  - Effective representation
  - Fair representation.

9. The formal process of the review must occur between 1 March 2018 and 31 August 2018, although preliminary thinking of various scenarios and informal community consultation and research can occur prior to 1 March 2018.

Discussion

10. Council commences its thinking around the upcoming representation arrangements review with regard to:
- identifying communities of interest;
  - the appropriate number of elected members;
  - the number and boundaries of wards (if retained);

DISTRICT LICENSING COMMITTEE ANNUAL REPORT TO THE ALCOHOL REGULATORY AND LICENSING AUTHORITY 2016-2017

Purpose

1. To seek Council approval of the 2016/2017 Annual Report of the Wellington District Licensing Committee (DLC) for submission to the Alcohol Regulatory and Licensing Authority (ARLA).

Summary

2. This report asks Council to approve the Wellington DLC Annual Report for the period from 1 July 2016 to 30 June 2017 for submission to ARLA.
3. The Wellington DLC was appointed by the Council under the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Act 2012 (the Act) to deal with alcohol licensing matters for Wellington City.
4. The Wellington DLC is required under the Act to prepare and submit an annual report to ARLA. ARLA is the specialist national decision-making body for alcohol licensing matters. It has power to specify the form and content of the DLC's annual report, which it did this year in a letter to the DLC Secretary. The 2016/2017 DLC Annual Report contains the information requested by ARLA.
5. When ARLA prepares its own annual report to Parliament, it will consider including matters raised in a DLC's annual report, provided that report reaches it by the start of September 2017.
6. Highlights of the 2016/2017 DLC Annual Report to ARLA are noted below.

Recommendations

That the Council:

1. Receive the information.
2. Approve the 2016/2017 Annual Report of the Wellington District Licensing Committee for submission to the Alcohol Regulatory and Licensing Authority.

Background

7. The Wellington DLC was appointed by the Council to deal with alcohol licensing matters in accordance with the requirements of the Act. The DLC considers and decides all alcohol licence and manager's certificate applications for Wellington City.
8. The Wellington DLC comprises three Commissioners (Sir Douglas Kidd, Rex Woodhouse and Murray Clearwater) and six members (Zoe Doole, Mary Hubble, Sandra Kirby, Kiri Rikihana, Kate Thomson and Luke Tuffs) all of whom are independent contractors appointed by the Council for a five year term that will expire in October 2018. In addition, Councillor Andy Foster is a member and Deputy Chair of the DLC for the period of his term as a member of the territorial authority.
9. The Wellington DLC is required under s199 of the Act to report to ARLA within 3 months of the end of the Council's financial year. ARLA has the power to specify the form and content of the DLC's report to it:

199 Annual report

(1) Within 3 months after the end of every financial year, every territorial authority must prepare and send to the licensing authority a report of the proceedings and operations of its licensing committees during the year.

(2) The licensing authority may specify the form of the annual report and the matters to be included in the report.

10. ARLA, formerly known as the Liquor Licensing Authority, is the national decision-making body for alcohol licensing matters. ARLA considers appeals from decisions of DLCs and determines enforcement applications relating to alleged breaches of the Act. ARLA also considers appeals in relation to local alcohol policies.
11. In May 2017, the Secretary of ARLA wrote to the Secretary of the DLC specifying ARLA's requirements as follows:

Overview of DLC workload

DLCs structure and personnel

Any staff training undertaken relating to the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Act 2012

DLC meetings or hearings

DLC initiatives

New initiatives adopted by the DLC

Local Alcohol Policy

Does the territorial authority have a draft or provisional local alcohol policy?

If so, any comment on this

Legislation

Any comment on the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Act 2012

Any other matter the Territorial Authority might wish to draw to the attention of the Authority

Any noticeable trends or issues faced by the DLC

Statistical information

Annual return in the proscribed format

Current listing of licensed premises

12. ARLA prepares its own annual report to Parliament on alcohol licensing matters. The Secretary of ARLA has advised the Secretary of the Wellington DLC that if we wish ARLA to consider any matters raised in the DLC's annual report to it for inclusion in its own report to Parliament, we need to provide it with our report by the start of September 2017.

Discussion

13. The Wellington DLC's Annual Report to ARLA for 2016/2017 is attached to this report. Highlights include:
  - During the reporting period, the Wellington DLC convened 20 public hearings (5 more than the previous year). Public hearings are generally the result of objections to applications for alcohol licences or manager's certificates by members of the public or by the Police, Medical Officer of Health or Licensing Inspector.
  - During the reporting period, the Wellington DLC received a total of 2233 applications (57 more than in the previous year) and issued 2177 substantive decisions.

- Wellington DLC members went out on night time site visits with the Council's Local Hosts, which the DLC found helpful and informative for their decision-making.
- The Wellington DLC shared resources developed in-house with the wider DLC community via Local Government New Zealand.
- There were two changes to the membership of the Wellington DLC, with the appointment of Councillor Foster as a DLC member as well as his reappointment as Deputy Chair, and the departure of Deputy Chair, Councillor Pannett, who the Committee wishes to thank for her service.

14. Council is asked to approve the submission of the attached report to ARLA.

  - 10 off-licence renewal applications
  - 5 manager's certificates.

In the period from 1 July 2016 to 30 June 2017, the Wellington DLCs received a total of 2233 applications, being 57 more than was received by the Wellington DLCs in the previous financial year. In the same period, the Wellington DLCs issued 2177 substantive decisions.

2. New DLC initiatives

2.1. Night time visits

During the reporting period, members of the Wellington DLC went out on night time visits to Wellington city's entertainment precincts with the Council's Local Hosts: <http://wellington.govt.nz/services/community-and-culture/community-safety/safety-in-wellington/local-hosts>. The purpose of these visits was to offer the Wellington DLC first-hand knowledge of the alcohol-related night time realities in the city.

2.2. Sharing DLC resources via LGNZ

The Wellington DLC was happy to share resources developed in-house with the wider DLC community via Local Government New Zealand's DLC Resources web portal: <http://www.lgnz.co.nz/equip/professional-development-offerings/dlc-resources/>

The resources shared included Practice Directions to assist with the smooth running of public hearings and the provision of agency reports that met the minimum statutory requirements, and conditions templates for various types of licence.

3. Local Alcohol Policy

In accordance with Part 2, subpart 2 of the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Act 2012, Wellington City Council developed a provisional Local Alcohol Policy (the PLAP).

The PLAP was notified on January 21, 2014. Appeals were lodged by eight parties which were heard by the Authority over eight days between October 20 and November 5, 2014.

The Authority released its decision on January 20, 2015 which asked the Council to reconsider elements of its PLAP.

The Council resolved on March 18, 2015 to receive a “report to the February 2016 meeting of the Community, Sport, and Recreation Committee on the opportunities to resubmit an amended Provisional Local Alcohol Policy taking into account updated local data and the parameters for local alcohol policies arising from the decision on appeals”.

On 3 March 2016, the Council’s Community Sport and Recreation Committee resolved that the Council should not at that time resubmit the PLAP to the Authority, and should instead continue to monitor alcohol-related data in Wellington, work with key stakeholders, and consider future ARLA decisions on other PLAP appeals prior to determining if the Council requires a local alcohol policy. The Committee also “agreed to continue to advocate to central government for a higher minimum unit price for alcohol including off licences.”

4. Legislation

The Sale and Supply of Alcohol Act 2012 has now been in full force for three and a half years.

During the reporting period, Parliament passed the following amending legislation:

- The Sale and Supply of Alcohol (Display of Low-alcohol Beverages and Other Remedial Matters) Amendment Act 2016, which made the following changes to the principal legislation:
  - A definition of “working day” that reflects the change to the Holidays Act 1993 by which provision has been made for the ‘Mondayisation’ of Waitangi Day and Anzac Day. The effect is that, where those days fall on a Saturday or Sunday, the holiday is observed on the next following Monday and that Monday is not counted as a working day for the purposes of the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Act 2012.

- Adding to the list of persons who can hold an on, off or special licence, a company incorporated under the Companies Act 1993.
- Permitting the display, advertising or promotion of low-alcohol or non-alcoholic beer, wine, or mead within a single alcohol area.
- Section 87 of the Statutes Amendment Act 2016, which replaced the words “sell or supply” in sections 22(2) and 22(3) of the principal Act with the words “sell and supply.” The effect of this seemingly innocuous change is discussed in further detail below.

In its previous Annual Reports, the Wellington DLC has included a list of issues with the Act that it considers warrant clarification, guidance and/or legislative amendment. Issues raised in the past and yet to be addressed are summarised at paragraph 4.5 below.

In addition, the following is a list of the DLC’s current thoughts on the legislation.

4.1. ‘Supply only’ special licences

In December 2016, amending legislation changed the language of section 22 of the Act to read:

22 Special licences

- (1) There are 2 kinds of special licence: on-site special licences and off-site special licences.
- (2) On the premises a special licence designated as an on-site special licence is held for, the licensee can sell and supply alcohol, for consumption there, to people attending an event described in it.
- (3) Where the holder of an on-licence or a club licence for any premises also holds a special licence designated as an on-site special licence for the premises, the holder can at a time when the sale of alcohol on the premises would otherwise be unlawful (whether by virtue of a provision of this Act relating to licensed premises or licensed premises of any kind, or by virtue of any condition subject to which the on-licence or club licence was issued) sell and supply alcohol, for consumption there, if it is sold or supplied—
  - (a) to people attending an event described in the special licence; and
  - (b) in accordance with the special licence.
- (4) Subsection (3) does not limit or affect the generality of subsection (2).

(emphasis added)

The Wellington DLC’s interpretation of the effect of this amendment is that the Committee can no longer issue supply-only special licences. In order for it to be possible for a special licence to issue, there must be a ‘sale’ of alcohol. ‘Sale’ is defined broadly in section 5 of the Act to include the provision of ‘free’ drinks as part of an alcohol-inclusive event where there is a fee or koha payment made for attendance.

This amendment appears to restore the legal position to that which applied under the Sale of Liquor Act 1989. Under that Act, it was not possible to issue special licences for ‘supply only’ events, nor for events that were ‘BYO only’.

In past annual reports to the Authority, the Wellington DLC has sought clarity around the issue of 'supply only' specials. We have said:

The Wellington DLC wishes to draw to the government's attention the continuing uncertainty around the licensing requirements, or not, for supply-only alcohol events. What is clear is that where alcohol is sold and supplied for consumption at an event a special licence is required. Similarly, where alcohol is supplied for consumption at an event where the cost of the alcohol is included in the entry price, this requires a special licence. What is unclear is whether events such as weddings, birthdays or an art gallery opening where alcohol is supplied free to attending guests requires a special licence. If it is the intention of government that this be so then it needs to be clearly prescribed in the statute. We believe that was not the intent of Parliament when drafting this Act. For completeness it is noted that, according to case law, BYO-only events cannot be granted a special licence. Parliament may wish to consider reviewing this position. It is our view that low risk events, with limited quantities of alcohol provided, but still subject to sound host responsibility practices should not be required to hold a special licence. This category of events could be safely managed using guidance material similar to that currently available through the Health Promotion Agency. There is currently significant variation of interpretation on this issue throughout New Zealand and we encourage the government to urgently clarify this matter.<sup>1</sup>

The Wellington DLC notes, with concern, that while the law has been restored to the pre-2012 Act position, it is still not clear whether the organisers of events of the type described above (i.e. low risk events with limited quantities of supply-only alcohol, such as weddings, birthdays or an art gallery opening) are 'safe' from prosecution under the Act.

Section 235 of the Act makes it unlawful to operate a 'place of resort' for the consumption of alcohol which is undefined in the Act, but which case law has indicated could mean operating premises that are used for activities other than the consumption of alcohol and where there has only been one instance of alcohol consumption (Police v Clarke [1977] 1 NZCR 621 (SC)). A single night's use for a social purpose involving consumption has been held to be enough to trigger section 235.<sup>2</sup>

The 2016 amendments make it clear that a person wishing to hold a supply only event cannot be provided with a special licence. They did not, however, provide any guarantee of protection for such persons that they would not fall foul of the provisions of section 235.

For completeness, we note that there is considerable ongoing uncertainty nationally as to the operation of section 22, its interaction with section 235, and its impact on those who wish to organise supply-only events.

An urgent amendment to the Act is required to provide certainty for supply-only event organisers that they will not be the subject of prosecution.

4.2. Waivers for late filed special licences

Section 137(2) of the Act provides that a DLC may consider a special licence application that is filed later than the statutory deadline<sup>3</sup> if the DLC is “satisfied that the need for a special licence could not reasonably have been foreseen earlier.”

On occasion, the Wellington DLC is asked to consider late filed special licence applications for worthy community events where it is not possible for the organisers to demonstrate that the need for the licence could not reasonably have been foreseen, but where the lateness was not wilful.

In such cases, because of the long established legal principle that a specific statutory provision overrides any general provision, the DLC cannot, strictly speaking, apply section 208 and waive the lateness.

By contrast, section 127(2)(b), which sets the deadline for filing base licence renewal applications,<sup>4</sup> does not contain the restrictive “reasonably foreseeable” test. Under section 127(2)(b), a DLC may allow late filing at its discretion. Arguably, in order to do so, the DLC may need to apply the section 208 waiver test and satisfy itself that the lateness was not wilful.

There is no clear policy reason that the Wellington DLC can see for applying the restrictive “reasonably foreseeable” test for special licences, but not to late renewals.

The Wellington DLC would like to see section 137(2) amended to mirror the language of section 127(2)(b) and give DLCs the discretion to allow late special licence filing where the Committee considers doing so would be appropriate in all the circumstances, following consideration of the position taken by the reporting agencies in relation to that specific case.

4.3. Proposed changes to sales revenue requirements for grocery stores

The Wellington DLC notes that there is a proposal to amend the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Regulations 2013 “to ensure that small grocery businesses can continue to hold liquor licences.”<sup>5</sup> We have not seen the form of the proposed change, but it appears that the intention is to amend the regulations “to exclude ... tobacco excise tax” from the sales revenue figures to which a DLC must have regard when assessing whether or not premises are a “grocery store” as defined in section 33(1) of the Act.

Recent case law from the Authority<sup>6</sup> held that, in determining whether or not premises fall within the definition of “grocery store”, reference to the statement of annual sales revenue that must be prepared and provided by the applicant pursuant to the Act and regulations “becomes fundamental when determining whether the premises are a grocery store.”<sup>7</sup>

As the Authority explained:

[25] Notwithstanding that the premises may have the visual appearance or characteristics of a grocery store, if the ‘main’ product sold during the requisite period is not ‘food products’, then the premises are not a grocery store regardless of how much they may resemble one. This is not to say the characteristics of the premises, or the range of food products on offer, are not relevant to the determination of whether premises are a grocery store. In order for premises to be granted an off-licence as a grocery store, it is not sufficient for the main products being sold to be food products. The premises must also share the characteristics normally associated with shops commonly thought of a grocery shops. Conversely, it is not sufficient that the premises only have the appearance of a grocery store or sell a range of products. If the main product being sold is not food products, then the premises cannot be a grocery store.

[26] The word ‘but’ in the definition of ‘grocery store’ creates a rebuttal (sic) presumption that applies where a decision-maker is of the view that premises do, or will, have the characteristics normally associated with a grocery shop. Where premises are considered to have the characteristics of a grocery store having regard to the matters set out in s 33(2)(a)(i) and (iii), and any other matters considered relevant (per s 33(2)(b)), this presumption will be rebutted where food products are not the main or ‘first in rank’ products sold as determined by r 6.

The proposed regulatory changes were described in a Ministerial press release as follows:

As a result of tobacco excise tax increases, the main source of revenue for some grocery stores has changed to tobacco products. These stores therefore no longer qualify as grocery stores and cannot be issued an off-licence.

“It is not the purpose of tobacco excise tax increases to restrict small grocery stores from being able to sell alcohol,” Mr Mitchell says.

“To address the unintended impacts of these increases on grocery stores, the Government is making minor changes to the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Regulations 2013 to exclude the tobacco excise tax when determining a store’s principal business.”

The Wellington DLC agrees with the policy intention that there not be unintended impacts on grocery stores from unexpected changes to sales revenue patterns. An example of another such change that has come to the attention of the Wellington DLC in a recent application is a large proportion of sales revenue coming from Snapper card sales.<sup>8</sup> In this case, the actual

<sup>8</sup> The Snapper card is a contactless electronic ticketing card used to pay for bus fares and other everyday items, such as taxis, food and coffee. It was introduced in Wellington in July percentage profit secured by the retailer is de minimus but the revenue figures are at a level that, applying the regulations and the law as set out in Uday,<sup>9</sup> in the particular case the DLC is considering we would appear to be obliged to make a finding that the “grocery store” definition had not been satisfied. Given that the sale of Snapper cards could be viewed as a community service on the part of the retailer, the Wellington DLC cannot see how it would have been Parliament’s intention that Snapper sales revenue should, in the words of the Ministerial press release, act “to restrict small grocery stores from being able to sell alcohol.”

The Wellington DLC suggests an alternative legislative approach to address this issue. It is suggested that the Act be amended so that DLCs (and the Authority) are given the discretion not to apply the sales revenue figures as a determinative factor, if the applicant would have met the ‘grocery store’ threshold but for one particular sale item (e.g. Snapper cards), provided the decision-maker considers that the other criteria support a conclusion that the premises are otherwise a grocery store.

This approach would prevent the Regulations needing to be amended every time a single sales revenue item threatens “to restrict small grocery stores from being able to sell alcohol.” It would also be consistent with the evaluative exercise the High Court and Court of Appeal have indicated a decision-maker should apply when considering and determining licensing applications under the 2012 Act.<sup>10</sup>

4.4. Single alcohol areas – ends of aisles

The single alcohol area (SAA) provisions of the Act have been the subject of considerable litigation since their enactment. A current unresolved issue with which DLCs across the country have been grappling is how to address “end of aisle” displays.

The Act does not expressly refer to aisle end displays and whether or not these are to be permitted. Case law on this point to date has not provided the DLC with a clear picture of what is expected in this regard. The position, as we currently understand it to be, is summarised below.

Key decisions on end of aisle displays<sup>11</sup>

The High Court in Christchurch Medical Officer of Health and others v J & C Vaudrey Limited and others [2015] NZHC 2749 was asked to rule on the legality of a condition imposed by a Christchurch DLC. The High Court, at paragraph [3] of its decision, described the condition and the DLC’s decision on it as follows:

2008. It can be used on GO Wellington, Valley Flyer and Runcimans buses in the greater Wellington area, as well as at participating shops and taxi services.

<sup>10</sup> See the dicta in the High Court and Court of Appeal decisions in the Vaudrey cases, for example.

...in granting the application, [the DLC] excluded from the application a wine display cabinet at one end of the wine display shelves, because it was considered to be in contravention of the purpose of such an area, as described in s 112(1) of the Act.

Later in its decision, the High Court had the following to say regarding the exclusion by the DLC of the end of aisle display:

[105] Because in this case the Authority seemed to consider the condition deleting the single display cabinet as part and parcel of ss 112 and 113, rather than 117, it is now impossible to ascertain whether it applied the correct legal test. My tentative view, however, is that it did not, if only for the fact the authorities relating to conditions under the predecessor regime were applied unquestioningly. On this basis I cannot be satisfied that it was correct to delete the condition. Indeed, the MOH made the submission, in reliance on the conclusions reached in an academic article, that there is evidence suggesting restrictions on the use of aisle-ends for the sale of alcohol is "a promising option to encourage healthier in-store purchases, without affecting availability or cost of products". In this light it may well be that the condition is justifiable under s 117. Indeed, on the face of the record, there is little to suggest it would not be. (Footnotes removed)

The Court of Appeal in J & C Vaudrey Limited and others v Canterbury Medical Officer of Health and others [2016] NZCA 539 confirmed the High Court's decision. Its discussion of the end of aisle display included the following:

[60] After a hearing at which Vaudrey was afforded a proper opportunity to be heard on the CDLC's proposed reduction in the single area by the removal of the wine display cabinet at one end of the wine display shelves, the CDLC would have had jurisdiction to describe a reduced perimeter making that alteration.

And:

[65] The appellants and the Medical Officer were in accord that the structure of the Act precluded a s 117 condition altering the single area as described under ss112(2) and 113(2). We agree with that view. Sections 112–114, in effect, constitute a code relating to the areas in which alcohol can be sold in a supermarket. A condition relating to the location of the single alcohol area should not then be imposed under s 117.

[66] Mr Browne contended that it would not be inconsistent with the Act for conditions to be imposed under s 117 that affect the arrangement or display either within the single area or adjacent to it. He suggested that such conditions might include limits on such things as the height of alcohol displays (so as to reduce their visibility from other areas) and preventing the removal of shelving in the surrounding areas intended to limit shoppers' exposure to alcohol.

[67] Mr Goddard acknowledged that it may be open to a DLC to impose conditions under s 117 relating to matters such as displays within a single alcohol area if that would advance the object of the Act as set out in s 4. However, he submitted that that issue need not be determined on this appeal as neither the CDLC nor the ARLA imposed any condition under s 117.

Discussion

[68] In view of Mr Goddard's submission and the limited argument which we heard on the issue we confine ourselves to the following observations. First, the new power to impose conditions in s 117 is broad. While such a condition must be reasonable and not inconsistent with the Act, the generality of the power is not limited or affected by any other provision in the Act. Indeed s 115, which provides for delays in the application of single area conditions for certain licence renewals, enables conditions to be made in the interim under s 117. The versatility of the power is amplified by s 118, another new provision, which enables different conditions to apply to different parts of the premises.

[69] Secondly, in view of the breadth of the power, we consider that Mr Goddard's acknowledgment was appropriately made. However, any more detailed analysis of the ambit of the s 117 power should await a case where the exercise of the power has been entertained.

[70] Accordingly the answer to question 3 is that, save for the imposition of an interim condition under s 115(5), conditions may not be imposed under s 117 that have the effect of altering the single-area condition imposed under s112(2). (Footnotes removed)

This year, the Authority issued its decision in McMaster v G & B Hasler Ltd [2017] NZARLA 169 in which it held that a section 117 condition could not be imposed in respect of end of aisle shelving, although, as we understand it, in that case the shelving in question was within the boundary of the proposed SAA and did not abut or protrude beyond that boundary.

The Authority held that sections 112 and 113 operate so that a decision-maker's task in describing a SAA is to determine the location of that area relative to the rest of the premises and depict that as a perimeter on a plan of the whole of the premises. The Authority said, at paragraph [48]:

The delineation of the perimeter of a 'blank area' depicted on a plan of the wider supermarket, will be sufficient to satisfy the requirement to describe a single alcohol area provided that the configuration and arrangement of the supermarket outside the alcohol area is apparent and able to be understood.

And, at paragraph [50]:

...what is envisaged is that the area is identifiable relative to the wider premises where alcohol cannot be displayed or promoted. It is this relative position of the area that limits exposure of shoppers to the display, promotion and advertisement of alcohol in supermarkets and grocery stores.

The Authority went on to say, at paragraph [51]:

There is nothing in s 112(2), 113(2) or 113(5) which requires the DLC or Authority to describe the internal area of the area other than to ensure the area is not on one of the relevant pedestrian routes, (in order to avoid the area defeating the purpose in s 112(1)).

Regarding the imposition of a section 117 condition prohibiting an end of aisle display, the Authority said:

[55] Turning to s 117, the Authority is bound by the Court of Appeal in Vaudrey which said, at [70] that conditions may not be imposed under s 117 that have the effect of altering the single-area condition imposed under s 112(2). It follows from what we have already said, that as the alcohol area condition is to identify where in the premises alcohol may be displayed and promoted, thereby giving effect to the purpose set out in s 112(1), the licensee is entitled to use all the space within the alcohol area, subject to any conditions imposed which do not have the effect of altering the area.

[56] Subject to any such conditions, within the area the licensee is not restricted as to how the space may best be utilised. The licensee is free to arrange shelving and display units within the perimeter of the alcohol area once it has been described. Similarly, ss 112 and 113 do not restrict the use of end-of-aisle shelving within the area. Such a restriction would amount to a condition that has the effect of altering the area by leaving what the respondent has referred to as 'dead spots' or pockets within which the display, promotion and advertising of alcohol is rendered 'impermissible'. This would be inconsistent with the stated effects of the area condition in s 114.

[57] In Vaudrey (CA) it was acknowledged that it may be open to a DLC to impose conditions under s 117 relating to matters such as displays within a single alcohol area if that would advance the object of the Act as set out in s 4. However, the Court of Appeal did not decide the matter beyond confirming that conditions may not be imposed under s 117 that have the effect of altering the single-area condition imposed under s 112(2) [at 67 to 70].

[58] For the reasons just stated, the Authority does not consider that a s 117 condition can be imposed in respect of end-of-aisle shelving.

[59] Even if the angled shelving did increase the visibility of alcohol products, however, the Authority would need to be satisfied that a restriction on the angling would be a proportionate response to the risk of harm caused by the excessive or inappropriate consumption of alcohol. As the Authority has not had the benefit of any argument on this point, the use of s 117 for this purpose is not considered further in this appeal.

From the above, the Wellington DLC understands the following to be the law according to the Court of Appeal, High Court and the Authority.<sup>12</sup>

- Section 117 is not to be used to describe the location of a single alcohol area within a store. That is the purpose of sections 112–114.
- It may be open to a DLC to impose conditions under section 117 relating to matters such as displays within a single alcohol area (High Court and Court of Appeal).
- However, it is not possible to exclude end of aisle displays from a SAA by way of section 117 (ARLA). It is unclear whether the Authority intended this to apply only when an end of aisle display was positioned well within a SAA, or whether it was meant to have the effect of preventing the exclusion of end of aisles that abut the perimeter of a proposed SAA.
- It is not clear whether the perimeter of a SAA may be reduced so as to exclude an aisle end display. The Court of Appeal has indicated that it considers this is possible, provided the applicant is given a fair opportunity to be heard. However, ARLA appears to disagree. Indeed, the Wellington DLC acknowledges that even if a reduced perimeter was applied, in order to exclude an existing end of aisle display, it would remain open to an applicant to simply shift its end of aisle displays into the SAA.

The Wellington DLC considers that there is a real need for legislative clarity on the issue of aisle end displays.

4.5. Matters previously raised and as yet not actioned

The Wellington DLC refers the Authority to its past comments on the following topics, which it continues to wish to see actioned by way of legislative reform:

Topic	Summary of concerns
Temporary Authority orders	The Wellington DLC wishes for the DLC Chair to be empowered to opt whether to determine a temporary authority order application on the papers without a 3 person quorum and meeting or to direct that a public hearing be convened in order to do so. This could be effected by adding temporary authority order applications to the list of matters in section 191(3) of the Act. The Wellington DLC would also like to see consideration given to expanding the matters to which a DLC may have regard when considering a temporary authority order application to include, at least, suitability, but also any other relevant matters in section 105(1) of the Act. It would also be of assistance if section 136 contained express reporting requirements and power for the DLC to consider any matters raised by reports.
Notice period for special licence hearings	The Wellington DLC would like provision to be made for the DLC Secretary to truncate the 10 working day notice period for special licence hearings where such applications need to be dealt with urgently.
Notification for special licences	The DLC Secretary has discretion to require public notification of special licence applications, but may only do so by notice on the site. It is suggested that this be expanded to include other media (e.g. online public

	notices) in appropriate cases.
Designation issues	The current designation requirements for 'hotel style' on licensed premises are not in line with modern reality. The vast majority of hotels, at least in urban centres such as Wellington, no longer include a separate "public bar" area in which patrons gather for the specific purpose of drinking. More common in such premises are lobby bar areas, which are often not distinct from the reception/thoroughfare to the hotel rooms. These areas often are not used for the sale and supply of alcohol at all times. Designating such areas to exclude children can pose real practical problems for licensees. Similarly, the requirement to designate a 'tavern' can cause difficulty for premises that trade more in the nature of a café during the day and a bar at night. Time split designations have been adopted for this purpose on the basis that the operation morphs from a restaurant to a tavern at a particular time of night, which section 118 permits. It would be helpful to have clearer legislative support for such an approach.
Caterer's licences	The Authority has provided guidance in a Practice Direction (28 July 2015) on how caterers' off licences issued under the 1989 Act can be converted into endorsed caterers' on licences under the 2012 Act. We suggest the Act be amended to reflect the Authority's directions.
Change to acting / temporary managers regime	A temporary manager can be appointed for an unspecified period to cover an illness, absence or the resignation or dismissal of a certificated manager. A temporary manager must apply for a certificate within 2 working days of being appointed. An acting manager may be appointed for up to three weeks to cover for a certificated manager who is ill or absent. An acting manager is not required to apply for a certificate. Licensees who appoint acting or

	temporary managers must notify the DLC and Police within 2 working days. Within 5 working days after that, the DLC may inform the licensee it does not approve the appointment (under section 231(4)). In order to do so, the DLC must first convene a meeting of a 3 person Committee. In practice, the 5 working days allowed is inadequate. The Committee will only be alerted to any issues with an appointed manager if the Police or Inspector raises those. Time is required for this to occur. Natural justice then requires that those issues be put to the licensee and acting or temporary manager and an opportunity to respond be given. A full Committee must then be convened to consider and determine the matter and a notice must then be issued. It would assist to speed the process if this decision was added to the list in section 191(3) of matters that can be determined by a District Licensing Chair alone. It would also assist if more time were allowed for the Committee to issue a non-approval notice. It may be that it would make sense to draw a distinction between acting and temporary manager appointments. Allowing more time for an acting manager could mean a non-approval order would come too late to make a difference to a particular appointment.<sup>13</sup> But it would still send a signal re: any decision to appoint the individual in future. Allowing more time for a temporary manager could have a practical effect. A temporary manager who is appointed for longer than 48 hours must apply for a certificate, and may remain appointed until that application is determined. If there were grounds for a notice of non-approval, then that would remove

<sup>13</sup> An acting manager appointment is for a maximum of 3 weeks. The licensee has 2 working days to notify the committee of an appointment, the committee then has 5 working days to issue a notice of non-approval which only takes effect 5 working days after that.

	the temporary manager in these circumstances and could discourage his or her application for a certificate. Under the current regime, the Wellington DLC has never had an acting or temporary manager's appointment queried by the Police and has not issued any section 231(4) notices.
Review of Forms	The Wellington DLC secretariat has reviewed and updated the suite of alcohol licence application forms. <sup>14</sup> In past Annual Reports to the Authority, we have detailed suggested changes to the forms to achieve consistency with current law. We again recommend a review of the forms, including to ensure they comply with information privacy principles and with best practice in customer communications.

5. Other matters

The DLCs and the Wellington City Council welcome any coordinated, centralised promotion of best practice in the operation of the Act and its Regulations.

In this regard, the Wellington DLC would welcome a review by the Authority of its dissemination of Practice Directions and decisions to ensure they reach all DLCs.

Similarly, the Wellington DLC would welcome steps being taken to ensure that legislative changes that impact on the operation and decision-making functions of DLCs nationwide be notified directly to the Committee by the central government agency responsible for the change. By way of example, during the reporting period the change to section 22 through the omnibus Statutes Amendment Act 2016 was not brought to the attention of DLCs, despite it having a significant impact on an aspect of their daily operations (i.e. special licence applications).

<sup>14</sup> Relying on regulation 42(3) of the Sale and Supply of Alcohol Act Regulations 2013 in order to do so – reg 42(3) states: In any particular case, any variations that the circumstances reasonably require may be made to any form, the particulars inserted, or both.

6. Statistical information

During the reporting period, the Wellington DLCs accepted 2233 applications, being 57 more than were received by the DLCs in the previous financial year.

Below is a table showing a comparison of previous years. Please note that these figures include renewal and endorsed licence applications.
