest the following changes: - Increasing time limit to P180 in some places (e.g. on one side of the street) - Provision of parking permit to non-business groups based in the area. Of specific relevance would be some permits for Newtown PlayCentre to enable day activities not possible by other means (e.g. working bees/construction). I suspect there may be other relevant groups that aren't businesses in this situation too (e.g. churches, clubs) - Removing age of dwelling as a factor in allocation of permits, just whether households have access to off-street parking or not. I do support restrictions on parking permit allocation for new dwellings constructed after the implementation of the parking scheme (i.e. start 2024 rather than 2020 currently stated) - Increased provision of allocated car share parking spaces and working with providers to increase their services in the parking scheme area - I support the further removal of on-street parking provision along arterial routes, and increased provision of resident parking (including some resident only parking) on side streets - particularly the side streets closest to where parking is being removed. Hopefully such changes would enable those living on arterial routes to find spaces on nearby side streets more easily.

When I moved into the area 8 years ago I was told by a councillor that a parking review of the area (due to the hospital workers parking in the area) was to happen. I guess things move slow here. This parking proposal does not deal with the actual parking issue that Newtown and Berhampore has, 'the parking on the street of the employees from the community's largest employers. This is not to blame the employees, who have to pay to park, safety, on the employers ground ( the DHB and Countdown), if that was me I would be looking for a free, close and safe park too! As mentioned before, the strain on parking in my area is Monday, Friday, 8am, 5pm. This tells me one thing, it's the day workers from the hospital, not the resident that are putting the demand on the area. So where is the hospital/DHB in this proposal? What are they required to do as the largest employer in the community to help solve this demand? Are they to build multi-level carparks on their grounds? Are they to build an underground carpark when they built the new Children's Hospital to elevate parking strain? Are they to provide free parking to their staff to ensure they are a good neighbour? Or to provide safe carparks for predominantly female staff? This lack of inclusion of the Hospital in this proposal tells me that the residents need to pay for a demand that is made by them. This proposal also tells me that the council is keen to 'push away' the issue of parking in Newtown and Berhampore out in to the other suburbs. There is unused land in Newtown (next to Countdown) which had been unused for year, why not work with the hospital to create a carpark there for hospital workers that is close, safe, and free enabling the DHB to be a good neighbour and take the burden off the residents for an issue not caused by them. There is also an option of Countdown renting it's lower level carpark to the DHB for employee parking, again having the community's largest employers coming to the party and offering up solutions that solve the actual issue of parking in this area, not a 'shift the blame and charge' model that this plan is.

The proposed new parking permits should be available to residents only, and more so, residents of that section of the street only. As this is essentially paid parking, and if you pay for it and are not able to get a park, this is a null service. The 7 day 8am,Äi8pm is a restriction that does not make sense with the parking issues faced in Newtown ,Äi what evidence was this timeframe and day option decided on? In my area, the strain on street parking is from 8am,Äi5pm Monday to Friday only (from hospital day workers who are not provided with free parking onsite at their employers ,Äi the largest employer in the community) ,Äi there is no need to extend this past 5pm, or Saturday/Sunday as the strain on street parking simply is not there. The prioritisation of eligibility for a permit is problematic, as mobility permit holders already can apply for a marked on street carpark. And to reward people who have/can afford electric vehicles over people who don't/can't afford is discrimination. Electric cars parks are also already available in the area for these people. How is the fee of $18 a day being calculated? How will this be enforced/monitored?

How were these proposed restricted vs non-restricted areas calculated? On my street half of the street is proposed restricted and the other half not, yet the next street over all the proposed parking is restricted, and another street, with significantly more off street parking, also has more proposed restricted parking. I can't find the logic! What was the criteria for this determination? Should these specific area decisions not include residents use and opinion when its a residential (non-commercial) road?

I come to the Wellington Chinese Baptist Church on Donald McLean Street on Sundays. The Sunday School and Sunday Service are from 9:45 to 12:30 (possibly later) every Sunday. P120 is not sufficient for many church members who attend Sunday School and Sunday Service. Regularly, many church members and I have to stay after Sunday Service for other work in the Church and other activities. Please consider remove P120 restriction for Sunday along Donal McLean Street and nearby part of Daniell Street

The public transport to the hospital is terrible. Coming from Tawa, I have to take the train to the city and then get off the train to find a bus and in the morning takes over an hour to get to the hospital. There is going to be nowhere for hospital staff to park and no transport options from the suburbs. You are already struggling to get enough health workers and you are creating another barrier for people not wanting to work there. Personally as a healthcare professional, this would put me off working at the hospital and I will be looking for jobs elsewhere.

This is outrageous and silly. Hiropi Street and coromandel street, like many others in the area, do not have parking pressure. There is plenty of parking for residents and visitors alike. Restricting the number available will negatively affect residents by restricting some residents from resident permits, due to the lower allocation, which will mean some residents will miss out in favour of occasional visitors. Under this scheme, it may well be that we have empty car parks while residents are left without permits. Secondly, the prioritisation process is despicable. Electric vehicles should not receive 2nd priority- it,Äôs welfare for the wealthy, and is a result of this council,Äôs agenda to prescribe climate fixes to the masses at the detriment of everyday kiwis. I cannot afford an electric vehicle, so I have a petrol car. I should not be penalised for that. Lastly, this is unneeded bureaucracy and I am opposed to the scheme in full. It is a money collecting exercise for a council that spends my rates lavishly and on the personal crusades of executives. This scheme will create a swathe of unneeded new council jobs, new application processes, and new administration and stress amongst residents. I am wholly and utterly opposed to this.

I'm a healthcare worker and I strongly oppose introducing parking restrictions in Newtown around the hospital. The restrictions wouldn't affect me because I'm a resident, but many healthcare workers do shifts which mean it's less safe/practical to use public transport, and we don't earn all that much anyway - I hate to think of my fellow workers having to fork out yet more money to pay for parking when it's hard enough to do their job as it is - this will make more people not want to work for Whatu Ora. I honestly feel disgusted at the thought of the council implementing this solution.

This is ridiculous. There is a major university and hospital in Newtown with staff who need to be able to park during the day on these streets. They are coming from the Hutt and further a field - public transport is not an option. There is very limited parking available in the hospital and what there is has a long wait list to get access. YOU CAN NOT DO THIS. Surely you want to have places for hospital academic staff and students to park - this completely eliminates their ability to do this.

Our family has always tolerated long stay visitors to our neighbourhood in support of hospital workers, patients, their families and people from low social economic backgrounds who need somewhere to park without restrictions. Imposing this disproportionately impacts on low income and poor people at a time when they are also impacted on by increased costs of living. The right thing for our community is to continue with the status quo.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I am writing to express my concerns and provide feedback regarding the proposal to replace current parking spaces in our suburb with a bike lane. While I wholeheartedly support initiatives that promote sustainable transportation and enhance our community's infrastructure, I believe that the current proposal is flawed and may not serve the best interests of our residents. I respectfully urge you to reconsider this proposal for several reasons.

Unjust restrictions on Property Usage: The policy that denies parking permits to residents with garages not exclusively used for vehicle storage is fundamentally unjust, as it disregards the diverse and multifunctional nature of private property and infringes upon individual property rights. This injustice stems from several key factors that highlight the importance of allowing residents the autonomy to determine how they utilize their private space:

Inconsistencies in Treatment: Such inconsistencies in policy treatment undermine the principle of equal treatment under the law, a cornerstone of democratic societies. All residents should be subject to the same rules and regulations, regardless of their location. Singling out residents in certain areas for this mandate is inherently unfair and can be perceived as discriminatory.

Impact on Property Values: Residents in affected areas may experience a devaluation of their properties due to the imposed restrictions. Potential homebuyers may be deterred from purchasing properties in these neighbourhoods if they are aware of the additional requirements and limitations placed on homeowners. This has the potential to impact property values negatively.

Disparities in Freedom to Utilize Property: This mandate highlights a significant disparity in the freedom residents have to utilize their property, depending on their geographical location. Property rights should not be contingent on one's address; they should be consistent and universal, reflecting a fair and just approach to governance.

Exacerbation of Existing Inequities: In areas like Adelaide Road in Newtown, Wellington, where residents have limited off-street parking options and face a large elderly population, this mandate exacerbates existing inequities by further limiting their parking flexibility. It places an undue burden on individuals and families in these neighbourhoods who may rely on alternative uses of their garages.

Impact on Local Businesses in the proposed areas, and neighbouring vicinities: Many local businesses in our suburb rely on nearby parking spaces to attract customers. A reduction in parking availability could have a negative impact on these businesses, potentially leading to financial difficulties and even closures. We should prioritize the viability of our local economy.

Unintended Consequences: The policy may lead to unintended consequences, including congestion in neighbourhoods with limited off-street parking options. It places an undue burden on residents who have no choice but to park on the street, creating tension and dissatisfaction within our community.

Unrealistic Assumptions about Household Needs: The proposal's one-size-fits-all approach assumes that each household requires only one/two cars, irrespective of the number of individuals living in the property. This assumption is not only unrealistic but also fails to acknowledge the diverse needs of households. For instance, consider a household of six individuals, including parents and adult children. Restricting them to a single car due to the availability of only one off-street parking space is highly impractical and burdensome. Impact on Household Mobility: Limiting households to few and/or a single vehicle can severely impact their mobility and daily activities. In cases where family members have different work or school schedules, medical appointments, or other obligations, having only one car can lead to logistical challenges, inconvenience, and even hardship. It may also result in increased reliance on public transportation, which may not be suitable for every family's needs. Additionally, fails to consider self-employed individuals, those who have work vehicles required for their day to day operations ,Àì what do such individuals do in these certain cases. Financial Burden: The proposed permit fee, initially set at $195 for a 12-month period, represents an additional financial burden for residents. This cost may be particularly challenging for low-income households and individuals who rely on on-street parking due to limited off-street options. While fees are intended to cover scheme operating costs, they can be seen as an added expense for residents.

The proposed permit fee, initially set at $195 for a 12-month period, represents an additional financial burden for residents. This cost may be particularly challenging for low-income households and individuals who rely on on-street parking due to limited off-street options. While fees are intended to cover scheme operating costs, they can be seen as an added expense for residents which else wise wouldn't be incurred. Furthermore, not all residents are in support of said scheme, yet have to live with the implications of it. Additionally, this is an extra cost imposed onto specific households in the Wellington region, which is deemed unjust as in other suburbs such costs are not incurred. Furthermore, paying said fee does not guarantee a parking space, hence, not only are we incurring an additional fee; if we are even eligible for a parking permit - which not to mention is not fair in itself, but not even insured in securing a parking space.

Impact on Household Mobility: Limiting households to few and/or a single vehicle can severely impact their mobility and daily activities. It may also result in increased reliance on public transportation, which may not be suitable for every family's needs. Additionally, fails to consider self-employed individuals, those who have work vehicles required for their day to day operations, what do such individuals do in these certain cases. Therefore, even when an Individual does have off -street parking some households require more vehicles than the permitted amount. The proposal's one-size-fits-all approach assumes that each household requires only one/two cars, irrespective of the number of individuals living in the property. This assumption is not only unrealistic but also fails to acknowledge the diverse needs of households. For instance, consider a household of six individuals, including parents and adult children. This injustice stems from several key factors that highlight the importance of allowing residents the autonomy to determine how they utilise their private space. Hence, the suggested proposal above doesn't consider the nuances within an individual/families day-to-day activities, and the suggested proposals lacks an understanding of specific households. The Group tier list is seemingly not sufficient enough to create a holistic view of peoples needs.

They idea of 120 minute parking itself isn't bad per say, however, in addition to the vast area that this is subjected to, in addition to the removal of parking located on Rintoul Street, causes indirected implications on households in the surrounding areas - This is the key issue at hand, in addition to the inability to consider specific household needs.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Thank you for your considered approach to this complex issue. Parking in Newtown, in particular, is problematic, given it's a high density residential area, with many businesses and a very busy regional public hospital that has a large number of shift workers. While I agree overall with proposals to prioritise parking space for short-term visitors to the hospital and businesses, allowing residents better access to parking, and freeing up road space for other users (especially cyclists), I am concerned about the impact of this proposal on those hospital workers coming from areas that are not well served by reliable public transport.

From my experience living in Newtown, the pressure on parking is significantly reduced in the weekend. We live down the hospital end, so I presume this is because the hospital has far fewer people working or visiting for appointments in the weekends. I would prefer the time-limited parking to only operate Monday - Friday, when the pressure really is on the limited parking. The rationale for the resident permit prioritisation order isn't entirely clear. Some of it makes sense, but why do EV owners with no off-street parking have priority 2? Especially as they have dedicated EV charging parks. We are low priority because we have a garage, but that garage was built in the 1920s and is tiny (doesn't fit our modest family station-wagon) so is used to store several bikes that we use for commuting, an e-cargo bike for doing various errands, etc. I fully support the measures the council is taking to encourage people to bike, but the reality is that we need to park those bikes somewhere. I'm also not sure why dwellings with an off-street park are only entitled to 25 free visitor passes (as opposed to 50) when the off-street park won't be available for visitors. Finally, while I do support introducing some time-limited parks, 2 hours doesn't seem enough for hospital outpatient clinics/appointments (in my experience).

I am concerned about the impact of the parking changes on hospital workers, and wonder if there is a way to better accommodate their unique needs (particularly those on shift work, so commute at off-peak PT times).

How dare you charge for this 'permission'. The previous 40 years have seen constant parking space elimination all over Newtown without any replacement infrastructure especially at the hospital. Now you want $200 a year added to rates which are already misused for vanity projects rather than basic infrastructure of which the most egregious is water. And you have the absolute gall to say it pays for yet another layer of bureaucracy.

Online access seems to be mandatory. Not all residents or visitors can comply. Also any visitors, tradesmen etc need to state number plates 24 hours before use. Unworkable and extremely error prone as well as an extra burden upon users to satisfy yet another layer of unneeded bureaucracy. I can envisage this process potentially invoking a violent response in some people. Stupid beyond belief. How dare you try to control whether a person can be invited to a house without registering them first. That is outright police state control.

The scheme covers too much area and creates further problems as well s resident expense and time wastage. Had council bothered to erect a parking building in the hospital then a great deal of this would be unnecessary. But wait, that's too simple, isn't sufficiently biased against cars and also council can't be bothered with basic public utilities or infrastructure

Currently I live in the area in an apartment and am not eligible for resident parking. It makes parking really difficult and I get a lot of fines unfairly. ## Berhampore Newtown Parking Scheme Proposal

Submission from Mary Potter Hospice Charitable Trust

Summary

- Mary Potter Hospice strongly opposes the proposed approach to parking near our premises in Mein Street.
- Reducing the number of longer stay on-street parks, and moving the bulk of remaining longer stay parks further away from the Hospice will:
  - Make it significantly harder or impossible for the 50 Mary Potter Hospice staff and volunteers each week who rely on parking on the street, to get a car park at all, let alone a safe convenient car park. This risks eroding the quality and safety of patient care, adds additional stress to people working in an already difficult essential service, and will make it even harder for us to recruit and retain staff.
  - Make it much more stressful for visitors to the Hospice, who should not have to be at the bedside of their loved one worrying, for example, about having to move their car from a P120 zone.
- We say the Council needs to design a system that recognises the needs of all members of the Newtown community, including people who work in the area or who need to visit for longer periods of time. It does not make sense to try and solve one problem by creating another equally untenable problem.

1. Background

Mary Potter Hospice has been providing palliative care for the people of Wellington, Porirua and Kapiti for over 30 years from our building at 48 Mein Street Newtown. The building houses our in-patient unit and is a base for our Wellington community team who support people needing palliative care in their own homes. Our admin and fundraising teams are also housed in the building.

Around 130 people work in the building each week (staff and volunteers), with the in-patient unit running 24/7, 365 days of the year. Around 280 patients stay in the in-patient each year, and the unit includes a family flat where whānau who are supporting loved ones and each other can stay. Thousands of visitors come to the building each year, most visiting and staying with loved ones who are in the last months, weeks and days of their lives.

Around a third of all the people who die in the Wellington region receive services from Mary Potter Hospice. All our services are provided free of charge.

2. Submission

Mary Potter Hospice strongly opposes the proposed Newtown parking scheme. It will have significant negative impacts on visitors, staff, volunteers, and our ability to continue to provide the palliative care services Wellingtonians need.

We have at least 50 staff each week who rely on getting a park on the street for 8 hours during their shift, as close to the hospice as possible.

The proposal states that for people working in the area it will be harder to find car parks as it prioritises residents and short term visitors. A more balanced approach is required that does not prioritise one group over another. People who commute to, and work in, Newtown, or who visit the area for longer than 120 minutes are a crucial and significant part of the life, vibrancy and economic success of the Newtown community. In the case of Mary Potter Hospice and other similar health and community organisations based in the area around the hospital, they are also a critical part of Wellington's health infrastructure and make a huge contribution to the well-being of people across our city.

While we have 27 carparks on our site, the scale of operation means that we need these parks for visitors, volunteers, and to park the fleet vehicles our Wellington community team use to travel to patients' homes. We have done everything we can to maximise parking on site, including hosting a fleet of MEVO ride share cars at our neighbouring apartment complex that staff can also use. We are particularly conscious of the needs of visitors, for whom other options like public transport are simply impossible. Visitors want and need to be 'at the bedside' for long periods of time, at unpredictable times, often in large groups using more than one vehicle, and who we will often call and ask to come into the unit urgently.

This means that we are unable to provide all our staff and volunteers with car parks on site. We do have two parks that are reserved for afternoon shift nursing staff who need to leave the building around 11pm each night and who face safety risks if they have to walk long distances on the streets late at night. Some staff have been able to rent carparks nearby, but these parks are in short supply with long waiting lists, and are not affordable for everyone.

Reading the proposal suggests that at best non-residents needing longer term parks will need to be at least 15 minutes' walk away, and that there is a very high risk that some staff and people visiting loved ones in the Hospice will not be able to get a park at all. This is a risk that will be traumatic for visitors, stressful for staff already involved in challenging and difficult work, and if it led to one or more key staff not being on the in-patient unit for a shift it would lead to significant risks to patient well-being and safety.

Over the longer term this will further erode Mary Potter Hospice's ability to recruit and retain the nurses, doctors, cultural liaisons, social workers, counsellors, OTs, physiotherapists, spiritual carers, hospitality volunteers etc. our patients need, in the context of a health system already severely compromised by clinical staff shortages.

Here are some comments from Newtown-based nurses and other clinical staff about their current parking challenges and the impact of the proposed changes.

"I do park in the street before morning shifts (start at 0700) and sometimes before afternoon shifts (starting 1430). It is currently quite difficult to find a space but still possible. If I come early I can generally get a park but it does often lead to a poor night's sleep as it does play on my mind a bit! For pm shifts better to park on site if you can from the point of view of safety ie leaving the hospice. I travel from Upper Hutt so public transport is not really an option for me. I would imagine that the proposed changes to parking will have an impact on recruitment and retention!"

"I live in Plimmerton. When I choose to travel by car I leave home at 0530hrs to (a) ensure I miss the traffic coming into the city and yes even at that hour it's busy and (b) to ensure I find a street park in time to start at 0700hrs. The 8 hour work days are 11hrs if you include travel."

"I'm environmentally aware. Several days over winter/spring I chose public transport. This involves a walk, train, walk, bus, walk. Mostly the trains were running in the morning, but the buses surely were not. I usually had to wait 20-25 minutes for a bus in the cold at the station. One day I decided to walk the 45mins as no buses showed. I was never on time for the 0700am start/handover. The alternative would have been to catch the 0530hr train instead of the 0601hr train. A get up time of 0455hrs to achieve this. My length of day when using public transport is 10hrs minimum. And with trains often cancelled late afternoon it was 11hrs. When it's raining I often arrive 'wet' to start my day."

"Coming in from Churton Park I absolutely rely on parking in the area. I specifically bought a mini so I could take up the smallest parking possible 😊 I am on a waiting list for parking at the school which I think I've been on around 6 months but I hear most people don't hear anything for at least two years."

"Parking in the area is a real headache so this isn't good news and ultimately may impact on the hours I can work i.e. if I can't get parked until later or further away or am forced to use public transport I may have to start later and leave earlier which will have an impact on the number of clients I can see here in the hospice and the hours I can do."

3. Conclusion

We strongly urge the Council to reconsider your approach to parking in Newtown and Berhampore. You are simply going to 'solve' one problem by creating another. We urge you to create a scheme that recognises and responds to the needs (including proximity to their workplace) of people who work in the area, that doesn't increase the risk of them not being able to get a park or of having a very long walk to work.

While we appreciate the opportunity to make a formal submission, we would also ask that whatever the outcome of your deliberations on this proposal it would be appropriate for officials from Council to work with the Hospice to ensure we can create the best possible solution to the needs of a significant number of essential workers who come to Newtown every day – including if necessary an adequate allocation of residential and visitor passes.

4. Support from other groups

As noted above this proposal does not just create risk and challenges for Mary Potter Hospice. As part of preparing this submission we have spoken with other similar nearby organisations who share our concerns.

For example, Peke Waihangā fully support Mary Potter's submission. "Peke Waihangā has a shared drive access with Mary Potter hospice. We have 22 permanent staff who provide prosthetic and orthotic services for about 1100 amputees in the central region. Many attend the Wellington clinic by car or taxi. We occasionally support Mary Potter by allowing use of our carparks if vacant for any reason. Local businesses, including ours already struggle to attract staff due to the very tight parking situation. The proposed changes are untenable.” Penny Hanning, Central Regional Manager, Peke Waihanga, Artificial Limb Service Orthotic Service 42-46 Mein Street, Newtown

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I appreciate the councils efforts to cater to a range of needs. Removing parking along the cycle way route is important for space, safety, and a great idea. And the reducing of commuter parking is a great solution for dealing with the removal of parking along this route. Over time, the cycle way will reduce demand for parking, and this is a good start for the process. A bit of inconvenience in the interim while more people get used to bussing, biking etc will be necessary to make for a better outcome in the long run. As long as we stay vigilant with providing parks to disabled people (see below), the cycle way and parking changes will encourage more people to find active and/or low carbon modes of transport. Regarding parking eligibility, the main adjustment to the plan I'd like to see is providing mobility (/permit) parking (for non residents), and allowing permit applications from some contractors who might need it (who might not technically count as a trades worker). I,Äôd also like the see resident parking capped at 1 per dwelling, with exceptions (where it's capped at 2) to make it equitable.,Ä®

I support the parking plan, because of the great outcomes for biking and encouraging switching to lower carbon modes of transport (bussing and micro-mobility). The car parking doesn't affect me because I travel by bike, but here, my suggestions to make the restrictions and eligibility part more equitable: I would appreciate there being a range of fair criteria for non-resident contractors who can apply and pay for an annual exemption permit - ie. contractors that might not technically be tradesworkers, but still require a motor vehicle for work equipment, such as cleaners (if needing more than 2 hours). Scatter some mobility parking, in addition to allowing mobility permit holders to park in resident parks. Re resident parking allocation limit - I think it should be capped at only 1 with exceptions to make it equitable, such as allowing a cap of 2 for renters (with say 5+ in their house/flat for example) and for any other residents with a particularly large amount of people in their house, maybe multiple/large families (eg. 9+ people). But ultimately, a bit of inconvenience in the interim while more people get used to bussing, biking etc will be necessary to make for a better outcome in the long run. My relationship to the area: I live nearby, occasionally work in the area, visit cafes and bars along Riddiford St, and travel through very regularly by bike. I park my bike, so don't require car parking - but the more bike parking the better, to cater to a growing biking population (which I'm excited about)! I have worked in Newtown and nearby, teaching cycle skills to student at Newtown School, Berhampore school, and bike mechanics to SWIS kids. Occasionally I work at the hospital as a contractor (entering the visitor way), which could do with a lot more bike parking and bike security. Removing parking will make cycling in the area much safer for my peers, and those learning to bike, like these students.

Safety appears to be one of the key drivers of the proposed parking scheme. However, the adequacy of the background documentation is highly questionable given at no stage do any of the documents consider safety of hospital staff (the biggest employer in Newtown/Berhampore area) who often work unsocial hours meaning public transport is not a viable option for them. The negative consequences of this proposal need to be reevaluated in this light.

Very happy with the scheme overall. I,Äôd like to see bike hangars installed on the street as part of this scheme too. I,Äôd also like to see more prioritisation of sites with kerb cuts but unusable off-street parks. We park our bikes (which are our primary mode of transport) on our property but could not fit our car (it,Äôs not a big car).

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Strongly support

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Thank you for the care taken in planning this and in seeking public consultation.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

No

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, which zone of Newtown or Berhampore is it in?

Newtown east

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Very unlikely

Why did you select that answer?

I do not own a vehicle. The people I live with have off-street parking.

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

Unlikely

If you live in the area, how many vehicles are owned by people in your home?

Two

Thinking about where you park, do you think the new scheme will have an impact on your ability to find a car park in Newtown?

Have you considered the need for parking for staff working at the hospital? P120 is unlikely to work for these staff.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Strongly oppose

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Your proposal actively puts staff, patients and visitors of Wellington Hospital at increased safety risk. This is irresponsible. Please either consider a Hospital Staff parking exemption that is active until alternative hospital parking can be established or stop this proposal. Staff who are saving lives should not be forced to put their own lives at risk to get to and from work, often after long and exhausting shifts finishing at unsociable hours.

Would the council consider supporting residents access to alternative methods of transport if they do not park their car on the street outside their residence? For example, subsidised public transport or subsidised purchase of e-bikes or e-scooters.

Restricting on street parking to P120 (resident permit exempt) for all of the areas around Newtown would create significant safety concerns for the many staff who work at Wellington Hospital - many of whom are female and working shift work. These staff would be required to walk over 20 minutes often in darkness for unrestricted parking. There are already safety concerns in these areas ie recent stabbing on Mein Street, and recent assaults on hospital staff leaving work (student midwife in Auckland). Why put essential workers at risk before alternative safe parking for hospital staff can be built/established? Surely the council should work with Te Whatu Ora Capital & Coast to come up with a solution that satisfies local residents and keeps staff safe. Also, patients and their families rely on on-street parking to visit sick whanau and make essential appointments - they often don't have the money to cover the parking fee onsite at the hospital.

I live on a small side-street (dead end) where all houses are pre-1930's and most do not have off street parking. There are currently no issues with finding parking spots in the street. The permit scheme will make parking more difficult for residents.

This should be trialed in a neighborhood, like Kelburn or Karori, that does not have so dense of a population on limited income or so many former refugees. With the diversity of first languages spoken in Berhampore/Newtown will you be providing information in the language they best understand? This is essential.

I am strongly against residents in this neighborhood having to buy parking permits. Many are on benefits and set incomes and cannot afford yet another expense. I oppose the time restrictions and feel they should be during business hours - M-Sat 9-5pm. Residents should not have to pay for permits, but I am not opposed to day permits (like coupon parking) being available for a cost for employees of businesses. The number of visitor passes should not be limited for residences.

The boundaries are too large. What is the point of restricting parking times in residential neighborhoods? Most people coming to work or shop are not parking that far away - it seems it's just a way to get residents to pay more. They cannot afford it!

My partner lives in Newtown, and I usually bring my car to Newtown and spend the night. The new scheme would mean I would have to change this arrangement, but I still think it is worthwhile. Hospital staff are always parked on the street, so it's hard for residents and people like me to find a park. I think cycling and transit improvements are really important, but if this proposal goes through, there needs to be more transit infrastructure (not just during peak hours) so hospital workers don't need to take their cars to work.

Even though this will be a challenge for many, it is necessary to allow the movement of people through the area. I live in IB and used to regularly park all day in Newtown whilst I went to work, when I have other easy ways to get there. I realise this does not apply to everyone, but we have a growing population and a fixed amount of road space, change needs to be made to allocate that space fairly to those who need it. Annual renewal also ensures permits are still needed and being used.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I do not enjoy this level of WCC control over my private life and I don't think it's reasonable to for WCC to plan for the street I live on to have nearly all parking removed, with the result that it is hard for me to have more than one visitor at a time unless they can travel by public transport, or are able to walk from wherever they might be able to find a park (likely 10 minutes given the amount of parking removed on Adelaide Road), or pay an $18 fee. I find it hard to support limited city funds being used to enforce this scheme. I also recognise that it cannot succeed for users without quite a degree of enforcement action, yet monitoring of the scheme is described as "out of scope" of the business case. Reading through the documentation provided there are clear statements about how limited the ability of Parking Services to monitor the scheme will be, as well as references to "managing expectations " that [parking services] staff will be able to be on-site to monitor and enforce". I believe that if WCC implement the scheme then it must be enforced, and clear information should have been provided about the costs of enforcing the scheme. Generally I believe that as all of the changes are to be introduced to existing residents, the only fair way to do it is to delay implementation once any scheme is finalised. Just as you have allowed more time for the hospital zone after requests from the hospital to have more time to prepare for their staff needs, you should extend the same courtesy to 'ordinary' residents.

The Parking Policy that sets out the priority order needs amendment now, please do not wait until its scheduled review in 2025. Why on earth are you prioritising those who own electric cars? Those who are well resourced, have a convenient place to charge can have EVs. We don't have that kind of money and with no off street parking at my house it is difficult to install a charger. With offstreet parking "proposed" to be moving quite a way around a corner and up a hill in the best case scenario, our own charger becomes an impossible proposition.

I do not think that residents with off street parking should be able to get a permit. I think that the p120:should be 24/7 because we get people parking overnight when they live in the city.

I don't think the scheme needs to extend to the weekends - parking is worse during the week when people use the streets to park and ride etc. Also, more thought is needed for hospital staff - It's crucial all day parking is allocated for them. Hospital visitors also need to be able to access parking for longer than 2hrs. At least if parking was unrestricted in weekends they would have some options. Maybe hospital staff could get day passes for weekdays that they pay for? Residents passes should be free or means tested - there are a lot of low income residents in Newtown and this is an expense they can't afford. Residents with a curb crossing should be able to park a second vehicle across the curb crossing without being ticketed.

This scheme is a crucial step towards creating a more livable vibrant city where the air is cleaner because there are less pollutants coming out of exhausts and people of all ages can choose active transport knowing they are going to be safe in separated spaces. It will also create a city where people meet and connect in shared spaces.

I oppose house holds being issued two parking permits. To achieve a lower emissions city with cleaner healthier air and less injuries caused by cars we need to nudge people towards buses, light rail and active transport. I also oppose 120 car parking as I think it should be paid parking. To increase access for disabled visitors could more permits be issued to residents who often host visitors with limited mobility.

I think there should be even less free for all parking and it should be residential and paid parking with a 120 limit. This is again in the aim of encouraging more shift. The parking scheme is incremental to setting up more protected bike lanes and bus priority lanes which is why I would support it being rolled out city wide.

I am concerned that the scheme will incentivise off street parking, already a modern curse in Newtown. Leads to increased run off and risk of flooding and its loss of front gardens is unsightly. Can those with a dropped kerb be made to pay the same fee to at least reduce this incentive?

If you have any comments to make about the restrictions and eligibility of the resident exemption permits, please share them here.

Whilst I'm supportive in principle of the concept & approach, I think in reality council has not left enough parking to allow for all residents with no off street parking who have a single vehicle to park near their dwelling. The timeframe between consultation & implementation is very short allowing very little time for residents to make adjustments. There is also a risk of creating greater inequities for residents who cannot afford an EV (which provides priority allocation), or to pay for a residents park. Removing parking from Adelaide Road to the extent proposed, pushes those residents into side streets. Dawson Street in particular already struggles with traffic flow & resident access due to vehicles parked on both sides resulting in single direction flow, this congestion will increase under proposed plan.

I commute in from KfÅpiti to work at an ECE centre. The majority of the teachers here rely on their own transport due to having to be reliably on time for our centre to be able to open - the current public transport system is not reliable enough for any of us to feel comfortable relying on. Restricting all the parking around our area will have a huge impact - I'd have to leave my house much earlier, like 5:30am, to be able to guarantee having time to find an unrestricted park and then walk to work. I love the job I have here, and feel that it is currently worth commuting. But changing to restricted parking would genuinely make me reassess if the hassle outweigh the benefits. We are struggling massively to find replacement teachers already, and I feel this change would push teachers to want to leave to work somewhere they can park for free all day. We also have a number of families who park nearby in Newtown when they drop off their children, then catch the bus to work. They'd no longer be able to do this, which creates a huge inconvenience for our families. Please rethink this proposal, and focus on making the public transport system more reliable instead of taking away our parking.

Are you &*?#!!!! joking!! Wellington council you are dreaming if you think that hospital staff will have any way of getting to work in YOUR hospital. A tertiary regional hospital. There is insufficient parking in Wellington hospital as it is (gross understatement). Many of us commute from outer suburbs including myself. We work SHIFT work hours. We start as 0645. How the @$xx am i supposed to get to work at this hour or for a night shift starting at 11pm. You are dreaming if you think I can bike or use public transport??? Get your heads out of your asses. The proposed parking scheme doesn't take in to account the large number of hospital staff that rely on public parking in Newtown for the duration of their work shifts. Public transport is not yet an appropriate solution for staff who live out of Wellington such as Hutt Valley and Kapiti regions. Onsite parking at the hospital is not always affordable or available, and to have the additional pressure of next to zero local unrestricted parks within the neighbouring blocks is a risk to an already pressured healthcare workforce.

I don't understand the prioritisation system (other than the GWM plan for less cars on roads) and feel it does not take in to account the need some families have for personal transport (e.g. ownership of cars for work purposes and transport of multiple children). I think the scheme to limit permits based on property type rather than need (asides from Group 1) is an oversight.

P120 parking (even with 50 day passes) will cause significant issues for those needing builders/maintenance done. P120 parking will disadvantage those at home during the traditional 'business hours' and will impact the quality of life for those at home during the day such as elderly &amp; those at home with young children who have visitors &amp; activities during working hours P120 parking &amp; the removal of parking on Adelaide Rd will cause increased safety concerns as there will be no safe place for delivery vehicles, tradies, Ubers etc to pull over near homes. These vehicles already frequently pull over &amp; block cyclelanes/footpaths/roadways. Currently Jeypore St, Burwah St, Chilka St is a mix of angle parking in order to fit maximum vehicles into the space. I hope the angle parking is able to continue. Even if homes have off street parking, very few homes have parking for more than 1 vehicle so I think all homes should be eligible for equal number of permits. I think the overall cost of $195 for a residents permit is too high. I think this is a significant amount of extra money to find, especially given that residents dont get any added benefit for this - the benefit of this plan is for the wider community. I am concerned that those on lower incomes (often renting, and often moving frequently) will also be significantly disadvantages. There are a large number of newish migrant families who rent around my neighbourhood - and this will increase the cost of living for them, and as renters on short term tenancies they may not even get the full 12 months benefit of the 12 months fee paid.

I think that only the 1/3 of Chilka St closest to Adelaide Rd should be P120. Dawson St should only be parking on one side given there will be increased parking &amp; traffic on that route. Greater visibility around Berhampore school should be created at the Britomart/Stanley St intersection by removing parks closest to the corner on Britomart St.

I really want the council to think about wind and rain. I,Äôm a passionate cyclist commuter, all weather. But when we take the family somewhere if it,Äôs raining, we don,Äôt bike. I wish that you,Äöd consider hooking up some electronic signs to the Metservice API and a weather station. A clearway for cyclists when the weather is nice. Car parking for those same cyclists when it rains and they drive instead. The paths are conspicuously empty during off peak and I feel there,Äöd be better buy-in if most parking was for rainy days only. ie when you have an excuse Think about it anyway. I love the ambition and just hope we don,Äôt go too far that next council has to undo it.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I'm in support of the proposed parking restrictions in Newtown but opposed to the priority group system as I believe it unfairly disadvantages people who live in newer housing. I'm unsure of the rationale for this priority system and when contacting the parking scheme email address nobody has been able to explain it. I own a dwelling built after August 2020 (16A Rhodes Street). It's on a back section with no street front and therefore no opportunity to add off-street parking. Due to the set out of land parcels 100+ years ago, we face the same restrictions as those in older housing stock, even though we have rebuilt a dilapidated home into a modern home. As such, we should have the same parking eligibility as those in older homes. We are a one-car household and we primarily cycle and catch public transport. We have a car for longer trips. With young kids carrying around and installing heavy car seats in car share vehicles is not really practical.

There are hundreds of staff that work at the 2 hospitals in the area and this scheme will make it impossible for them to park anywhere. If theres no parking for staff then people won't want to come and work at these 2 hospitals, and staffing is already a huge problem for CCDHB. Many staff come from outside of the city centre and its not easy or practical to catch public transport at 6.30am or 11pm.

A more detailed survey of the areas included in this proposed change map should be undertaken before enforcing these changes. While there may be parking issues in some of the streets outlined, a number of small side streets seem to have been arbitrarily added and are punishing to the residents there who currently have no issues.

A number of small side streets are being covered by this new criteria. I currently have no trouble parking and have no complaints about others that park on our street. We are a young couple with a large mortgage and frankly cannot afford the extra expense of paying for a parking pass on our own street.

Small side streets (such as Chilka, Duppa, Akatea) in Berhampore should not be punished with restricted parking. There is currently not a parking issue on these streets and some residents may be unable to afford the cost of parking passes. I regularly park by my house on one of these streets and have never had an issue finding a park. Finding $200 in the budget for a parking pass (and additional for my mother who comes to babysit for us while we work) is an issue.

The interactive map is very misleading, the map itself only shows current car parks that are time restricted or have a special restrictions on them. It doesn't show current unrestricted off street parking. This gives the impression the a significant amount of car parks will not be lost. As a tradesman that relies on close parking to client,Ãs properties in order to access tools and materials from my van to conduct buisness I think the councils appetite for removal of parking and installation of bike lanes are ill planned and thought out. I feel sorry for the residents that the council are impacting by these proposals.

I am very concerned about parking in that are overall. The hospital parking is a nightmare, not only for patient appointments but for staff. Nurses on nightshift may find it difficult to park unless they pay to park on hospital grounds. I am very unhappy about these cycleway proposals accross our city, when there are so many other issues our city council need to address.

I am an elderly lady (86+), how am I going to get my shopping out of the car (which I can't park outside my house any more) to my home ? My elderly friends and extended family need to park outside my house, as most have walking difficulties now. Why did someone not come to my home advising me of this change - I have lived at this house for 42 years. Residents parking permit should be given free to residents, everyone else should just get a traffic ticket for overstaying Wellington Hospital should be providing car parking for staff and Metlink should provide bus services that people can rely on to get them to work and back home again. People of Newtown should not have to pay (or suffer) for these inefficiencies and bad management choices - where is the accountability ?

In general I am absolutely in support of removing parking to facilitate better, more efficient, transport and different modes of transport being provided for. But I do wonder about the hospital in particular, the workers - is the DHB prioritising them for parking? I feel like they should be prioritised to the same extent as residents.

Strongly support limiting the number of permits per household. There are households in my street who park 5+ cars in the unrestricted parking zone, so others cannot park any. It doesn't make sense to me that you would offer a different number of day passes to people with and without off-street parking. My off-street parking is already full with my own car. Why should my house get fewer than someone else? Give us all 25 each.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Overall I support the change, however there is a clear missing piece/opportunity around providing on street cycle parking. Council will be well aware of 'bike hangers' in London. Something like this would really drive mode shift in the area (image attached). Please slightly reduce the number of carparks and replace them with bike parking hangers.

We currently use on street parking so expecting we will apply for a residents permit to continue to do so

I oppose a two the maximum of two residents permits - I think it should be a maximum of one. WCC needs to be promoting mode shift - providing any residents parking is somewhat against this but I can understand it would be too big a shift without some residents parking. But it should not allow more than one permit per property. I think the number of visitor passes is too high and again does not encourage people to find alterative transport means.

The boundaries of the scheme and zones as shown on the map.	Strongly support
If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here.
What is missing is allocation of existing on-street carparks to bike parking. The number of allocated residents permits should be reduced by a small number to be replaced with on-street cycle parking - one carpark could accommodate up to 6 or more bikes. Providing cycle parking would be a real push to encourage mode shift.

If people want to have a place to (inefficient, dangerous, noisy, polluting metal box), better known as a car, they should have to pay the opportunity cost of using land for that. There should be no free parking. Please make it much easier to walk, cycle, or bus in Newtown and Berhampore.

Having read through all of this it feels like it is going to involve a lot of extra time and paperwork for the council and for residents. People often park in the residents park, where they are not currently allowed even for 2 hours and we rarely see parking wardens- how will this be guaranteed to change? More loopholes for residents without enough people working to monitor it is going to make it much more difficult to park close to home. I don't think people with off street parking should get less visitor parks. If I had off street parking and a visitor then it would be no different to having no off street parking because the off street parking would be in use by residents.

I oppose the removal of residents only zones. I do not have confidence in council staffing levels to manage this and believe the disruption to residents could be significant. Once implemented there is no recourse and I don't see evidence provided if current car numbers, residents permits etc to be able to weigh this up. I currently live on a street where not too much residents parking is offered and residents are managing to find parks, this may improve with only 2 hour parks offered outside homes but if forces people to have to buy a residents permit when they might not already in addition to a rising cost of living and annual rates or rents increases. The information you've provided is very one sided.

While I am supportive of the cycle way down adelaide road, this parking scheme does not resolve or elevate the pressure that will be put on the roads. Almost no houses on the bottom of adelaide road have off-street parking and there is no where for them to go.

We live on adelaide road, with no off-street parking, and will have no parking options. We will need to use a residents permit but are worried there won't even be enough of those parks.

Restricting the number of permits per household, doesn't work for those households which may have many adults, where people's employment could be all over the Wellington region. There is no fully integrated transport system to get those people around, so they have to use cars to get to work.

Did you actually talk to people? Did you ask none residents why park on the streets? Why should us residents be paying more on top of our very high rates just because we live near the hospital. You are [redacted] over our neighborhood, and yet again putting the cart before the horse. You made 24/7 bus lanes that are often empty and cause traffic jams (which increase carbon emissions), perhaps you should have built these when bus services were increased! What are the #s on any increased trip times compared to before the changes. Why have you not worked with the hospital force their hands to increase parking on site, we might need any changes if the staff had other options.

What you have failed to address with your stupid 1 lala-land approach is that you are penalising residents because we happen to live near the hospital, whose workers park in the surrounding streets. It's not our fault that there isn't enough parking or reliable public transport for hospital staff. Residents should get 1 free parking permit, and for purchased ones the WCC needs to be more thorough when issuing permits, because it's amazing how many more people live in Mt Vic or along the Terrace only during business hours. It's pretty obvious that your residents parking permit system is flawed. There is not even a process to report vehicle that don't live in the area and actual residents often miss out. In addition the parks you are removing in other streets will put pressure on the rest of the surrounding streets. Your parking plan does not work because residents are the ones that are punished the most

I think the number of free passes for both groups are probably too high, but uptake could be reviewed after a year of the scheme being in place. Personally, I would only need it for tradies and visitors from out of town who are staying overnight/for a few days, and it would also be handy for a moving truck.

I am worried that this parking scheme will impact the workers we most need to support - the nurses and other staff at the hospital who rely on free parking. Some households need more than one car to support their family/sport/work commitments.

We have two cars and no off-street parking or possibility of off-street parking. We use both vehicles regularly to support our children's sporting and other activities, and to visit friends and family in and out of the Wellington region. Managing with only one car would be very difficult for us.

1. How will removing carparks make it "easier for people to live with fewer cars" as it says in the letter we received? It will just make it harder for people to find car parks a reasonable distance from their home or work. 2. Nurses and other poorly paid staff at the hospital will not cope without free local parking. They work shifts in difficult jobs. We need to look after them or they will leave. 3. There are families who rely on having one or two cars for sport/work/family reasons. 4. Will the council support off-street parking options more actively with this new scheme? 5. If the P120 must go ahead 9am to 3pm Monday to Friday would have less of an impact on families and businesses.

I agree disabled should get first priority for parking permits. I think elderly residents should get priority but haven't seen a mention of that? They are less likely to bus and bike and walk and have been here before the new rules have been decided. I am concerned that elderly people won't be good at using the online day pass system. Perhaps the scratch booklets could be allocated to those households where elderly have visitors but can't use technology well. How would house and pet sitters park in the region when are looking after a pet and property long term? I think the scheme should end at 5pm or 6pm - not 8pm. When visiting family and friends 2 hours isn't long enough in the evening.

Unless the WCC return to requiring car parks for all residential buildings finding a space whether for short or longer term parking will remain a nightmare. So many old houses in this area have no provision or possibility of providing parking. While many have great options for bus travel or for walking or biking, most everyone in this country likes to get out of town into the countryside, go to the beach, tramping or just on holiday. You cannot not do this with a family, you need a lot of stuff for family holidays! This is ALWAYS going to mean having your own wheels, which will no longer be evil when we all go electric. And where do you expect all those essential hospital workers to park? They need to be close to the hospital and in safe streets.

I strongly oppose the time frame of the permits and the restrictions on the number of permits per household. We are a flat of young professionals each needing to park our vehicles on street because our scum landlord has no available off-street parking. This is due to off-street being taken away as a requirement by the council. Bad move. The 8am-8.00pm timeframe is a joke. Something more reasonable such as 9.00am - 6.00pm would be more appropriate. I don't mind paying but I better be guaranteed a park at reasonable hours so people without permits better be gone by the time us workers are ready to head home.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Strongly support

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I think it is great, as long as those residents who may struggle to pay for residents permits are supported. In general, it is not the responsibility of council to provide parking for private vehicles.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Yes

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

In an off-street car park

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

I live in the area

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, which zone of Newtown or Berhampore is it in?

Berhampore zone

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Very unlikely

Why did you select that answer?

I have access to off-road parking. Regardless, I don't believe it is the responsibility of council to provide parking for private vehicles in a central Wellington suburb.

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

Undecided

If you live in the area, how many vehicles are owned by people in your home?

One

Thinking about where you park, do you think the new scheme will have an impact on your ability to find a car park in Newtown?

The permit is incredibly expensive when there is no trouble with free parking all day on my street (Constable St). We have 4 individual household members in our flat with cars, and only being able to have 2 passes per dwelling is unrealistically restricting.

Unnecessarily expensive in an already expensive cost of living crisis. With this added cost I will hardly be able to afford living in the area, let alone having the freedom of my private vehicle with me. The same goes for my 3 flatmates with vehicles, 2 of which wouldn't be able to park their cars near our property due to household restrictions.

because I am a resident and would have no other option. At a time when the cost of living is unsustainable I cannot believe that the Council is intending to fleece another $195 x 2 off residents who already pay exorbitant rates and encroachment fees. There is no parking issues where we live in Berhampore. We frequently have visitors to our AirBNB studio. What will our guests do, or likewise family members that come to stay. For instance my daughter lives in Dunedin, and will be home over Christmas for 2 weeks - what parking will be available for her. I am appalled by the video explaining the changes. The language used gives the impression that the decision has already been made by the Council - if this is genuine consultation that video should have followed a completely different script.

All this scheme is going to do is push people to park beyond the zone, and inconvenience residents and their guests. This will put pressure on neighbouring streets - which no doubt you will then choose to zone, so you can collect more money off ratepayers. Also - pushing people to park outside the zone is unsafe, particularly for women at night walking through poorly lit areas.

This is such a complex issue with the increased intensification of housing and therefore pressure on parking, combined with improving cycleways and safety for pedestrians. However, I do feel it is a little bit of a war on cars. Many people have very legitimate uses of cars. eg employment that is inaccessible by public transport, parents with small children (do you leave your kid in the car or the house by itself while you carry in the shopping?). I know there are provisions for people with mobility issues but the parking permits are only hunting permits not guaranteed and this is going to be very difficult/force people to move from houses they've lived in all their lives. Permits that support residents parking and exclude commuters parking are excellent. I worry about the Berhampore shop businesses.

Because I want to be able to park on the street when our elderly parents come and visit from out of town (which is quite frequently) so they can charge their EV and park for longer than 2 hours - the usually stay for several days at a time

Restricting visitors to 2 hours is not enough for a proper visit when people come for dinner, and making it until 8pm is also too restrictive. It should be 3 hours and until 6pm or even 7 to allow workers who arrive home at 5 not to be ticketed. This particularly affects residents who live on the proposed cycle way route, where significant parking is being removed.

I work in Newtown and Berhampore, Due to ongoing construction this area has become increasingly difficult to access particularly for people trying to reach essential healthcare in the area. Wakefield hospital, the Southern Cross hospital and all staff need the ability to park nearby. Patients and staff from around the area need to be able to make it to their vehicle safely, especially with staff (predominantly female) finishing well into the night. There needs to be parking available for those who have official passes from hospitals/workplaces to be able to access or those people visiting and receiving care.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

The proposed changes will make it much easier for residents to find a car park, and also encourage people to think twice about driving unnecessarily. Newtown has good public transport and cycleways, and it's simply not necessary for so many people to drive. The current unrestricted car parking is a waste of public space. Please include Colville Street in the P120 (residents permit exempt) area, otherwise it will be impossible to find a park there.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Yes

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

On the street (unrestricted)

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

I live in the area

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, which zone of Newtown or Berhampore is it in?

Newtown east

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Very likely

Why did you select that answer?

Our garage is currently full of bikes. We can't park them on the street, but we can park a car on street.

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

Very likely

If you live in the area, how many vehicles are owned by people in your home?

One

Thinking about where you park, do you think the new scheme will have an impact on your ability to find a car park in Newtown?

Much easier

Do you support the scheme's proposed parking restrictions?

Adding P120 time limit spaces that everyone can use. Residents with a permit would be able to stay as long as needed. Strongly support

Only people who live in the area being able to apply and pay for an annual exemption permit. Strongly support

The P120 (resident permit exempt) restrictions applying between 8am and 8pm. Strongly support

The P120 (resident permit exempt) restrictions applying between Monday to Sunday. Strongly support

A maximum of two resident permits per dwelling. Strongly support

Putting a cap on the total number of resident permits that can be issued for the parking zone. Strongly support

The proposed prioritisation of some resident groups over others who would be eligible for a resident permit. Strongly support

Allowing all households in the area to get a number of free day passes for visitors. Support

If you have any comments to make about the restrictions and eligibility of the resident exemption permits, please share them here.

50 free visitor passes is too many

The mix of P120 (resident permit exempt) parking spaces and unrestricted parking spaces. Support

The boundaries of the scheme and zones as shown on the map. Strongly support

If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here.

I don't agree that Colville Street keep its unrestricted parking. It should all be P120 (resident permit exempt). Otherwise it will be exploited as one of the only free parking areas in Newtown and will not be available for local residents. I have two young children and need to park on Colville.

I strongly oppose the new System. As a resident getting rid of residential parking and all day parking so close to a hospital that doesn't provide enough parking for staff and patients will be a disaster. It will not only affect residents negatively but valuable staff at the hospital. If this goes ahead expect to lose hospital staff!

We live in Daniell St. Close to the hospital. Without residents parking we are very unlikely to ever get a park. It is already very challenging. The new system will only create bigger problems for residents. I am also very concerned about hospital staff safety as the parking close to the hospital is often used by staff. I often see young woman/nurse walking to their cars late at night. This new scheme will put them in more danger having to walk further to their cars. This is NOT ok

Not only will the proposed plan restrict the right to basic health access to a large population of those in the community to reach the services of the hospital and hospice, the proposal reduces the ability the ability of healthcare workers to provide car. A vast majority of hospital and hospice workers do not live Wellington city. This proposal will cripple the hospital when there is already a dire need for staff in all areas. This is a kick in the teeth to public health service and you will cripple our staff by 60+% if introduced, after already taking months to hire x3 staff members and still understaffed. NZ has an ageing population and not everyone has the privilege to afford a bike nor have the time/ability to use public transport when working rotating shifts - including nights, attending appointments when unwell, or large or young families. This is the most ableist proposal from the council which only cater for the very few people of privilege. Additionally, to plan to perform changes prior to a safe alternative to be completed prior to commencement of changes is unfair.

The fact they the council are being ignorant to the public services in the Newtown and Berhampore area and the need for easy accessibility to these is ridiculous. Restricting parking time and spaces means you are restricting ALL Wellingtonians to the hospital, hospice, retirement homes, physio, therapy providers and other services. How do you expect the thousands of people who require these services multiple times a week if not daily to bike to these whilst unwell, dying, or physically compromised. Not only are there the evident services such as those described, there is a large unseen population within the area that receive home support from health services that require cars to reach these homes. Two hours is not enough for the needs of these people. The council are restricting accessibility to a basic health right amongst a time of a health crisis.

I think it needs to be made clear how the parking controls will apply to tradespeople doing work. Even if we end up needing to put in some sort of 'tradie' parking at regular intervals.

I support this proposal. My main concern was about people who work outside business hours at the hospital, for whom car travel might be their safest option and whose safety could be at risk if they have to walk a long way at night to get to their car. After talking to a WCC person at the drop-in centre, my concerns are assuaged - as long as the express bus from the railway station is reliable, and the hospital's plan to encourage car sharing and enable safe escort or transport for after hours personnel to their cars, works as promised. Though I still feel that low income residents should perhaps get a discount on their residents parking permit as long as its limited to one per household.

It,Ãs a good idea. The street I live on is often congested with too many cars parked.. on yellow lines, on the footpath, over driveways etc. and so many contractors working on the hospital park during the day. I think that the proposed measures would help my little street be more accessible to people that live on the street and visitors!

This is a high density residential area as well as home to 3 of the regions hospitals that all are people heavy resources with staff and in and outpatients. There is a lot of building going on in these areas and there is lack of parking on sites. Removal of parking areas for staff and patients will result in illegal parking, and stressed staff and patients. There is no transport hub in Newtown for people to wait to catch transport to their cars that would need to be parked off site. Hospitals are not a daytime business. Staff and patients come and go at all hours of the day and night and security will be an issue with people having to walk a few kms to their cars. There is no area where people can park their car and then catch a bus (that I am aware of) as there is for train stations. Many staff - precious health staff of which we have too few - do not live close to the hospital and need to use their vehicles to get to work at unusual times.

Overall, do you support the proposed Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme?

Don't know

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

As a resident of Newtown, it would be nice to park more easily, but I'm really struggling with money so am worried about having to pay for parking permits, and so is my housemate. Lots of people who live here don't have much money, are students, low-paid creatives or on benefits, please don't make things harder for us in such tough times. Please offer free resident permits, or at least discounted for those on low incomes. I cycle and walk as much as possible, and sometimes use public transport, but I also have a vehicle for when these are not possible.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Newtown east

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Undecided

Why did you select that answer?

I'm in financial hardship, very concerned about money, and paying for a permit is a worry on top of all the other rising costs. My housemate is also struggling with money and he has a vehicle. But it feels like we are effectively being forced to do that, as a resident with no offstreet parking and a vehicle. I walk and cycle as much as possible, and sometimes use public transport, but I do own a vehicle too for when I can't easily walk/cycle/bus somewhere, and because these days sometimes I struggle with fatigue which makes it harder to cycle/walk.

Most of the boundaries envelope areas used by hospital staff and patients so turning these into restricted parking is going to seriously hamper both the ability of staff to travel to work at the hospital and of patients trying to attend appointments.

this system won't work for those of us who borrow cars, rent cars and share cars - although overall we would only have a car parked for 2-3 months of the year, we would have cars with different number plates each time. we'd need more than the visitor passes allow for but registering via number plate won't work for us. Not sure of the solution, but please consider those who don't own a car.

I don't have a car, but I do borrow from friends and rent occasionally. sometimes this is for a couple of weeks or more, but is a different car each time. The residents permit based on number plate wouldn't work for me and I couldn't have enough visitors permits to cover the periods of time I might have a car for. having an person based system rather than car based system for some people would be good. (not sure how this would be implemented but please consider something).

Residents living in flats need more than just two permits per household, this is unfair to students living 3-4 in a flat. This is also unfair to the large number of people living in state or affordable housing in the neighbourhood that won't be able to afford the $200 per year extra cost. We already pay a significant amount of money for our rates, we should have to pay to park in front of our own home.

If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here.
Berhampore does not have a parking problem. We live on Chilka street and never have a problem finding a park. We don't often see new cars, everyone in the neighbourhood has their usual spot, with extras for visitors and tradies. This change would cause more stress on the neighbourhood.

I'd like a few 4 hour parks to allow people to make more use of newtown facilities eg having lunch and shopping and meeting a friend. I think it would be fine for the restrictions to stop at 6pm and not apply on sundays (and maybe saturdays as well - except around the vegetable market) I think this scheme is much fairer.

Please have lots of loading zones and mobility parks. someone suggested having loading zones that are all 20 mins, but any of them could also be used as mobility parks for a longer period if needed. this dual use is in place overseas.

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

I generally support the scheme and the need to reduce parking demand and congestion as the population densifies. I really support the annual allocation of vouchers for all homes for their visitors. I would like to see a clear statement around carshares e.g. Mevo as I think these should also be exempt from P120 restriction and allowed to park in resident parking as this encourages and enables more people to ditch private car ownership in favour of using carshare schemes when a car is needed.

At present I don't have a car so it would depend if I was to get a car (currently unlikely scenario - I will comment later about carshare and my desire to see them ensuring accomodated and incentivised in the proposed scheme)

I think they should be P60 at most. There should be more parking space reallocated to recreation and active transport modes ,Äi eg. making it safer for kids to ride residential streets to school with protected, separated bike lanes ,Äi this could come from only allocating each dwelling one parking permit.

Excellent scheme. Much fairer than the present scheme and will free up the main corridors for transport and ease congestion. Increasing loading zones and mobility parks is important. making room for safe bike lanes is essential with so many more cyclists in the city these days.

we gave up our car 4 years ago to help with climate change and reduce city congestion. we do use car share and rent and may contribute to a friends permit costs in return for using her car.

This is great. it will free up the main streets for flow of traffic, and mean those living in Newtown are more easily able to find a park while also being fair - everyone gets a chance for a parking permit. I wonder if the ratio of residents to visitors maybe too great. Perhaps 75% residents in streets closer to the shops?

If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here.
Overall good but I'd like a few 4 hour parking spots as I often spend more than 2 hours visiting the Newtown shops and cafes. I'll meet a friend for coffee, do some sopping and then have lunch. If I were visiting by car, then 2 hours is too short. 4 hours is still too short for workers, but more relaxed for business clients/shoppers etc. I'd like more mobility parks (there are never enough!), or dual loading zones that can be 20 mins for loading, but up to 4 hours for a mobility permit. Have lots of parks like this along the streets really close to the shops. I'd like extra loading zones (20 mins) by the community centre. I often borrow a car and cart heaps of stuff for events at the community centre but then can't park close by to unload. I'd like to 2 hour parking restriction to end at 6pm which allows for people to spend time at a show, or a pub quiz etc. 8pm is too late. I don't think we need 2 hour parking on sundays and possibly not Saturdays - except near the veg market. there are very few hospital workers on those days and we can often find a park at weekends. This also means people can find parking in Newtown to visit friends for coffee on the weekend. (or publicise the cheap hospital parking on Saturdays) Not quite as relevant but don't put any more electric vehicle charging spots on the street - changing to EVs does nothing for congestion or parking issues, so shouldn't be supported by the city except as a tiny part of climate control. Focus on reducing car ownership and use is more important. Have you thought through how residents with more than two cars or those with a garage full of gear are going to game the system and what you will do to prevent this. People will come up with work arounds and community buy in is very dependent on not having freeloaders who get away with it.

I reiterate my concerns around the prioritisation - any and all homes without offstreet parking - regardless of date of build - should absolutely be prioritised ahead of houses that have any off street parking.

I was initially supportive of the priority system. However, I realise our house which was built in 2021 with no off street parking, will place us at priority 8. When the house was designed, it included an off street car park, which was approved by WCC but rejected by NZTA. As such, we now would be prioritised AFTER houses that have offstreet parking - this seems like a flaw in the policy. I would like to see any and all homes without off street car parking prioritised BEFORE homes with any off street parking. Additionally, I'd like to see WCC be supportive of houses without offstreet parking that would like to establish offstreet parking to free up as much on street parking as possible.

8pm feels late for restrictions presumably designed to dissuade lengthy daytime parkers, and this during the week more than weekend. Also, I like the idea of spaces being kept free with time-limited use, but it's hard to gauge how many of the existing parked cars are owned by residents who would get a permit (and thus not free up a space).

Having 70% of newtowns street parking being restricted to 120min will extremely limit te whatu ora staff and visitors being able to access car parking. There isn,Äôt enough hospital parking and the public transport is sufficient enough to support staff with transporting to and from work. A lot of staff travel from outside the wellington city and rely on off street parking to get to and from work safely this proposal will negatively impact the healthcare system within our community.

Strongly support

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Yes

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

On the street (unrestricted)

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

I live in the area

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, which zone of Newtown or Berhampore is it in?

Newtown east

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Unlikely

Why did you select that answer?

I have off street parking available

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

Very likely

If you live in the area, how many vehicles are owned by people in your home?

One

Allowing all households in the area to get a number of free day passes for visitors.	Don't know
If you have any comments to make about the restrictions and eligibility of the resident exemption permits, please share them here.
Prioritisation for groups is important for people to make choices about their vehicle usage and storage in these areas. There are many cars that are parked for long periods ie months without moving. 25/50 free passes does sound like a lot when there is short term parking available.

The mix of P120 (resident permit exempt) parking spaces and unrestricted parking spaces.	Support
The boundaries of the scheme and zones as shown on the map.	Support
If you have any comments about the locations of the P120 (resident permit exempt) parking or the scheme and zone boundaries, please provide them here.
Please extent the zone to include Colville St and Paeroa Street, as these will instantly become prime parking spots and there is no logical reason for them not being included.

I am grateful for this scheme which frees up space for short-term visitors to the hospital and businesses, allows residents better access to parking, and frees up road space for other users (especially cyclists).

I am in support of the whole parking scheme apart from the prioritising. My family have just built a new dwelling on a small back section. The previous house was falling to pieces, we saved up and rebuilt. There was no option for off street parking. Because we have a new dwelling (post 2020) we are near the bottom of the priority list. Below families with off street parking which seems (excuse my strong language) ridiculous. We will really suffer if this prioritising order stays.

I work in the building at 99 rintoul st and there is no staff parking supplied so staff have to find parks in the street. I have double knee replacement and can walk one or 2 blocks but no further. If the parking was all 2 hours in the area this would be empty most of the time as apart from appts in my building there is no need to just park for 2 hours . ( my buidling supplies parks for pts and people visiting this premises not staff working here

As a staff member, working in an already understaffed area who travels from Lower Hutt, this would make things very difficult when trying to find a free park in Newtown. This would also only leave the option of paying to park in the limited staff parking on the hospital grounds.

As a Community Health Worker I find it absolute crazy restricting car parks in these areas where parking will be difficult for a disabled person, Healthcare workers who visits patients in their homes and having to find a car park. Will the resident have to get an exemption permit for the Healthcare workers so they can deliver the cares? I think it is totally unfair.

The council is meant to serve the majority. The majority drive cars, stop taking away parks and making it harder for everyone to do what they do. Acting so magnanimous with your "oh don't worry you can apply for residents parking" - at over a hundred dollars a year - a nice addition to your coffers. Have you forgotten it is so expensive in wellington that people have to flat, especially in newtown. two residents parkings per flat is never going to be enough - what about those with more flatting?

I work for Wellington Hospital. I personally will not be able to afford the parking charges to enable me to work at Wellington hospital . I will be one of many staff members who will be significantly impacted by these changes. We provide a public health service to the greater wellington region, these changes will significantly impact the staff who can afford to work at Wgtn hosptial.

Wellington hospital staff need more carparks!! You want people to not come to work because they can't park, no consideration for the people that work hard, finish late and then have to walk how long, bike home or catch the bus after an exhausting day. The buses take too long and not everyone can ride a bike, some have health reasons. Not realistic.

I would STRONGLY encourage the council to consider parking for visitors to Wellington Hospital, and consider a collaborative approach to access to parking for both staff and patients. Parking has been under pressure on this site for years, with restricted access to parking making it difficult for staff to park, resulting in staff parking in the streets. Removing street parking for staff will only increase pressure on visitor parking for patients and whanau, many of whom simply cannot walk or access sufficient public transport options to allow them to attend. The cycle ways have hugely improved access to alternative modes of transport, but a cross sector approach to hauora in our city MUST take a collaborative approach between Te Whatu Ora and council in order to enable and incentivise alternate modes of transport for staff, and allow affordable, accessible parking options for visitors and whanau. The cost of visitor parking at Wellington Hospital is shameful - noone comes here for a good time and to be permitting private enterprise to profit from this feels incredibly unjust. In other jurisdictions, staff can travel on cheap or free public transport, and have frequently accessible bus routes direct to the hospital.

I greatly appreciate the councils work to provide safe active transport connections and support public transport. I support a limit of two parks per household. I am a cyclist myself for climate reasons and our family of four do not have a car. However, I am also a resident of Hiropi St and am strongly aware of the impact of the Hospital not providing free carparking for their staff. The public health system is in crisis and seems to be held together by the good will of doctors, nurses, specialists, orderlies etc. PLEASE work with the hospital to create a solution for hospital workers especially those who come off work overnight, where public transport is not an option because there is none. Many hospital workers commute due to the housing crisis in inner Wellington. I spoke to a WCC representative who said that the time to impose a parking rule on the hospital would have been way back at the resource consent stage. HOWEVER, you are the Council. You need to support and influence the hospital to provide parking for their staff. There is plenty of undeveloped pieces of land nearby to the hospital which could be used for parking.

First off, well done counsellors for tackling such a divisive topic, when you say PARKING people loose. their. minds! High demand for a limited number of spaces isn,Äôt working. Gasoline and parking are necessity for cars, but gasoline isn't free, why should parking be? This leads to high demand, shortages of parking, vehicle,Äôs cruising for parking, creating traffic, congestion and more dangerous streets. This is hazardous for more vulnerable road users such as cyclist, scooters, skateboards and pedestrians. People are missing hospital appointments due to cruising for parks. THIS is what I have observed living in Newtown for 11 years. Making sure the plan is delivered in conjunction with the completed Island Bay to City connected cycle route and improved public transport infrastructure to give those who work at the hospital or in the area safe alternatives to travel if they prefer not to pay for parking. The plan should include traffic calming measures. The plan should include options for on street secure covered biking parking for residence, making the option of living car free easier for those with limited storage space. These could look like the Bike Hangers on page 14 of the Waka Kotahi cycle parking planing and design <https://www.nzta.govt.nz/assets/resources/cycle-parking-planning-and-design/cycle-parking-planning-and-design.pdf> The plan should included allocated Car Share only spots at regular intervals. Small vehicles should be prioritised in the permit rounds in the same category as EVs. Larger vehicles are more common, dangerous and take up more space. These should be low on the permit plan Larger vehicles (based on weight and size) should be allocated in a new group 10 in the order of permit allocation rounds and/or pay increased permit fees due to taking up more parking real estate. There should be a platform for residence to sell visitor day passes as an aftermarket option. This helps give residence more control over their suburb. This could be done in partnership with the hospital. That way nurse and other lower paid workers may be able to get cheaper on street parking such as $5 per day.

My mother helps with the kids on Fridays, she will often drive and 120min is not enough time for this, 180min would be better, this also is more in line with visitors such as family dinners or birthdays, 180min is a more realistic timeframe for such festivities than 120min. From experience 180min is more realistic for hospital visitor appointments as appointments can often run late, just last year I waited 1 hour to see a specialist for a routine appointment. MRI's and x-rays and other outpatient procedures can often take, when taking in admission to discharge, take about 3 hours. This will however make finding parking much easier as people who are visiting for the whole day will find other modes of transport or pay for the parking provided at the hospital or locally (such as Wilson Hall St parking) making it possible to find a park for shorter visits, which can often be nightmarish at the best of times. This will be a boon for the local shopping precinct as again, people will not be put off from finding a park as this becomes an easier affair.

I work 16+ hour days at the hospital, often finishing close to midnight and then have to be back by 7:30am. There's no bus home at this time and I wouldn't feel safe catching it if there was. I've been chased, heckled, sleezed at and generally harassed waiting for public transport in Wellington in the dark. It's just not safe, and something none of these transport changes from the council ever addresses.

I can understand the issue with hospital staff parking in Newtown streets which is impacting on residents. The solution needs to target this problem. Is the hospital looking at more parking? Is there a problem with our unreliable etc bus service? Maybe the answer is to introduce the parking scheme to key places around the hospital in Newtown not spread it out to Berhampore. This policy makes assumptions/penalises groups that are renting in that often have their own cars that enable them to work at different hours. They can't afford electric cars. These are not people in their 20's but those in their 30's or older who are locked out of owning their own homes.

I'm concerned about my tenants who are a multi-person flat with one-off street park and no ability to create more. Discussing it with them, this policy would mean that they might end up with some of them unable to park on their street. At the moment they can all find parks easily outside or close to the house. We don't understand the issue - there isn't pressure on parking in our suburban Berhampore street. If you're going to make restrictions then please make sure they (as residents) can continue to park like they do now outside or very close to their home.

Why are some streets like Chilka Street nearly all P120? I'm strongly opposed to this. There isn't a parking problem on this street (unless residents close to Adelaide Road have an issue resulting from people visiting/working in local businesses in which case look into how to address that in a targeted way).

I visit my son, daughter in law and grandkids. This will make parking in the area much easier. I do sometimes visit for longer than 120min so making it 180min parking would be far better. Often this is so my son and grandkids can hang out, sometimes we go to a cafe or go for a bike ride. This is closer to a 3 hour visit. I also work at the hospital but when I do I bus.

I visit my daughter, son in law and grandkids who live in the area. After 6 hours of driving the last thing we want to do is struggle to find a park, which we often do. This would really help as limiting parks is a good way to fairly allocate parking space. The parking should be 180min, not 120min. And the visitor day passes are a great idea, being able to apply for these on the day would be really great. Thanks, I love my grand-babies and this will make visiting them far less stressful.

I visit my son and his wife and help with my grandkids weekly. Parking is always so difficult. This would greatly help limit parking to a sustainable level. I would not have to worry about finding a park before walking down to school pick up or when visiting. I do visit for more than 120min so extending the parking time to 180min would be greatly appreciated.

This is great, it will make visiting my child and grandkids so much easier, thanks! It would be slightly better if 120min was extended to 180min parking. Sometimes after driving 6 hours to get here to visit our grandkids we then have to round and round the block looking for a park, this will make this process pain free. If the day passes can be activated on the day that would be good as we will be using these. They are a very good idea.

You say "Adding P120 time limit that everyone can use. Hardly anyone needs to park in Newtown for 2 hours only. It's predominantly households or hospital staff who all require much longer. Residents should take priority, but with a shortage of staff at WLG hospital already it's very hard for us to get anyone to come work with us. We need appropriate parking.

As a hospital employee who lives over 1.5 hours by bus away from the hospital, I am strongly opposed to this plan. I am a 60 year old woman who already has to walk in the dark from and to my car, which I park at the top of Constable St as that is the closest park I can get to the hospital. The hospital has radically cut back on parking and is charging staff a great deal to park, even if we can get hospital parks. Other types of transport are not an option for me as I work 7 am to 7 pm and live very far away. Are the hospital and its employees not an important part of the Newtown Community? I already walk some distance from my car to the hospital, so I accept this. If the situation becomes worse for me then I will have to seek employment elsewhere.

Although I have a garage in my apartment and use that most of the time, in honesty I would apply anyway for flexibility, knowing I would be a low priority group and may not receive a permit. This would have been convenient recently while our apartment garage was being repainted and no cars were allowed to park inside, for example

I'm in support of all of the parking changes, the only area of concern is around a hard cap of 2 permits per residence as I think this will disproportionately affect the younger/poorer e.g. in multi-generational family housing or in flatting arrangements which may have multiple people (for example, my biggest flat had 8 people, and 4 of us were doing clinical placements on differing rosters across the Hutt/ Porirua and Wellington hospital campuses)

Support

Do you have any comments to make about the overall proposed scheme?

Support for this scheme. Just a comment that we really need good parking for patients at the hospital as the current system doesn't seem to work that well! I feel bad for patients who end up with a ticket for parking in the wrong area.

Do you own or use a car/van/ute, and park it, in the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

Yes

If you park in the parking scheme area, what parking do you have access to and/or use most of the time?

On the street (unrestricted)

What is your main relationship to the Berhampore and Newtown parking scheme area?

I work in Berhampore or Newtown

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, which zone of Newtown or Berhampore is it in?

If you live or own/manage a business in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for a resident's exemption permit if the scheme is introduced?

Why did you select that answer?

If you live in the area, how likely is it that you would apply for one or more visitor day passes if the scheme is introduced?

If you live in the area, how many vehicles are owned by people in your home?

This will presumably help residents' and short term parking ability, while limiting hospital staff parking ability on the street. Probably a good thing overall, but makes me worried it will put more squeeze on limited hospital staff parking.

2hrs parking is quite a short time for anyone working in the area. Businesses will really suffer if their staff struggle to get to work. There are several reasons why taking the buss, cycling or walking may not work people. Taking away the option to park will force workers to find work elsewhere. This Will especially have a large impact on hospital workers, as there is already not enough hospital parking available.

As usual the council cannot be trusted made up stats and figures, anti car philosophy. This will simply make us less likely to visit Newtown. We are nearly retirement age so my wife may well simply retire rather than fart around with your new parking disaster

P120 restrictions will make parking for hospital staff a nightmare. It is already bad enough and there isn't enough staff parking on site for everybody. This needs to be addressed before changes to street parking can be made

I strongly support this parking scheme and have always been prepared to pay for parking though didn't fit the criteria for a residents only permit as our houses were built with no off street parking in a time when residents didn't have vehicles - 1893. The facilities who employ large numbers of people need to be encouraged to provide staff and visitor parking though this could be on a limited commercial scale perhaps.
