Obesity Research Project:

Anthony welcomed Dr Tupa'ilevaililigi Riz Firestone and Hana Tuisano from the Massey University Centre for Public Health Research. Everyone present at the meeting introduced themselves.

Riz introduced the project. PAG members asked questions and provided feedback. Key points from the discussion included:

The project involves getting together a group of young adults and training them to be researchers and come up with responses to the issues. The idea was to create a 'movement' for change within communities.

The team was working with youth in Auckland and Wellington. A goal of the project was to build the capability of Pacific Youth and more young people are welcome to get involved. The interventions have not been decided yet but the idea was to develop an Action Plan.

PAG agreed to endorse the project. It would look at how it could get involved once the findings of the preliminary research become available.

Councillor Free said that she would email other Councillors to let them know about the discussion.

Further down the track, a meeting with relevant Council staff would be facilitated.

Pasifika Action Plan and PAG Work Programme:

Sai took up the Chair at this point in the meeting. He expressed condolences on behalf of the Group to Alapeta.

Martin reinforced the link between the Action Plan and PAG's Work Programme. He said that the intension is for Council to endorse the final Action Plan. However, that would not commit the Council to implementing all the actions and aspirations within it. Rather, key projects would be identified each year that Council would undertake, with the involvement of PAG where appropriate. The PAG's input into the projects and policies would be captured in the Work Programme which was now due to be agreed.

Following some questions to clarify the process, Martin proposed a work programme based on the discussions that have been had on the Action Plan. The key components of it are:

September 2014 to February 2015:

Governance:

- Promote Council-related board opportunities to potential Pacific candidates
- PAG identifies candidates and encourages them to apply for opportunities

Communications:

- Build a database of key contact people and organisations within the Pacific community
- Promote Council entitlements (e.g. Leisure Card, rates rebates etc) to the database

Arts & Culture:

- Work with officers to develop the Pasifika Festival
- Provide input into other events in terms of Pacific performers
- Scope the concept of a Pacific fale for Wellington

Community well-being:

- Input into Council's Housing Policy review
- Work on a programme of activities with the Parks, Sport & Recreation team

March 2015 to August 2015

Governance:

- Increase understanding & participation in Council decision-making

Workforce development:

- Develop a placement / internship opportunity within Council

Education:

- Develop a programme of activities for the series of language weeks

Communication:

- Increase Council's understanding and practice of Pasifika etiquette

Community well-being:

- Continue programme of activities with the Parks, Sport & Recreation team

Feedback from PAG members included support for the programme overall. However, Ida expressed a concern that it was too flimsy. Others expressed a desire for the group to come together again to progress the programme collectively rather than working in separate subgroups. People also expressed a desire to get moving.

Groups were asked to send through specific actions to Martin by 19 September so that he can flesh out the programme.

It was also noted that as a standing item on the programme, any projects or policies relevant to PAG should be brought to the Group early for their input.

It was agreed that to get the work programme underway, Council officers from Recreation, Community Services and Events would be invited along to clarify and finalise the work PAG would do with Council in those areas.
