

The four SHIFTS the people of Karori want to see happen in the future - SNAPSHOT

SHIFT ONE	SHIFT TWO	SHIFT THREE	SHIFT FOUR
NOW: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> We have green assets such as parks and the outer green belt, which represent a big opportunity for us We have the potential to help lead sustainable living in Wellington 	NOW: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Karori lacks a strong sense of identity and can feel inward-looking and isolated from Wellington City (where many of its residents escape to for shopping and entertainment) 	NOW: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Karori can feel like a 'dormitory suburb' where a lot of people who work in the city go to sleep There are a lot of people here in the daytime, but there are gaps in the economy and no hubs to work from 	NOW: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Karori feels physically split by the main road and isolated from the city We have a diverse population, but we don't seem to mix much, and are sometimes felt to be an elitist place ('city end' vs 'Karori west')
THE FUTURE: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Karori is a nature-lover's paradise and a living centre for outdoor activity We are living and leading a low-carbon future 	THE FUTURE: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Karori is a humming, entertaining and activated hub for the western suburbs Our heritage shines alongside iconic architecture and creative uses of space 	THE FUTURE: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> There's a buzz about working here Home-workers and start-ups have spaces they love working in together We support our local businesses that provide everything we need 	THE FUTURE: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> You walk around out integrated and humming centres with a coffee, meeting different people saying hello We are an inclusive place where generations and cultures are mixing
