Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Firstly, your website link for the wastewater laterals is broken. It takes you to sludge processing. Three waters: This is the really big problem facing Wellington. Being realistic, I'd love to do the other things too, but I have no confidence in the council being able to pull off such an ambitious program successfully. Get some success with three waters and THEN come back and ask about the other items. That said, I am totally against residential water meters on implementation, equity and practical reasons. Implementation: Any roll out of "smart" meters will be a distraction from all the other work that Wellington Water is doing. I report leaks three or four times a week, and they take weeks and weeks to be fixed. Why would I think that an organisation that cannot even do the basics right would be able to successfully implement a huge project like this. WHILE STILL DELIVERING ON THEIR PRIMARY ROLE. Fix your own leaks before you start trying to point fingers at residents. Equity: What are you going to do if people don't/can't pay their water bills? Water is an essential of life. Junk-drinks like coke are already cheaper at shops than bottled water. If you charge for home water as well, this will drive perverse behaviors as people become concerned about use of it. This will hurt those who can least afford it. Practical: Even if meters were installed in every home in Wellington City, the majority of the leaks are still in the antiquated main pipes. It won't fix the worst bit of the problem. It is just a distraction. Fix the main problem, and then come back and talk about meters. Final point. If you really, really feel this is essential, then make it a requirement for new builds, and then provide them a rates rebate to compensate for it. This sounds like just a step down the road to water privatisation. Just don't go there. Central Library: Why is your option four - new build, not listed? It is on the linked paper. And given the horrid cost overruns on the old town hall strengthening, should still be on the table. Second best option is the "spend only what is necessary"- option 1. Sludge. This just... slips in at number seven, but we are talking about sums of money in the same order of magnitude as the library. This needs a lot more public discussion. I'm not saying it isn't important, but so are the other things. I just want to be realistic about what the city can afford, and I don't think it is all these things. How about selling off a brand new event center to pay for the library and reduce debt. That would help keep us inside that 225%.

Prioritize climate friendly decisions now. And now is the time to spend big to fight the decay of underinvestment and lack of progress. It doesn't matter what the shape the council finances are or how big of a pile of money we are sitting on if the city is falling apart due to under investment, and if we don't have a planet to live on.

Wastewater laterals
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Firstly, I'd just like to note that your recommendation to increase rates in the manner that you propose is out of touch with reality. The sad fact is that many of you on council who now cry urgency for the need for infrastructure investment in pipes are those who have ignored it in prior years, instead diverting money to other crazy initiatives. At most, a rates increase should be 3%. And that should not be year on year for three or ten years. You should start off by thinking about what ratepayers can afford and is reasonable. So here are a couple of my suggestions : 1. Fix the water infrastructure. It's a no brainer and this should be first port of call for investment. 2. Look at the cheapest option to get the library back up and running. The cheaper option may include a sale or lease of part of the site 3. Ditch the bike path stuff. At the moment, there is no good infrastructure that provides alternatives for cars on a bad day. If we get that, and there's enough money, by all means, do it then. But not before. 4. Ditch the carbon dreams right now. No-one would have a problem with rubbish recycling charges - that's one of the main purposes of councils - but the rest of the stuff about getting to Carbon neutral so quickly is overkill when you don't have the current funding. 5. Look for cutbacks in council costs. Again, referring to my overall proposed rate increase, think about what areas need to go. Whilst I appreciate that the idea of greater Maori representation on council might be of benefit, and you'll tell me that it's only 1c per year extra rates for $110k representatives, I'd suggest that you start with what you need to operate and then add on the must do's. This, unlike pipes, are not a must do. There's a lot of talk about vibrancy and making Wellington a more liveable space, but the proposals for rate increases like this, as well as increases in parking charges, can only seek to drive people away from the CBD, and make it more unaffordable and less desirable. I have contemplated coming in and telling you this via an oral submission, but I'm sad to say that I don't think it would make an iota of difference, if you're already coming up with ideas for spending like this that assume that ratepayers are a bottomless pit of money. If you've got to the end of this submission, well done, and I hope that you can encourage your fellow councillors to do the same. It's important to understand that the pay of your constituents didn't go up by 10% - we've had to make changes and adjustments to our lifestyles during COVID and when choices and challenges come up.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Ngākau funding for future work

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three waters: best decision is to go big ASAP and get on with it - otherwise we'll be playing catch-up for a far longer time. Cycleways - unless full network is committed to, funded and built early on, we will miss out on the network effect of being able to link journeys between and through suburbs. The preferred option is timid, and makes a mockery of your Te Atakura 'First to Zero' commitments. Te Ngākau. Why is there not an option to rebuild, maintaining public ownership AND housing the national music school. Surely central govt funding could be tapped for part of it. And maybe leave one building (CAB?) demolished so that the square opens out onto Victoria, Wakefield and Mercer Streets properly and is a more inviting place to be.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It seems the Council isn't committing enough funding and resources to build cycleways quicker and better. Please up the funding and spend it earlier in the 10 years! Your citizens tell you they want this, and my children love the few cycleways you've already built. It will also assist Councils Climate priority, healthier citizens, less cars, and make Wellington a better place to live!

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleways costs money and provides no ROI, it also takes away roads for cars that can carry more people in and out as well as and goods purchased in town. Focus on things that creates growth and keeps businesses alive and not single user devices that costs money to keep their roads maintained without any extra income coming from it. Seriously Wellington weather is not idea for cycling so cost per person using the roads will be horrendously high. It just does not make sense. Climate change is happening with our without NZ, our global footprint is so small it will not make a big enough impact to spend all that money now to even see a difference in our lifetime, look at technology and let that help solve it for our kids and their kids, thinking it will all be "fixed" in 30-40 years when it came about in thousands is just unrealistic. We are already using a lot less power per person than we did 15 years ago, due to technology and awareness. Also saying water levels are rising when it has been measured in the NZ harbours and published every year shows nothing of the sorts, so yes storms are getting worse but water is not rising due to the climate change. Please reference your own harbours documents as well as Auckland where it has been constant the last 140 years.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

It is easy, the more you charge the less people will come. Businesses and people will move to suburbs especially with COVID that showed workforce can work from home (suburbs) so why would anyone want to come in to the City?, please check your WRC data from transport and you will see there will be a LOT less than 1.5 years ago. Consider that if you are still working off old data for decisions, especially when it comes to "Keep Wellington moving". Time is now to support businesses and get people to come back to the city, even if they do not work here full time anymore. Put up fees like parking (and remove parking spots) and add other user charges and they will leave. I know of people driving to Porirua from Wellington City and also from Lower Hutt to go and shop there, as there are free parking and enough of it available.

Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Stop all cycleways works. Wellington roads are narrow, compact and are dangerous to cyclists. The council should instead improve on public transportation.

Q18. You can attach any other document supporting your submission here. (Please ensure that the information is on the 10-year Plan)

not answered

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I somewhat oppose the proposed budget.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

I support keeping the budget the same but with some changes.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

As usual, this year LTP focuses on infrastructure and keeping the lights on, nothing new. I don't see there is any strategic or long-term plan on making Wellington a preferred place to live, work and study. The council should spend some money to make Wellington a conducive and business-friendly city, and attract top talents, entrepreneurs and tech companies to invest in Wellington and make Wellington the next Silicon Valley. Stop promoting cycleways, this was the former city mayor Celia's idea. To truly benefiting all Wellingtonian (not just cyclists) and reduce carbon footprint, improve public transportation by making bus transportation more affordable and accessible.

My name is Max Sceats, I'm 22 years old and am an active member in Wellington's skate community. I've been skateboarding since I was 6 and during that time I've been sad to see no development in facilities provided for skateboarding in Wellington. Wellington's skate community is thriving, and ever-growing, yet we seem to be one of the only cities heading in the opposite direction when it comes to skateboarding. To put in perspective, there are more than twenty skateparks in Auckland, while Wellington has a measly four (two of which are completely skater-built and funded). Three of those parks cater purely to transition skaters whereas Wellington's "street" skating community is much larger. There numerous places in the country that boast world class skate-parks, skate-friendly street spots and plazas. Whilst skateboarding in Wellington's civic square, or Pukeahu memorial park will get you kicked out within minutes. I among many others am infuriated to see how quick WCC are to put up more and more no skateboarding signs, and put metal stoppers on every skateable surface in the city while not having the sense of mind to take a proactive approach and OFFER AN ALTERNATIVE. Any skater will be able to tell you how bad the Chaffers skate-park is, there are trees growing out of the middle of obstacles for goodness sake, I can't count the amount of times I've been poked in the eye by those things, or the amount of children I've seen hit coming around the blind corners in the middle the main run. Not only is the park terribly designed for skating it's a health hazard. I'm requesting that the WCC incorporate more community engagement with skateboarding in Wellington into their ten year plan, and act on it within the next 5 years. I propose that WCC first invest in providing skate-friendly street spots and lift the skateboarding ban in parts of the Pukeahu memorial, Civic square and Central Park. I also propose a new skatepark in the central Wellington area (maybe not in the windiest part of the cbd surrounded with sand walkways this time). Lastly and most importantly I request that Wellington's skate community is engaged with on these projects, it's important we have a say. Sincerely, Max Sceats

I am really concerned about the lack of progress that this Council has made regarding cycleways. It has taken years to do basically one route (which is not yet finished) around the Bays. I think if we continue to push the building of cycleways further down the track we will be years behind where we need to be. We should be following overseas examples like Seville, Paris, London who are rolling out a network of cyclways fast to encourage people to leave their cars at home. The key word being 'network'. The current council approach to consult and then sit around for several years and do nothing for essentially each individual cycle route is not working. I also don't think we should sit around and hope LGWM does the work (because it isn't). The key routes that Council should be focussing on are from Island Bay into the city, Newtown/Berhampore connections, and a route from Karori. Even in the last year or two cycling numbers have increased so much. The Adelaide bus lane is becoming a default cycle lane because usually there are so many cyclists there is no point in the bus trying to weave in and out between them and so just sticks in the car lane. This is only going to become more of an issue over time, not less. Cycleways are infrastructure that will last over several generations and therefore should be funded in part by debt, so that all the generations that benefit contribute to the cost (debt is not a bad thing in local government, it is user-pays and should be used appropriately). Stop adhering to a self-imposed debt limit when the interest rates are good and investment is needed. I will also add that all councillors and council should be reminded that paint is not protection. More accidents will occur (I was doored on my way home from work just the other day) and more fatalities. This is a health and safety issue and should be treated with the utmost urgency. I also want to say that if a council that has declared a climate emergency does not actively move to build more cycleways then I really hate to use the term, but that to me is clear virtue signalling. This is one of the key things that would get people out of cars (just see the popularity of the Bicycle Junction cargo bike trial for families) and to sit on our hands and put off for at least another 3 years is not good enough. Be bold! Cycleways benefit everyone - the drivers that don't like having to constantly overtake bikes, the health system (riding bikes is good for you), the cyclists (who are less likely to be killed or maimed), families that can bike safely to and from school. With regards to the library - everyone wants it done - get it done. I can't believe we're even discussing putting it off for several years. With regards to Te Ngākau Civic Square. I think demolish the gross pink council building but keep the Municipal building (the art deco looking one). This is a heritage building and used to have a beautiful facade with a garden out front - connecting to the city. I think we should try and recreate this. We also need a far better connect from civic square to the waterfront. Maybe a cut and cover so the road can go below for part of the way along Customhouse Quay. Understand that wouldn't happen for some time but at least think about that in your plans.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

While I have ticked the preferred option I remain deeply concerned that the conversion of footpaths to shared paths has been at the cost of traditional users of those paths - pedestrians. Our footpaths now often feel unsafe, especially at peak commute times. The establishment of shared paths appears to have given licence for all footpaths to be used by cyclists. It is important that the needs and safety of walkers remains a focus. Just the naming of this workstream says it all - PLEASE ensure that the needs of pedestrians are not lost in the focus on cycle-friendliness. A way to do this would be to rename to demonstrate that the workstream includes a focus on pedestrians and to ensure that all path projects include signage to ensure everyone can use the path safely. Signage should include the following: keep to the left pedestrians have right of way allow space when passing maximum speed Also please make ensure that signage which separates cycles from pedestrians includes scooters in with cycles.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Wellington is a dynamic, creative and energetic city that places a significant importance on liveability - one of the many reasons that its residents and visitors choose to spend time in the city. In the past few years, the city has stalled investment in key infrastructure which puts the city's future at risk because its public spaces and infrastructure are the core that enable Wellington to be the amazing city that it is. I therefore believe that now is the time for Wellington to choose more long-term focused and funding heavy options for future infrastructure and public space investments.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

My specific desire is for greater investment in providing skateboarding facilities in Wellington. Currently, thousands of dollars are spent preventing skaters from using benches and rails etc for skating rather than allowing for investments in things that do allow skaters to skate. Skaters end up feeling marginalised in the city. Skating is an activity that builds on the five ways of well-being as promoted by the Mental Health Foundation. It teaches resilience and perseverance in a world that increasingly demands this of young people (spend 15 minutes watching a skater practice, fail, practice, fail until they succeed at landing a trick)! It demands problem solving and creativity (things employers want most in young people) -far more so than the traditional rule-bound sports where we are happy to invest millions of dollars in via the upkeep of soccer and rugby fields and netball courts. Skateboarders deserve a slice of the investment in sport and recreation allocation rather than to feel like a marginalised part of the community being chased and hounded away from being able to indulge their passion. Cities such as Madrid and Barcelona, Berlin and San Francisco embrace skateboarders and relate to them as a vibrant part of the city. Let's do the same and show skaters that they are valued and part of the wider community of this great city

My submission relates to skateboarding. I want greater investment and reduced spend on skateboarding barriers. Skateboarding is an activity that builds on the five ways of well-being as promoted by the NZ Mental Health Foundation. It is active, provides connections, noticing of the environment, giving of support, and learning. It also teaches resilience which is greatly needed in society. There has been a bias against skateboarding and for traditional sports in Wellington. This results in skateboarders feeling picked on and marginalised. Other cities embrace skateboarding. Skateboarding is a zero carbon means of transport and should be part of the broader plan.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I am baffled how a long-term plan for a city does not include any mention of public transport. You want to electrify the fleet of individual transport vehicles (which replace oil usage by resources needed for batteries, and the difficulty of recycling those), and defer to the regional council on public transport. That is asking for failure. You need to take the lead and present an integrated plan to move this city into the future. It's nice to have cycleways, but they won't help reduce congestion, nor return the space currently wasted on cars to the people, and make our city more livable.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Sludge and waste minimisation

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I'm concerned about waste flowing into our harbour and our dependence on external funding to address sludge, which is linked to waste minimisation and future landfill extension. I would be comfortable with us putting the Central Library and Te Ngakau work on hold. I wonder if there are climate change innovations that could emerge from a Council / Community partnership that get us moving more quickly towards our 2050 target. Cycleways are key, but only if they are the ones the communities want and will use.

Te Ngākau funding for future work

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I don't think WCC should spend any more time or money in te Ngakau. It is on reclaimed land that we could lose at any time in an earthquake, is probably uninsurable or too expensive to insure, and there are much higher priority areas for spending money on.

I would like to see the Council investigate possibilities for charging 'over the top' fees where businesses/investors use community or council property to help them make money. The footpath sign levy/fee is an example of this, as is tour buses parking on our sites eg Mt Vic and professional photographers taking pictures at botanic gardens etc. I'd like Council to investigate how it can recoup its costs from collecting fly tipped rubbish - surely there are some basic forensics that could be done to see whose it is and hold them accountable?

As someone who grew up living outside of the capital I always viewed Wellington as a hub of NZ skateboarding. I was excited to move to Wellington and engage myself within the community. I was shocked to find that Wellingtons facilities are severely lacking when compared to skateboarding facilities in the regions. Over the last decade I have seen a plethora of new parks appear in the regions, yet Wellington has yet to step up their game. Wellington is a city that is deeply rooted in NZ's skateboarding history, yet the premier 'park' is one that was founded and is maintained solely by skateboarders and volunteers. WCC needs to do better. Skateboarding is now an olympic sport and there is a wealth of underdeveloped talent in the streets of Wellington city.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I think building cycleways as quickly as possible will be essential to Wellington becoming a more live-able city and meeting its urgent climate responsibilities. We urgently need to get more people on bikes, as this will mean less congestion, pollution and noise for our city. It will also save a significant amount of money long-term by reducing the amount needed for maintaining and building new roads. Such benefits have already started to be seen in Christchurch, where I grew up, even though only four of the twelve planned cycleways are fully completed, with construction on some not yet having even started (source - The Press, "The Mainlander", B6, 03/04/21). For example, 7.5x more people are cycling in Christchurch each day now (12,121 per day) compared to in July 2016 (1,621) according to council cycle counters (source - The Press, "The Mainlander", B1, 03/04/31). For these reasons, I implore the Wellington City Council to choose Option 4: Accelerated Full Programme, so that the benefits of better cycling infrastructure can be enjoyed by Wellingtonians and our planet sooner rather than later.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

The true cost of residential parking is currently not being accounted for in the council's fee recovery. The Council needs to understand that every driveway crossing servicing a private lot removes the their ability to: A) Generate revenue from their street asset by sacrificing an on-street car park that could be used as resident's parking or coupon parking. B) Support local biodiversity by removing the chance for street trees. C) Deliver safe streets by creating safety issues with pedestrians and cyclists due to cars reversing out of driveways. D) Reduce car dependence, by removing the Council's opportunity to provide on-street 'car share' parking spaces. These lost opportunity costs need to be recuperated by Council. The Council should consider introducing an additional annual fee for all residential lots that provide a drive-way crossing. The price should be at least equivalent to the lost opportunity cost for not providing a residents parking space. This revenue can then be used to inject more funds into the cities mode shift plan.

Kia ora, I just wanted to send some feedback about the proposed changes to pool fees, particularly the removal of free entry for under 5s. For many families swimming lessons are completely out of reach. Being able to go to the pool for free with their children under 5 means that more families are able to teach water skills and safety who would not be able to afford to otherwise. By raising the price of pool entry, the council will be creating further barriers for low income families/households for a very small gain. "He tangata, he tangata, he tangata—we put people at the heart of what we do". Making access to public swimming pools for the most vulnerable in our community for a fractional monetary gain is not putting people first. I understand that funds need to be raised, but this is not the way to do it. Ngā mihi nui, Petra Haliciopoulos

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Your proposal to increase coupon parking from $12.50 per day (noting you had it wrong in your document stated at $12/day) to $20 is unacceptable!!! That's another $37.50 a WEEK to park on a Wellington street! In the open air, no protection from the elements, no guarantee the road won't blow up under your car with the shoddy water pipes. What's the rationale here??? Some people simply can not "do" public transport due to commitments after work due to picking up children and ferrying kids to sports directly after school so you punish us by nearly $40 a week to make the city greener? It's absolutely outrageous - we are already faced with the huge rates increase. Totally unacceptable. Everything else is going up by a few dollars or cents. Let's keep it fair for everyone.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Decisions 1,2 & 6 are all interlinked as they all relate to the 3 waters. Due to Council neglect over many previous years, we have an embarrassing problem that is affecting the image people have our city. We have NO choice but to get on with the job and invest heavily annually until we have addressed the problems we all face. Regardless of cost, it will never be cheaper to upgrade in the future. No need for more consultancy reports...which delay the inevitable...just get on with this massive job. Target the replacement of the oldest pipes first, along with the best sludges treatment solution at Moa Point, not the landfill. Actions speak louder than words, and residents are sick of inaction to date.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

More cycleways would be most welcome but I often wonder at the approach. The approach seems to be to put cycle lanes on the road rather than creating shared paths with bikers and pedestrians which never made sense to me. Cars are way more dangerous to bikers than bikers are to pedestrians, and many drivers can also be quite aggressive to bikers. It would also be safer for children on bikes going to school to have the bike path be on the footpath.

The Skate Community Engagement document released by the Council in 2020 showed that participation in skate related activities is increasing. I would like the Council to consider the recommendations of the report and in particular - Future design and maintenance: - Upgrade and maintain existing skate facilities; and - Work with Wellington Skate Association to improve the future design of skate facilities This will ensure the skate community has good facilities to use and grow, currently I believe this communities access to facilities is very underrepresented.

Investment in three waters infrastructure

Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I support maximum investment in 3 waters, council has chosen to neglect this area for far to long (unfortunately pipes for water and waste just aren't sexy enough) and under investment here is caused by councils preference for the nice to haves and not core areas that council should be focusing on. Cycleways, I am worried here. Mainly because of the continuing saga of the Island Bay Cycle way. How many millions until this is right. cars aren't going anywhere, but council punishes car owners at every opportunity, removing parks (where do these cars go?), narrowing roads for cycle lanes (dangerous) and parking fees. I'm just thankful I can park at work on the weekend, as I sure wouldn't be paying $4.50 a hour for parking if I was to come into town. Which is very infrequently on the weekend, as the traffic is terrible anyway and don't get me started on LGWM (never going to happen) and how about supporting motorcycles ! Central Library, like any big project council is involved in, or gives a price on. I expect costs to blow out significantly and rate payers being stung with further rates increase to make up the shortfall. The Central Library is important, but not at the expense of bankrupting Wellington rate payers. I'd be happy if any develop was shelved here till 3 waters is sorted.

I personally worry, that one day I will not be able to afford to pay rates. I know it's already a very real worry for my parents and others on fixed incomes. But I guess if there are a couple of things councils do well is, under quote on project work (end up costing millions more) and increase rates at an unsustainable level to 'fix' these project cost increases, where is the accountability!

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

We have already squandered too much ratepayer money on cycleways. This is not Christchurch or Amsterdam. We have geographically challenging suburbs and an aging population. Most of us over the age of 50 years are not able to cycle from the city to Newlands, Johnsonville, Khandallah, Ngaio, Karori, Kelburn, Northland, Highbury, Brooklyn, Wadestown, Roseneath, Mt. Victoria, or Strathmore etc.

I have recently moved to Wellington from Auckland, and feel Wellington's skate park and public skate spaces need an overhaul. For reference, I am a rollerskater. The park skate scene in Auckland is thriving and growing, and I've experienced and witnessed first hand that rollerskating has on people and communities. It provides youth and adults alike with healthy outlets for challenging feelings and times in life, is an excellent way to keep fit and healthy, provides goals to work towards (keeps us motivated) and most importantly, provides us with a community of support, friendship, and encouragement. I know young people who have become happier, healthier, and have more interesting things to do with their weekends now that they've found rollerskating in skate parks, as opposed to the trouble that teenagers often find themselves in with nothing else to do. The scene is thriving because Aucklanders have access to a wide variety of high quality, refurbished skateparks all over the city. We were spoilt for choice. There is virtually no rollerskating community in Wellington, and I believe it's due to the lack of facilities in this city, both in numbers and in quality. The deck at the Karori mini ramp is splintering and borderline dangerous, the boards are coming loose and the wide open grass space is underused. The bowl at Waitangi park is virtually unskateable for new skaters due to the quality of the paint and concrete, providing a barrier to getting into the sport. With nowhere else to go, skaters of all styles tried to turn to street skating, but have been prevented by rough pavement and skate-stopper. There are so few options that the rollerskating scene is nonexistent, and I know that the skateboarding community is suffering too. Change is needed urgently. I recommend that the Wellington City Council acts upon the findings in the Skate Community Engagement survey. Providing numerous and high quality skate parks is an excellent tool for promoting healthy social and physical development of children and youth, engaging them with their local area, and provides a place for strong communities to gather and form. I believe this should be a priority for funding to public play spaces. Frankie Moore.

the delay in finishing the Island Bay cycleway to a high standard (proper kerb separating bikes from cars) has reduced the safety for cyclists and pedestrians, and made it confusing for car drivers. Lets get it made properly ASAP, and continue with the cycleway projects around the whole region.

I would like the WCC to demolish and rebuild the MOB and CAB buildings in partnership with private investment through a long-term ground lease for the site. The NZSO supports the Council's preferred option as the best long-term solution for Wellington, the National Music Centre, and the partner organisations involved.

I oppose setting a limit on revenue raised through general rates, especially as a dollar figure. This seems short-sighted, unnecessarily prescriptive and I can't see any material benefit of this either to the council or to ratepayers.

WCC 2021-2031 Long Term Plan Draft Statement of Service Provisions Feedback provided by David Edmonds

████████████████████ The Urban Development section in the Draft Statement of Service Provisions has the following byline as its introduction: "We aim for a compact, resilient and attractive city" Regretably the attractiveness of much of the more established areas of Wellington, and to some extent the CBD, is marred by the plethora of overhead lines. There is nothing in the section on Urban Development in the Draft Statement of Service Provisions in the 2021-2031 Long Term Plan that addresses this issue and unless it is addressed by the City Council then nothing will happen to reduce the number of overhead lines. They will not go away by magic, and if left solely to the power supply and communication companies they will likely remain in perpetuity. I would like to think that some improvement will occur within a 10 year period. Hence the need to address the issue in this Long Term Plan. I can think of no other city where one of the 'jewels in the crown' has so many unsightly overhead lines. I refer to the Lambton Quay/ Bowen Street intersection that has as its immediate neighbours the Supreme Court, the Cenotaph, the Old Wooden Government Building and Parliament Buildings. In this area there are also many large diameter poles previously required for the trolley bus catenary supports and many 'rustic' timber power poles that detract from the streetscape. Good urban design requires some attention to be provided to the appearance of 'street furniture', such as street lighting support poles. The City Council regrettably appears to ignore this urban design issue unless a significant roading upgrade, such as lower Cuba Street or the Victoria Street Extension, is being undertaken. Compared to most other New Zealand cities and towns the extent of overhead power and communication lines in Wellington City is excessive. While the undergrounding of all overhead lines in Wellington is something that will probably never happen there are opportunities for incremental improvement. Removal of the trolley bus wires did achieve some improvement but, as the Council previously permitted communication lines to be attached to the trolley bus catenary support wires in the CBD, the improvement in the CBD is not as marked as it could have been. Some of the support poles for the trolley bus wires were removed at the time of the removal of the trolley bus wires but many remain. Many of the unsightly large diameter support poles were not removed in the CBD as they supported other lines, namely communication lines or feed to street lighting. There are also many poles that remain that no longer have any function, six of them within a block of the Bowen Street/ Lambton Quay intersection. Could I suggest that the Long Term Plan includes a modest annual budget to progressively underground overhead lines and remove unused support poles in the CBD at least. From time to time the Council upgrades sections on roads or footpaths in the inner suburbs. The opportunity to underground lines at the same time as these upgrades are carried out has, as far as I am aware, never been taken. Could I also suggest that the Long Term Plan has a modest budget allocated for this purpose. Other New Zealand cities have taken a proactive approach to the undergrounding of overhead lines. Auckland City for example appears to have adopted a policy of undergrounding along stretches of main road. There are some main roads in Wellington where this has been done in part, but the overall effect is spoiled by the feed to streetlighting remaining. Two examples are Churchill Drive between Wilton and Crofton Downs and Brooklyn Rd between the CBD and Brooklyn where the streetlighting feed is the only overhead line along the length of the road. Undergrounding of the feed to the streetlighting would also enable many unsightly power poles to be removed. In Victoria, British Columbia, Canada it was decided that a suitable celebration of a momentous event (I think it was the bi-centennial of a some historic event) was marked not by the erection of a monument or the building of a public park but by the undergrounding of overhead lines on one of the main arterial routes in the city. A brilliant idea, which apparently went down very well with the locals.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

the water infrastructure should be the main priority for the council and other things like cycleways and library should take a bit of a back seat until the basics of water are sorted. There is not an endless pot of money from ratepayers that members of council seem to think so really need to rank priorities and do the top 1 or 2 not try and do them all and keep all the pet project owners happy.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

The fee increases for weekend and weekday coupon parking seem pretty crazy. Almost doubling the fees is only going to kill off people wanting to visit Wellington CBD at the weekends. It means you would have to pay $9 for 2 hours or $7 or so on the bus just to visit some wellington shops to browse when you could alternatively drive to the Hutt and park for free. It's probably not a coincidence that there are large shops (e.g. H&M and K-Mart) that choose the Hutt rather than Wellington for their location and one of the few big shops in David Jones is planning to close. It's extremely short sighted and needs a lot more hard evidence that states what the impact is likely to be on central wellington business. The reality of Covid means that much less people are in town during the week now too so there is much less foot traffic overall and council should be doing everything it can to encourage people into the cbd before it is too late and more shops close and move. Should be making bold decisions to cancel some of the other big expensive non core priority projects to save money instead rather than raises fees.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

Sludge and waste minimisation

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

First off did you seriously just write in a document that the three waters infrastructure was out of sight, of mind? You are a city council! It is your job to ensure this infrastructure is maintained for the people of the city that you look after! How could you think that this would be Ok to write. If this is seriously your excuse for not maintaining them, I have no faith in the council. Climate should be a high priority on the council. Everything should be done to encourage the use of bicycles and public transport. Buses should changed hydrogen fuel cells (not batteries due to the environmental impacts of current battery technology [mining, short lifetime]) which should done collaboratively with the government and other councils. For sludge, the council should invest in technologies that convert waste into new products such as turning sludge into fertiliser (<https://www.waterworld.com/wastewater/article/16213504/turning-sewage-sludge-into-fertilizer>). Council should encourage producers and shops to allow refills for all product and minimise all single use packaging. A circular economy is the only way we can live sustainably. For the "central library" and civic square. Stop selling our assets. We have now lost at least 3 arts centres (rialto, paramount and downstage) in a town that prides itself as the arts capital of New Zealand. Civic square should be a central hub for the arts in Wellington. I am fine with demolishing the MOB and CAB buildings, but don't lease the land to private companies. Build multi-use art centre that Wellington deserves. The equivalent of paramount for film (multiple purpose theatres), a music centre for the NZSO and other groups, even recording studio that public could use for recording their stories. A technology in the library for making technology accessible to all. And office space for the council. Work with in the design and rent out spaces to organisations that NZSO and others. But don't sell or long term lease land or buildings to private companies for money to go into the hands of the rich.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)
Cycle ways should be a single strip on one side of the road, split into two lanes. Like the cycle ways they have in London. This removes confusion and annoyance of having two separate lanes for cycling on each side of the road. As a cyclist who has used both types of cycling lanes I find this the safest and most efficient. London has done well in accelerating the implementation of cycle lanes in lock down. It was efficient with low traffic and less people in the city. They also took this opportunity to change roads to re-direct congestion in busy hours.

Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I believe priority should be given to areas that will benefit the most people in the shortest timeframe. Cycleway investment does not do that and should not be a priority, the same applies for the general term of climate change. The Council (elected Councillors) appear to be extremely focused on personal agendas rather than doing what is best for the city and its people. There are a number of areas where the Council has not done what the public appears to want, the library being one such item. I do not know of anyone who thinks it should have been kept. Overall everyone I speak to is extremely disappointed with our current council.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

1. Fix the embarrassing water pipe issues 2. Stop glorifying cyclists! Many of us simply don't want to cycle/are elderly or disabled/have young families to transport etc. If people want to cycle that's great, but let's not keep buying them expensive cycle ways that don't seem to be used much. 3. Don't ban cars until you have put an excellent public transportation system in place 4. Increasing coupon parking fees to $20 per day is a good way to ensure that people don't come in to the city and the central city will die even more. Again, an excellent public transport system is needed first 5. Encourage people to buy electric vehicles by offering free parking and other incentives as was done in London when the congestion charge was introduced there. 6. Councillors need to start working together for the good of the city - ratepayers and residents are tiring of these councillors who seem incapable of making a sensible decision

Are there any considerations for horses and the access to current tracks, as it seems you are catering to bikes which seems to have gained significant backing by the council but this is causing issues on these tracks for walkers, dogs and horses, which seem to have been forgotten. It seems walkers, horses and dog walkers now have to give way to bike riders who tell us to get out of the way when the bike can go round us on the footpath, they seem to forget they have wheels and that the bike riding access has been granted to them.

Central Library

Te Ngākau funding for future work

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

On Decision 5 (Te Ngākau), I support Option 2, subject to both MOB and CAB being able to be strengthened to a level that does not compromise users' safety. Before proceeding with strengthening CAB, the Council should consider what activities can be safely conducted in a 50% NBS building. On Decision 6 (Central Library rebuild), if the preferred option (Option 1) is not chosen, I prefer Option 3 over Option 2.

I support an increase in rates to enable the Council to implement policies that will mitigate climate change, provide good community services (including libraries), and meet Wellington's long-term infrastructure needs (including water pipes). I strongly support the provision of sufficient good-quality social housing. I am concerned that the Council's budget provides for only $42.8m of the estimated remaining $403.2m cost of providing this housing. I would support these costs being met through rates increases if necessary.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Please, stop the shameful infighting and get sh%t done. This is what you've been elected for. It's been pathetic so far. Stop consulting on how you want to consult to prepare for the future consultation. Start doing, NOW. - Wellington has overwhelmingly decide on the pedestrianisation of the Golden Mile. This must start NOW. - LGWM must happen NOW (I realise it's a regional project, but WCC has a lot to say/do) - Make Wellington more liveable NOW. This is what attract talented people and companies here. - Accelerate the densification of the city NOW. - Tax car ownership - Tax unused land, empty properties, speculators - Significantly increase cost of parking on public land (currently a massive waste of public land, our land). There will always be loud voices complaining about change and progress and NIMBY. It's your job to ignore them and lobbies, and do what's right for Wellingtonians, now and tomorrow.

Some fees are increasing too much and will create an even deeper social divide. There are those who earn just a little too much to get the benefit of a Leisure Card or a CSC who then end up struggling to make ends meet and balance good wellbeing. Accessibility also needs to be taken into account in the 10yr plan. The Accessibility Act is waiting in the wings of government, and it's only a matter of when (not if), it comes into law.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I cycle around Wellington a couple of times a week, but not everyday as I usually walk to work (I don't own a car). It is, however, quite intimidating cycling around the main roads around central Wellington where I live. I'm always fearful of being knocked off my bike by an opening car door and I've had my elbows clipped a couple of times by passing car mirrors which is really frightening. The cycling infrastructure in Wellington is so just piecemeal. There are lanes in some places and then they just end or they're used for some other purpose (e.g., the new BNZ complex being built on the corner of Whitmore and Featherston Sts - you would have never forced the cars into one lane but it's ok to deny cyclists their piecemeal lane). I can't quite understand why the waterfront work (which will be wonderful when it is completed) seems to have been done in stages that aren't sequential but instead leave gaps. I am fully aware that the council has a lot of big issues on its plate at the moment, but I think you need to have some courage in standing up to the metal boxes on wheels lobby. Encouraging cycling is a far better way to meet your carbon neutral goals.

I have no concerns with space in the Library being sold to private interests. The key thing is to actually have a central Library. I don't see how selling it is really any different from a series of long-term leases. I despair at the silly political grandstanding by some councilors who act more like student politicians than guardians of our city.

To whom it may concern, I think council has an opportunity to make Te Ngākau a world class feature of the city. I love the idea of the national music centre and I think council should expand the horizon. The Amora Hotel and accompanying car park have sat vacant for years. I think council should act to condemn the two structures along with Anvil house, claim the property under the rights of eminent domain and build a city centre that meets the needs of the community ahead into the next century. While I know this is no modest proposal I hope some of the ideas contained within will at least begin to stimulate a conversation about what could happen. respectfully, George Klingbeil

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Wastewater laterals
Cycleways
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

On all of these issues the WCC must first address its dysfunctionality. We are in this dire situation through previous councils failing to have proper cognisance of crucial city infrastructure; and the current council's failure to look beyond personal ambition and petty politics. The current council has been wrong on numerous issues, foremost that of allowing the Shelly Bay development to proceed; and of neglecting transport issues, which this document is silent on. Transport for me needs to be a priority. My comments on the above are: Three Waters infrastructure - act now. Wastewater - act now. Cycleways - do what is budgeted and then leave. Cycleways are not a priority given all of the other important issues that require finance and attention. Central Library - this is the clear and obvious priority. Full strengthening now with no extras or privatisation. Sludge and waste minimisation - invest in the infrastructure at the landfill. As a final comment, I agree with recent media articles that Wellington is a dying city. It is nothing like what it was when we proudly hailed it as the 'coolest little capital'. All successive Councils must accept some responsibility for failing to act, but the current Council must take most blame - they have taken dysfunction to a new level, with many appearing to value media attention to acting in the best interests of Wellington.

Transport, transport transport . . . !! A second Mt Victoria Tunnel is required now and not towards the end of the decade. It also needs to address the SH1 traffic flow around the Basin Reserve. Shelly Bay: the Council approved Cassells development is a disgrace. It is an extremely poor choice for this piece of city land, and is not what the majority of residents want to see occur. The roading alone will not cope with the proposal. Cassells has duped Council officials and councillors, and this will ultimately be a disaster and reflect very poorly on all concerned. It should be stopped. Maori Wards: I strongly object to this believing it is at best 'affirmative action', and at worse apartheid. It is another example of some councillors pushing their own political agendas to the detriment of what the residents of the city actual need and want.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Investment in water infrastructure should be a priority but the council needs to borrow more while interest rates are so low. Current ratepayers should not have to face such a significant increase in rates because of Wellington council's past failure to adequately upgrade and maintain the water networks. I understand the need to reduce carbon emissions and encourage cycling. However, the council should finish the projects that are already underway then halt all extra funding of new cycleways until it has a better idea of how to budget and the likely benefits from any new projects. Cycle lanes are often haphazard and confusing (for example in Johnsonville where they stop and start and cut cross traffic lanes), resulting in cyclists completely ignoring them and riding in mainstream traffic. The Te Atakura proposal to convert the council vehicle fleet to electric cars is frustratingly vague on detail. How many vehicles? Which vehicles? What are they used for? I'm sure some are essential, but perhaps councillors and council workers should 'get onto their feet, bikes or a bus' as a priority rather than spend ratepayer's money on expensive new electric cars. As a ratepayer, the cumulative cost of the proposed rates rises over 10 years will mean that our household will eventually pay double the current 2021 amount. With an already reduced income over the past year due to Covid, this has, and will continue to have, a substantial impact on how we live in Wellington. In preparation for the exorbitant rise in rates we rarely visit the CBD - no parking costs, shopping, cafes and very few events.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Retaining the current central library is not a sensible decision. It is not fit for purpose as a modern library, the building is severely deficient, and trying to strengthen it is a waste of money. Although the council changed the financial estimates to make retaining the building more attractive, we know that such projects never come in below budget and nearly always blow out massively. We only need to look at the Town Hall debacle to see that. I would love to see a building like the new Christchurch central library in Wellington, rather than a massively compromised solution as proposed.

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I somewhat oppose the proposed budget.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

I support decreasing spend in the current budget.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

The parking increases are massive and unrealistic. The increase for coupon parking from $12 to $20 is far too much, as is the increase for weekend parking from $2.50 per hour to $4.50 per hour. Now that many of us don't need to come into the city for work, we only come in for shopping - and it's more and more attractive to go to other regional centres where there is no charge for parking. At best pricing should be set so that parking is generally occupied and turning over, encouraging commercial activity. At present there is no issue with availability of on-street parking at weekends in most areas, so there is no justification for a price rise. It only serves to further suppress activity in a dying city.

Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

As a city declared a Climate crisis, I miss a much stronger regime to reduce any climate impacts. It is not only on the CC to reduce the impact but also on the people living in the city. And it is WCC obligation to force people more to act responsibly by making giving more guidance and limitations. The new plan is missing many opportunities to become a more sustainable city in general. Less waste by more recycling options, supporting recycling to become more effective - business innovation support in this area is just one thing that was missed. Every decision the WCC is making should be regulation checked against its climate impacts. The Civic Square buildings, incl the Library have served their duties and should be replaced with something that servers modern duties more than they can do in their current shape. This should be included in a general plan for the Square itself, the bridge to the seas and Frank Kitts Park. Instead of looking at the single entities, an overall plan should be created on how to develop the city's entry to the water incl the planning for rising sea levels. There is the opportunity now for a master plan with a holistic view of the central city development. But WCC misses the opportunity here again in investing in old broken infrastructure that never will serve the requirements of the future.

WCC needs to change thinking to a more future-oriented and climate responsible acting council. Be brave and make decisions that are future-oriented. Ban all cars from the city with the aim to get all fuel-burning cars off the road within 10 years for example. And introduce a fee for all cars entering the city which drive with petrochemical fuels. This would be brave and ambitious - but it would make our coolest little capital even cooler. Do not hide any longer behind any lobbying interest groups but come out and make decisions the city needs to be vibrant and recognised for - to make Wellington fit for the future.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It's so important to get transport working. Wellington is so behind in infrastructure and it's stunting the growth of the area. I wish I could move away and buy a house somewhere else but I have to work here. I'm on a reasonable salary but likely not going to be able to every buy a home. MORE IMPORTANTLY: The MOB must be demolished and rebuilt. It's not fit for purpose and the aesthetic value is nothing compared to having a functional arts hub in the NZ arts capitol.

PLEASE can we fix the public transport/add rail/fix the rail we have so it's not constantly breaking down. If it was a 40 minute reliable commute to the city I would be able to afford the rent/mortgage in the future. At the moment, an unreliable commute or enormous parking fees to get to work are just not feasible.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The marginal rates increase required to fully fund water infrastructure and cycleways is insignificant in comparison to the benefits that those investments bring. Of particular concern is the growing sentiment amongst young people in our city that Wellington is not keeping up with the work that Auckland is doing. Every new story of burst pipe or cyclist death in Wellington is counterpointed by new cycleways, cycle friendly infrastructure and broader urban improvement projects coming online in Auckland. Wellington must be able to attract and retain young people if it is to continue to be a great place to live. In regards to water infrastructure, more consideration should be given to metering water use, as well as storm water discharge. We should be setting up mechanisms that encourage and reward water saving behaviours, as well as create further incentives for households to retain/detain stormwater. Metering of the network would also enable better monitoring of leaks and patterns of demand. The commonly raised concern of equity in water charges can be mitigated by providing a base level of water usage included in rates with households who exceed that amount charged accordingly. Council could also offer schemes to low income households, providing access to capital to improve/ fix water leaks on their properties, paying the loan back through their water bills (balanced out by lower water use charges). The marginal cost to complete the full cycleway package makes it a no brainer. The value of a network is exponentially related to it's coverage and the current disparate sections should be connected as fast as possible. Where possible, cycleway improvements should be carried out at the same time as kerb renewals, three water network work, and other service improvements (such as the undergrounding of power lines and telecom services). It has been disappointing to see significant work undertaken around the Miramar peninsula to kerbs and roadways where cycleways are planned (such as Broadway). The LGWM programme is causing significant delays to the implementation of much needed bus priority, cycle and pedestrian improvements around our city. Consideration should be given to removing cycling and living streets projects from LGWM and using additional debt or rates increases to fund these critical works which sit well within the Territorial Authorities responsibilities and powers. In summary, the preferred package is an excellent shift away from the approach of previous plans and begins to set out a pathway that prepares Wellington for the next decade. By investing even more heavily in the two most pressing issues facing our city (water and transport), we can ensure that past and future growth is catered for.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Wellington is a horrible place to ride a bike because of the close to non-existent (fit for purpose) infrastructure and is decades behind other cities. And the buses can't be relied upon or the service levels/frequency are/is poor outside weekday peaks. Tinkering around the edges as is being done at the moment won't help that.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The full cycleway package, alongside the full Te Atakura package, must be prioritised to avert the worst climate breakdown and match WCC's climate emergency declaration. The WCC should worry less about arbitrary debt caps and focus on delivering this crucial infrastructure, necessary to accommodate the growth of our city (as does the water infrastructure). WCC can borrow more, and central government won't step in until WCC has pushed its funding sources to the limits to deliver the necessary projects required for a growing city.

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I strongly support the proposed budget.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

WCC should be actively lobbying the government, particularly through the local MP/finance minister, for IRRS to be extended to council housing to alleviate that funding pressure.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleway programme is highly inadequate - for example none of the offered options include a Karori to Wellington investment. This is simply unacceptable. For inexplicable reasons you instead suggest a ngaio to karori investment when almost no-one travel or needs this route..! The climate change initiatives look very low returning to me, national climate action is best served by nationwide initiatives such as the ETS and nationwide policy/subsidies etc. There is no need for WCC to spend ratepayers money in small bespoke, low impact programmes and fluff. Concentrate on the big items that are in your control such as cycleways, waste etc.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

I support increasing spend in the current budget.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

Where is the investment to solve the urgent housing crisis? Where is the council investment to open up land for housing? Why are commercial ratepayers facing a higher increase than residential? Residential ratepayers are sitting in hefty capital gains so can easily afford to pay the rates (I am one). If we strangle our businesses with cost - we won't have jobs and a vibrant city anymore.

Stop pumping money into LGWM - it's a waste of energy and money that could be used for real projects that benefit ratepayers. LGWM has not delivered anything of significance, it's proven to be an ineffective talkfest. Someone needs to put it out of its misery.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleways and climate change mitigation are one in the same thing. The cycleways shouldn't be a thing on its own, it should be integral to tackling climate change and reducing the reliance on cars Wellingtonians have been forced into over the decades. If it's not safe to ride a bike, people will take a car. The length of cycleways built by Wellington over the last decade is shamefully small. While we've laid down less than 2 km a year for a decade, cities of similar size in Europe have been creating hundreds of km of separated cycleways in half the time. It's time we stop thinking of safe, separate cycleways as a nice to have luxury and instead consider them as an essential component of a functioning 21st century city. Also, demolish the library and build a new one. It's not as beloved as this survey claims, and the only thing people all seem to really love are the metal nekau palms. Knock it down, build a new one that fit for purpose. There's claims about the cost of reinforcement but if the town hall project has any lessons it's that the estimates are probably an order of magnitude too low and it'll take at least a decade to complete. Knock it down and start again, it'll be quicker and cheaper.

Councillors need to stop saying that these major infrastructure programs are loading future generations with debt. The reason such massive sums now need to be spent is because of decades of under investment. If we spend money to make a functioning resilient city with infrastructure people will use over the next 50-100 years, it's more than reasonable for the people who'll use that infrastructure over the next century to pay for it too. As the saying goes, a society grows great when old men plant trees whose shade they know they shall never sit in. Start planting trees for the Wellingtonians of 2121.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I believe council should own whatever buildings are placed at the Te Ngākau location, whether fully council-funded or agreements with private investments. If used by council this will reduce council expenditure long term, or if rented out by council this will increase revenue compared to just a ground lease. With prices going up throughout the city, and they will continue to rise, I don't think now is the time to be selling off ownership of property. For similar reasons I am also concerned about relocation of the music school and whether a new location can actually be found at reasonable cost, compared to rehabilitating the existing building for this purpose.

Depreciation of three waters assets has been a predictable affair, with maintenance costs already accounted for in the cost of these assets. The three waters budget needs to be ring-fenced so that spending is rightly reserved for maintaining and operating such critical assets. The same applies to other critical assets owned by the council.

I support increasing spend in the current budget.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

I support the need for increased spending on key infrastructure such as wastewater pipes. However, the cost of this should be spread more evenly over a larger number of years (rather than front-loading a 13.5 percent increase in year 1). I also strongly believe that the Council should exercise a period of cost saving and restraint in other non-essential areas to help offset the cost of important infrastructure. For example, reductions in spending on social and cultural initiatives (while not reducing spending in these areas to zero). A city with raw sewage flowing into its harbour, while spending money on the arts, is not a city with it's priorities in the right place.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The council firstly need to work as a team. The present council is a disgrace more concerned about politics than the welfare of ratepayers. Agree what is essential, and affordable and infrastructure including underground storm water and sewerage must be a clear no1, look at alternative means of funding rather than rates. Le sell surplus property, dispose of shares in companies in which council have no expertise or experience like the airport. Social welfare projects such as housing etc should be funded by central government and run by organisations with the necessary skills and experience. Council have neither.

Instead of raising fees and killing off the CBD as the first option as always seems to be the case after rate rises look at the high council overheads and in particular the staff numbers in non essential jobs and disposing of surplus assets

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleways need to accommodate skateboarders and electric skateboarders. Suitable surfacings should not include HFS high friction surfacings used for cars and trucks. Dense graded asphalt with small stone chip is ideal ie DG7. If dileniation is required ie coloured surfacing this should be a paint on type product where the roughness/skid is not increased too much nor is it reduced and made slippery. Off road cycleways need more shape, create rollers, berms etc, ideally have multiple routes ie you can ride over shapely feature or take the fast and flat option. Dont just build something for the sake if it, make it awesome. Thanks, Cal Rattenbury

I am writing to express my thoughts on the current situation with skateboarding in Wellington as this has been overlooked and underfunded for decades. Skateboarding and skateparks are extremely important spaces to the city. I grew up in Island Bay and am now settled in Porirua with x2 kids of my own. Wellington city's skateparks have always been absolutely below average with the only well built features to date being the Karori mini ramp (Ian Galloway Park Skate ramps), the Chaffers park bowl (Waitangi bowl) -the rest of Waitangi park is built well but poorly designed. And Treetops is amazingly good -This one was built on the leanest of donations and volunteer work and it is probably the best space in Wellington to skate hands down and that has had 0 input from council as fas I can make out. Most suburbs lack any type of facility at all. Island bay skatepark was always better than nothing but it was built badly and is not a park to learn on. You have to involve the experts (skatepark users/designers/builders) or its a waste of time and effort, this is the prime example at it has been constructed by road workers and the concrete placing is sub standard. Growing up, and still to this date there are great skateparks further afield such as Upper Hutt (Maidstone Skatepark), Porirua Skatepark, Pukerua Bay skatepark. All these parks blitz anything built in Wellington central & southern eastern suburbs etc and it's been this way for 20years! WCC it's time to wake up, the popularity for skateparks is huge, anyone would notice the amount of kids travelling to schools these days on wheels, be it bikes skateboards or scooters and it goes well beyond just modes of transport, this is the biggest expressive recreational uplift ever and where are the adequate facilities and where is the investment? Further to skateparks however, for the expressional sport to develop to it's potential I see it crucial that public spaces are not kept off limits. Embrace the sport and the people and it will do wonderful things for our city. I hope you can give the sport some spotlight for the sake of the upcoming generations. I am adamant this matter needs to be in the 10year plan. If no traction is given, it will hold our tamariki back and squash their hopes and dreams let alone respect for WCC. Kind regards Cal Rattenbury

Good morning, I am writing in support of the findings of the Skate Community Engagement survey that has recently taken place. I have been skateboarding in and around the Wellington area for over 25 years and have watched it grow and evolve over that time. Skateboarding is more popular now than ever before and will only continue to grow as a sport. With skateboarding now an Olympic sport combined with the growing popularity of skateboarding, it makes sense for the Wellington City Council to consider acting upon the findings of the Skate Community Engagement survey. If the decision is in favour of this survey, I urge you to employ skateboarders to help with design and planning, as so many skateparks and skate facilities that have been built in the past have been done so without the oversight of actual skateboarders, making these facilities undesirable. Sincerely, Marcus Brown [REDACTED]

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

1. Investment in 3 waters - leave this to central Govt. 2. Central Library - build new and minimise the investment. Say $60m maximum. 3. Sludge and waste minimisation - leave this to central Govt. 4. Te Ngakau - WCC should lease B-grade office space which already exists and is vacant. There is no need for local authorities to have prime office space. The rate payers cannot afford it anyway. 5. Even the commercial rates burden with residential rates, i.e. eliminate the differential to support business. As without business we will not have jobs and therefore residents. 6. Invest more heavily in the metropolitan centres to support and enable the growth which is being planned for. Johnsonville should have an events centre and an indoor sports centre. 7. Utilise the old Johnsonville library site on Broderick Rd as a new green space, convenient to the Johnsonville CBD. A semi-Midland park for Johnsonville.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It is thoroughly inappropriate to consult on the cycleway funding in isolation without a discussion of the balance of wider transport funding, when cycleways make up a very small proportion of total transport funding. For example, the full accelerated cycleway programme could be accommodated by delaying or cancelling roading projects rather than by increasing rates. Moreover, the costs for cycleways are only so high because the council refuses to implement its parking policy and reallocate on street parking to more productive uses, like walking, cycling and public transport. If WCC is serious about its agreed strategies, including Te Atakura - First to Zero, bold transformation will be required in transport - electric cars will not be enough. I see little evidence of a council willing to make the hard decisions to achieve the targets it has set itself.

Generally on-board. I disagree with a divestment approach - it feels short term, rather than thinking long-term, although I am open to this in some situations/alternative funding for select projects. The main driver for these approaches, however, should not be about the financial aspect of them, rather this should be one of a number of factors. Fine with fees and charges changes. In terms of other projects - sure. I would like to raise my ongoing confusion about why we have bothered to continue with the conference centre/exhibition space. I understand that maybe its too late now to pull out, but I've never understood the rationale, I've never met a person who thinks its even vaguely a good idea, and really I just hope that this type of project is not something that is repeated

I would like to express my support for the WCC to enact the findings found in the Skate Community Engagement Survey. The WCC has an obligation to the Wellington skateboarding community that this survey shows is currently not being met. Tangible action needs to be taken by councilors in order for Wellington city to keep pace with the rate of progression that is happening across New Zealand Skateboarding. WCC should invest in facilities that are co-designed with the skateboarding community and wider skate experts within NZ. There is a large pool of skate construction companies in NZ (e.g. Premium Skate Park Designs and Acid Construction) and their work has already seen the sport grow rapidly, particularly in Auckland and the upper North Island. Wellington's facilities are far below the standard of these new purpose built parks, and do little to consider the impact that weather has on the sport in Wellington. If Wellington wishes to remain the progressive and inclusive city that it's image suggests, the council should act fast to support sports like skateboarding, which have always been at the forefront of youth culture. The current skate parks that Wellington has are far behind the progression of the sport. Waitangi park (apart from the bowl) is renown within the NZ skate community as one of the worst parks in the country. In contrast, tree tops and the hospital DIY park are both funded and constructed by skaters. These parks are not amazing, but the fact that they are some of the best in the region shows the lack of engagement WCC has had with the skate community over the last decade. This trend is simply not good enough, especially when considering that Wellington city reaps the rewards from major skate events such as Bowlzilla. The lack of support for the sport and yet the desire for events like this to continue show the lack of cohesion in a policy for skateboarding in Wellington.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It is important to invest fully in safe cycling infrastructure for current and future generations to promote mode shift, reduce carbon emissions and support better health outcomes. WCC have spend far to long talking about cycleways and undertaking engagement without actually putting any infrastructure in place. There was a key opportunity to invest in temporary cycleways and trial options during covid shutdown, however council again delayed action and buckled to pressure from a vocal minority. Constituents have said that they want action on climate change, cycling has increased significantly in Wellington in recent years and previous cycleway engagement has shown support for infrastructue. The councils favoured proposal is a half hearted attempt to do as little as possible without doing nothing. It shows a ongoing lack of commitment to emissions reduction, providing transport choice and investing in safety.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Wastewater laterals
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters: the council's preferred option does not go far enough. Debt to revenue limits are fine in general, but this situation is too dire to allow that to constrain us right now. For too long wealthy ratepayers have voted in councillors that have opted for lower rate rises and have diverted funding away from investment in water, and now we are paying the price. Water is vital to life, we need to invest as much as we can immediately to get us back to a healthy position. Cycleways: you have had the reports for years and years, you have had the opportunity to move on this for years and years, you have known about climate change and Wellington's dismal traffic congestion for years and years, yet we STILL don't have the master cycle network that was proposed back in 2015. Pull your finger out and just do it already. Enough arguing, enough consultation, enough from the one or two moaner NIMBYs derailing an entire project, just put the lanes on the roads already! Te Atakura: your preferred option is not nearly big enough, you can absolutely go much bigger than this. Central library: I'm surprised but glad you were able to recognise that the debt to revenue limit is not a hard and fast rule. Sludge: no sludge should be going to landfill.

Parking rates should absolutely increase to encourage less people to drive into the city. The big rates rises are only necessary because of the low rate rises and under-investment of the past - rather than trying to apologise for the rises, I would say lean into them and publicly rebuke those right wing politicians who have got us into this dismal mess by being fiscally irresponsible. And for goodness sake, just build the blinking cycleways already!

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I generally support progress on cycleways and climate change, but given the current expenditure required on key infrastructure challenges I believe the prudent course of action is to reduce spend until a later date or to seek funding from central government on items which are not directly part of these challenges.

I believe the Council should consider freezing or reducing fees for public services (such as swimming pool entry), especially in relation to activities for children and infants (for example, recreation centre activities for pre schoolers). These are often increased when small reductions in capital spend could help more Wellingtonians access activities in their local communities.

The options presented don't show an option of reducing council expenditure in other areas to pay for more expenditure on waste water and pipes. The rate increase that is proposed is just nuts. People are not get pay rises like this -if any. People are struggling. Shops are closed on Lambton quay and you guys want to put up rates and charges to park in town and even ban cars. This is unreal and very business destroying. I cant believe this nonsense. I felt sorry for the mayor - he proposed some sensible options to keep rates increases down but got criticism that they were last minute - then the following week the opposition group on council who criticised the mayor came for his last minute proposals with proposals to spend more - what hypocrisy.

What concerns me as that some will provide feedback to support rate rises but they don't pay rates because they rent and think they are getting costs paid by others ( and then they wonder why rents go up and up). The rate increases are just ridiculous. The council is desperate need for a line by line expenditure review. The approach should be to compare expenditure on esssential things like waste water and sewage against existing expenditure. The lowest items of current items of expenditure priority should be cut or then go to consultation about whether to have rate increases to fund these low priority items. This current consultation is a bit of a shame. I'm quite disgusted with the council - you don't even know the condition of the waste water pipes and got a qualified audit opinion. You should be ashamed of this situation

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three waters: I support the preferred option but believe central govt assistance should be sought to fund this rather than the burden be solely on ratepayers. Would also like to see some extremely well-considered decisions on any new infrastructure ie declining greenfield development where large infrastructure additions will be needed. Cycleways: I put option 2 rather than 3, but this is because I believe more cycleways should be covered by LGWM and council should only be funding non-core route cycleways. So let's (finally) get LGWM moving! Climate change: supporting communities yes, but I do not think it is the role of local councils to fund support for business in this area. That should be agreed between business and central govt. Te Ngakau: demolish the buildings BUT all effort should be made to preserve and recover the building material that is reusable, instead of sending it all to landfill and wasting valuable resources (this will also reduce emissions and costs from future building where re-used and contributes to both lower carbon and zero waste goals)

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I somewhat oppose the proposed budget.

Don't know.

Regarding the budget, I agree with the amount but disagree with how it's being funded. As mentioned I think some of the funding for infrastructure should be coming from central govt, whether that is via the Infrastructure Funding Act, the Government's water reforms or some other means. Regarding fee changes, I support increasing parking charges however don't think trade vehicles should be included in this (assuming this is referring to delivery and maintenance vehicles rather than corporate parking). These vehicles genuinely need access to CBD business so shouldn't be penalised. I disagree with increasing stall fees for the market, which helps bring local suppliers into the city. These smaller, local suppliers are the ones we need to keep supporting and they're struggling enough. I would also question the increase in charges for accessing a LIM report as I can't see how the cost to retrieve one of these should go up. It's the same process every time?

Skateboarding. almost every single kiwi kid boy or girl learns to ride a skateboard at some stage in there life. Wellington city council continues ban skateboarding in key flat area's of the city with out any plans to grown the Olympic sport. Wellington The capital city of New Zealand has one skatepark in the city center that is extremely out dated and too small to accommodate all skateboarders. Wellington city council HAS to include skateboarding in there 10 year plan. We are not asking for a lot. What we need is a indoor facility that we can skate in the winter months rather than tsb carpark and getting harassed by security guards because its the only place we can skate for 6months of a year. We also need designated skate spots, just like in Europe, just like america, just like Australia and even hate to say it just like Auckland. im talking about when you spend millions of dollars on a new cycle way spend two hundred dollars on coping a few benches /seats ( like at aotea square Auckland) so skaters can share the path too. Skateable art. so easy, so..soo easy to apply. built by artists for skateboarders, or better yet built by skaters for skaters, scattered through out the waterfront and public parks or even some some suburbs. Thanks for your time, sorry its really brief. looking forward to having a face to face meeting soon thanks.

Considering skateboarding is one of the fastest growing sports in nz and now involved in the olympics, I would like to see small aspects of these cycle ways dedicated to our community. We don't need expensive skateparks, we just would like to be kept in mind when design decisions are made. People love to stop and watch what we are doing, and we live it when they do so. Skateboarding is the most inclusive movement I've ever been a part of, race, age, skill..., not important to us. The growth of this sport is a much needed integration into society, the more places we have to go, the happier we will be. We don't need ridiculous amounts of money spent on us, we just want to be kept in mind.

I believe that transport, water and waste decisions are the most urgent and important ones faced by the community of Wellington at the moment, and that we should make the best decisions we can today with the long-term future and growth in mind. Spend now and build for tomorrow - the cost will never be cheaper. Please do not opt for any shoddy make-do option that will result in more costly remedial work inside 20 years. I think the emphasis on waters, laterals and sludge minimisation as our top priorities is absolutely correct. To those, I would add that waste minimisation and mitigation investment is equally essential. I cycle, and am a big fan of cycling and more cycleways. But on this issue the Wellington Council appears to have a record of appallingly expensive stuffing it up all round, if Island Bay is anything to go by. Prove that you can plan and design better for ALL users of routes. That is, people who want or need to get from A to B for whatever reason. Increasingly, walkers are being squeezed out all over the region by shared cycle ways. This is simply not healthy or safe for anyone. And the goal should not be to create paths and cycle ways at the expense of moving traffic - which includes public transport, emergency and other types of service vehicles as well as private transport. Once again, plan for the long-term future needs please, not your wishful social engineering. If you wish to do something about private vehicles, stop allowing residents to use our footpaths and roadsides as free parking spaces that are maintained by ratepayers. It should be required that people park their vehicles on their own property or in hired commercial parking. It is nearly impossible to navigate many of Wellington's hillside streets due to parked cars. It is not just that they park on the roads and footpaths by their residences, but also around train and bus terminuses all day. This is currently causing huge congestion in and around Khandallah Village (to enjoy free parking near the bus stops) and in Awarua Street Ngaio (free parking near the station). Let's get Wellington moving needs to rethink the current bus problems instead of continuing to pretend it will sort itself out. A good public transport system that is the logical preferred choice for residents is one that is convenient, cheap, and frequent - like Singapore. Not one like Wellington's, where the Regional Council's answer to user rejection of a very poor service is: "Not enough people are using it, so we'll have to increase the fares." Why are these giant buses and double deckers crawling around our suburbs half empty when smaller, lighter, and cheaper vehicles should be running in areas/times of lower demand? Why is there not a frequent shuttle service through the centre of the city - especially at peak times? Instead of which, you stand at the Railway Station terminus waiting for ages for one of the parked buses to decide to move off, or at a Willis Street stop in a howling gale and rain at peak periods, waiting for an eventual bolus of eight buses in a clump. I think your proposal for the municipal buildings are the best options, also for the Central Library. I was no fan of the design of the Central Library as it was, except for the decorative nikau palms around the exterior. The interior was both wasteful of space and a clutter. The Waitohi library at Johnsonville is fantastic, and has become a thriving community centre. I am optimistic you can do something equally wonderful to the Central Library.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I am supportive of the direction of the Long Term Plan but believe it does not go far enough or fast enough on some items, and woefully under-priorities cycling in particular. I appreciate there are capacity constraints on many issues requiring investment in physical infrastructure, but believe we need to start investing more heavily now with a secure ongoing pipeline of work to build this capacity as quickly as possible. In general I am also supportive of very significant increases in investment in Wellington's physical infrastructure, especially that which will support low carbon transport, increase quality of life, resiliency against disasters and climate change, and increase the supply, desirability and uptake of affordable medium-high density housing close to the city and public transport routes. It is clear that Wellington is suffering from decades of under-investment, caused largely by successive councils running down existing assets to maintain artificially low rates. My view is that the fair and equitable way of funding the urgent infrastructure deficit is by rates increases for current Wellington ratepayers who have enjoyed these unrealistically low rates during the previous decades. While I would support temporary increases in debt if it allowed projects to proceed sooner rather than later, pushing additional financial burden onto future generations would be a gross abdication of moral accountability by the people most responsible for our current issues. I also support a more progressive rating system with targeted rates increases on higher value properties, as well as the implementation of value-uplift capture mechanisms as recommended by the Productivity Commission. Wellington property owners are wealthier than ever. The massive increase in the value of Wellington's ratings base in recent years provides a significant opportunity that the WCC must harness if we are to put in place the infrastructure that we will need to thrive in the 21st century. Capturing a tiny fraction of the value of this year's property inflation alone would solve the WCC resource challenges for years to come. Basically, despite what we like to tell ourselves, we are a wealthy society and can easily afford to pay for all those things that we need to pay for if there is the political will and leadership to distribute these costs fairly. Items that I believe are missing from the current long-term plan (or at least haven't been included in this consultation) include: 1. A plan and timeline for value-uplift rating mechanisms as a future revenue source, as recommended by the Productivity Commission so that the city can share in the increase in property value caused by transit improvements. This should be put in place in time to dove-tail with Lets Get Wellington Moving transport programme. This should be aggressively pursued and implemented as soon as a clear legal basis for them is established. WCC should be pushing on this as hard as possible with the current government. 2. The LTP needs to include a programme of incentives to accelerate the development of good quality affordable housing within walking and biking distance of the CBD. This will help address the chronic housing shortage, be in support of the current stated aims of the District Plan, be aligned with the NPS-UP, as well as support the WCC's stated climate goals - especially with regard to transport emissions. This should comprise a carrot & stick approach which includes disincentives for non-productive property speculators (land bankers), and a range of incentives to increase the desirability of living in and residential development of urban areas. I support: a) Punitive targeted rates increases on the land banking of suitable development sites, especially vacant or abandoned properties. A huge amount of development land is currently sitting unutilised within identified growth areas (see Adelaide Rd, Newtown, Te Aro Basin). This would be politically popular and spur the transfer of property from those who intend to do nothing with it to those who can use it productively. The extra revenue raised can be used to help fund the incentives part of the package below. b) Aligned with the goals of the Spatial Plan, a range of measures should be implemented to increase the desirability and developability of good quality residential buildings in suitable urban growth areas: i) Streetscape improvements and creation of new parks and green spaces in the Te Aro Basin and other identified high-growth residential areas that lack green space. This will improve the livability, attractiveness, stormwater detention, and air quality of these urban areas. They are often unattractive, hard and grey areas of the city, and they represent a huge opportunity to be developed into attractive and desirable residential precincts if intelligent interventions are made. ii) Rapid improvements in pedestrian, cycle, and public transport in these areas to increase the viability and desirability of low car usage patterns. This would help developers to build affordable housing by realising significant savings on car park construction costs in future development. It will also allow more people to enjoy low-cost and low-carbon lifestyles free from the financial, time, and environmental cost of private vehicles. Implementing the Gehl plan from 20 years ago would go a long way to supporting housing growth in the city and should be implemented in full within 5 years. With regards to cycle infrastructure, the funding for future cycle infrastructure in the LTP is wholly inadequate and needs to be substantively increased if it is to be congruent with either the Spatial Plan, WCC's declaration of a Climate Emergency, or item 4 Te Atakura (climate change) of the LTP (see separate cycle section). iii) Council support for improved design quality of urban housing. We are generally bad at designing and building multi-unit housing in this country. We must rapidly get better at this. Council should support this through design competitions for high-profile projects, and provision of or lending support for land purchases to enable alternative forms of housing delivery (i.e resident-led and not-for-profit development). Better resourcing and depth of skill at the council urban design team would provide more certainty for affordable housing developers and better urban design guidance for designers. The calculation of development contributions should also be redesigned to reward developers who provide high levels of amenity for future residents, measured on such metrics as the amount of green space, bike parks, shared space, external windows, etc, provided per unit or resident. Development contribution rebates should also be beefed up for Greenstar buildings, and extended to multi-unit residential buildings. These targeted desirability measures may also have the side-effect of taking some pressure off of the more politically contentious densification efforts in already desirable areas such as Mt Victoria, Thorndon etc. Basically it will be easier and better to create more attractive leafy areas, rather than spending too much energy fighting the nimbys in already leafy areas. Planting new trees is relatively easy and cheap, and political capital could perhaps better be reserved for ensuring support for realistic rates to do this.

Further comment on Cycle Network Funding: I strongly support the Accelerated full investment cycleways investment programme. The council's preferred 'high' investment is mislabelled and misleading. It cannot at all be considered high by the standards of the funding for other transport modes in Wellington, especially roading. Nor is it at all high when compared to the human, climate, and economic costs of implementing an overdue cycle network badly or slowly. The case for proceeding with the Accelerated full investment programme includes: 1. We are in the critical stage of a climate crisis that will shape the prospects of our city and the lives of our descendants for generations to come. The WCC declared a Climate Emergency in 2019. Responding to the climate crisis is one of the stated primary goals of the Long Term Plan. 2. Road transport causes nearly 40% of New Zealand's green house gasses. Road transport emissions are the lowest hanging fruit for emission reduction as petrol powered cars can relatively easily be replaced by other types of transport. The technology for doing it exists, and in the case of bicycles, is mature. 3. Bicycles (closely followed by e-bikes) are the most energy and carbon efficient methods of moving humans from one point to another known to physics. They are also the second cheapest form of transport, after walking. 4. Data from cities around the world shows that over 30% of car trips in cities can easily be replaced by bikes, (and potentially higher with ebikes) if cycling is a safe and attractive option. Wellington's current cycling mode share is 2.7%. 5. Encouraging more people to bike rather than drive is one of the easiest and cheapest methods for reducing NZ's transport emissions. We won't get better bang for the buck with anything else, not even public transport or electric cars. 6. Agriculture, forestry, and other climate related policy may be out of WCC's control, but transport planning is the main lever that the city of Wellington can pull in response to climate change and we have the responsibility to pull it as hard as it can. 7. Currently, people on bikes are being killed and injured every week on Wellington streets. The price of delayed action is measured in broken bones and dead friends. This is not acceptable and can not be allowed to continue. 8. Increasingly New Zealand's, and especially Wellington's competitive advantage in high-wage industries is by being a place where people want to live. Much of Wellington's burgeoning tech sector thrives here because talent wants to be here. We must recognise this as a key advantage to build on and invest more in those things that make Wellington an attractive place to live and to put down roots. A safe and functioning cycle network is an absolutely key part of ensuring Wellington remains high in the livability rankings. Our cycle infrastructure is already decades behind other comparable cities, and we ignore this at our peril. We must recognise that just like the pipes, we are playing catch up here and have a long way to go. 9. Safe cycling infrastructure supports affordable housing development. We are also in a housing crisis. A large part of solving this and achieving the aims of the Spatial Plan will be contingent on ensuring that new medium-high density housing can be built within walking and cycling distance of the CBD and other amenities. This means housing can be built with a reduced (or no) need for carparking and car use, reducing housing construction costs and construction related emissions significantly while also reducing people's ongoing transport costs. 10. Traffic on the roads in Wellington is pretty bad and getting worse each year. Less cars on the road means less traffic for drivers, and with separated cycle lanes much more efficient traffic flow. 11. Safe and well designed cycle infrastructure must therefore be a critical and core piece of our future transport infrastructure. Cycleways are not a 'nice to have' or 'something we could do better', but one of the main strategic tools that must aggressively deploy to ensure that we remain competitive as a city and do not ruin the future. 12. The use and usefulness of a cycle network are greatest when it operates as a network. Network effects accumulate as each new connection is added to it – a network is greater than the sum of its parts, and next to useless when fragmented. We would never dream of building roads that aren't connected to other roads. Yet that is what we have with our cycleways at present and that is what we will still have in 10 years time with the council's preferred 'high' level of investment. In the meantime existing assets already put in place are not being fully utilised because they're not connected up. Far from saving the ratepayer money, delaying the full completion of the network will likewise only delay reaping the benefits of the network, and therefore indefinitely pushing out the payback period of the ratepayer's significant investment. 13. At the preferred 'high' level of investment, Wellington's cycle network will still not be complete in 10 years time. If I start a family now there will still not be proper safe and connected bike paths in Wellington by the time my children are teenagers. In the meantime our chance to take meaningful action to address the climate emergency will have been and gone. It will be too late. The next 10 years are the years that count. The meaning of the word 'emergency' is not being properly understood by the drafters of the LTM. I do not want hanging over my conscience that we didn't do everything we could practically do to solve the defining issue of the century, while we still could. This is quite clearly a moral issue and we must do everything we can, especially when doing the right thing isn't even that hard and will provide us with a raft of other benefits. 14. The Accelerated full investment programme is affordable. I will very happily pay an extra 1.31% on my rates if it meant I was at less chance of being killed on the way to work, and increase the likelihood that my children will inherit a habitable planet.

Investment in 3 waters infrastructure: I have lived in Wellington for 50 years and have seen all councils trying to dodge this issue by commissioning reports. You don't need any more reports: you have more than enough access to experts, just get on with it. Cycleways are nice to have but the state of the footpaths for pedestrians is more important. I am 73, I won't be riding a bike around Wellington and I don't have a car so I walk and catch buses. Central Library. Please do not sacrifice book shelves for 'community activity rooms' or similar: put the books back as they were so we can browse again. I'd like to have a proper library again before I die. Te Atakura This is another issue like the 3 Waters Infrastructure: you have all the information you need: the Green Party council members can help with that, just get on with it.

Climate change and the environment should be central to this plan, every decision made will have an impact in those two areas and those impacts should be identified in each big decision. It's disappointing to see that the council still doesn't grasp that economic cost is not the only cost, and if climate change and the environment are ignored as this plan seems to do, then the money costs could be irrelevant in the not too distant future.

We Oppose the seemingly hidden decision to save money by not adjusting long term contracts for inflation. Will ultimately mean the quality of the service provided by these organisations is diminished as programmes become more expensive to run. Lot's of the funding goes towards wages and salaries so for a council who prides itself on being a living wage employer to potentially take away that possibility for those organisations it funds would be disappointing.

I think the Council needs to work on the accessibility of this information to the public. The provided PDF documents explaining each big decision are lengthy and I was not motivated in the least to look through and try to find the answer to the questions I had. It would be great if alongside these documents an audiovisual aid was created, e.g., a video for each big decision answering a series of most asked questions, with time stamps that you can click on to take you to that question (like Youtube). I think the Council would get more community engagement around these decisions if they used technology to their benefit in this way. Most people don't want to read an 84 page document about sludge, although I appreciate the work that went into creating it.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

There are so many cyclists in Wellington yet there is an almost total lack of cycling infrastructure. Proper infrastructure could a) make it safer for the many people that already chose to cycle, and b) (in conjunction with investment in public transport), encourage a mode-shift from private vehicle to public and active modes, particularly in the central city. Wellington should aggressively pursue a programme of cycleway and public transport infrastructure building - yes, this will inevitably result in a loss of on-street parking but the long-term goal should be to transform the central city into a car-free zone.

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I strongly support the proposed budget.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

There's a large amount of un-developed and under-developed land throughout the CBD. Any future planning should encourage development of the CBD rather than continued urban sprawl (i.e build upwards rather than outwards). Urban design principles must ensure that any development is focused on making Wellington more attractive and accessible for people rather than cars, e.g no car-park buildings, removal of on-street carparking within CBD, buildings designed with focus on encouraging pedestrian access.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Waters infrastructure is essential, go hard and go fast now. Lodge the will to do the work now, and investigate as you go. Prioritise and action. Central Library - I'm not sure going into big debt is the best option for this less essential project.

Sludge and waste minimisation

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It is not clear in the engagement material how long the IFF levy will last for. It leads rate payers to think it's a one off payment, which I believe is highly unlikely. The material needs to me it clear what people are paying for and not accidentally deceive them into thinking they're getting something for free.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters: We have a massive problem and it needs to be fixed ASAP. Saving water is critical. I walk past at least 2 leaking water mains every day, and when I report them it takes months to be fixed (presumably because there are bigger problems elsewhere in the city). The Hutt River is a small catchment with fluctuating flows and it very dry in summer - we can't keep putting pressure on it and then just letting the water we take leak away into the stormwater. Cycleways: We have terrible stats for safe cycling and pedestrian safety. We need to invest in these to keep people safe and to minimise carbon emissions. Build the networks and people will use them. Prioritise people and bikes over cars. Climate change: This is a climate crisis. We must act to protect future generations wellbeing, as well as our own. There are many co-benefits to this work - e.g. quieter streets, healthier people, more biodiversity, etc. Central Library: I want to say demolish it and start again (maybe save the Nikau Palms). It isn't that nice of a space to be inside (it can be dark and somewhat confusing and uninviting). Build something new and nice. But maybe strengthening it is a more sustainable option and would save building materials and waste? Sludge and waste minimisation: I'm very supportive of minimising waste to landfill. Other: Housing: we need to build up and not out. We need to build high density housing with apartments designed for families, not just ridiculous studio appartments that aren't good for anything. We also need to address homelessness. And we need to link up developments to sustainable public transport, rather than just having sprawling 'greenfields' reliant on cars. Also, can we please do something about that housing block on the Terrace that is unused?! It's potentially a massive space for may houses to be put in (in an apartment block) - let's do something with it already!! Sexual assault in the central city: we need to make the central city safer. Better designed public transport, education campaigns, working with local businesses, universities, and police, are all vital to improve safety for women and minorities in the central city.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The Council has not provided a substantial programme or funding for critical housing infrastructure in its long term plan. This is a serious issue for Wellington which is dealing with a crisis. I am a young professional who grew up in Wellington, I have a substantial deposit and two good salaries between my partner and I and I cannot afford to live in the city. Asking prices for a modest home are now well in excess of $1 million, and apartments which are designed to maximise short term rental return are too small, poorly lit and poorly designed to accommodate someone wanting to start a family. A 2 bedroom new build apartment off the plans costs 720k for 65 sqm. 3 bedroom apartments are a rare development, and those that are developed cost 1.45 million- outside the city new developments in Upper Hutt and Paraparaumu now cost approx 1 million as well. Meanwhile there are people far worse off than me living in the streets or in damp cold and mouldy accommodation with their children. I am booked to go to Christchurch in June to look at buying there, and finding new employment- I know of a number of people who have already made this decision. Leaving Wellington is hugely disappointing for me. However for Wellington city, the mass exodus of young professionals, and essential workers forced out by the high cost of living will have a substantial impact. The Council must act now to build essential affordable accommodation for the most vulnerable, and ensure high quality builds at high density in the city. This includes taking on debt above the Council's self imposed cap to invest now in the future generations that will call Wellington home. It also means putting the needs of young Wellingtonians above 'nice to have,' projects that the council cannot afford, including restoring the heritage library. Instead the council should demolish the library and build a new structure at half the cost- that 30 million saving could support at least some investment in much needed housing.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

Think about the young people living in this city that want to have choices and an opportunity if they work hard to buy a modest home, or liveable apartment and start a family, rather than investing in high cost 'nice to have,' projects that are far less critical to the everyday basic needs of residents. If you have to invest in these types of 'nice to have,' projects then massively increase your debt to fund those basic and essential housing needs.

Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleways: Rather than throwing money at this vanity project, why not restore public transportation to the point where it is usable again? Wellington buses was something that was the envy of other cities. Now it is an unusable mess that is resulting in additional carbon emissions as it necessitates the use of private transport to travel anywhere in Wellington

As a ratepayer, I don't feel I am getting value for my ever increasing rates. I find the lack of accountability and wasteful spending of rates incredibly problematic. For example, the pointless cycleway spend. I would much rather my money was prioritised in things that are absolute necessities such as infrastructure spend on improving aging pipes. Why is any money being wasted on the cycleway project while the city's key areas of spend are being neglected?

Roads are more important than cycle lanes, especially with the forecasted growth of 50-80,000 people living in the city. Fact is cars are going to increase whether this council can accept reality or not.

Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Wellington is the type of community where libraries matter most and should be seen to matter most - not convention centres and similar pieces of brass. Fix the library and fix it now! And while we are at it, can someone explain why a recent construction is facing this situation. Te Papa is not and neither are a host of older Wellington buildings.

I don't think we should have one big main library. A number of smaller libraries around the CBD works better and provides a sense of place and amenity across the CBD rather than in one place. Use the area for redeveloping housing

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Decision 1: I believe this, with climate change, is the highest priority - getting our water sorted out. a) Sewage must be stopped getting into the waterways. The WWL roaming crews have already started detecting leaks and WWL must have the funding to pursue this. WWL have been starved of funding for decades and unless we have to foot the bill caused by previous incompetence we are just deferring the problem. Note that the introduction of water metering will help reduction of use, detection and fixing of leaks. b) Potable water must be prevented from leaking at such wasteful levels. If we do that we can avoid/defer the even huger cost and environmental damage of building a new reservoir. We should also be looking at alternative technologies for sewage which uses vast amounts of potable water - many European countries are seriously considering more sustainable means of dealing with it. Your building regs and resource consents must be better, such that the inspection of new builds checks for cross connections. Decision 3: Cycleways are less essential than many of these works. I think in this economic environment it isn't realistic to pour so much of our rates into a nice-to-have. Sort out the essentials first. Decision 4: There is little specificity here. This is a huge area and we need to do a lot more than a few tweaks like changing your council fleet over to electric by 2030 (we'll all be doing that anyway)! Now is the time (and the Spatial Plan should indicate this) for some more ambitious thinking. Change your building regulations and resource consents. All new buildings should be directed to have solar panels, and be zero carbon. Prevent concrete driveways and stop concreting public areas, create swales next to roads. Other suggestions are to subsidise rainwater and grey water capture/plumbing; vastly increase charging points for cars; subsidise electric bikes. Decision 7: I agree with Option 4 as this is something that has to be sorted out. However, I know this is just a government loan rather than a grant, so it is deferring the cost. What are these levies, and why are they not added as a rate increase? Sewage is a growing problem so serious thought needs to go into emerging technologies. I also want a statement on the future of our landfills and funds to get us to the zero waste solution that Wellington is supposedly aiming for. Is there no funding for recycling of C&D and domestic waste? Can we not ban unnecessary and plastic supermarket packaging?

-WCC needs to progress water metering as set out within the recent water review commissioned. Metering will reduce demand, improve leak detection and push out required bulk water upgrades, all saving the council significant money (as was the case in KCDC). The meter charges can also offset rates increases (well apply the increase via a different format).

Cycleways - think of cheaper ways to deliver safe spaces for cyclists. Current projects are grossly over-engineered and too slow to deliver. Climate change - the council should focus on its own activities only and not spend money seeking to change other people's behaviour.

I am disappointed that the Council appears to be going down the same track with public housing as it has already taken with wastewater - refusing to face up to the investment required and putting it into the 'too hard' basket. There is also nothing in this plan about other projects being put on hold or delayed. The council keeps coming up with new ideas rather than focusing on maintaining its existing assets (or getting rid of the ones that it does not need to own, like office space).

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

We are at a crucial point in the history of Wellington. We can chose to carry on as we have in the past, ignoring climate change, pretending we don't need resilience, let the city infrastructure slowly degrade, kick the problems down the road. Or we can chose to do things differently, prepare for the future, invest in our city. We must take the opportunities to fix things before it's too late, do our bit for climate change, invest now while borrowing is cheap. We should not fixate on the debt ratio of 225%, this is low and can comfortably rise, it is more important to make the investments that are needed than to keep debt low.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Without full investment in safe cycleways in this city then there will not be a significant enough uptake in cycling to have any impact on our carbon footprint. Currently only highly experienced riders feel safe commuting by bike. I also have a personal interest in the Thorndon to Northland connection, in that we live in Northland, my daughter will be going to school in Thorndon, there are no suitable bus services (a problem in itself, but not one for the City Council), and cycling is downright dangerous for a child. I do not want our only option to be driving and contributing climate change.

Although the council support for this quality community enhancement project is fantastic, I encourage the council to accelerate the proposed funding to ensure the amenity and community benefits of this project are realised in 1 - 3 years as opposed to 1 - 10 currently planned.

I strongly support the Accelerated full investment cycleways investment programme. The council's preferred 'high' investment is mislabelled and misleading. It cannot at all be considered high by the standards of the funding for other transport modes in Wellington, especially roading. Nor is it at all high when compared to the human, climate, and economic costs of implementing an overdue cycle network badly or slowly. The case for proceeding with the Accelerated full investment programme includes: 1. We are in the critical stage of a climate crisis that will shape the prospects of our city and the lives of our descendants for generations to come. The WCC declared a Climate Emergency in 2019. Responding to the climate crisis is one of the stated primary goals of the Long Term Plan. 2. Road transport causes nearly 40% of New Zealand's green house gasses. Road transport emissions are the lowest hanging fruit for emission reduction as petrol powered cars can relatively easily be replaced by other types of transport. The technology for doing it exists, and in the case of bicycles, is mature. 3. Bicycles (closely followed by e-bikes) are the most energy and carbon efficient methods of moving humans from one point to another known to physics. They are also the second cheapest form of transport, after walking. 4. Data from cities around the world shows that over 30% of car trips in cities can easily be replaced by bikes, (and potentially higher with ebikes) if cycling is a safe and attractive option. Wellington's current cycling mode share is 2.7%. 5. Encouraging more people to bike rather than drive is one of the easiest and cheapest methods for reducing NZ's transport emissions. We won't get better bang for the buck with anything else, not even public transport or electric cars. 6. Agriculture, forestry, and other climate related policy may be out of WCC's control, but transport planning is the main lever that the city of Wellington can pull in response to climate change and we have the responsibility to pull it as hard as it can. 7. Currently, people on bikes are being killed and injured every week on Wellington streets. The price of delayed action is measured in broken bones and dead friends. This is not acceptable and can not be allowed to continue. 8. Increasingly New Zealand's, and especially Wellington's competitive advantage in high-wage industries is by being a place where people want to live. Much of Wellington's burgeoning tech sector thrives here because talent wants to be here. We must recognise this as a key advantage to build on and invest more in those things that make Wellington an attractive place to live and to put down roots. A safe and functioning cycle network is an absolutely key part of ensuring Wellington remains high in the livability rankings. Our cycle infrastructure is already decades behind other comparable cities, and we ignore this at our peril. We must recognise that just like the pipes, we are playing catch up here and have a long way to go. 9.

Safe cycling infrastructure supports affordable housing development. We are also in a housing crisis. A large part of solving this and achieving the aims of the Spatial Plan will be contingent on ensuring that new medium-high density housing can be built within walking and cycling distance of the CBD and other amenities. This means housing can be built with a reduced (or no) need for carparking and car use, reducing housing construction costs and construction related emissions significantly while also reducing people's ongoing transport costs. 10. Traffic on the roads in Wellington is pretty bad and getting worse each year. Less cars on the road means less traffic for drivers, and with separated cycle lanes much more efficient traffic flow. 11. Safe and well designed cycle infrastructure must therefore be a critical and core piece of our future transport infrastructure. Cycleways are not a 'nice to have' or 'something we could do better', but one of the main strategic tools that must aggressively deploy to ensure that we remain competitive as a city and do not ruin the future. 12. The use and usefulness of a cycle network are greatest when it operates as a network. Network effects accumulate as each new connection is added to it – a network is greater than the sum of it's parts, and next to useless when fragmented. We would never dream of building roads that aren't connected to other roads. Yet that is what we have with our cycleways at present and that is what we will still have in 10 years time with the council's preferred 'high' level of investment. In the meantime existing assets already put in place are not being fully utilised because they're not connected up. Far from saving the ratepayer money, delaying the full completion of the network will likewise only delay reaping the benefits of the network, and therefore indefinitely pushing out the payback period of the ratepayer's significant investment. 13. At the preferred 'high' level of investment, Wellington's cycle network will still not be complete in 10 years time. If I start a family now there will still not be proper safe and connected bike paths in Wellington by the time my children are teenagers. In the meantime our chance to take meaningful action to address the climate emergency will have been and gone. It will be too late. The next 10 years are the years that count. The meaning of the word 'emergency' is not being properly understood by the drafters of the LTM. I do not want hanging over my conscience that we didn't do everything we could practically do to solve the defining issue of the century, while we still could. This is quite clearly a moral issue and we must do everything we can, especially when doing the right thing isn't even that hard and will provide us with a raft of other benefits. 14. The Accelerated full investment programme is affordable. I will very happily pay an extra 1.31% on my rates if it meant I was at less chance of being killed on the way to work, and increase the likelihood that my children will inherit a habitable planet.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleways in Wellington are far behind national and international standards, and efforts need to be drastically increased in the coming years. These upgrades are critical to meeting Wellington's sustainability goals, encouraging healthy and green transportation modes, and increasing the safety of vulnerable road users. None of the options for the central library are suitable, and the building should be demolished and rebuilt. The original library is not fit for purpose, and any efforts to remediate are likely to incur cost overruns. The library should be rebuilt as part of a larger reimagining of the civic square.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Having traveled in Scandinavia- good cycle infrastructure makes for a very pleasant city where people can easily , healthfully and safely get around the city and engage more meaningfully with local businesses, the environment and each other. We could be a South Pacific city of excellence if we got this right. A contribution to help mitigate climate damage also makes this an attractive option.

Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I am concerned by the proposals to enter into ground leases for sites for the Te Ngakau work and to fund sewage sludge minimisation through a levy instead of rates. I believe that it is poor value for money for the Council to lease its land and then try to control development on that land to meet Council objectives. I also believe that a wastewater levy is likely to be a less equitable way than rates to share the same costs across ratepayers. I have been a financial adviser on public-private partnerships in the past and they only make sense when there is a sensible change in risk allocation - playing with keeping numbers off the Council books may make the borrowing level look better but does not improve the substance of the proposal.

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I somewhat support the proposed budget.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I am surprised that despite clear preference from the public consultation process the options are simply around timing of the major refit. This is a ridiculous amount to spend on a major refurbishment. It is a no brainer that starting again was a better, cheaper and lower risk option. Cheaper because the size of the library could have been reduced and more efficient. Is there really any point in consultations if the clear outcomes are ignored.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

It is my view that rates increases of the quantum indicated are excessive, insensitive and lazy. I appreciate that there are issues with respect to the water infrastructure but my observation is that the issues are more related to mismanagement and poor oversight than investment alone. I do not for a minute think that the cost structures of Council have been scrutinised, it is far too easy to simply increase rates. I'd be interested in knowing what the personnel costs of Council are compared to those in previous years.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Please please please just get on with building more desperately-needed cycleways quickly, especially through Berhampore and Newtown. There is plenty of parking on side streets and biking is currently very dangerous. Also why are there still cars in the central city? Hardly anyone really needs to drive through there, but the extra traffic often reduces buses to walking speed along places like Lambton Quay. As a ratepayer I support all the rates rises listed in this plan for climate response, waste reduction, wastewater, cycleways, and library improvements.

Sludge and waste minimisation

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I am keen on sludge minimisation (option 3 or 4). I am very concerned that other waste is currently needed to mix with the sludge. I was told that if other waste was not needed for this purpose - it, the waste, could be compacted and minimised. I would like to see a removal/reduction in the harms that are arising from the transport of waste by trucks through Webb St, Willis St, Brooklyn Rd, Ohiro Rd. These harms include: - Inhaling diesel fumes (exhaust systems are not at level 7 COF standards) eg in my home. Air quality standards are not enforced. During the Easter break my throat stopped hurting!) - Inhaling particles from uncovered loads and dusty trucks - noisy trucks (again, a Certificate of Fitness issue) especially difficult for people who are hard of hearing and visually impaired. - Dangerous trucks are going near: children on footpaths and elderly and disabled on footpaths and who are crossing the road., Iso going near bus stops. eg. the bus stop on Willis St (just after the trucks turn left from Webb onto Willis). School children use this bus stop. At the corner of Webb, turning left into Willis - I have seen the bar of double articulated trucks go over the footpath and children standing there. (policing issue) I currently have an open petition on this topic on the WCC website - currently at 34 signatures. Thank you for hosting this petition. The Council should not say it is my job to analyse data (eg GWRC air quality data) to ensure air quality standards, certificate of fitness standards and pedestrian safety - near my and others homes, workplaces, footpaths etc. It is your job to ensure we are safe and unharmed. Thank you. Data Truck counts: Date: March 2019 Place: Brooklyn Rd between Bidwell and Nairn Streets - Average heavies per day 49 Average number of rubbish truck type heavies per day 126 Date: June 2016 Place: Brooklyn Rd between Bidwell and Washington Avenue Average heavies per day 80 (driven up by large number of class 14 - 18 wheelers etc) Average number of rubbish truck type heavies per day 199 The information stated that in March 2019 there were not so many Class 14 trucks. Data provided by Tom Williams, CIO, Emailed dated 13.4.21 to myself, Mt Cook Mobilised and Councillor Pannett.

When WCC analyses and develops policy options, could it please include the minimisation, eradication and avoidance of harms from the transport of waste and other transport as an important criteria for analysis. This would bring this local body more into line with the objectives of the central government, through the work of the departments and agencies that serve the transport sector, and the health sector.

We wrote to say we want a new library on the same site. It's a disgrace that we have no CBD library. My husband and I went 3 times a week to the Library and now we can't + he is depressed

The Mayor must resign and hand over to his deputy. The CEO must resign due to bad management - absolutely out of this world to suggest rates rise above 5%. We are members of VTAO! You watch our group.

Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I would like to see the Council support and encourage the music and arts scene in Wellington. The best way for this to happen is to provide a unique and accessible location for the arts and music environments to flourish and thrive. Creating a space for unique music making and partnership for the New Zealand School of Music Te Kōkī and the New Zealand Symphony Orchestra is an extremely valuable opportunity that should be a very high priority. Wellington's music/arts culture is dwindling down and this opportunity is a way to boost both young involvement, but also a way for the public to easily access & witness the awesome musical ability/events that kiwi artists can provide.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Te atakura - WCC need to work together to depolarise climate change and avoid it being a political issue. Find common ground and solutions that have minimal impact on the quality of life of residents and visitors for maximum gains. With hills, narrow roads and huge gusting wind, cycle ways are not that practical for Wellington, but electric cars, car sharing, street side charging, and incentives for having an electric car (like cheaper parking) are practical. Electric buses that are reliable are practical, (although this should be left to LGWM), and making all WCC vehicles electric as they reach their end of life has no negative impact to rate payers. The emphasis on walking in the city needs to be met with practical considerations for comfort, accessibility and safety. Shelter, toilets, seats to rest, and management of public intoxication and anti social behaviour have got to be considered. Infrastructure and climate change management should take priority over Te Ngakau.

I totally support a rates increase and fees and charges increases to get Wellington back on track with decent infrastructure and sensible responsible climate change action. I'd love to see a council who have clear oversight of what WCC the organisation (and contractors etc) are doing and who can find common ground to deliver remediation and positive change.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

On cycling - this needs to be a priority for safety, easing congestion, and reducing emissions. This needs to include improvements that let kids get around on bikes and enable new cyclists to build up skills safely, with wide shared paths like at the waterfront and the war memorial. Regarding the central library - the current set up of pocket libraries in the CBD is fantastic, and I'd rather keep that then spend a lot on fixing the old building.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It's long overdue that WCC actually made some quantity of cycle infrastructure. It's heartbreaking to see what little progress has been made over the past 10 years, despite it being in your 'plans' - plans actually means you go and do it WCC, it doesn't mean it was a heartwarming idea! The other day 16 people were riding up Brooklyn Hill before Washington ave at 5:30pm - imagine how many there might be if you actually built some infrastructure? Build it and they will come! - as we have seen in so many places overseas. E-bikes have changed the landscape for us too, by making Wellington's hills more accessible with less fitness. Why are people still at risk from reversing cars on Thorndon Quay? Why has NOTHING happened between Island bay and the city? Go out and do it WCC! Us ratepayers require it from you. Once we do - it will actually make things easier for cars. It's why you can drive around dutch cities like Utrecht at 8am without traffic jams.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

WCC really need to lift the pace with getting cycleways delivered across the city. The current progress is glacial. If you want a more livable city, and a more densely populated city (rather than spreading out forever) then you need to make improvements to make the city more attractive and livable - continuing to enable more and more cars (whether electric or ICE) isn't the answer. You need to enable people to substitute using a car, and instead use a bike or walk; but before you can do that you need a full and connected network of cycleways. Your observation that it is not possible to build cycleways because Wellington doesn't have the experienced contractors to deliver them seems ridiculous - why do anything if you take that attitude. Do you think it is worth Wellington Water improving more pipes more quickly, cause we know we don't have the experience to do that either. Do you really think we should re-develop the library as a one off activity - as obviously we have minimal experience in doing that as well...and so on, with many examples. I find it cynical that you call out 'cycleways' as specific area of comment in the long term plan - the improvements here should be inbuilt into our plans each year. As an example: * you haven't called out folk to comment on the replacement/improvement to 'kerb and channel', yet cycleways should be in exactly the same bucket * in fact cycleways should be built by default whenever kerb and channel is replaced (including the removal of on-street parking, which should be better repurposed for transporting people, rather than storing cars) * a recent example being replacing kerb and channel in lower Taranaki St to look exactly the same, when instead as part of the upgrade improvements car parking should have been removed, kerb and channel moved out 3 metres, and a cycleway put in place. If you were able to better link cycleways to a more livable city that also helped with the climate crisis, instead of calling it out as a single item, you would get more buy-in. Instead, by singling it out, you are ensuring feedback is negative, suggesting WCC don't really want to improve things for cyclists. WCC Councillors made a commitment to a Climate Emergency recently - by building more cycleways more quickly, you are ensuring that you get more people into active transport options, and reduce use of cars. Otherwise that declaration was just another cynical hollow statement by councillors. Finally just a reminder, that building cycleways isn't just to get a better city, it has a very tangible immediate benefit- it stops people being killed and injured while they are forced to cycle on the road with large vehicles!

not answered

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

Rates do need to go up significantly each year to continuing paying for the bare minimum of what we need. Proportionally rates are minimal compared to the amount of income tax, and gst that is paid by each household. You should be promoting much more the concept of individual ratepayers being able to borrow against their house asset to pay rates ie deferred rates payment for up to 20 years or so - this especially applies to those over 65, who may no longer have an income, but have enjoyed outrageous asset value increases on their house over the last decade. Once they have died and the estate is settled then any rates owing [including interest] to the council are paid out of the estate.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Wastewater laterals
Cycleways
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The library restoration should shelved and reside in the the old library. There are plenty of art galleries that can take the the art work. Cycle ways if revenue neutral yes otherwise .. not important. The most important is water and sewer infrastructure that trumps all other activities. Meaning that other activities are nice to have and should be put on hold. This includes the "Get Wellington moving" pie in the sky plan. Remember it is RATE payers that pay for your salaries and capital and operational activities. It would stupid not to listen to "RATE PAYERS" I mean the persons on the RATES DEMAND. We wouldn't want to go down a rates revolt path now would we ?

I support decreasing spend in the current budget.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

As previously stated. Water and sewer relations projects are the top priorities. All other wish list items should be treated as no important and shelved at this time. User fees and charges will only have a negative effect .. and will enforce the view that Council is only interested in penalising rate payers. But having said that if your aim is for force older people out of Wellington City by this stance .. be prepared for a Rates Revolt. Finance is cheap currently, so increasing the debt levels, when council is on seen as having a high debt compared to others. Remember we do not have to pay for it now, as future generations must pay their fair share also. Maybe the logical way to move forward for infrastructure only as this is the number one issue and quiet frankly shows the incompetence of the council and its officers up. Get Wellington Moving is a joke and needs to be put on hold. There is no justification to be spending billions when we are the laughing stock of the country due to mismanagement and incompetence of the water and sewage systems. Not to mention the lack of redundancy for DR.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The impact of climate change for future generations is pretty clear at this point and I think we need to address climate change as quickly and as most effectively as we can - whether it's through getting people out of their cars (by prioritising cycling, walking and public transport - all of which come with a number of other benefits for people's health and wellbeing), implementing Te Atakura to its full extent, and by reducing methane gas from our landfills. Climate change is the problem I'm most worried about for our city and I want to see us change and move towards a greener future.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

1. Water -many cities and towns in NZ meter water and charge for supply, in Kapiti since water was metered there has been over a 20% decrease in water usage. When things are free they aren't valued, and its pretty obvious we waste a lot of water, which then puts more water into sewage, storm water etc. By having some user charges would mean a lower rates increase. WCC charges for rubbish so why not water supply. 2. Central library - why do we need such a big library in centre of city. Ask first what are the services people want, how often and where. Digital books are growing, lower income people may well make far more use of suburban libraries than the central library. There is also a growing digital divide with many lower income people not having good / if any internet so these services should take preference over reference books that can be archived. Why not make it smaller ( Christchurch City library is a good example). And expand some of the suburban libraries. The office space should be sold - people want the services of a library in a pleasant space, why then have office space owned by the council. When trends are that more people will work from home and less office space will be required in the CBD. 3. Te Atakura and Cycleways - given our biggest emissions are transport - cycleways (and better infrastructure for PT , ie more bus lanes) are hugely impt as a way to reduce our carbon emissions. The most densely populated part of Wgtn is southern and eastern suburbs. Many people from Island Bay and Kilbirnie drive through Newtown and the biggest employer is the Hospital. There needs to be an integrated network of cycle lanes from all parts of the city and through the CBD. So its crucial that we don't wait any longer for LGWM, for 5 years they and WCC have consulted and in 10 years we have 16km of new cycleways. There is no point 'upgrading' Island Bay cycleway if it goes nowhere. Its OK as is, what's MORE impt is that it goes via Newtown into the CBD. Also missing are routes from Karori, Northland, Aro Valley, Khandallah. Without an integrated network of cycle lanes you wont achieve Zero carbon. NOR will you achieve a compact, accessible city taht is environmentally sustainable. 4. Sludge - having an alternative means of treating sludge is vital to reduce carbon emissions and enable organic composting which will then reduce the amount of waste in the landfill (on average 30% of landfill is organic) which will save us building a new landfill. In Christchurch (who have had organic composting for 12 years )- Sludge is treated at The Waste Water Treatment Plant. They have anaerobic digesters that generate methane, which is then used to dry the material to create bio solids. These go to Living Earth. For the kitchen waste, it is a cost to ChCh Council to compost kitchen and garden waste at the organics plant. However, this is significantly cheaper than sending it to landfill. Also, when the material is composted, the carbon dioxide generated, is offset by the application of compost, as opposed to the methane gas generated from landfilling it, which would result in the much greater impact on emissions/climate change to boot.

Q18. You can attach any other document supporting your submission here. (Please ensure that the information is on the 10-year Plan)

not answered

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I somewhat oppose the proposed budget.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

I support decreasing spend in the current budget.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

No where in any of this is there consideration of cutting costs or having more user pays; 1. Staffing there seems to be unnecessary bureaucracy (as anyone who needs resource consent can tell you), staff seem to have jobs for life, why does the WCC need to run pools or sports centres, they can often be run more efficiently by commercial operators. When ever I go to the Pools or ASB centre there is a lot of staff doing very little. Contractors - road projects seem to take huge amount of time and when you go past sites you see why, invariably a significant % of the workers are doing nothing. More users charges - it costs to use a pool, or sports venue, go to the Zoo BUT nothing to go to the art gallery, Wgtn Museum, WHY? Why is TePapa free, in just about every other country it costs to go in a museum or Art gallery. Even in the UK (the only other country they are 'free', you have to pay for a plan of the place, the Nelson Museum isn't free, neither is the Otago Settlers Museum nor Auckland Museum. Parking fees - there is a huge amount of free parking in Wgtn, with very limited residents parking and what there is is VERY cheap. There needs to be far more residents only parking and an increase in fees. In many suburbs, eg Karori, Island Bay, Miramar, Strathmore a large % of homes have off street parking but its free and 'easier' to park on the road. Meaning cycle lanes arent put in, and council gets no income from people using roads to store their private property.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
 Cycleways
 Te Atakura (climate change)
 Sludge and waste minimisation

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleways comments I support option 4 committing $226 Million over the next ten years to build a fully-connected cycling network by 2031 I support prioritising new cycling infrastructure in places that support journeys by children and other vulnerable road users I support doubling the Cycling Minor Works Budget to $2 million per year I support creating a new dedicated funding category to deliver rapid changes to the urban environment, such as Low-Traffic Neighbourhoods, Parklets and Innovating Streets improvements I support ring-fencing the cycling budget so that money allocated for cycling is not used elsewhere Deliverability of Cycleways I support funding to hire more staff to increase the council's capacity to deliver cycling projects and other transport improvements I support streamlining and reducing the frequency of consultative processes in order to reduce the time, resources and budget spent to deliver cycling projects I support the reallocation of existing road space over the creation of new road space in order to minimise the costs of cycling projects Accountability I support the council setting clear and ambitious goals such as a target kilometers of new cycleways delivered and target percentage increase in cycling modeshare every year. These targets should be set higher than existing baseline levels I support the council providing better information around cycling expenditure, such as breaking down the cycling budget by project and providing clear and accessible information when the allocated budget is not spent Funding I support the council increasing rates further to fund essential infrastructure for cycling Three Waters I support the most ambitious option of accelerated Investment for three waters infrastructure. Te Atakura I support fully funding Te Atakura - First to Zero, the climate action plan for Wellington. Sludge I support investing in sludge minimisation to reduce sewerage waste to landfill and reducing the risk that sludge will need to be carried around the coast by truck. I support the council delivering this project through debt rather than an external funding model.

Other issues I support increasing parking fees to encourage mode-shift and improve parking availability and turnover. I support investing more into road resurfacing so that higher quality road surfacing is used that better supports comfortable journeys by bicycle. I oppose the provision of funding for carbon intensive projects such as the Wellington Airport expansion and new roads to enable suburban sprawl.

The funding limit appears to be set at a level that might be appropriate in an environment of 10% interest rates. A present, it looks more like an ideological fiction being used to kneecap WCC's ability to address the issues facing it.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Do the full cycleway option-take the money required from the Three waters as the variation in cost between the three waters options 1 & 2 is 10 times the difference between the cycleway options 2 & 3 I want to see the very last cycle route on the list happen; around the Miramar peninsula to Lyall Bay & Owhiro Bay This is still projected to take 10 years, s,o for the planet, we need to get started on making active transport a real option The council should be encouraging this work - if it's known there's work there for a significant few years, people will set up companies to do it, I expect.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Please increase rates. Wellington's rates are clearly too low to pay for good council service. Sadly Wellington is starting to suffer from urban blight. I live in the inner city, and there has been a significant increase in anti social behaviour, and clearly a large number of infrastructure problems. Please just increase rates so we can enjoy a safe, modern city.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The council needs to be prepared to borrow substantially more. We are in quite exceptional circumstances at the moment and not doing things properly could have severe consequences for the future. Many other councils are increasing borrowing and this should be no different. The council should substantially increase borrowing to fund the projects identified and to keep rates rises to a minimum. My understanding of the sludge situation is that by added an extra charge we are calling on people to pay for an essential service. This should be completely council funded and not involve extra charges. IT should be paid for by an increase in borrowing. Yes there will be costs further down the line but these can hopefully be shared more equitably in a time when we haven't just had a economic shock and aren't in the middle of a housing/rental crisis. The funding earmarked for Te Atakura is good but unless it is accompanied by things such as a substantial increase in spending on infrastructure such as cycle lanes then it is pretty tokenistic.

Everything possible should be done to avoid user charges on essential services. The borrowing cap needs to be increased, as these are quite exceptional circumstances with many big budget items needing thorough attention.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Whatever the future plans are for Wellington City and Region, be they in housing, transport or Climate change, they will be costly wastes of funds unless the Council begins by replacing the ageing and inadequate piping systems that carry our fresh and contaminated waters to and from our dwellings. Wether we like the disruption or not, the Council needs to begin replacing pipework at one end of the city and just keep going until all is more than adequate for a growing population. While the roads are being dug up, anyway, a new 'light rail' public transport system could be installed, along with any telecommunications 'wiring' as each piping length is completed, thus ending the constant digging up of road surfaces. Every one knows that unless foundations are good, building anything is a waste of money and a modern city's foundation is it's water and energy supplies.

When raising the cost of Rates, please consider the incomes of ratepayers, especially those whose property/rating values have increased beyond what they can afford. People having to leave their family home of 20-40 years just because of rising cost of rates is not what a caring community is about.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Before investing more on cycleways that many cyclists don't even use (wants), we have to focus on existing infrastructure that isn't working (needs). Let's stop raising rates for publicity projects and focus on the things that matter to the majority like water infrastructure and reopening the public library.

I support a small increase in the budget to focus on critical infrastructure (water and fixing the public library) but don't support an increase for nice-to-have projects like more cycleways. The council also needs to look at overall spending and where budgets can be cut (such as catering for council functions, publicity and arts funding).

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

We need to get on with three waters and to say don't have information to costs and direct our investments is an excuse - this is a 10 year plans so get on with it and stop under resourcing. Laterals we should get in line with other councils. Cycleways seem to be a feel good for councillors and just eat up money with no proper consideration of best placement and impact on others. Consultation is made with cycle options but no opt out options so looks good for those advocating for cycleways. We need to save costs so no more unless government funded. Climate change needs to be funded but we have to be realistic about affordability - fixing our infrastructure will have a bigger impact. Central Library precinct should be funded through sale of long term lease. The decision to upgrade the main library instead of rebuilding is short sighted and those who voted for it will need to explain any over runs. Sludge minimisation through alternate funding is just rates by another name so I do not support levies as they just push up ratepayer costs but make council look good because they can say we did not put rates up to pay for it. This is a core service with the WCC being upfront on costs to ratepayers. Ratepayers cannot afford increases proposed by the WCC so any pet projects need shelving. Already we are seeing the WCC build cycleways etc while at the same time cutting funding for community services which should be a core activity. The auditor has raised the question of funding WCC housing but this is not addressed - this should be addressed as part of the ten year plan as it impacts on all other decisions. Is it time to get out of housing?

The fees and user charges changes seem very small to me. I would like to suggest that some more nuanced thinking is done on who the intended audience is for a particular service, to see whether a larger increase can be proposed. Regarding the rates increase, there is probably going to be a big outcry. Nonetheless, I believe that people who are able to afford houses in this city, will also be able to afford increased rate. In addition, I understand WCC's residential rates are actually lower than rates in other areas, such as Lower Hutt or Palmerston North, but I would guess that the average salary in Wellington is higher than in those places.

Te Ngākau funding for future work

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Te Ngākau Civic Square is an important - and very rare - masterplanned place central to Wellington's identity. Whatever its future is need to be masterplanned and considered in terms of the whole precinct. Deciding to demolish two beautiful buildings without establishing a comprehensive masterplan or vision for the future of Te Ngākau Civic Square is irresponsible and would result in an irreversible destruction of Wellington's most rare and iconic places. It's possible that the demolition of one or both buildings may make sense at a future date, but to demolish them without a clear idea of WHY now does not make any sense. I sincerely hope the Council rethinks this preferred option proposal.

With Wellington facing significant growth and change in the near future, it is surprising to see none of the big decision items in this LTP relate to urban development, urban design, planning or placemaking (other than the ill-informed recommendation to demolish two of of Te Ngākau Civic Square's essential buildings). I get that we need to fix the pipes, but as Minister of Local Government Nanaia Mahuta is saying at the outset of a significant NZ Local Government, Councils are more than pipes and roads. Councils need to lead the way for creating places that enable the flourishing of communities now and into the future.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

In general the council should be bold in its investment programme, and the programme should be publicly led. Both to support Wellington's economic recovery post-COVID, and to better support the cities long-term sustainable development objectives. Furthermore, in the present low interest rate environment it is logical for the country to leverage the Local-Government Funding Alliance to secure large amounts of debt at very low interest rates. Looking to private sector funding for critical infrastructure is a fallacy in the current economic climate, does not produce realised savings, and can lead to perverse outcomes (cf. transmission gully). Thus, the council should be bold, and do it itself, leveraging its own balance sheet and asset base to get more debt financing. I appreciate the constraints on council debt to income limits, but hopefully the government will see some sense and get rid of these.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

I support rates increases, but urge a higher debt limit for the reasons outlined earlier. New Zealand governments (local and national) are great at avoiding combatting underlying long-term issues with small bandaid fixes (the rates funding paradigm drives this short-term thinking). In an environment where low-interest rates unlock debt financing and scope for public led investment in sustainable, long-term infrastructure (whilst also supporting jobs and the post-COVID economic recovery) it is a no brainer. Thus, I simply urge for an ambitious and intensive investment programme, aligned to climate and equity objectives, underpinned by increased debt financing.

The Wellington Heritage Week Trust recommends that the council commits staff and financial resources to an annual heritage festival that supports the city and region's historic people, places, and stories. Over the past five years, Wellington Heritage Week has proven that there is a business case for a heritage festival that unites the region, supports local businesses and communities, and attracts tourists. The festival has grown to become a central event in the cultural calendar of the city and region, with many residents and businesses planning for their involvement a year in advance. It creates innovative partnerships between businesses and community organisations that uplift their capacities, grows their memberships and customers, and reach new audiences. The festival attracts 6000-8000 attendees annually, including tourists from Auckland, Napier, and Christchurch who travel to the city specifically for the festival. However, Wellington Heritage Week is run exclusively by a volunteer organisation and its long-term future is unsustainable. Its volunteers are unable to maintain the festival over the coming years without considerable integration with Wellington City Council's staff and operations. Many attendees, including the council's staff and government organisations, assume the festival is already part of the council or Heritage New Zealand. Auckland, Christchurch, and Dunedin all have committed council teams delivering their heritage festivals. While this assumption fits as the city classifies itself as 'New Zealand's creative capital' and boasts its heritage, the current volunteer structure cannot do the job that the council should be delivering. Therefore, the Wellington Heritage Week Trust recommends that the council commits to leading a heritage festival in the future.

Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The use of an SPV for the sewage sludge does not seem to help transparent government or the long term financial resilience of the city. It fudges the city's true debt levels by moving them into a special purpose vehicle (which was actually meant for new developments, not core infrastructure anyway). No-one outside the council leadership is fooled that this is really not borrowing that should be accounted for as such, and a poor form of borrowing at that. It adds cost by introducing an otherwise unnecessary intermediary. With interest rates at historic lows this is a perfect time for standing up and plainly saying this is the time for the city to borrow for clear future benefits. The sleight of hand may well come back to bite the city. The proposal favoured by the council for the Civic Precinct omits important considerations from the debate. 1. The calculation presented talks about operational cost, rates impact, capital cost and debt impact. It achieved favourable results in these dimensions by ignoring the impact on the asset base of the council. Essentially, it is privatising the site, but the plan does not show the cost to the city's true assets – the real value of such an organic, integrated complex at the heart of the city is not trivial. It's assuming the value of the site is its next best use – but it's actually much more valuable to the city than its next best use would suggest. 2. Wellington City would actually lose a significant amount of its ability to initiate and lead the choices made for the character of the civic square. The 10-year plan misleadingly suggest that "the community" will have a greater scope for reimagining the area – but that is a not true – in fact the community's control (to the extent that the council represents the community) of what will be done with the southern half of the site is pushed to arms length and diminished to an attenuated veto right, not the full control it now enjoys. It seems rash for the council to cede so much control over the heart of the civic presence in the centre of the city without a clear-eyed look at what it is giving up – the distinctively civic character of a space that is a key pivot linking the CBD and Te Aro. And certainly not when it's in the middle of taking a long hard look at the use of the area – it's pre-judging that more community-focused uses won't emerge for the locations. 3. Generally it shows a terrible lack of vision for the ways in which citizens can potentially interact with their city representatives and institutions that a National School of Music is the best use of the site that the council can come up with. There is a significant permanent opportunity cost to the potential of the city in selling off such an irreplaceable site in a way that makes it difficult for the City to reclaim the civic square area for Wellingtonians in the future. It will, I think, be seen as a tragic loss when a more imaginative and connected council comes along with ideas for more civic-oriented uses – advisory, participatory and celebratory - and all for a financial fudge that fools no-one (except maybe the council).

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

The proposed fee increases are outrageous. Car parking fees and time limits are bad enough already. This used to be the coolest little Capital when you could park for free at weekends. Now you can say goodbye to weekend visits and just watch the retail decimation. I, and others I know, will not come into town to shop when we can go and park free at shopping malls. The recent rates increases and proposed future rates increases are not fair and not affordable, Rates is now one of my biggest costs and it goes up and up and up when my salary does not. We should not have to pay for the incompetence of councilors in their use of our money. And this goes back historically. I watch every councilor on their voting when it comes to increasing fees or spend. Shame they are not held to account like in private industry and just lose their 'hobby' role. I know I'm wasting my time with this submission but at least I feel better for it. 95% + who submitted to the original car parking fees at weekends were against it but the council did it anyway. Majority also were against a rates rise after Covid lockdown but Council did it anyway. The Council may have lost some revenue but taking more off people who'd lost income wasn't the way to address it. Your listening and this feedback process is lip service only.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

3) Cycleways: I am suspicious of what is happening with cycleways - Porirua to Takapu Rd was really well done, but Island Bay was the complete opposite, and is an accident waiting to happen. 4) Te Atakura: with its subsidies, this is much lower priority than most of the rest of the programme, and should be funded by central govt, if desirable. 6) Central Library: having decided on an option against the weight of public opinion, Council should either now get on with it, and stop flirting with alternative options with more floors, or see my comments under note 11 below. There are other issues that have almost been swept under the carpet, and need to be addressed: 8) Let's get Wellington Moving - this is misnamed - Let's Slow Wellington down would be more appropriate. If it goes on, it will squeeze all the life out of the CBD. 9) Wellington airport - how much money is hidden somewhere to fund this? A previous mayor was offering $95M of Council money for runway lengthening. And then we read that the airport was expecting an outrageous $78M as a grant or loan to strengthen the end of its runway. The airport company should be told to go go its bankers or all its shareholders pro rata. 10) Frank Kitts park - totally unnecessary redevelopment 11) Wellington convention centre - this was a vanity project, and may now need to be repurposed - it should be evaluated to take over as the new Central Library. 12) The Council has to do a better job of budgetting, rather than relying on increasing its spending far faster than the rate of inflation.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Water ways - I think this should be the main focus for the council as it impacts everyone and if there were to be an issue it could become a massive and safety issue for the individuals impacted. Wastewater - I think ownership should sit with the property holder, there could be a lot of preventative things homeowners can do and if owned by the council this will shift preventative care. Cycleways - Whilst this is a great idea. I think there are more pressing items and this should be put on hold for now and readdressed in a couple of years. The current cycleways in Kilbirnie are DANGEROUS for both cyclist and drivers and need to be rethought before more are created. Climate change - Slow incremental changes have better buy in. Option 1 best reflects this. Council buildings - Sell them off, it is a huge cost to cover maintenance. Most Government Organisations and Agencies only rent and the council should be no different. Library - The cost to repair is ridiculous! Books a read less and less and more people are using online resources. I think it is important to have a space for learning, studying and reading but I feel the cost is far greater than rates payers should consume. Is there an option to demo and start again? Or build a smaller space? Sewage - I also believe this is an important investment. I equally like option 1 or 4.

Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Civic square: "Te Ngākau Civic Square is NOT the musical, creative and democratic heart of Wellington". You've overstated the importance of Civic Square. There are many nicer and more functional spaces around the city. No one wants to hang out next to the council offices. Sludge and waste minimisation: Positioning a levy on ratepayers as an "alternative funding source" to a rates increase is unbelievable. It is the SAME funding source - RATEPAYERS.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Investment in 3W infrastructure: I get Council concerns re funding and workforce capacity, however, I consider that the state of 3W is so parlous (because of many years of underfunding and inaction), that drastic action is needed now, and that Council should work hard to find ways to make it happen. Cycleways: similar comment to 3W. I used to cycle to work (for 6 years or so) but gave up because of the risk involved. I consider that we have had a really low level of cycling infrastructure for far too long. I'd really like to see radical action to bring about a widespread and safe cycling network throughout the city.

Cycleways
Central Library

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I never thought of myself as a likely cyclist, and only learnt to cycle in my late 20s. So I've been riding a bike for about ten years. For just on a year now I have been a regular cycle commuter, choosing cycling almost every day. While I hate the wind and the rain and my helmet-hair, what I hate most is freaking out when I don't know where to cycle. The cycle lane ends or I'm at an impossible intersection and I don't know how to navigate it. Lycra-clad cyclists make it all look easy but it's people like me - unexpectedly prompted to try cycling, cares vaguely about the environment, willing to give it a serious go as a main form of transport - who need better cycle infrastructure to feel confident and safe when I'm out on my bike. And its people like me passing up on driving every day that will make a difference to our carbon emissions. I even bike out for drinks or to brunch in the weekend now. But look, crossing the city to places I don't go frequently can be really challenging and saps my sense of confidence about choosing this transport option. That and finding places to park and lock a bike - its getting tougher all the time as there are more bikes to compete with. I also recognise not everyone is sympathetic to this view, so I endorse the Council's preferred option (#3) of significant investment. Library - just get it done already, we're all losing too much by not having a central place. But please take a strategic look at what could be accomplished, don't replace like for like. Yes put the apartments on top to pay for the development. And spend some time at Turanga in Christchurch - it's amazing and the children of our city deserve something as inspiring and as inclusive. Even just looking at the 'what's on' and the vast variety of community uses of the space will get you motivated.

Te Ngākau funding for future work

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I don't agree with the consultation on the selected 'big decisions'. Council should be focusing on alternative futures and consulting on the packages of integrated measures that contribute most effectively to each 'future'. For me a future involving good transport choices and effective management of environmental impacts are the priority, and i would be happy to accept rates increases for that future. I don't support building structures to house libraries and council services at this time. Council assets should be landbanked for future time when we can afford to provide those structures. Don't shut off those options by selling the assets, but no need to build within the next 10 years.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

As a cyclist who commutes daily, I would ask the Council to please focus its efforts on finishing its current cycle lane work programme and delivering a stronger public transport network. The proposed investment in cycle ways is excessive and poor value when factoring in the numbers who actually cycle in the city, given the weather here. It is far more important to get a bus rapid transit system in place and improve road access through to the airport. With regard to the climate change funding, the council's proposal would pile substantial cost on ratepayers for negligible benefit, other than to say it is doing something. The same is true of the central library. It is not worth keeping at that cost and should be sold or demolished, with an alternative site found for the library.

I support the Huetepara Park project in Lyall Bay. It is a good use of space and would liven up that area at minimal cost. Toilets would be very handy too, particularly for families.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

1. Investment in three waters infrastructure ===== I think we should move towards metered water use - and charge accordingly. This might help minimise usage and waste, and attribute costs more fairly. We should also see if more can be done to increase local water generation & use: rainwater is fine for garden watering and toilet flushing, and will lead to decreased strain on drinking & stormwater infrastructure. 3. Cycleways ===== I agree with funding the maximum amount, to build a well-connected cycleway system across all the main corridors. I'm saddened to not see Karori-CBD cycleway included (which I understand is part of the failing LGWM). Would be great to see at least localised tactical improvements to that corridor - I feel that it has still an unrealised potential: topography used to be a big stopper, but now with e-bikes everyone and their grandma can make it down and up to Karori: I cycle around with my 6-year old kid on the back, and my wife does so daily with a toddler. Here, I'd like to urge the council to go one step further and push for policy change that makes cycling, walking and public transport into first-class members of our transport network - each of those should be funded at least to the same level as private car infrastructure, if not more (due to historical under-investment). "Business as usual" roading should evolve towards allowing more change. Current policy uses money unfairly. For example, in Karori (my neighbourhood), recent Allington Rd maintenance meant resurfacing, redoing kerbs and footpaths - and kept everything as it was. This was a major missed opportunity: Allington is a street with sizeable volume of bike traffic (mountain and commuter) where also many children and parents walk, scoot and bike to school and to the bus terminus. However the street's design prioritised (and still prioritises) cars to the exclusion of all other groups: footpaths are 1m wide on one side, 1.30m on the other, while the road and car parking comes at 8m. Let me repeat this: only about 20% of the available width is allocated to walkers, riders and children. It's impossible to pass another person walking on these footpaths, let alone a child scooting, while there is a copious amount of space allocated for stationary cars that hardly ever move. This is by no means an isolated example - rather, it represents typical mindset for road design that we should be slowly moving away from with each renovation. Our fixation on cars is unhealthy, and this needs to change. Our POLICY should be putting the most vulnerable first - children, walkers, scooters, bikers - and only then, when those are protected, cater to largest, most dangerous and unhealthy transport mode - cars. 4. Te Atakura (climate change) ===== I completely support moving towards carbon-free and climate-just. I however purposely chose "none" here, because of the proposal's heavy focus on EV (car) infrastructure, which I disagree with. I think we are missing a crucial point: it's not "internal combustion engines are a problem." I think it's "2-tonne vehicle is used to ride around 70kg of human is a problem." EV change should be deprioritised and hidden from the agenda. It will happen anyway, because of our society's love of cars, and we will be missing a massive opportunity: to get people out of cars altogether. If we keep encouraging car use, we will find out that we are just moving problems around - from Huntly burning gas, to overseas miners digging cadmium with a shovel. Our society should be owning up to overutilisation of resources: water, air, soil nutrients, energy. The best way to slow the climate change is to REDUCE our footprint, NOT change it. Switching from internal combustion car to EV shifts strain to some other system (electricity grid) that now needs to be built out and maintained, increasing overall pressure on the ecosystem. On the other hand, switching from 2000kg car to 20kg bike slashes the footprint 100-fold: where previously the society could sustain 1 person's transport needs, now it can sustain a 100. In summary: EV movement is a bandaid on an amputated leg, and my understanding is we will soon enough find out we are just shifting the blame for our oversize footprint. Thank you for your work.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleways are going to be a key component of Wellington's future, I would encourage approaches to test and build dedicated, grade separated cycleways, cycling tunnels, bridges, etc wherever possible. Having said that, regarding Te Atakura - while the goal is admirable, I don't believe council can really afford the 'extras' in this project, at this point in time. Fortunately, Wellingtonians are generally pretty conscious of climate change as a rule, and a council project probably isn't necessary to get most of us enthused and involved in making greener lifestyle decisions.

I think the council needs to think very carefully and be VERY transparent about its income and its spending, given the proposed rates increases and serious underinvestment in critical services. It's also not clear from the documentation accompanying this survey why some of the preferred options - which involve third party funding - still require increases in rates or levies - especially when the problems being solved are ones the council has chosen to create, such as lowering waste into the landfill by a significant amount at this particular point in time. I realise these are worthy goals, but council has effectively chosen an arbitrary target and timeframe, and is now handing over the bill to ratepayers who still can't get reliable public transport.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I now rely 100% on shared vehicles like Mevo and Uber as I have decided not to own a car. It's important these services are encouraged and expanded. If these services do not continue to be encouraged I will need to buy a car which would go against the goals.

Cycleways
Central Library
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

1.) Investment in safe, fully separated cycleways is imperative to meeting our cycle goals. There is a lot of latent demand for cycling that requires infrastructure that does not require cyclists to mix with traffic that tends to treat cyclists with aggression. 2&3.) MOB building has far more heritage values than the Central Library, why is the council so keen to demolish one over the other? The consultation on the library did not give the council this mandate. I don't know why the council have separated this into two separate projects, there could be a lot to be gained by treating this as one big project, giving a chance to reallocate land and building use within Civic Square. I propose retain and develop MOB as planned for the school of music, demolish CAB and build a new library on that land, attached to MOB as a wider arts/cultural building (MOB could be demolished as part of this plan if it results in significant cost savings). The library would then be demolished and the site would be developed to be used for council offices and apartments. I have preference that the council retains ownership both buildings and land. If the council owned civic buildings/library were rebuilt taller on smaller footprints perhaps a parcel of land could be freed opposite the Police Station. This land could be developed for apartments/offices in a similar funding/ownership arrangement as waterfront/Michael Fowler carpark.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

I want to make a general argument for increased upfront costs. It's clear that many of our services have been underfunded and now need to be fixed, with Wellington due to become a lot denser, the cost of underfunding and delaying is only going to skyrocket the more we delay the inevitable. Spending the money now will allow Wellington to grow into a denser city more gracefully without water issues and larger numbers of commuters within the CBD and inner suburbs choosing active modes of transport.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

My overall comment is that Council must move quickly and decisively. Many of these 'big decision' items have lingered too long. Wellington is falling behind and the lack of action is really noticeable. A decent cycleway network should not have taken two decades. The civic square should have been rebuilt already. More investment in core infrastructure (three waters) is an absolute no-brainer. The oversized focus on the debt limit is preventing this city from being liveable. Key message: do everything faster. Stop pissing around.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The cost of living is rising exponentially, but my wages are not. The notion of my yearly outgoings rising for things which have no bearing on me personally, as a person who works full time (the library, biking.) makes me terrified. I want stability. I want to be able to afford to heat my home. I don't want to pay for things that I won't use. Water and infrastructure strike me as much more important... but again, having just mortgaged myself up to my eyeballs to achieve home ownership in the city my week to week is tight. I'm scared, honestly. Truly the most earnest feedback I can give you. I work in local government, so I get it... I really do. But I feel like there is little consideration for the generation of people who just brought homes at a ridiculously high price (to escape equally ridiculous rent) and are now being asked to pay for things that just... mean nothing to them.

Ratepayers receive what they pay for through rates first and the rest of the population who want to use the place can pay for it. Councillors and vested groups and brown nosers too long spending other people's (ratepayers and user pays) money and haven't done anything to improve the city for at least the last two decades.

Ratepayers have in most cases benefited from huge increases in property values, while the interests of renters and would-be home owners have suffered badly. It is entirely reasonable that a much larger (but still small) part of the recent windfalls should be contributed to attending to Wellington's massive infrastructure problems. The proposed rates increases are, I would judge, the very minimum that is required and justified. A scheme may be required where those who have genuine difficulty paying rates can defer payment until the property is sold.

Te Atakura (climate change)

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The intention to create SNA's on residential property in the district plan is bad policy that will result in poor indigenous biodiversity outcomes for urban Wellington. The current plans will see 18.2% of Wellington's land (~5285ha) become a SNA. Yet the Te Atakura (climate change) plan does not include any allowance for addressing the significant loss in land value (Darroch report) and cover future and ongoing costs for landowners with a SNA. If the Council intends continuing with the plan to privatise the costs for SNA's while socialising the benefits of SNA's it must (in good faith) make allowance in its 10 year plan to properly compensate the ~1696 landowners. Failure to do this will likely reduce efforts by many landowners to enhance their native bush. Alternatively, the Council could decide that creating SNA's is not warranted and instead could work alongside (partner with) landowners to achieve better indigenous biodiversity outcomes for urban Wellington. I expect this would be a significantly cheaper option too.

Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

While I support the demolition of the MOB and CAB (and subsequent new construction), I am opposed to the long term ground lease as a means to pay for it. I believe this is a missed opportunity, and that the council should instead explore funding the construction through debt, and recovering capital expenditure through, for example, rental of office space. I say this because: 1) A ground lease arrangement will provide very limited value for the council, and foregoes the opportunity to invest/develop the land and make a greater return by renting out your own office space. 2) The council's need for office space is not going to go away. Renting your facilities (or the land under it) in that context doesn't make any sense, you are taking on debt in the form of a long term lease at a time when the cost of actual borrowing is as low as it gets. Another way to put this is, ask yourself 'how would someone leasing the ground from us benefit (why would they otherwise), and is there any reason why the council couldn't do the same'. I doubt selling or leasing long term is the highest value option, and think this should only be considered as a last resort.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Wastewater laterals
Sludge and waste minimisation

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Investment in three waters is critical for health, well being, environment and (residential) development. There is little point increasing dwelling numbers until significant, robust infrastructure is being repaired and replaced under urgency. Sudden stormwater or waste failures need to be captured, retained, pumped or diverted by intelligent systems to mitigate or prevent waste to ocean occurrences. Reinstating streams and ponds instead of piped stormwater networks will literally provide transparent proof of a healthy, aquatic management system. This should include wetlands and native bush before ocean outfalls to mitigate harmful runoff. Wellington should be the prime example of excellent water management. Preventing waste draining to the ocean by clear streams demonstrates the entire city must be extremely good at looking after the health and integrity of its people. It is unfakeable. Cycleways are important for some however water infrastructure is necessary and critical for the health and good of everyone.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

When the get Wellington moving project has made little progress over a long period of time investing in more cycleways seems an extraordinary waste of money to probably slow things down again. Books and papers are becoming a bit like dinosaurs and rebuilding a library seems quite shortsighted when what is housed there is moving towards extinction

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I somewhat oppose the proposed budget.

---

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

I support decreasing spend in the current budget.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

In a city where pipes are suffering from years of under spending on maintenance I believe it is important to focus on that and defer indefinitely spending on things like convention centres, cycleways and libraries. Pipes should be the priority and ratepayers should not be expected to face continually increasing bills for programs that fit in the nice to have category rather than essential

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I would like the Council to focus on its core functions only, mainly water and sewerage. Cycleways are nice to have in 70km/h or higher zones but don't pass any cost/benefit test in lower speed areas and are a waste of money. Climate change initiatives should be aimed at adapting to warmer temperatures only. Again the cost vs benefit of reducing emissions does not stack up (mainly because the benefit is indistinguishable from zero). There should be no further investment in large buildings of any kind. Let the private sector take that risk. Sell them and rent space somewhere for the library and similar activities.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The reopening of the central library is the main priority for me in this 10 year plan. How I wish the council would have decided to demolish the "not fit for purpose" current building and take the opportunity to rebuild a Wellington Central library fit for the digital age. Strengthening and refitting will always require compromise and give the town hall strengthening, I have serious concerns that the cost will be even more expensive than budgeted for passing increased rates onto the Wellington rates paying public for years to come.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

My motivation for my selections on all the big decisions was the same: it is *killing* me to see the council making short-term, short-sighted choices that will cripple the city for decades - maybe the entire rest of my life - over fear about raising rates and/or the debt cap. As a city we are facing big, existential problems: climate change and the effects of the Kaikōura earthquake. The only way to solve them is with bold action. Spending now will be much, much cheaper in the long run than continuing to stumble along patching things up. Build an effective, city-wide cycle network to get cars out of the central city. Fix our water infrastructure. Fix our civic buildings. Commit to action that will reduce our carbon emissions fast. As a ratepayer, I am continually astonished by the pettiness of these debates - for example, the Option 4 cycleway plan will cost someone with a $4k rates bill an extra $20 a year. A YEAR. That's less than one day of parking in the CBD! For a citywide cycle network which will move tens of thousands of people! When you consider ANY of these numbers in terms of the individual impacts on actual ratepayers, they are incredibly good deals. Stop thinking small, stop underestimating the size of the challenges we face, stop acting as though your job is to keep rates as low as possible forever, and FIX OUR CITY. The best time to do it was ten years ago and the second best time is right now.

Raise the goddamn debt limit, interest rates are at an all-time low and spending now is ALWAYS going to be cheaper than spending in a decade or fifty years. Imagine how much cheaper all these plans would be if some current Councillors hadn't consistently voted for cheapskate options to keep rates low over their careers. IMAGINE.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Investing more in cycling makes sense. - helps meet the Council's carbon reduction goals - builds resilience, improves safety, connects communities - is popular - saves people money by cutting their transport costs - therefore boosting local businesses - is great value for money as Govt meets half the cost - helps us get more out of PT investments - most Councillors campaigned on this - supports denser and affordable housing - is consistent with Te Atakura, Spatial Plans, Urban Growth Plans etc - riding a bike is awesome fun.

Wellington urgently needs to step up its game in providing a liveable city - a safe and useable cycle network, and rebuilding of the Central Library are a huge part of that. The water / sewage system repairs are also urgent. The convention centre should be far, far down the priority list - it adds literally nothing to the lives of everyday Wellingtonians. I'd much rather see that project paused so that funding could be redirected to the things we actually need and want.

I think the plan is very reactive and problem focussed, as opposed to opportunity seeker and creator. While fixes and maintenance are needed, we need to invest in opportunities to grow our city and its economy to really create room for wide and strong investment, not a compromised one.

Possibly the most transformational investment this city could make. Let's not worry about self imposed debt limits, we have to spend to make cycling a safer alternative to driving and meet emissions reductions targets. Be bold!

Please see uploaded document re the removal of CPI increases for WCC funded charities/grants.

Submission – WCC 10 Year Plan

From Age Concern Wellington Region

Date: 29/4/21

Since 1976, Age Concern Wellington Region has been serving seniors in our city through creative programmes and activities. It would be impossible to count how many seniors have been impacted by our work in that time.

Today, we reach over 450 Wellington City seniors every week. Whether it be through our visiting service, falls prevention programme, walking service or social connection groups, seniors across our city are developing meaningful social connections, resulting in more resilient communities.

Our funding comes from a range of Councils (we operate across the whole Wellington Region) and grant making bodies. We are grateful to the Wellington City Council for their funding of this important work.

However, it has come to our attention that the CPI increase that would normally be applied to charities receiving contract funding from WCC, like ours, has been removed as a cost saving.

We strongly disagree with this decision as it effectively represents a reduction in our contract funding. Charities, in general, are very good at ensuring every dollar is spent wisely as funding can be very difficult to come by. We experience the same increases in costs that everyone else does and these cost increases can have a big impact. The recent increase in the IRD mileage rate for example will have a significant impact on our budget.

While a CPI increase may only be small (2.2% approved by WCC for 2021 contracts), it does allow us to keep pace with overall costs increases associated with running a charity.

Please reconsider this change as we feel it will have a detrimental impact on the entirety of the wonderful work undertaken by WCC funded charities in the city.

Kind regards

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I am comfortable with increasing council debt in the current borrowing climate. I have some concerns with Te Atakura, in as far as it seems to place a lot of emphasis on EVs, which I take to mean cars. I would like to see a shift to supporting public transport AND ebikes over EVs. We need to be reducing the motor vehicles in circulation not just shifting to personal EV (cars). I absolutely, passionately believe the cycleways should be accelerated. Even with meagre investment, the public has embraced ebikes as a viable vehicle alternative. We can absolutely accelerate the shift towards more active transport and reduce congestion (and vehicle-based infrastructure costs) if we spend an extra few dollars a month per household. The quicker we do this, the quicker we can stop having the same old circular discussions about how this can't work in Wellington (wind, hills blah blah – all negated by ebikes) and actually make change happen. As a sweetener, this is a really visible progressive move and will stop Wellington looking like Auckland's backward cousin! We very much need this injection – Working with young people, very few of them view Wellington as a vibrant, progressive place to live any more and the foot-dragging over cycleways is definitely part of that.

Wellington needs SUBSTANTIAL investment in order to be a liveable city and as a rate payer I WANT to pay for it. I want to pay for water and waste infrastructure, I want to pay for cycleways that don't result in deaths, I want to pay for the library. Please please please borrow more, raise the debt limit and make our city as brilliant as it can be. I'll pay.

Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycling infrastructure is decades behind where it should be in a modern city. Every day I worry that myself or my partner will be hit by a vehicle and seriously injured due to the woeful infrastructure currently on display. Ratepayers should not have to sacrifice safety to commute cheaply in a sustainable manner (walking/cycling/bus etc.). Full investment and commitment to a greener, more liveable city should be a priority.

Q18. You can attach any other document supporting your submission here. (Please ensure that the information is on the 10-year Plan)

---

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I somewhat oppose the proposed budget.

---

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

I support increasing spend in the current budget.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

Allow ratepayers to cut living costs by enabling active transport (walking/cycling ) as a viable safe alternative to cars.

Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Wellington needs safe cycling infrastructure. Almost every day when I bike to work I feel unsafe - today I was passed by a car about 20 cm from my handlebars on a narrow street with parked cars. The driver was at fault, but the lack of infrastructure means that these incidents happen all the time. The lack of cycling infrastructure is puzzling. The Newtown connections cycle lane, was supposed to happen years ago, but its not clear if this is even in the long-term plan. Yes its difficult, yes there are compromises, but the present situation is just not safe.

Cycleways
Central Library

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

At present, it is statistically more dangerous to be a road user (driver/pedestrian/cyclist) than it is to frequent earthquake prone buildings. The construction of a comprehensive network of protected cycleways and a car-free CBD would offer greater public safety benefits than strengthening of the central library. When considering the carbon reduction benefits of active transport it is clear that cycleways offer a better return on investment.

Make car parking even more expensive than what is proposed if we truly want to encourage uptake of public transport or ride-sharing. Also remove street car parking on narrow roads to discourage car ownership and to make more room for cyclists

Te Atakura (climate change)

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Council has been woefully inadequate at delivering cycleways so far. Given the climate crisis, the need for mode shift and the urgent need to protect Wellingtonians currently on bikes and those who will ride in the future you must go with option 4 high funding for an accelerated programme. Also the Western suburbs have been ignored so far. A cycleway on Glenmore Street is urgently required and plans for Chator Street and Karori Road need to be developed/socialized.

The debt limit is too low and 225% is arbitrary - borrow more for key strategic projects. Increase housing supply. Consent more apartments across the city = a broader rating base. Use road maintenance funds for broader living streets improvements. Start delivering low traffic neighborhoods by actively closing through streets to cars in residential areas.

More Type 2 chargers should be installed in central Wellington and either be free of charge until RUC costs for EVs are introduced or subsidised by 50% to offer EV users incentive to take their EVs into the city for shopping, entertainment etc. These chargers should be positioned at community centers, shopping centers and other places of interest in Wellington e.g libraries, sports grounds, Oriental Bay and supermarkets. Council should help fund type 2 charges for supermarkets in the city to attract shoppers. A perfect spot would be in the parking lot at 133 Tory Street which includes The Warehouse, Noel Leeming and Common Sense organics. Auckland city currently provides free EV charging for a limited time frame to encourage EV uptake.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

On three waters investment - the Council puts forward significant funding options for three water infrastructure (which are necessary given the extended ignorance of Council leadership over the last 30 years). However, with the new central government driven three waters reform program that will likely see water investment/management taken away from Council it is imperative that Council be transparent to the city about what will happen to the allocation of funding for three water investment in this LTP once the obligation to fund it shifts to the new water organisations/central government. This cannot turn into a slush fund to then use for pet projects. Once this funding that is set aside is released by handing over responsibility of three waters, half should (transparently) be directed to Te Atakura and half should go back to paying down debt or minimising rate increases in the later years of the LTP. On Te Atakura the difference between options 2 and 3 is too minimal and barely discernible. Given the crisis we are in we need step change and now is not the time for baby steps. Option 3 should be bigger and better and more inspirational. The only difference it has is quicker delivery of Business climate action support. We need more and quicker. On central library - I (like many) still feel unfairly overridden by the Council (even though it exists to represent local communities interests) for it overriding the 42% of submitter's on the library that said demolish and start again given the average nature of the heritage behind the library. The Council must take responsibility for further failures for the delivery of the library from here on out - budget blowouts and delays cannot be accepted.

Fee increases for services and experiences that make Wellington what it is (e.g. botanical gardens, rec centres, sports) must be limited on the basis of COVID-19 world impacting rate payers incomes and livelihoods. Consistent fee increases will stifle the ability of wellingtonians to engage and take part in the city. Increases to things that are part of our drive to climate change are fine by me.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

MORE CYCLING is vital. For climate, health and road congestion benefits--the advent of electric bikes and improved safe, continuous cycleways could transform our city. CLIMATE CHANGE has been deemed by the council as an emergency. it therefore needs maximum funding possible. Action not words. THE CENTRAL LIBRARY was a vital community hub--much loved and used. To restore this icon it needs urgent attention. Keep it in public hands.

LTP needs policy on Low Traffic Neighbourhoods

Submission by Simon Louisson. This submission draws on the work of The Shared Path: People not cars at the heart of communities, by Holly Walker of the Helen Clark Foundation

If there is one positive thing the global COVID-19 pandemic has given us, the lockdown showed us how we can reclaim our streets from the dominance of cars.

During the lockdown, we walked the streets without fear of being mowed down, kids could play, and there was a feeling of euphoria about that. It was an incredible, positive unintended consequence of lockdown.

“Before Covid-19, we might have agreed that yes, streets with very little traffic did sound nice, but privately dismissed the idea as unrealistic,” writes Holly Walker in her Helen Clark Foundation paper:

The paper quotes responses from a survey taken during the lockdown: Women in Urbanism Aotearoa by Auckland University researcher Dr Kirsty Wild:

“My anxiety levels are lower. I feel like I can utilise my time outside with the children on walks or bikes without the ever present usual vigilant checking for cars.”

“We are still careful but I feel a sense of freedom I haven’t experienced before with three little boys racing off on bikes or wanting to run past driveways.”

“It is a bit easier to head out the door with my kids. Having lower traffic means less risk with multiple kids, one on a bike or scooter and the other in the pram”.

“We are walking more for many reasons, but low traffic certainly encourages us to get out and explore as a family.”

“I live in a relatively low-income neighbourhood with lots of young families and elderly flatters. People are outside taking walks, scootering, learning to bike, chalking, gardening, and so on much more often.”

Walker states that the lived experience of quieter streets during lockdown has led many to ask: now that we have experienced low-traffic streets and neighbourhoods, and found that we like them, what can we do to keep them, without the need for lockdown conditions?

As Aotearoa dealt successfully with Covid-19, there has huge celebration in the return to normality – how things were before.

This submission argues that not everything should return to “normal”. We should take this huge positive of the lock-down – people reclaiming the streets -- and build it into a specific policy, namely developing Low Traffic Neighbourhoods (LTNs).

Such a policy could be the building block for a wider policy based that see Wellington join the Slow Cities movement developed by Dr Rodney Tolley, Research Fellow at Staffordshire University <https://thefifthstate.com.au/columns/spinifex/time-to-hit-the-brakes-on-the-hurry-virus/>

Dr Tolley and the Slow Cities movement is trying to upend the entrenched shibboleth that “faster is always better”. That myth has resulted in transport that has a damaging, costly legacy, including road deaths, pollution, physical inactivity, noise, community severance and the health impacts of the climate crisis.

Most of all it impacts the liveability of cities, and issue that should lie at the heart of WCC's LTP.

He argues an effective, yet largely overlooked strategy to combat many of the global challenges facing humanity, involves simply "slowing down".

"Lockdowns prompted by the COVID-19 pandemic have allowed millions of people around the world to experience elements of what a 'slow city' has to offer: safer and quieter streets, space for people walking and cycling, children and families playing in local streets and meeting neighbours, cleaner air and the return of birdlife,' Tolley says.

"Now that people have seen the transformation with their own eyes, heard it with their own ears and breathed it with their own lungs, they can appreciate personally what they have been losing, bit-by-bit, from a lifetime's pursuit of speed in the city."

Achieving "slow cities" involves reducing the speed of motorised traffic and rearranging land uses to shorten trips..

One of the easiest stepping stones to achieving a slow city is by creating LTNs - something the WCC long-term plan is largely silent on.

What is a Low-Traffic Neighbourhood?

A LTN is a group of residential streets where people and active transport has priority and motor vehicles in access and speed. Motorised traffic is directed to identified through-roads which border the people-priority low-traffic streets. People who live inside the low-traffic neighbourhood can drive directly to and from their homes, arrange deliveries, and be accessed by emergency services, but speed is limited on those streets.

To work, LTNs needs to be quite small; ideally, residents should be able to walk or wheel from one side to the other in less than 15 minutes. This equates to roughly one square kilometre. They are also most effective if they are part of an integrated, city-wide plan and network of connected LTNs, so people can cross easily between neighbourhoods to access key destinations, and in order to keep main arterial routes safe for all.

A beauty of LTN's is that they can be built up progressively, one-by-one. Experience overseas suggests that while there may be pushback at the beginning, once people in other neighbourhoods see the advantages, they clamour to be next in line.

Case study: Waltham Forest, London, UK

In 2014, the London Borough of Waltham Forest received £27 million from Transport for London for the Enjoy Waltham Forest programme to ensure local streets were suitable for all users, whether walking, cycling, using public transport, or driving. This included the creation of several low-traffic areas within the Borough. The first of these, for Walthamstow Village, was completed in 2015. As of 2019, there were three low-traffic village schemes completed, with one more underway.<sup>24</sup>

The aims were to: 1) reduce the volume, speed, and noise of traffic outside people's homes; 2) improve road safety for all users; 3) make the area easier and safer for people who want to walk and cycle for local journeys; and 4) make the village areas more attractive for residents and visitors.

Following significant community consultation and engagement, as well as data collection to establish baseline traffic volumes, speeds, and road safety measures, a number of key changes were introduced. In the first six years, these have included:

- 26 km of new separated cycleways
- 62 new or upgraded pedestrian crossings
- The introduction of new traffic calming measures, including 51 new modal filters, as well as new one-way restrictions, and timed road closures to reduce traffic on residential streets
- The creation of 31 new public spaces known as "pocket parks"
- The planting of 700 new trees
- The creation of new cycle parking facilities

- Improving intersections to help traffic flow on main through routes
- Upgrading bus stops and improving their locations to make public transport more accessible.

A 2017 review of the Walthamstow Village scheme found that traffic volumes decreased significantly on the majority of roads inside the low-traffic area. On the average road, traffic volumes decreased by 44 percent, and on some roads by up to 90 percent. Average vehicle speeds also decreased. There were no collisions inside the low-traffic area in the first eleven months after its creation. Residents reported significant decreases in traffic noise and speed on their streets. They also reported walking on average 32 minutes more per week and cycling nine minutes more. Despite concerns expressed before the changes that diverting traffic onto main roads would slow buses down, this did not eventuate. Residents and visitors overwhelmingly reported that the attractiveness of the village had increased as a result of the changes.<sup>25</sup>

As the changes have taken root since the initial funding, they have extended to include not only technical changes to road layout and urban design, but also education and access schemes to encourage active travel. These include free cycle training and bike maintenance for all residents, community bike-share and cargo bike hire schemes, a contestable community walking and cycling fund, and temporary closures of school streets at the beginning and end of the school day to encourage active school travel.<sup>26</sup> Enjoy Waltham Forest is also focused on ensuring that disabled people can access and enjoy the benefits of the low-traffic neighbourhood. For example, since March 2018, it has operated an all ability cycling club, which uses trained instructors and various modified cycles – including relaxed tricycles, recumbents, wheelchair bikes, hand-cycles, and side-by-side bikes – to remove some of the barriers to cycling for disabled people in the area.<sup>27</sup>

Image credit: CK Travels / Shutterstock.com

Enjoy Waltham Forest's projects have won 25 awards for their excellence in architecture, design, cycling promotion, health promotion, and sustainability, and have been shortlisted for dozens more.<sup>28</sup> There is evidence that life-expectancy in the area has increased by up to nine months as a result of the residents' more active lifestyles.<sup>21</sup>

The success of projects like those in Waltham Forest have prompted more low-traffic neighbourhoods around the UK, especially following the challenges of Covid-19. Since May 2020, more than 200 low-traffic neighbourhood trials have been launched in more than 50 UK council jurisdictions as a result of £250 million of emergency "active travel" funding from central government.<sup>22</sup>

Benefits of low-traffic neighbourhoods

Living Streets calls LTNs "the single most effective method of increasing active travel". Hackney council in London proved that with a series of "modal filters" introduced between 2001 and 2009 across the borough, in that time, car trips halved and cycling doubled.

People living in LTNs talk about hearing more birds, a stronger sense of community, and the pleasure of seeing young people on bicycles on roads that are much safer.

- Residents love living in low-traffic neighbours because children can play safely on the street
- Transforming the street into a recreation space means housing can be intensified with all the ensuing greening benefits of that
- Well-planned and executed LTNs can dramatically reduce traffic volumes, not only in the streets within the neighbourhood, but also in the surrounding residential area
- Improved air quality and lower carbon emissions

- Turnover for local business generally increases
- House values, and therefore rates, likely to rise because LTNs are perceived as more valuable
- Increased road safety
- Greater health, equity, and social connection, increased physical activity and even longer life expectancy
- Encourages active school travel
- A big step towards the goal of making Wellington the most liveable city on the planet

Principles for introducing a low-traffic future

- Be ambitious
- Engage the community and listen.
- Make the process tika (right and just)
- Plan large areas together

How can LTN be established?

- Setting a goal of establishing LTNs in the long-term plan
- Establishing WCC policy on setting up LTNs
- Passing bylaws allowing set-up of pedestrian priority streets and limiting speed
- Creative deployment of wider footpaths, bollards and planting
- Traffic calming measures to slow traffic down, direct drivers onto main through roads
- Measures to encourage residents to make greater use of alternative modes such as walking, wheeling, or cycling for short local trips.

How to successfully implement LTNs

For communities willing to consider low-traffic neighbourhoods it is recommended:

- Start local conversations
- Build coalitions of support
- Gather evidence and demonstrate demand to local and central government
- Address practical concerns about how it will affect residents' daily lives
- Address the concerns of those living in the streets that are designated through roads
- Address accessibility issues for the disabled, ensure alternative transport is prioritised
- Address local business concerns
- Use existing funds and schemes to demonstrate benefits

Getting traction

- Traffic reduction tends to be framed as a personal choice but leaving it to motivated individuals to initiate change in a hostile environment will not work
- Policies that can secure change at scale are needed to enhance people’s daily lives and improve their transport experiences.
- Rapidly accelerating the implementation of LTNs in Wellington is a an important and simple way to do this.

Central Government financial and policy encouragement

Since 2019, Waka Kotahi New Zealand Transport Agency has been partnering with councils around the country via the Innovating Streets Programme, a fund to which councils can apply for assistance to make temporary or semi-permanent physical changes to streets, test permanent changes and prototype new designs, and involve communities in actions that help them to re-imagine their streets and neighbourhoods.

In June 2020, the Government announced two additional rounds of funding for the Innovating Streets Programme to make it faster and easier to transition streets to being safer and more liveable, and to specifically help councils respond to the challenges of Covid-19, such as widening footpaths to enable greater social distancing while encouraging safe outdoor physical activity.

Initiatives funded through the programme to date include projects to improve the safety of school streets in Auckland, creating temporary “play streets” for children in Auckland, New Plymouth, Lower Hutt, and Christchurch, and improvements to the Octagon in Dunedin.

Crucially, the fund has now approved the development of eight low-traffic neighbourhoods around the country in a mix of low and high income neighbourhoods, including three in Auckland in Maungakiekie, Eastview and Papatoetoe West.

Cycleways

Te Ngākau funding for future work

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The council has a history of significant under-delivering on useful cycleways. These cycleways are under-utilised especially in poor weather . Therefore it is hard to support increased funding until issues with the completion, and use of the existing cycleways are resolved. The preferred option of funding via a levy is just cosmetic, be open and fund via rates rather than a pointless way if trying to hide the cost from ratepayers who pay regardless of whether it is via rates or a levy.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I don't think we should spend so much on the library. Money better spent elsewhere and use alternatives for library, ie convention centre that is going to be empty for most of the time! We have 3 inner city library and libraries in the suburbs - put more funding into these.

A managed retreat option should be considered Explore the option of using treated sludge in capital compost - is it completely off the table?

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Would love to see a cycleway developed from Karori to CBD as parts of the journey are quite unsafe (e.g. where the Chaytor St, Northland road corner is and the bus lane starts is a very dodgy intersection. Would be great to see more recognition in the LTP of the alignment between the growth strategy, urban design and transportation strategy, climate adaptation planning (e.g. Te Atakura) and development in coastal areas, including the Te Ngākau development. Great idea to remove the ambiguity and confusion around the wastewater laterals.

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The Central Library, while an historic and important building, requires significant investment to return to its previous point. With the current climate of COVID uncertainty and other more pressing issues to solve in the next 10 years that may require more funding (waterways, sludge and climate change), WCC shouldn't burden itself by exceeding the debt limit now. This is a project that can wait until a time where WCC doesn't exceed its debt limit. With the pop-up libraries and the Waitohi hub, there are plenty of quality alternatives that can fill the gap left by the Central Library.

Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Research shows that to support people cycling it is necessary to provide a fully connected network that allows people to cycle to wherever their destination is safely. Only Option 4: Accelerated Full Programme has the potential to deliver this. Safe journeys for vulnerable road users such as children should be the highest priority. I support doubling the Cycling Minor Works Budget to $2 million per year. I support creating a new dedicated funding category to deliver rapid changes to the urban environment. You must ring fence cycling funding and deliver on your promises, and be more transparent. Don't take cycling money to fix up the library or other projects you can't afford. Come on Wellington, you're falling behind cities in Europe and the US with your short-sighted transport and climate change policies.

I support increasing spend in the current budget.

Increase your debt limit! Ridiculous that WCC is borrowing less money as a percentage than Christchurch, Auckland or any other major NZ city. Especially given the state we are in and the cost of debt right now.

Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I would love to see Wellington with a fully connected and safe cycleway network, so that more Wellingtonians are encouraged to travel by bike and we get cars off the roads, reducing congestion, aiding in our carbon reduction, and ultimately making our city a more desirable place to live. This programme of work deserves a high level of investment to do it properly, with safety at the forefront, - that means protected cycleways and not just painted paths.

Wellington Equestrian Advocacy Group

SUBMISSION TO GREATER WELLINGTON REGIONAL COUNCIL LONG TERM PLAN 2021

WEAG is a sister group to The Kapiti Equestrian Advocacy Group (KEAG) and other regional equestrian advocacy groups being formed across the country including the Wairarapa Equestrian Advocacy Group and the Manawatu and Tararua Equestrian Advocacy Group. All of the Equestrian Advocacy Groups operate under the umbrella of the recently formed New Zealand Equestrian Advocacy Network (previously New Zealand Equestrian Advocacy Group).

Following is the WEAG submission to the Wellington City Council's Long Term Plan.

WEAG request that:

1. WCC consult with WEAG regarding the many existing areas currently promoted as equestrian access to resolve current access issues. Just a few examples of these areas and the current barriers to access are:
  - a. Te Kopahou Reserve which is included in the Outer Green Belt Plan as equestrian access on the farm tracks but is not promoted for horse access in any documents or signage. In addition, there are gates in place to prevent vehicle access which also prevent equestrian access. There is no process by which equestrians can obtain keys for access.
  - b. Access to Mt Towai on the Eastern hills but there is no gate access to get there.
  - c. Belmont Hill-Pauatahanui public road is missing from the Lower Hutt Tracks and Trails Brochure and also has locked gates at both ends.
  - d. Sweetacres track is also missing from this publication
  - e. The firebreaks in Lower Hutt are supposed to be available for equestrians, but again, there are locked gates and keys are refused.
2. WEAG (and other relevant advocacy groups) are consulted as stakeholders by WCC in all future roading, recreation or other plans which have or could have an impact on equestrian access in the area.
3. Parking areas are developed for horse floats and trucks on WCC land where tracks are open to equestrians to provide easy, safe access to multiuse paths and beaches. The parking areas to include hitching rails and mounting blocks.
4. Appropriate signage is in place to highlight equestrian access and educate other recreational users, for example regarding who has right of way and control of dogs.

5. Consideration is given to the safety of equestrians who are required to ride on or close to roads in order to access recreational tracks. This can take the form of awareness through improved signage in higher use areas, advertising, greater inclusion of information during driver training, consideration of equestrian use of cycleways or footpaths when necessary.
6. WCC's definition of a shared path is updated to a Multi-use path to ensure Cycling and Walking tracks include Bridleway wherever possible. Make this a starting point of all pathway design. Including horses on more tracks will assist in reducing equestrian use of roads and instantly improve their safety.
7. Install mounting blocks and hitching rails along WCC tracks, especially alongside toilets and on either side of any gates or other areas where dismounting is required.
8. Councils Develop and install a cross region Equestrian access system for parks and trails. Establish a Working Group of Equestrians and staff from Local and Regional Councils to develop this system.
9. WCC consider the development of Equestrian tourism. WEAG believe there is opportunity to extend the development of 'horse camping' (as proposed by KEAG for the Kapiti region) to other parts of the greater Wellington region. For example, the recent Te Kopahou draft network plan has suggested a hut be built for overnight stays. WEAG request that due consideration is given to making this hut horse-friendly to allow for overnight stays by visiting equestrians and to consider the possibility of encouraging 'horse tourism' in other areas where overnight facilities already exist.

We are aware that horses are perceived as more difficult to accommodate than other recreational user groups and are keen to work with councils and other stakeholder groups to remove any real or perceived barriers and ensure that equestrians can become an accepted and supported recreational user group.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The best investment the council can make in assessing climate change is via protected cycle ways. We need to stop mucking around and consult once on 3-4 city wide options for a full set of cycle ways. Stop consulting on every car park- we will never get to carbon zero that way. Their move the funding for te atakura away from pet projects and on to cycle ways. Second if we can't aid to fix the library then don't.

Increasing safety and accessibility of cycleways will promote the use of this form of transport. This will have great impact on reduced GHG emissions from cars and will improve the health of Wellingtonians by using active transport.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

We need to take cycling seriously. No point in 'tactical projects to encourage people to shift to cycling as key form of transport' if the infrastructure for safe cycling is not there. The northern suburbs need safe cycling paths to encourage kids and whānau to cycle to school and activities. Where there are cul-de-sacs, we need council to implement road to road cycle path connections rather than no connection or tramping track connections (e.g. disappointing outcome regarding connecting Prestbury Grove to Ohariu).

Wastewater laterals
Cycleways
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Wastewater laterals: This was a very backhanded move by a previous council to introduce in the first place (decades ago?), and I'm glad to see it reversed. Please ensure that this kind of decision making (offloading public costs to a few unlucky households) is discouraged in the future. Cycleways: if you are serious about climate action, fully funding the Programme must be a priority. Unlike other factors like the bus network, success is 100% under council control (outside of LGWM funded routes). Please consider doubling the minor works budget, since initiatives like bike parking can make a big difference. I'm really hopeful on the great work around "tactical urbanism", especially as a commuter on the Brooklyn hill route. Please enable more of this. Lastly, please deliver on your budgets with actual projects, rather than just consulting on numbers in a spreadsheet. The last LTP has seen $16m cycling budget unspent, which is unacceptable. Ring fence this budget. Future of work: As much as I don't like voting for more privatized input (long term ground leases) on civic square, it's the lesser evil. Please ensure that the council retains a significant say in the design of these spaces, and rebuild it as a functioning public good at least on the ground floors and outdoor areas.

Thanks for communicating this so well in the LTP consultation doc, makes me proud to be a Wellingtonian to see this quality in content and design. I've read through most of those 80 pages, and learnt a lot. I wish that more of this would be available on the web first though, making it more mobile friendly.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

1. Support Option 4 to build a fully connected network by 2031 Research shows that to support people cycling it is necessary to provide a fully connected network that allows people to cycle to wherever their destination is safely. Only one option proposed in the LTP has the potential to deliver this and that is Option 4: Accelerated Full Programme. Therefore, I strongly recommend supporting this option. 2. Prioritise children before seawalls One change from the previous LTP is the reduction of priority for a connected cycle network in the northern suburbs of Johnsonville, Newlands and Paparangi. This network of cycle lanes in the northern suburbs would provide a connected network to support over 2500 children to cycle to school at Newlands College, Newlands Intermediate and four primary schools in the area. I think that safe journeys for vulnerable road users such as children should be the highest priority. 3. Double the Cycling Minor Works Budget to $2 million per year Doubling this budget to $2 million per year would vastly improve the council's ability to provide parking and other minor improvements over the next decade. 4. Create a new dedicated funding category to deliver rapid changes to the urban environment I think cycle lanes could be delivered quicker, easier, and cheaper with the addition of a dedicated fund for this type of work. Currently the LTP suggests this work could be funded out of the already limited Minor Works Budget, but I think the scale needed to deliver a connected cycle network over the next decade requires a well-resourced and dedicated fund. This fund would also deliver public space improvements outside of cycling in the form of Low-Traffic Neighbourhoods and parklets. 5. Ring-fence cycling funding I think the cycling budget should be ring-fenced to ensure that any money allocated must be spent on cycling and not reallocated elsewhere.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It is my submission that we need to do a lot more to encourage active transport in Wellington. Accident rates in the city are high so we need to make cycling a lot safer, as well as more convenient. Shifting people to active transport has a raft of health, economic and environmental benefits. Recent research led by Christian Brand (University of Oxford) has shown that cycling is 10 times more important than encouraging electric car usage in shifting society to net-zero emissions. I would like to see a fully connected cycling network by 2031. I would like to see cycleways for vulnerable users prioritised, particularly those in the northern suburbs to help kids safely get to school. I'd like to see more financial support allocated to cycling improvements such as bike parking. The parking cage in Grey St has been amazingly popular and is often full. There is insufficient parking outside many central city civic buildings, including our libraries and in commuter-heavy areas such as The Terrace and Lambton Quay. I'd like to see innovative cycling solutions trialed and financially supported by council. These include things like painted dots on roads, lower speed limits, pop up cycleways, painted shoulders, and road separation. These can be implemented quickly and relatively cheaply. I'd like to see the funding for cycle improvements ring-fenced and not re-allocated to other funding shortfalls.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Central Library
Te Ngākau funding for future work

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three waters - While I acknowledge the need to invest the debt needs to be spread out over a number of decades to acknowledge the long term nature of these assets, rather than be paid back quickly as indicated by the peak and then large reduction in borrowing to total revenue over the 10 year period. Central Library. I do not support any of these options. The Library should be considered alongside the CAB and MAB as part of an integrated plan for Civic Square. The information on the CAB and MAB was not provided to the community at the time of consultation on the library, as a result this decision should be revisited. The ideal solution would be demolition of all the buildings and the Civic Square redeveloped in an integrated way that would encourage people and business into this location.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

For the water infrastructure, I'm concerned and frustrated that none of the options provided will fix the problem. The way Wellington's water infrastructure is designed is outdated - where is the option that designs a system for the future, one that can sustain population growth, and doesn't require replacement every 50 years? For the Central Library, considering how high the rates are going to be raised over the next decades, I think it is irresponsible to be spending so much money on a central library. Libraries are important - what's important is having space for people to gather and learn and share. I don't think keeping the building for the sake of heritage value is as important as having an affordable central library that everyone can access.

I'm concerned that the increase in rates and public service fees proposed - combined with the increased rates proposed by the Greater Wellington Regional Council - will make living in and owning a home in Wellington unaffordable for myself and others.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

The council has been publically talking about massive rate increases over the next 10 years that are simply unaffordable for Wellington ratepayers. Any rate increases over the level of inflation is going to be a significant financial burden for many people so any of these programmes being consulted on that will result in a further increase is just not acceptable. Due to the Council's failure to maintain the water infrastructure, it would benefit from extra funding to accelerate improvements. But this should not come at the cost of extra rates, it should come from deferring, cancelling or reducing less critical programmes of work. This is what is called working to a budget and normal practice for private businesses. I enjoy cycling but given the council forecast is dire and the need to find fund for water infrastructure, so cycle ways, climate change and waste minimisation should just be deferred until the council can afford them without further increasing rates. I was also a massive user of the central library but again, work on a replacement should wait until it can be afforded without increasing rates. The council has proven to be the most incompetent building owner in Wellington with the central library building and council office buildings only lasted 30 years. The council would be irresponsible to repeat that exercise and expose Wellington ratepayers to the cost of additional failures. to the development and ownership of buildings on council land at Civic squared should be left to competent private companies. The council has also proven to be incapable of designing a library with the Johnsonville and CBD libraries being community centres with very few books, and the books that are there are mostly at knee level. So again, please leave the design of the replacement central library to a competent private firm that has a track record of designing real libraries.

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I strongly oppose the proposed budget.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

I support decreasing spend in the current budget.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

The council governance needs to be improved to ensure that it does not repeat the mistakes that have got it into the financial hole that it thinks requires massive rates increases to fix it. This is no use if the council does not learn from its mistakes. The following governance topics need addressing as throwing more money at the problems is not a sustainable solution.

1. Council Purpose. Wellingtonians vote the council in to work on their behalf to deliver core council services as efficiently as possible. It is obvious to most of us that many councillors have other agendas including political party and personal ideologies. Even when ratepayers are struggling to recover from the financial impact of Covid, we see councillors lobbying for their pet projects to make a name for themselves and voting in ideological or political blocks.
2. Ensuring council assets are competently designed and maintained. The council buildings and library at Civic Square being an example of buildings failing after only 30 years and at a massive cost. The Water infrastructure is an example of council infrastructure that has not been competently maintained, resulting in many failures and significant costs that were not budgeted for. There is no reason other than incompetence that there has not been an ongoing planned and budgeted programme to renew the infrastructure as required.
3. Managing to a budget that is affordable to Wellington ratepayers. The council's reaction to any funding requirements appears to be increase rates. Any non-government business has to work to a budget or they fail. Continually increasing rates is unaffordable to Wellingtonians, including ratepayers and renters who pay indirectly. The council governance should learn what the rest of the world knows and that is there is a budget ceiling to work (ie close to the level of inflation) and that their large programmes have to be prioritised. Funding for the critical projects (eg water infrastructure) has to come first and the lower priority project just have to wait until they can be afforded within the budget ceiling. Plans for 13.5% and rate increases demonstrate that the council is completely out of touch with ratepayers and renters who cannot afford any cost increases of that magnitude. Their incomes are flat or only have very small increases in times of such low inflation.
4. Decision making. The decision (& the process) to fix rather than replace the central library made the council a laughing stock. The initial council to repair the library at a higher cost to replacing it made absolutely no sense. And the subsequent manipulation of the cost estimates and consultation appeared very dubious. We all know that the repair option has much more risk and the costs will balloon out once the work begins

Other programmes:

1. Let's Get Wellington Moving. Instead of what the Green party wants the council should actually plan to improve the transport experience for Wellingtonians. The programme lists planned improvements on Thorndon Quay and Hutt Road, the Golden Mile as well as several pedestrian, cycling, public transport and amenity improvements across the city. However these are not major bottlenecks to travel in Wellington. The council should identify the actual bottlenecks eg vehicle congestion at the Mt Vic Tunnel / Basin Reserve and a poor bus service (since the great improvements) and work to solve those. Yes, that will involve working constructively with the regional council but surely that is possible for adults without having to resort to amalgamation.
2. Further divestment opportunities. Given the scale of the financial hole that the council has created, then divesting non-core assets should be a top priority.

Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I love Wellington, and I love cycling, however, the two do not go together very well. Given the climate change goals, I would prefer to see increased investment in public transit first. Public transit should prioritise cycle transportation, so that more cyclists can safely access the existing cycleways. Until more cars (parked and moving) are off the road, cycling throughout Wellington will likely not be attractive enough to the numbers of people that would make investment in more cycleways worthwhile.

Cycleways

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I am really concerned about the lack of progress that this Council has made regarding cycleways. I don't cycle myself as I am concerned about safety - but if there was an improved network of cycleways around Wellington then I would be much more inclined to purchase and use a bike. Both of my sisters cycle quite frequently to and from the CBD and talk about how great it is. My concerns are that I don't want to share the road with impatient motorists and bus drivers. I also don't think paint on the roads is enough - drivers ignore this and there seems to be very little education for motorists about the bicycle lanes. It would be great to get more people out cycling around Wellington instead of driving cars. Where I live between Island Bay and Owhiro Bay the bus timetables have been ruined by Metlink and without a car living here is quite difficult. I would consider buying an e-bike but I'm too worried about all the cars on the road. Please consider cycleways a top priority - especially with climate change being the biggest issue we are facing. Thank you.

Cycleways
Central Library
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I am really concerned about the lack of progress that this Council has made regarding cycleways. It has taken years to do basically one route (which is not yet finished) around the Bays. I think if we continue to push the building of cycleways further down the track we will be years behind where we need to be. We should be following overseas examples like Seville, Paris, London who are rolling out a network of cyclways fast to encourage people to leave their cars at home. The key word being 'network'. The current council approach to consult and then sit around for several years and do nothing for essentially each individual cycle route is not working. I also don't think we should sit around and hope LGWM does the work (because it isn't). The key routes that Council should be focussing on are from Island Bay into the city, Newtown/Berhampore connections, and a route from Karori. Even in the last year or two cycling numbers have increased so much. The Adelaide bus lane is becoming a default cycle lane because usually there are so many cyclists there is no point in the bus trying to weave in and out between them and so just sticks in the car lane. This is only going to become more of an issue over time, not less. Cycleways are infrastructure that will last over several generations and therefore should be funded in part by debt, so that all the generations that benefit contribute to the cost (debt is not a bad thing in local government, it is user-pays and should be used appropriately). Stop adhering to a self-imposed debt limit when the interest rates are good and investment is needed. I will also add that all councillors and council should be reminded that paint is not protection. More accidents will occur and more fatalities. This is a health and safety issue and should be treated with the utmost urgency. I also want to say that if a council that has declared a climate emergency does not actively move to build more cycleways then I really hate to use the term, but that to me is clear virtue signalling. This is one of the key things that would get people out of cars (just see the popularity of the Bicycle Junction cargo bike trial for families) and to sit on our hands and put off for at least another 3 years is not good enough. Be bold! Cycleways benefit everyone - the drivers that don't like having to constantly overtake bikes, the health system (riding bikes is good for you), the cyclists (who are less likely to be killed or maimed), families that can bike safely to and from school. With regards to the library - everyone wants it done - get it done. I can't believe we're even discussing putting it off for several years. With regards to Te Ngākau Civic Square. I think demolish the gross pink council building but keep the Municipal building (the art deco looking one). This is a heritage building and used to have a beautiful facade with a garden out front - connecting to the city. I think we should try and recreate this. We also need a far better connect from civic square to the waterfront. Maybe a cut and cover so the road can go below for part of the way along Customhouse Quay. Understand that wouldn't happen for some time but at least think about that in your plans.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Te Atakura: I strongly support full funding of this plan. WCC has declared a climate emergency, yet seems to regard and present action as an optional consideration - this is not good enough. With a very small number of individual exceptions, Council as a whole has provided weak leadership on this important issue and looks feeble and out of touch. I support managed retreat with significantly reduced operational and capital spending by WCC in at-risk areas, starting immediately.

3 Waters: I strongly support full investment now to make up for many years of inadequate spending. This will support greater housing density in the city, reducing housing unaffordability and limiting sprawl. At the same time, WCC should invest in reducing demand such as through water metering and increased levies.

Finance: I strongly support raising the debt limit given low global interest rates, as well as increasing rates, in order to invest in the city's resilience, density and carbon reduction. I support increasing these beyond the proposed budget in the LTP - this seems unambitious and the consultation document omits to mention the under-investment of recent years. Increases now will protect younger generations already facing significant housing costs and poor city amenities due to inadequate Council spending over recent years. WCC should not spend money on the airport extension or associated seawall - WIAL can fund this itself and Council has higher priorities.

Cycleways: I strongly support the accelerated option. I find it ridiculous that this is still an issue as the programme has already been widely consulted on in various ways for years. Given the climate, pollution, amenity and congestion issues this programme is a no-brainer and other cities in NZ and around the world have made much more progress. This means taking space from private vehicles (including parking, also already consulted on) and giving it to cycles/scooters without taking space from pedestrians. Cycleways should be separated wherever possible and physically separated from cars. Speed limits and priority for cars should be reduced, which will improve safety and amenity, as well as reducing road maintenance costs. Ultimately it will be much cheaper for the city and its residents to use more active and public transport. Auckland and Christchurch are both making significant progress and Wellington is losing its appeal of being easy to get around. All Wellingtonians should have access to safe public and active travel options.

Q19. Do you support the proposed budget?

I strongly support the proposed budget.

Q20. You stated that you were neutral / did not support the proposed budget. Do you support increasing or decreasing spend?

not answered

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

I worry that the Council is constrained by weak leadership and is therefore unable to make the bold moves needed to address the challenges we face as a city. NIMBYs and nay-sayers cannot be allowed to hold us back. Other cities are moving past us in terms of investment in housing, public transport, active transport and infrastructure to support a dense and vibrant city. I hope the Council is able to move ahead with conviction.

This whole process does not align with my values. I believe that the council is wrong to be putting short term cashflow ahead of the city's needs. There a plenty of opportunities for public investment, which will pay significant returns both financial and in quality of life.

I do not support selling off council assets. I know that public-private partnerships are the least successful form of procurement. I know that interest rates are at historic lows, and that there has never been a better time to borrow. I also know that if we don't start investing in our city that it will fall into ruin. We either pay up front for maintenance, or we watch our assets deteriorate to worthlessness. The free lunch that seems to be the baseline for all of your estimates does not exist.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It is absolutely essential that the council fund the Te Atakura plan to the fullest possible extent. The next 9 years will be the make or break decider for whether or not the world will remain within 1.5 degrees of warming. All Governance bodies large and small must play their part. In Wellington this means actively pursuing a mode shift in the way people view transport, from private to public. The council can contribute by making Wellington a city that is easily navigable for active and public transport users, prioritizing them over private vehicle use which we are trying to discourage.

We are opposed to the further changes in parking fees and user charges in the immediate vicinity of St John's in the City Presbyterian Church, bearing in mind that "free parking" was previously available on Sundays until the Wellington City Council introduced parking fees and a time limit in our adjacent streets. Our congregation members include the elderly, families with young children, and people with disabilities. The proposed changes to fees and user chargers will seriously impact the participation of our congregation in their chosen community. Buses from Northern and Western suburbs are stopped 2 blocks away and like the bus stop from Eastern suburbs involve an uphill walk to St John's. There is a commercial car parking facility available, however space is limited as St Peter's Anglican Church also requires to share the same parking space at the same times.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Wastewater laterals
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

1. Decision 1 Investment in three waters infrastructure Wellington Water, and its predecessor Capacity, have been in charge of Wellington's water assets for over 15 years. Their staff were all former Wellington, Lower Hutt or Upper Hutt employees. If they do not know the condition of the assets they have been managing and maintaining for this length of time then they are not worth keeping. Wellington City Council and Wellington Water have dropped the ball with respect to maintaining council's water assets. The creation of the separate water entity has meant that providing water services had become of little interest to Council, with any reports of failures or problems batted over to Wellington Water to ignore or flush as they considered appropriate. Wellington Water seem primarily concerned with providing flash new infrastructure and forget about in time renewals and replacements of our old network. The condition of the capital's water infrastructure is a disgrace. Leaks from pipes and sewers are contributing to the deterioration of our health and our roads and houses. They need to be fixed NOW. Most of the wastewater pipes and some of the watermains could be fixed without needing to dig up the road, which is expensive and time consuming. If the leaks were reduced then the capacity of the network would increase so there would be less need for new capital projects. Put the money into renewals, replacing or renewing all the old infrastructure and then see how much is needed for new works. Ōpōtiki District Council undertook a programme of pipe lining and renewals and achieved a 20% reduction in DWF and 30% reduction in total flow to the wastewater treatment plant. If they can do it why can't we? 2. Decision 2 Wastewater laterals This should always have been the responsibility of Council. How can individuals repair their laterals if they need to dig up the road and excavate down to public sewers in order to do this? How do they reinstate public roads to a high enough standard? Council need to enforce the installation of a rodding eye or inspection point at the boundary for all new sections or new builds. 4 Decision 4 Te Atakura First to Zero If Wellington City Council is serious about reducing emissions and our effects on climate change then you need to stop all growth in the capital. The biggest contribution to climate change is population growth and all the consumption associated with it. However, it may be possible to reduce our footprint with more integrated urban planning. E.g. moving our regional hospital to a more accessible location. Similarly moving the airport. These are long term objectives but need to be considered in a long term plan. Why did WCC remove the overhead tram cables in Wellington and switch to diesel buses? I support re-establishing an electric bus fleet and train fleet but not electric cars that have short life batteries. 5 Decisions 5 and 6 Te Ngākau Civic Precinct and Central Library The Civic Precinct gives a heart to Wellington. This needs to be revitalised but I would not like us to sell our assets to a developer. Lease offices when needed but retain ownership of all buildings and the land they sit on. In the future Council may need more office space so it would be worth keeping as much as possible. 7 Decision 7 Sludge and Waste Minimisation I have always thought that it was ridiculous that sludge is pumped to the landfill before it is dried and that this sludge is then only dried to approximately 25% before being added to landfill waste. This means that 75% of the sludge in the landfill is water and adds to leachate at the landfill. When the pipeline to the landfill broke, the sludge could have been partially dried at Moa Point then carted to Seaview for proper drying, saving considerably on transportation and landfill volume and waste. The sooner adequate sludge drying and disposal as compost (or use as fuel) is in place the closer we get to helping reduce our carbon footprint. A similar solution is required at the Porirua Wastewater Treatment Plant that is also part of Wellington. When I worked for PCC it cost about $1 million per annum to dry sludge at the plant and dispose of it to landfill, even with substantial subsidies on disposal. Seven years ago we were considering alternative methods of drying and disposal and they all looked to be well worth consideration. Please put this in place as soon as it is feasible.

Unless central government can provide subsidies along the lines of subsidies to social welfare groups, Council needs to seriously consider selling off council housing or charge rents that reflect the true cost to council. I don't think that ratepayers should have to pay to subsidise affordable housing - central government need to step up.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Support Option 4 to build a fully-connected network by 2031 Research shows that to support people cycling it is necessary to provide a fully connected network that allows people to cycle to wherever their destination is safely. Only one option proposed in the LTP has the potential to deliver this and that is Option 4: Accelerated Full Programme. Therefore we strongly recommend supporting this option.

2. Prioritise children before seawalls One change from the previous LTP is the reduction of priority for a connected cycle network in the northern suburbs of Johnsonville, Newlands and Paparangi. This network of cycle lanes in the northern suburbs would provide a connected network to support over 2500 children to cycle to school at Newlands College, Newlands Intermediate and four primary schools in the area. We were disappointed to see these cycleways given lower priority (6, see below) than the completion of the Great Harbour Way (5, see below) on the basis of "low value for money". The Great Harbour Way is a largely recreational route with extremely high costs due to the road-widening and coastal defences required to provide this route around the entirety of Wellington's coastline. These three sections amount to more than a quarter of the total budget. We asked WCC to be clear in the consultation around the co-benefits this would deliver in terms of protecting the existing road and properties from storms and sea-level rise. Only a very small proportion of the costs of these coastal projects are spent on cycleways. We think that safe journeys for vulnerable road users such as children should be the highest priority. Churton Park and other northern suburbs currently have the highest rates of car dependency in Wellington City. Draft cycleway priorities. Note: This draft does not include the extra funding present for option 3 in the final LTP consultation, and is not adjusted for inflation.

3. Double the Cycling Minor Works Budget to $2 million per year Under the High and Full funding options the LTP allocates $1 million per year to this category which is no increase from recent years. This budget is where the council funds small cycling improvements all over Wellington, including cycle parking like the bike racks in Grey Street. We're constantly told that there's not enough money in this budget for improvements we ask for. We also don't think it's a budget where the council is constrained by capacity in what it can deliver. Doubling this budget to $2 million per year would vastly improve the councils ability to provide parking and other minor improvements over the next decade.

4. Create a new dedicated funding category to deliver rapid changes to the urban environment All around the world we've seen cities like London, New York and Paris react quickly and dynamically to reallocate road space for massive growth in cycling. Here in Wellington, we're still waiting to see any significant improvements delivered for cyclists. In the next month installation of the Brooklyn Road uphill bike path will begin as part of the Innovating Streets programme. We think cycle lanes could be delivered quicker, easier and cheaper with the addition of a dedicated fund for this type of work. Currently the LTP suggests this work could be funded out of the already limited Minor Works Budget, but we think the scale needed to deliver a connected cycle network over the next decade requires a well-resourced and dedicated fund. This fund would also deliver public space improvements outside of cycling in the form of Low-Traffic Neighbourhoods and parklets.

5. Ring-fence cycling funding You might not have noticed, but WCC has a habit of underdelivering on cycleways. This means that while large numbers of multiple millions of dollars are thrown around in the news and social media, whole projects go by with their allocated funding unspent. In the three years since the last LTP more than $16 million has gone unspent from Newtown Connections, the Parade Upgrade and Miramar networks that were planned to have been built. It's not very clear where this money goes and WCC still hasn't responded to several Official Information Act requests. Sometimes it gets carried over to the next year, other times it gets reallocated to cover budget blowouts on other projects such as the seawalls and other coastal defences for the Cobham Drive and Evans Bay projects. We have an expectation that money allocated to cycling through an extensive LTP consultation process actually get's spent on cycling. Even if we manage to increase the budget for cycling there's no guarantee that WCC will actually build cycling infrastructure with the money. Even more concerning is that this use of unspent funding is being explicitly used in advance as a method to cover funding shortfalls elsewhere. For example the current plan to fix the Central Library is not properly funded and will breach the council's planned debt limits. How do they plan on addressing this? This breach will be mitigated by any capital underspend being used for the library project rather than on new projects. LTP CONSULTATION DOCUMENT, PG. 43, DECISION 6: CENTRAL LIBRARY In order to prevent this kind of pilfering of the cycling budget in the future we think the budget should be ring-fenced. Ring-fencing the cycling budget would ensure that any money allocated must be spent on cycling and not reallocated elsewhere. We also think the council should properly fund its projects by increasing rates or taking on additional debt. You can help prevent this by supporting Option 2 or Option 3 for the Central Library decision in the consultation to either delay the library strengthening or fund it properly through rates. Can we afford it? The council has many mechanisms to increase funding for projects such as increasing rates or taking on more debt. Mayor Foster has chosen to deliver a fiscally conservative plan that we think will cause Wellington to miss out on the enormous physical, mental, social, environmental and financial benefits of investing in cycling. Regan Dooley from Island Bay Healthy Streets has done some great back of the hand math on how much driving is costing us in Wellington: $1.3 Billion per year, and that doesn't include the health costs or losses caused by congestion. We support lifting the debt ceiling closer to its limit and increasing rates in order to maximise on the investment returns for Wellingtonians on cycling. Can it be built? The private sector needs a financial commitment from the council in order to invest in staff and equipment for the next decade. The recommended option 3 will not provide much confidence for the industry to increase workforce or capacity for the future. The council has also made it harder for themselves to deliver projects by consulting multiple times on single projects and prioritising projects requiring significant physical works such as seawalls. In order to increase the deliverability of projects consultation needs to be streamlined and projects reallocating space rather than building new space prioritised. Not having enough money is a common excuse we've heard over the last decade and we want that removed as an obstacle to progress.

Wastewater laterals

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Wastewater laterals are particularly fractious in Wellington because of the high number of pohutukawa trees on city council land which damage the pottery pipes. Home owners, schools and churches do not have the thousands of dollars to deal with this issue when their wastewater fails or sewage backs up.

Also speaking to Governance Everyday the Council is in the paper over disinformation. It's appalling. Clearly Mayor Foster is out of his depth and should stand aside. No rate increase over 5%. Downsize the overpaid,. underworked, arrogant Council staff. All of our neighbours are very angry about the Council mess. A CBD library must be top priority along with water pipes.

Central Library
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

For both central library and te Ngakau there should be no private investment. This would reduce public commons which are already dwindling & influence the quality of the services. Public services should not become neoliberal projects that accumulate capital for investors who monopolise the marketplace. Libraries are very important for communities and are an essential service for social reproduction, contributing to the health & economy of Wellingtonians.

If rates are increased the Council will need to make a much better commitment to the renters of the city, who are the ones who get dealt with the costs & are the ones who cannot afford to do so. The council therefore needs to support a rent cap in Wellington to protect the most economically vulnerable group.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Wastewater laterals
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Item 1: Successive councils have served the city badly. Council has little credibility to deliver a good service. The preferred option is the right thing to do now, but can you ever deliver that. All three waters funding should be fenced for the purpose and conspent monies .... Item 2: I do not believe your view about the present responsibility for the laterals. It is an untruth. Show me proof of your opinion ie examples where you have forced ratepayers to pay!! This is just a trick to get another $32m on your budget. Item 3: I object strongly to you wasting ratepayers money on these cycleways. If the government wants you to do it, then they have to pay!! Item 4: I object to you wasting rate payers funds on your zero plan This is something that belongs with the central government. Item 5: If you need this space for long term then you should build it & fund it yourself. See trevor mallards (?) point about the parliamentary building. Item 6: The micro libraries in the city, along with e-books, is the way to go. Demolish and move on.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I began riding a bike in Wellington 10 years ago, as a university student. I love to ride and taking up cycling has made a massive difference to my mental and physical health. It's also helped me to keep living in the city despite being on a low income, through saving money on transport. But I am sick of taking my life in my hands every time I ride. Wellington's streets are dangerous for anyone on a bike, even if they are experienced and confident. I am now a cycle skills instructor with Pedal Ready, and a community bicycle mechanic with Mechanical Tempest (DIY volunteer-run workshop) and Bike Space (WCC funded workshop space). I have also run workshops and courses on empowerment through bike repair skills for women and the general public with WACC (Workshops for Accessible Cycle Care). Through all of this work I have had conversations with hundreds of diverse people – children, teens, adults and elders of all genders, middle- and working-class, professionals, students, homeless, refugee and migrant background, Wellingtonians and visitors – about cycling in Wellington. Almost universally, people report that the traffic situation in our city is difficult and scary. The biggest turn-off factor for anyone considering the possibility of cycling in Wellington is not the weather, or the hills. It's the very real prospect of getting squashed by a car – or verbally abused by a driver; or at a more basic level the awkwardness of feeling like there is no real place for you on the road. 10 years since I started cycling here, we are still waiting for notorious safety black spots to be fixed. Here's a few examples: • Adelaide Road going towards the Basin Reserve – I have seen and experienced myself many near misses between cyclists in the bus lane and cars turning across from the other side, or changing lanes suddenly; there is no clear and easy way for cyclists to enter the Basin without waiting for ages at pedestrian lights. • Kent and Cambridge terrace – both roads require cyclists to either claim the inside lane the whole way, or change across 2-3 lanes at either end to connect with the Basin or waterfront shared path. Intersection next to New World with traffic feeding in from Cable St/the Quays is particularly dangerous. • Chaytor Street/Raroa Rd in Karori/Northland, where yet another cyclist was hurt recently. • The entire Mt Victoria tunnel experience – entrance and exit on both sides, and the tunnel itself, are spectacularly awful. • Crawford Road roundabout, where I was hit by a car failing to give way in 2019. All of these places and more are daily threats to the physical safety of people on bikes. Yet nothing has happened to make these areas safer. Why does the Council continue to prioritise the comfort and convenience of car drivers over the lives and limbs of people on bikes? Why is my safety, and the safety of all people who ride (or might want to), worth so very little? In the face of this sheer awfulness, there is an astounding fact: more and more people are giving cycling a go in Wellington. Despite the difficulty, the number of people discovering the freedom, joy, economy and speed of the bicycle continues to grow. Wellington could be on the verge of unlocking a cycling revolution, if we were to improve safety to make riding a bike an easy choice, rather than a hard one. In light of this, I lend my full support to the points made by Cycle Wellington with regards to the long term plan. These points are below with my own comments. These are: 1. Support Option 4 to build a fully-connected network by 2031. Cycleways that don't connect to each other are like a house with half a roof – hardly much better than not being there at all. Piecemeal creation of cycling infrastructure does not help build public support for cycling. These projects get a bad reputation for being disruptive and expensive with little benefit, because they do not make coherent routes and thus do very little to encourage new cyclists (for example Rongotai Rd cycleway, which terminates extremely awkwardly around Pak'n'Save). We will only see a significant shift in cycling numbers when people are actually able to get around safely across the whole city. We need a network which is designed with a wide range of users in mind, including children, e-bike users, slower cyclists, micro-mobility users, cargo bikers and more. We need a network that is laid out and rolled out logically, with the most dangerous spots being prioritised to be improved first – rather than the most politically convenient ones. In my view, a connected network of cycleways, even if they are not gold-standard, is vastly preferable to a handful of more expensively built routes. Marking out lanes with road cones would even be a huge improvement on the current situation. Council needs to remember that the cheapest way to make roads safer for people on bikes is simply to exclude cars entirely, reduce speed limits, or remove car parking to make clearways. We don't need re-landscaped, re-sealed, fully separated paths everywhere. We just need to re-allocate existing road space in a fairer way. 2. Prioritise children before seawalls – this refers to Council's decision to put the Great Harbour Way at the top of the list of priorities. While this will definitely be a stunning route once complete, utility cycling should be the priority, not recreational. Council needs to stop treating cycling as a hobby or sport and start treating it seriously as a transport mode. I share the fears of Cycle Wellington that the seawall works required for the Great Harbour Way will eat in to the cycling budget and be seen by the public as 'expensive cycleways' rather than necessary coastal protection. 3. Double the Cycling Minor Works Budget to $2 million per year While we all wait around for Let's Get Wellington Moving to get moving and decide on the big-picture allocation of street space on the main arterial routes, the Council could definitely be creating more bike parking and making minor street changes such as kerb ramps to make life easier. $1 million is barely anything for the existing Minor Works Budget, $2 million is still barely anything in the grand scheme of the overall budget. 4. Create a new dedicated funding category to deliver rapid changes to the urban environment Everyone is sick of the painfully extensive consultation periods that seem to be required to begin the process of thinking about possibly maybe making any street changes to make life safer and easier for people on bikes. Wellingtonians of all stripes and modes of transport are sick of the talk. It is increasingly clear that the best way to develop new cycle infrastructure is to make temporary changes and seek feedback once they are made. This flexible approach to the creation of new infrastructure enables people to see what they are actually being consulted on and get a taste of the possible benefits in advance. This cuts down on the negative feedback loops seen in projects like the Island Bay Cycleway. I agree with Cycle Wellington that we need to see more of this kind of experimental and dynamic work coming out of the council, and that this should be an explicit category of funding. 5. Ring-fence cycling funding According to Cycle Wellington, "In the three years since the last LTP more than $16 million has gone unspent from Newtown Connections, the Parade Upgrade and Miramar networks that were planned to have been built." We still have no idea where this money has gone. Funds that are intended for cycling improvements should be ring fenced in order for the Council to be held accountable to its professed support for cycling. Because despite all the words said over the years, Wellingtonians are still waiting. I've been waiting for 10 years – others have been waiting longer. We are waiting for basic safety upgrades to reduce the danger faced every day by existing cyclists. We are waiting for a properly designed, connected network of safe cycleways which would open up cycling to a much wider range of potential new cyclists. We are waiting for Council to be brave and show leadership in this space despite opposition from the same small privileged group of people who get their voices heard on everything. We are waiting for the physical safety of all road users to be put above the comfort and convenience of people in private motor transport. We are waiting for justice.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Wastewater laterals
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Investment in three waters infrastructure: Ratepayer lobby groups have, for decades, pressured the council to keep rates as low as possible. They will put the same pressure on now. However, if housing intensification is going to be successful in Wellington, the piping infrastructure must support the additional load. It's a no-brainer to invest heavily in this infrastructure – now, before the spatial plan is agreed and actioned! Wastewater laterals: I volunteer in Trelissick Park, as part of the Trelissick Park Group. One of the problems we have in the Kaiwharawhara Stream is sewage seepage from old broken pipes. This is partly because home owners don't know, or don't care about the seepage. I'm hoping that the Council would be a more responsible owner, maintaining pipes properly, and therefore improving water quality in the Kaiwharawhara Stream and in other streams around the City. Te Atakura (Climate change): Wellington has many areas and gullies of regenerating native forest within its boundaries. While these do not qualify for carbon credit dollars, they do play an important part in reducing carbon in the atmosphere. I would like to see emphasis in Te Atakura of this, and a commitment from Council to support native regeneration projects across the City, in the interest of reducing climate change. Central Library: I am appalled that the Council ignored the democratic voice of Wellingtonians by deciding to fix the existing Library rather than demolishing it and building a new, modern Library. The Historic Places categorisation should be rescinded, and the people should be listened to. The current Library has little merit as a modern Library. Our city should enjoy the benefit of new knowledge in the way libraries are planned and constructed, rather than trying to retrofit the old, inadequate one.

Please keep the principal of reducing climate change to the fore. It is too easy to get blinded by immediate problems that need fixing, instead of looking further into the future that our children and grandchildren will inherit. Please don't let ratepayer lobby groups and NIMBYs stop you from doing what is right for the City and its future.

My name is Kevin Francis and I am writing to you regarding skateboarding in Wellington City and because I am aware that you hold the portfolio for 'Play Spaces', which it is my understanding that skateboarding falls under. I have been skateboarding in Wellington and been part of the wider skateboarding community for over thirty years. For me growing up in a family trapped experiencing the struggles and challenges of poverty meant I did not have access or support to participate in more traditionally accepted sports and activities such as Rugby, and Soccer, etc, or the opportunity to receive lessons in other areas of interest such as music. During my earliest years at school, I was often left out of group activities and sporting events because I had not had the experience or developed the skills to be as good as the other students and I became very aware I was treated differently by those around me. I also received a lot of bullying on top of this. When I was ten years old, I discovered skateboarding which provided me with a physical outlet and an interest that gave me focus. Skateboarding carried me through my teenage years (early/mid 1990s), and while I still felt outcast at college (being the only skateboarder at school for the duration of my college years) it did give me a connection to a small community of other skateboarders in the Wellington area. It was not easy being a skateboarder during this period as it was not popular like it is now. Many of us were not supported by our families who viewed skateboarding negatively, and many of us were often verbally (and sometimes physically) abused by members of the public. However, this made the connection you felt with other skateboarders stronger as we all were experiencing similar discrimination as part of a subculture. Also, many of us found skateboarding because we came from similar backgrounds where we didn't fit in at school and had other hardships going on in our lives. Skateboarding taught me the kind of resilience I would need to carry me through other areas of my life. In my college years I lived for the weekends and the school holidays where I would catch the train into town and meet up with the small number of other skaters that would also travel to the city in search of places to skate. Back in the 1990s Wellington city was amazing for skateboarding with it's smooth plazas, wide open public spaces, and every kind of natural artistic terrain to learn tricks on, it's wide smooth city streets, a waterfront full of skateable spots, and a large area of Chaffers Park (now Waitangi Park) designated for skateboarding. On top of this Kilbirnie Recreation Centre had a large indoor smooth area with two big ramps and there were several indoor car park buildings that were vital during Wellington's Winter months. Being a small city surrounded by hills made Wellington very easy to skate around from one spot to the next making Wellington a well-rounded and exciting city, and because of the wide range of different skateable areas spread through the city, it meant you could challenge yourself at one spot and then skate a small distance to another slightly more challenging area to challenge yourself again and improve. Having constant access to these areas and facilities made for a supportive environment that was an essential part of the cities vibrancy and led to many amazing skateboarders emerging during the mid-1990s until the mid-2000s which played important roles in New Zealand's skateboarding history. By the time I left college I had become quite sufficient at skateboarding and had acquired several different sponsors which led to me moving to Auckland for several years. From there I went on to win a number of competitions and travel Internationally before returning to Wellington in my mid-twenties to raise two children on my own. During the next fifteen years however I have seen what used to be such a fun and vibrant skate scene that I felt proud to be a part of slowly slipping away. It has reached such a bad point it is personally causing me a lot of depression and driven me to write to you. I feel the skateboarding culture in Wellington has deteriorated for several reasons in two main areas. The first being public spaces - where the continued and relentless campaign by the council has seen any part of the city where skateboarders frequently redeveloped to prevent them from being there. For example, this has included adding 'knobs' to anything and everything a skateboarder might derive enjoyment from, and erecting signs in all public places stating 'No Skateboarders Allowed', which empowers people to verbally abuse, persecute and discriminate against us. As a result, all the key spots and infrastructure that were once key to improving as a skateboarder have been removed which has made it very difficult to remain at a good level of ability as a skateboarder. Now the most simplest of things such as large flat areas of smooth ground - essential for learning - no longer exist in the city (which is not good as it is not only skateboarders who utilize such areas). The other area is purpose-built facilities - currently there is a complete lack of facilities with all current 'skate parks' in Wellington being rough as they are now two decades old and are no longer fit for purpose. When Waitangi park was redeveloped it reduced the area for skateboarders to a fraction of its size. It was also poorly designed and poorly constructed meaning it is not fit for learning, and it is not suitable for National or International competitions/demonstrations. This is still the only central city skatepark that also caters to other user groups such as scooters, bmxers, parkour and very young children on an array of different wheeled vehicles. All this and it is not much larger than a basketball court. Another huge blow was the council removing the only indoor ramps without consultation from Kilbirnie Recreation Center for ('Tinytown'). These ramps had been there since the 1980s and provided a much needed refuge for the skateboarding community for many many years. The Kilbirnie Recreation Center provided a consistent place you could go without worrying about the weather and provided a place for competitions and demonstrations. The problem was made worse when the ground was resurfaced with slippery plastic tiles (again without consultation) for 'roller derby' which was/is unsuitable for skateboarding. As well as this, after the earthquakes most of the car parks that you could skate were demolished leaving nowhere left to go when it is raining, or cold and windy. All this combined over the past 15 years has seen the skateboarding culture in Wellington become fragmented, uninspiring and caused many individuals to give up, move away or like myself become very depressed. Years of continually being told you are not welcome whether directly (by members of the public/security-guards), or indirectly (skate-stoppers/knobs, no-skateboarding signs) gets to you. Especially when your cultural needs are constantly not listened to and the wants and needs of more popular/socially accepted sports and user groups are constantly put before you. Having your culture treated as less important than other cultures is very damaging. Even now I am only speaking up out of desperation. Up until now I have felt strongly deep down in my heart I just won't be listened to, and I'm not alone in feeling this way. It shouldn't be that way. It is also hugely depressing for me as I have seen my own children miss out on having the same access to facilities and connecting with other people their own age as there is no longer any central area or adequate facility in Wellington. Now you must drive long distances to find something adequate for the children to learn on, and then for them to challenge themselves and improve further you have to drive all over the wider Wellington region. For me this has become unsustainable. Not only can I not afford the petrol, food and extra travel time, it is just not as fun and enjoyable as it should be. Now that my children are older (in their late teens) I see them growing disinterested in skateboarding simply due to the amount of effort you must put into 'go skateboarding'. During Winter sometimes weeks go by without having anywhere to go which has made skateboarding much more about retaining the skills and ability you once had rather than improving. Again, this is hugely depressing when compared to what is happening both in the rest of the country and the rest of the world where you are seeing daily improvements of others because of the better access they have to facilities. It just does not feel right that the experience and access to participation as a skateboarder in Wellington is worse now (when there are more skateboarders than ever before), than it was in the late 1980s when skateboarding was not socially acceptable and seen as a fad. The recent 'Skate Community Engagement' research carried out by the Council states that "provision of skate facilities has not matched the increase in popularity of skate" (p.15) and has made a number of recommendations. The growing popularity of skateboarding both in New Zealand and around the world is only going to continue to grow. Especially with the growing number of females that are taking up skateboarding which essentially is going to see the numbers double. Especially with skateboarding debuting later at this year's Tokyo Olympic games – which female skateboarding is going to make a huge impression on. Again, I have written to you as I am aware that you hold the portfolio for 'Play Spaces' which is my understanding that skateboarding falls under. I am well aware that new facilities 'cost money' however I am also well aware that the council is spending a lot of money upgrading, and building new Playground facilities all around Wellington. If 'skateboarding falls' under this category I have to ask 'what is going to be done to act upon the recommendations of the Skate Community Engagement'? If funding is a problem, maybe it is time to move skateboarding to the Sport and Recreation portfolio? Or even better maybe it should be included in both? I would like to see the achievements of skateboarders in Wellington celebrated just like those players in other sports such as Rugby, Soccer and Netball for example. I have seen individuals, many of them children and young people from vulnerable backgrounds turn into amazing skateboarders who could use their talent in other parts of the world to change their lives for the better. I have seen incredibly brave and talented individuals overcome immense physical and physiological fears to break boundaries and push both themselves and skateboarding to new levels. For many of these individuals these moments end up being the happiest and most profound moments of their lives which they will look back on for the rest of their days. Yet unlike the individual who scores the winning try, these moments go largely uncelebrated. I would like the opportunity to be heard and talk more about this as I feel I have a great idea to get Wellington back on track regarding skateboarding (which wouldn't have to cost a lot of money relatively speaking). I love Wellington and would love to see skateboarding accepted and embraced for all the good it has to offer much in the same way that is happening in other cities all over the world such as, Auckland, Copenhagen, Malmo, Melbourne, London, and Paris just to name a few. Thank you kindly for your time in reading this rather lengthy letter. I hope it finds you well Ngā mihi Kevin Francis

My name is David ware , I am a local skater in the Wellington region and I would love to seen a change in our community towards skateboarding. I would love to see more skate parks pop up around Wellington and more skate friendly plazas/urban areas. These areas would be used by so many people not just skaters . From the findings in the skate community engagement survey it clearly shows that there is a demand for more skate parks , plazas and urban areas for skating in Wellington . I would like to see the Wellington city council act upon the. Findings from the skate community engagement survey .

Skateboarding in wellington has changed a lot, the parks here are very outdated and in order to reduce street damage and graffiti around the city ect i want to see a change in the parks and i think because we are the capitol city it would be good to have our skate scene more together. the way to do that is to upgrade waitangi park. A good example of a great upgrade to a park is Washington Skatepark. It used to be a lot smaller and mainly for street riders but they added bigger bowls, smaller and bigger half pipes and a few nice boxes and ledges. Something like that in the capitol city would definitely be a great idea for a few reasons. it would give the skaters more reason to skate at parks if they were updated and made well rather than us making diy spots and tagging areas ect. if you have a designated spot where we have places to tag and skate and have a good time its a good place to have, as it's not that we want to do it to annoy anyone it's more that it's a good release. a lot of people who skate use it as a way to get away from life and all of the stress and bad shit and it just gives us time to let go. Whether anyone likes it or not skating will always be around and if we have a good designated place to do all of that stuff then u will definitely see a lot less use of tagging in the streets and street skating. Thanks for your time I hope that you understand that we want change

My name is Levi and I have been skateboarding in the streets for 35 years. I'm also an artist and sculptor who grew up being heavily influenced by the architecture and sculpture in the city. It distresses me to hear that Wellington city council had done very little to improve and develop the city landscape with progressive and interactive spaces that incorporate the needs of skateboarding despite the findings in the Skate Community Engagement Survey. I would love to work with the council to see visually stunning and functional works we could add to make Wellington as amazing as it could be. Please don't hesitate to contact me to discuss further.

I'm writing to you in regards to the results of the engagement survey I have been skateboarding all my life and now have children that are coming into skateboarding. Wellington has lacked in supporting the progression of this culture/sport as now it is world wide accepted and a Olympic sport. I would like to see a change if not for my era but for the children and future skateboarding.

I am a 15 year old skateboarder and live in the city. We want to see change. We need more skateparks, all of the skateparks in the city are always over crowded and busy.. We want you to act on the finding of the "skate community engagement" survey. When we head to the streets we always get kicked out. For example the wellington war memorial. We go there to get away from the overcrowded skate parks. And continuously get cops called on us. We want to see bigger better skateparks. I want to see skateparks like. Inglewood skatepark taranaki, BaySkate napier, hasting skatepark, Valonia skatepark Auckland, Nawton skatepark in Hamilton. Is such a shame we have to travel out of the city to get to good and less crowded skateparks.

I skate and live in Wellington. I am 14 years old. I skate every weekend and really enjoy it. But Wellington skateparks aren't the best. They are always crowded and lack variety meaning they get boring fast. I want to see new skateparks being built. Maybe like a skate plaza with stairs rails and ledges. Previous skateparks like island bay were built poorly, proportionally wrong with stuff that has still been not skated to this day. With the lack of skateparks and crowded skateparks we head to the streets often getting kicked out by security and getting cops called on us. I want you to act on the skate community engagement survey. We want more parks. Thanks Heaps.

Im emailing you in aid to help a crumbling but once vibrant skate community in wellington. I have grown up here my whole life and seen the ups and downs of the skate community. The days I cherished and was so proud to call wellington home was when the council invested into the community by helping with more events ,building parks & investing into youth by giving them a safe place to create an identity for themselves. Now that i'm older I understand how much the help & influence councils can have on a thriving skate community but the past few years it feels like we have been well under the mark with literally every other major city in NZ getting at least one new skate facility. These days i'm left with a somewhat bitter taste with the unfinished Rongatai skate park, removal of iconic skate spots & no more indoor recreational centre with ramps. Solution: Invest into skateboarding facility in a unused lease in central city or eastern suburbs which can host competitions like skate nationals & open up business to skateboard promoters to help build more support for up and coming skaters in NZ Fast track Newlands skate park revamp Eastern Suburbs skatepark / Complete Rongotai skatepark Im proud of the wellington skate community we have to work hard to keep the city alive and as vibrant as it once was, but with a little bit of help from you we could turn our amazing little city into one of the great skate destinations in Australasia. All it takes is a bit of vision!

I'm writing this email today to express my support for the WCC to enact the findings found in the Skate Community Engagement Survey. The WCC has an obligation to the Wellington skateboarding community that this survey shows is currently not being met. Tangible action needs to be taken by councilors in order for Wellington city to keep pace with the rate of progression that is happening across New Zealand Skateboarding. WCC should invest in facilities that are codesigned with the skateboarding community and wider skate experts within NZ. There is a large pool of skate construction companies in nz and their work has already seen the sport grow rapidly, particularly in Auckland and the upper north island. Wellington's facilities are far below the standard of these new purpose built parks, and do little to consider the impact that weather has on the sport in Wellington. If Wellington wishes to remain the progressive and inclusive city that its image suggests, the council should act fast to support sports like skateboarding, which have always been at the forefront of youth culture. The current skate parks that Wellington has are far behind the progression of the sport. Waitangi park (apart from the bowl) is renown within the skate community as one of the worst parks in the country. In contrast, tree tops and the hospital DIY park are both funded and constructed by skaters. These parks are not amazing, but the fact that they are some of the best in the region shows the lack of engagement WCC has had with the skate community over the last decade. This trend is simply not good enough, especially when considering that Wellington city reaps the rewards from major skate events such as bowlzilla. The lack of support for the sport and yet the desire for events like this to continue show the lack of cohesion in a policy for skateboarding in Wellington. Should there be a continued lack of interest in supporting the skate community in Wellington, it is likely the community will turn to more drastic measures of garnering the needed support to enact political change. The skate boarding community is likely to begin engaging with national media and organizing collective action to support this change. While the community appreciates that you have taken the time to engage with us, we wish to see meaningful action result from this.

I'm writing to encourage you to act upon the findings of the 'Skate Community Engagement' survey. I'm a 31 year old female public servant, I live in Wellington City, and I roller skate at the local skate parks, ramps, and bowls. I urge you to act upon these survey findings and give the Wellington skate community the quality facilities it deserves so skaters of all ages, genders, and skill levels can safely participate and flourish in their chosen skating activities.

I'm writing this email to request that the WCC act upon the findings of the 'Skate Community Engagement' survey. I, among many other, have been skateboarding in Wellington for more than a decade, it's been disappointing to say the least that Wellington is seemingly one of the only cities in New Zealand to have almost no development to skate-related resources in the entire country, and I fear that by the time anything happens my friends and i will be too old to properly enjoy it. So please, on behalf of all of Wellington's thriving skate-scene, if you won't do away with the constant skate-stopping of our favorite spots, at least provide us with a decent alternative to the god-awful chaffers skatepark.

I'm writing this email to request that the WCC act upon the findings of the 'Skate Community Engagement' survey, as the lack of council support for the development skateboarding over the past 15 years (not to mention the lack of any planned development within the next 10) in Wellington has been incredibly disappointing and detrimental to the community.

I am writing asking for action on the skateboarding engagement. There has been insufficient planning, and actual blocks for skateboarding in Wellington. Skateboarding contributes to the five ways to wellbeing cited in NZ Mental Health Foundation. As a city we should embrace sustainable transport and recreation. I am a mother of two sons who enjoy skateboarding for transport, fitness and social interaction.

I am writing regarding skateboarding community action. I have two sons who enjoy skateboarding. It is something that I have seen build incredible mental fortitude and resilience in my boys. Something that young people need in today's world. The skate boarding community is also one that provides a sense of comradeship but they lack facilities and places for them to be able to freely enjoy their chosen passion. I encourage you to embrace an activity that is part of a modern and vibrant city and be front footed in providing more facilities.

I have just finished reading your survey into the Wellington skate community, and understand you'll soon be deciding how to act upon the findings. I am writing to express my excitement at the prospect of more support for the skate community, including the development of new 'spots', infrastructure and education. While I have never skated myself, I worked at Wellington's famous Fusion Surf & Skate store for almost 8 years (many many years ago) and witnessed first hand the benefits for young (and older!) people in engaging with the sport. The low barriers to entry of this sport (in that it is so much cheaper to participate, and less burdensome from a scheduling perspective) is a massive win for our young people, especially those who are underprivileged and often priced out of other physical, social activities. Please invest in our skating community! Our city will be all the richer for it

I am a mum of a skater and over the last 15 years I have seen them pushed out of areas and parks. Many places they used to skate have now been used for new builds or green zones. This frustrates me as isn't it better be have people outside exercising rather than stuck in front of devices or computers. My son has a fantastic group of friends ( skater and non skaters ) and he competed at a National level. Whenever we travel I marvel at the small Town's and Cities skating facilities that are still popping up and I feel Wellington City and its suburbs are really lacking. Remember skateboarding is NOW AN OLYMPIC category ( also the amount of scooter riders around would also benefit ). Everyone seems to be obsessed with Bike Trails at the moment but I feel they should all receive the same attention.

I understand council will be discussing what action it will take in creating or improving skating spaces in response to this document <https://wellington.govt.nz/-/media/recreation/enjoy-the-outdoors/skate-community-engagement-report.pdf?la=en&hash=3A5ACDF1169EE06C65C50710DF0BDE16F2A21291>. I'm a person who had taking up skateboarding in adulthood and it's had a massive impact on my health, wellbeing and community connectedness. However I do struggle to find spaces to skate that support progression for novice to intermediate skaters. I favour smaller to medium transitional/park type facilities and think Wellington lacks in this area. My personal favourite spot is the Owen St DIY park because it has smaller transition elements that I like, but it is small and crowds out easily, and it's fairly rough and difficult to skate. I'd also like to highlight a mixed space in Napier which incorporated banks and ramps designed for skating in a pedestrian/plaza area on their waterfront. I thought that was a really healthy thing - skating in a community space. <https://nzila.co.nz/showcase/marine-parade-redevelopment> Please do improve facilities to help make skateboarding an accessible, fun, healthy activity for the community.

I've been skating for just over two years, seeing the progression in myself and the people around me has been so inspiring. Skating is an escape, an art form and exercise. It also is a community, I've met some of my best friends and made some of my fondest memories through skating. With this being said, myself along with many others need change in the construction of skate friendly spaces. We need you to act upon the asks of skaters and findings of the Skateboarding Community Engagement. Thank you for taking my letters into consideration

Hello, not too long ago the city council had a survey that they encouraged skatepark users to fill out, this survey asked questions about how the skaters and scooter riders felt about the current facilities and if they thought improvements were necessary, the response from skaters from what I know is that most if not all agreed that the facilities needed improvement. The skateparks in Wellington have effectively not been touched in over 10 years, apart from an "improvement" at island bay skatepark that it seemed like nobody wanted and is rarely used compared to the rest of the park. This showed that the council was not listening to the skaters and I thought that this survey would change things however, it seems even though the survey had been put out, nothing has been done, city councils around New Zealand see the significance that these skateparks hold to people and the communities, the Hutt city council is at the moment putting huge efforts in to improve facilities. It would be amazing if the Wellington city council could do the same. I have faith that eventually we may see some changes in the attitude that the council seems to have towards a huge population of people but at this point it seems that they do not care. The survey felt like a bait out to give false hope to skaters and I feel that it is unfair to give people false hope like that. The facilities in Wellington are out of date and are poorly made. Almost every who comes from outside Wellington notes how badly made Waitangi and Island Bay skateparks are, it is embarrassing for a capital city to have such poor facilities and that is why I feel action is needed. The community of skaters, scooter riders, BMXer and rollerbladers along with others is huge and booming in Wellington and the council needs to step up and do better.

I am writing to express my thoughts on the current situation with skateboarding in Wellington. Skateboarding and skateparks are extremely important spaces to the city. I grew up in Island Bay and am now settled in Porirua with x2 kids of my own. Wellington city's skateparks have always been absolutely below average with the only well built features to date being the Karori mini ramp (Ian Galloway Park Skate ramps), the Chaffers park bowl (Waitangi bowl) -the rest of Waitangi park is built well but poorly designed. And Treetops is amazingly good -This one was built on the leanest of donations and volunteer work and it is probably the best space in Wellington to skate hands down and that has had 0 input from council as far as I can make out. Most suburbs lack any type of facility at all. Island bay skatepark was always better than nothing but it was built badly and is not a park to learn on. You have to involve the experts (skatepark users/designers/builders) or its a waste of time and effort. Growing up, and still to this date there are great skateparks further afield such as Upper Hutt (Maidstone Skatepark), Porirua Skatepark, Pukerua Bay skatepark. All these parks blitz anything built in Wellington central & southern eastern suburbs etc and it's been this way for 20years! WCC it's time to wake up, the popularity for skateparks is huge, anyone would notice the amount of kids travelling to schools these days on wheels, be it bikes skateboards or scooters and it goes well beyond just modes of transport, this is the biggest expressive recreational uplift ever and where are the adequate facilities and where is the investment? Further to skateparks however, for the expressional sport to develop to it's potential I see it crucial that public spaces are not kept off limits. Embrace the sport and the people and it will do wonderful things for our city. I hope you can give the sport some spotlight for the sake of the upcoming generations.

I'm writing to urge city councillors to act on the findings of the recent 'Skate Community Engagement' survey. Wellington has a thriving skateboarding scene - however it's lack of quality parks & purpose built areas for skateboarding make it difficult for the skateboard community to flourish. I know first hand the impact a thriving skateboard community can have on skateboarders young and old. It's a creative & inclusive passion for all - and Wellington city should be doing its best to support that. Feel free to give me a call if you'd like to discuss further.

My name is Martin and I'm 29 years old. I have lived in Wellington for 10 years (currently based in London, UK). I believe there needs to be more poured into spaces for skateboarding, scooters, roller blading in Wellington. As skateboarding especially, is becoming a more professional sport, now being an official Olympic sport, there needs to be more acceptance of skaters now more than ever. New Zealand has such a rich history of skateboarding that goes overlooked due to the stigma attached to the punk-like attitude derived from the early years of skateboarding. Yes this still exists but that is no longer the case. These days you find skaters from all walks of life, skaters with backgrounds in science, law, engineering. I myself am an example of this. I'm currently working as a textiles engineer in London. More to the subject, I think hybrid skate spaces like the one in Petone (maybe it's Lower Hutt) are a good way to go about making spaces friendly for park dwellers and skaters alike. Where objects can serve as seating, tabletops but also as skate obstacles. These objects don't have to be designed purposely for skating, they can be designed for conventional everyday uses but leaving it up to the skateboarders to decide how they want to move it and use it which also sparks skateboarding creativity. You may say that there's many skateparks in Wellington to accommodate skaters and this is true, Wellington does have a healthy amount of "skate parks" but what the modern skater wants are Street skating spots which have context, e.g. a staircase in front of a well-known building. This is why you may have noticed the popularity of skaters at the newly built war memorial. It is a prime example of the modern skater wanting to skate in a place which they can adapt themselves, moving benches and blocks of concrete to create a series of temporary obstacles. These obstacles are also used by everyday people. I hope this has given you an insight into what possibilities there are for skate friendly spaces for the future and a potential mutual respect for a sport that is now becoming very mainstream and normal. The thing is, skateboarding isn't going away anytime soon, the longer the council dismisses funding for this activity the more it will permeate the rest of the city spaces at your own will. Spaces need to be designed with skating use in mind. Not every single space but the more spaces that are, the more you will detract skaters from spaces you don't want them to skate in.

I have been part of the Wellington skateboard community for over 20 years and in that time the city has become less friendly towards skateboarding. Skateboarding has grown from it's counter cultural roots to be part of the mainstream, it's an Olympic sport now! Wellington seems to be going in the opposite direction from most other major cities around the world who are embracing us. I would like to see the city's attitude towards skateboarding change and want you to act upon the findings of the 'Skate Community Engagement' survey.

Wellington has been a skateboarding paradise my entire life. When I moved there as a young teenager in 1994 I used my skateboard to travel almost everywhere. I lived in various places around the city, but initially in Kilbirnie. As a student I could not afford public transport, so I would ride my skateboard to Karori each day. (Coming home from there via raroa road or down the rigi to parliament buildings was each day a highlight.) Skateboarding is an exceptionally safe, fun and popular means of transportation. When I would hitchhike north to the mighty Wairarapa region, I would use my skateboard to get from wherever I was living to the railway station and hide it somewhere there until I returned. Although I was far more interested in the sport of hunting (hence regular hitchhiking trips to the Wairarapa) skateboarding became fun for the cityscape too. It introduced me to friends (that I still have to this day) it kept me fit, it kept me out of trouble with the law, it kept me out of bars, it had a positive influence on my life that other aspects of city living may not have had. Including skateboarding in public spaces will only have a positive impact for Wellington. Improving designated facilities will be great for youth developing their skills in skateboarding before they take those skills to the streets. Because skateboarding is such a positive sport and is a great way to spend free time whilst in the city, it will always be a part of the greater side of city culture.

Every year my wife attends a memorial golf weekend in Wellington for a former colleague ( we are New Zealanders but live in Canberra) I usually go to Auckland or Christchurch to skateboard as there is usually a new park to visit . In 5 years I've been to Wellington once ,you have a fantastic bowl by te papa but very little else . If it weren't for bowlzilla no one would know you are there skateboarding wise ,I think only Darwin has less faculties than Wellington ,to be clear you have less than Auckland , Christchurch ,Sydney , Melbourne, Perth, Adelaide, Brisbane and Hobart .

I'm writing to express my support for continued engagement with the skate community in Wellington - and for further investment in developing infrastructure for this activity within our city. I have been a skateboarder for over 20 years and for most of this time I have lived in Wellington. I own a house in Newtown and frequently skate at many the facilities mentioned in the most recent report. I've also helped with the construction of some features at the Owen St Skatepark. In my professional life I am a Landscape Architect and Technology Specialist for Boffa Miskell so I have a keen interest in how the public spaces evolve within our city. As such the main point I'd like to get across is this: Start thinking of all public space projects as opportunities to provide for skating. In many successful cities skating is now being used as a way of activating public spaces. For instance Malmö in Sweden: <https://acclaimmag.com/culture/gustav-eden-is-building-skate-utopia/> Closer to home the new marine parade development in Napier blurs the lines between public space, skate and play: <https://www.boffamiskell.co.nz/project.php?v=marine-parade-redevelopment> Currently the status quo in Wellington involves *spending* money to prevent skateboarding (ie. installing deterrents / employing security guards) ... While I accept that in some cases this is necessary - I would like to see an active effort from WCC's Urban Design team to challenge this status quo and instead look encourage these activities where appropriate. On page 6 of your report you mention that participation rates in skate are 'low' - however based on the graph it appears to be only marginally less that cricket - and far more when 'scootering' is also included (which looks to surpass even football). I suspect that WCC's investment in facilities doesn't remotely reflect these participation rates - so I would also encourage the 2021/22 annual plan to redistribute the use of our rates to more accurately reflect them.

I am writing this note to support the ongoing need for skate (sk8) bowl facilities for boys and girls of all ages. There are not enough free places for the youth of today to go and have fun. Everyone is quick to day that youth are joining gangs ,, causing havoc etc. This is a ongoing concern for many parents. Do WGTN city let's get together and set an example for the big cities if NZ. Build and maintain sk8 parks for today and the future.

I am writing to you in hopes of you including skateboarding facilities in your long term city planning. Skateboarding is a great way to encourage physical exercise, friendship and entertainment for both young and old alike. It has very little barriers to entry, requires minimal equipment and has a great benefit to the young community. I hope you will consider adding more funding to provide skateparks for Wellington City.

With the prominence of greener modes of transport and Skateboarding / scootering / electric transport I would like to see changes on Wellington becoming more friendly to these activities. I want the council to act upon the findings of the 'Skate Community Engagement' survey.

I'm 23 and have been skating for 12 years now. I have lived in Wellington my whole life. While me and my friends have made the most of what's left around the city (due to an old outdated skatepark or street locations that have stoppers installed or bad concrete) it's sad to see the rest of the country be so much better integrated with there skate community E.G Hawkes bay, Palmerston North, Taranaki, Auckland, Managawhai, Tauranga, Christchurch, Queenstown, Hamilton and many more places have all made major improvements to there city by creating modern spaces that promote skateboarding. Unfortunately the highlights in Wellington are either the DIY skateparks (Treetops, and the hospital diy) and the War Memorial by Massey which are just skater created spaces or just flat ground. I would like to see WCC act upon the skate community engagement survey.

I am writing this email in regards to recent council engagement for improvements of the Wellington city skateboarding facilities. There's no denying there's a large community of skateboarders in the capital, there has been for the last 30 years or more. Considering the nifty and lively aesthetic this city so strongly aims for, you'd think that there would be more support when it comes to such a heavily loved, cultured and diverse sport. When you look at the capital compared to other large cities such as Christchurch and Auckland, Wellington seems to be behind the times. These other cities are developing new skateboarding facilities every few years, as the cities itself grows. The facilities here are relatively out of date in comparison. I myself have only lived in Wellington for a year and a bit, and even my hometown of Invercargill where I grew up, has seen more development with the addition of their skatepark that was built around 2013-14. The only skatepark I can think of that actually thrives in Wellington is the Tree Tops skatepark and most of the development there is coming out of the users pockets. You wouldn't imagine a cyclist would pay money out of their own pocket if Wellington was to build a Velodrome, considering both Cycling and Skateboarding are both sports NZ will be competing in at the next Olympics, you'd think competing athletes would also have adequate training facilities. The community of skateboarders have been eager to see some more engagement from the council and some sort of resolution as our options are becoming tired and worn. Wellington isn't known for amazing weather, and having the only central skatepark right between the windy waterfront and a highway has become tiresome. We need action put in place for the council to show more support for skateboarders, scooter riders and the likes. We need a facility that works for everybody, that's modern and has taken the Wellington weather into account so that this forever developing and relevant sport can be enjoyed for any current and future involvement.

I am writing because I want the Wellington City Council to act upon the findings of the Skate Community Engagement survey. Spaces for skateboarding and the freedom to skate in Wellington has significantly reduced in the 10+ year that I have been skating. Whereas other places within New Zealand and globally are ensuring skateboarding and various other activities enjoyed by the public inform city planning and the design of mixed use and shared spaces, Wellington continues to design and approve development that either limits use of purposefully excludes certain uses. The most popular and frequently used spaces, Treetops and Owen St, are those that have been designed and funded by skateboarders. The Council should not simply allow the creation of skateboarding spaces, they should enable and actively support individuals and groups who want to improve specific aspects of the city. Do not just follow through on the findings of the Skate Community Engagement survey, make space for skateboarders to lead the decision-making process to ensure that changes are fit for purpose and meet the needs of the community.

My name is Frankie, and I am a roller skater who has recently moved from Auckland to Wellington. The park skate scene in Auckland is thriving and growing, and I've experienced and witnessed first hand that rollerskating has on people and communities. It provides youth and adults alike with healthy outlets for challenging feelings and times in life, is an excellent way to keep fit and healthy, provides goals to work towards (keeps us motivated) and most importantly, provides us with a community of support, friendship, and encouragement. I know young people who have become happier, healthier, and have more interesting things to do with their weekends now that they've found rollerskating in skate parks, as opposed to the trouble that teenagers often find themselves in with nothing else to do. The scene is thriving because Aucklanders have access to a wide variety of high quality, refurbished skateparks all over the city. We were spoilt for choice. There is virtually no rollerskating community in Wellington, and I believe it's due to the lack of facilities in this city, both in numbers and in quality. The deck at the Karori mini ramp is splintering and borderline dangerous, the boards are coming loose and the wide open grass space is underused. The bowl at Waitangi park is virtually unskateable for new skaters due to the quality of the paint and concrete, providing a barrier to getting into the sport. With nowhere else to go, skaters of all styles tried to turn to street skating, but have been prevented by rough pavement and skate-stoppers. There are so few options that the rollerskating scene is nonexistent, and I know that the skateboarding community is suffering too. Change is needed urgently. I recommend that the Wellington City Council acts upon the findings in the Skate Community Engagement survey.

Hi, I would like to offer my support for the improvement in the facilities document which was posted on Manual Magazine on the 5th of April 2021. I read through the writing and agree that the central city is the best place to upgrade current facilities and the suburban areas also deserve a slight upgrade.

Skateboarding has never been more popular and is set to be one of the modern sports to be incorporated into the Olympics. As such it has finally come out of the shadows and been embraced by not just Wellingtonians but also the wider global population. Wellington has always been a mecca for skateboarding in NZ. It's part of the DNA of the city, the council would be remiss in it's responsibilities to maintain that status by not including skateboard friendly council funded recreational facilities in it's current and future plans moving forward. Now more than ever Wellington has an opportunity to seize the day and make skateboarding a focus of the future, and create an environment for the youth and young at heart in the community to have an outlet and the resources to flourish, Skateboarding is not a crime and should be embraced for the highly technical and artistic sport that it is. Life long friends and a youthful positive outlook on life are all bi products of this pursuit. I hope that you have taken the time to read this submission and I thank you for the consideration you will show.

I am a 20 year old student who lives, studies, works, and skates in the central city. I am emailing regarding the findings of the recent survey on skating in Wellington, and to voice my support for some of the proposals/findings in it. I think that skateboarding brings so much life and creativity to the city, and it would be a huge shame for the council to allow the facilities that promote skating to continue to decay. There is a lack of beginner parks/ areas for people and kids learning to skate. The main skatepark (Waitangi park) is extremely small and only caters to a specific group of skaters (transition skaters and intermediate/advanced skaters). Another problem with Waitangi park is the lights going out at 1am. As soon as this happens, the place feels a lot more dangerous and threatening. The lights invite people to skate and to hang out in a safe area late at night, and taking that away doesn't appear to have any positive effects. With the lack of 24 hour indoor facilities (which would be amazing- please consider this!!), the city is not inviting at night. There is a lack of funding for maintaining parks, let alone upgrading them, which leads to locals taking on this responsibility (ie treetops, owen st). Additionally, there is a very limited number of options outside of these parks due to the council limiting public areas where skating is permitted. I understand that there is sometimes reason to do this, but a lot of the time these public spaces could be made a lot better and have more life present in them if skateboarding is allowed. After all, having predominantly young people get out and exercise can only be a good thing, and it also provides an opportunity for the public to have positive interactions/exposure with skaters. Speaking of the public interacting with skaters- most skateboarders understand that they pose a risk to pedestrians when skating down the footpath, and so instead go onto the roads. However, sometimes this is not possible or is too dangerous. I feel that if Wellington wants to be a city of the future- one that isn't stuck in the past- then it needs to turn away from the dependency on car culture and instead design the city for pedestrians first by removing car parks and roads, providing quality public transport, and opening up the city so that there is space for everyone to enjoy it safely. In short, please listen to the findings of the survey and to the Wellington skateboarding community. Please support wellington skateboarding, rather than leaving it to decay.

I have been skating in Wellington for 26 years and this has got me through a lot of tough times as a youth and as an adult. It would be great if Wellington City Council would could take in and consider the results off the Engagement Survey. I had a hand in the development of the the Skate Parks in Avalon and by Melling Bridge. Skateboarding is a great activity and gives youth something positive to spend there times doing.

I am writing to ask of you to please reconsider your decisions on building new skate facilities in Wellington. In a growing sports, that will be in this years Olympics, and can be shared by many different people, from people my age of 45, that still skate a few times a week, thru to 8 year olds. If there is nothing to be considered built for the next 10 years, you really are holding back a sport and a culture that provides such a positive life. Please take look at building new skate facilities anywhere in the Wellington region.

I am writing this email in the hope that someone may hear our pleas that Wellington city is severely lacking in communal skateboarding facilities. As someone who grew up living outside of the capital I always viewed Wellington as a hub of NZ skateboarding. I was excited to move to Wellington and engage myself within the community. I was shocked to find that Wellingtons facilities are severely lacking when compared to skateboarding facilities in the regions. Over the last decade I have seen a plethora of new parks appear in the regions, yet Wellington has yet to step up their game. Wellington is a city that is deeply rooted in NZ's skateboarding history, yet the premier 'park' is one that was founded and is maintained solely by skateboarders and volunteers. WCC needs to do better. Skateboarding is now an olympic sport and there is a wealth of underdeveloped talent in the streets of Wellington city.

I am writing to you all to discuss the situation with wellington skateboarding and what situation is. Many many people... Old and young love skating and are starting to learn. I have never seen so many people trying it out and I have skates for 14 years. Its a really amazing thing to do not only to keep kids out of trouble but to meet and socialize. Some of my closest friends are from skateboarding and I'll always be grateful for that. We have zero good skateparks around here. Frankly chaffers is a joke and the other parks need a serious upgrade. Why is the rest of the country/works upgrading and getting more people on the board and out of cars while we do nothing? Not even one indoor park in the windy city which rains alot and only because of some local legends that made treetops happenthats the skate scene is still around. Please consider giving the city some great facilities for skating ! It's well worth it and the youth and probably the parents that get a break from kids would definitely appreciate it !

I lived in Wellington from 2013-present day. I have seen no change during my time here in Wellington to support the skateboarding community. Your city is becoming stale. Please make a effort to support a Huge part of your Culture that brought me to your city in the first place.

It has recently been brought to my attention, I hope erroneously, that despite engaging with the skating community recently, there is no planned spending on skateboarding infrastructure. I would like the council to listen to the voices of the community and respond appropriately to the findings of the survey. When I was visiting Hull (in Yorkshire of all places) in 2017, I had my skateboard with me and googled where skateparks were, the link I am about to provide popped up. <https://kingpinmag.com/features/articles/skate-hull-hull-plans-become-uks-first-skate-city.html> I was fascinated and thought that this was a very forward thinking council. It turns out that other councils such as Malmo and our 'sister' city Melbourne are doing similar things. Skateboarding is as much a part of the arts and culture of Wellington as the theatre, or the Cake Tin. As such it deserves at least some investment. I personally would like to see many dispersed, small scale areas that are able to be utilised by skateboarders. I live in Kelburn and the closest area to me that is not a ramp is Waitangi Park (Karori skatepark having been demolished). Although to skate to Chaffers is doable I would much prefer something on a smaller scale closer to home. Limiting car journeys etc, enabling me to participate more frequently. Please build a skatepark or skate area somewhere in Kelburn. Perhaps near the cable car? Somewhere that noise will not unduly effect people. To go off topic slightly, why are tar seal roads being replaced with chip seal? This is not a skateboard friendly surface for roading. Aside from that it is noisy, sticky, and puts stones through peoples windows. This is not the kind of road surface that is suitable for an urban centre! Many thanks for your time and hard work in other areas. I look forward to being able to enjoy myself phisically and mentally in more parts of the city soon.

Kia Ora, my name is Reuben Sceats and I am writing about the "skate community engagement." Skateboarding has been unfairly looked down upon by the government for years, skateboarding is a way to connect with like minded people, and bring much needed exercise to our overweight country. Skateboarding contributes to the five ways to wellbeing cited in the NZ mental health foundation. Skateboarding has helped me through many hard times by distracting my mind and getting me out the house. It is unfair that the capital of New Zealand has the worst skate parks and has such a negative connotation towards the activity.

My email is related to the Skate Community Engagement survey that I heard is gonna be discussed over the upcoming weeks. I come from abroad, and came to live and work in Wellington last year. Over my stay in New Zealand, I got positively surprised how many medium sized city would have some great skateboarding facilities. However I came to live in Wellington for work, I struggled a little to get to find some quality ones here. Even though they are a few, they are quite spread out, not always in good maintenance conditions or designed to the freshly Olympic sport that skateboarding has become. Also there no descent/indoor facility when the weather turns bad, which is fairly usual here. The Skate Community Engagement survey has been shared to me and I've read through it with attention. I think it is of great quality and informations. It does reflect my own feelings and advices about the improvement that could be made. Therefore I fully support it, and would greatly appreciate that the councillors would consider it to. I have been skateboarding and part of the skateboard communities for more than 2 years already. This is a great social activity, where people from different age groups, gender, social background get to do together, talk, make friends, support each other. It would be great to see the Wellington council fully embrace and support the people that try to bring this community together.

I may be a bit late on this but feel it's important to send anyway. I've recently heard about the survey that was taken on local 'skate community engagement'. As someone who has been brought up around the skateboard community, and have skated in Wellington since I was a small child, I would like to share some insight into what I think can be done to start to improve Skateboarding in Wellington What I Personally think would be great to see: Improving existing skate parks/areas/facilities While there are a number of enjoyable areas to Skate in around Wellington, many of them haven't been well built or maintained. An example of this is Island Bay skatepark which has uneven, and rough, concrete which makes it a hazard to skate. Indoor facilities Skateboarders haven't had a proper indoor facility to skate in for years. There used to be the skatepit which was designed for skateboarders. There was also the Kilbirnie Rec Center, but that has become far less accessible for skaters through the years The dream would be too have an indoor area that's sole purpose is for giving skaters something to use, much like the Skate Pit once would have been. Wooden Mini Ramps / Half Pipes These don't take up a lot of space, but are extremely useful and important for skateboarding. There is both one at Island bay skateboard, and next to the Karori vert ramp, however they are not very accessible as they are outside the central city. Ideally a number of Mini Ramps could be installed around the city. WAitangi park is a good start as it's already an area for skating. Other possible locations could be near the War Memorial, , as well as local schools and colleges. Skate Friendly streets areas The park next to the Hutt City council building has a great example of a skate spot that is in the street. It has a variety of things (ledges banks), is easily accessible, and friendly to everyone around. Creating spots like this in Wellington city would be absolutely amazing. Street spots need to be more accessible for skaters. By putting knobs, and such on things like kedges, people are taking an Anti-Skating stance. Ledges made of concrete, metal, or wood will hardly see damage beyond slow wear and tear from skate use. Skateboarders are generally very respectful towards people in public areas where people are wanting to skate, but that being said, if a skate wants to skate a ledge or a handrail they will either wait for people to move, or ask them. I hope that the council will decide to do more to help the wellington skateboard community as it would mean so much to us

Feedback to Long Term Annual Plan 2021

Dear Mayor and councillors,

We understand that the Government is set to move decision making solely to the Director General of Health. However, councillors are elected and paid to represent and protect the community. Considering the growing research being carried out in fluoridated countries showing harm to health, and the increased pressures on council finances, we propose that Council take a serious interest in the health of the community and stop fluoridation.

Here are short summaries of just a few of the studies on neurotoxicity:

2006: The National Research Council published Fluoride in Drinking Water,<sup>1</sup> the most authoritative review of fluoride's toxicity. It stated unequivocally that "fluorides have the ability to interfere with the functions of the brain and the body."

2012: A Harvard-funded meta-analysis<sup>2</sup> found that children ingesting higher levels of fluoride tested an average 7 IQ points lower in 26 out of 27 studies. Most had higher fluoride concentrations than in U.S. water, but many had total exposures to fluoride no more than what millions of Americans receive. The same is true of New Zealand exposures. In fact the US level is now a maximum of 0.7ppm, whereas Hutt City levels are 0.85ppm.

2017: A National Institutes of Health (NIH) – funded study<sup>3</sup> in Mexico covering 13 years found that every one half milligram per liter (mg/L) increase in fluoride in pregnant women's urine – approximately the difference caused by ingestion of fluoridated water<sup>4</sup> – was associated with a reduction of their children's IQ by about 3 points. Leonardo Trasande, a leading physician unaffiliated with the study, said it "raises serious concerns about fluoride supplementation in water."<sup>5</sup>

2018: A Canadian study<sup>6</sup> found iodine-deficient adults (nearly 18% of the population) with higher fluoride levels had a greater risk of hypothyroidism (known to be linked to lower IQs). Author Ashley Malin said "I have grave concerns about the health effects of fluoride exposure."<sup>7</sup>

2019: Another NIH-funded study<sup>8</sup> published in Journal of the American Medical Association Pediatrics found every 1 mg/L increase in fluoride in Canadian pregnant women's urine was linked to a 4.5 decrease in IQ in their male children. The physician editor of JAMA Pediatrics said "I would not have my wife drink fluoridated water"<sup>9</sup> if she was pregnant.

2019: A Canadian study<sup>10</sup> found a nearly 300% higher risk of ADHD for children living in fluoridated areas. This reinforced earlier study linking fluoride to ADHD in Mexico (2018)<sup>11</sup> and the U.S. (2015).<sup>12</sup>

2019: A systematic review of 149 human studies and 339 animal studies by the U.S. National Toxicology Program<sup>13</sup> concluded that “fluoride is presumed to be a cognitive neurodevelopmental hazard to humans.” The report is still in draft form, but NTP has also said there is little chance they will change their finding.

2020: Another NIH-funded study<sup>14</sup> in Canada found that for babies fed formula mixed with fluoridated water, every additional 0.5 mg/litre fluoride reduced their IQ by 4.4 points. In NZ, where we typically fluoridate at 0.85 ppm and natural levels are very low, this represents a 7 IQ point loss (Half a Standard Deviation, which is significant),.. Losses of non-verbal IQ were even more serious, an average of 9 points.

We would like to speak to our submission if possible.

Regards

Mary Byrne

I am writing in support of the findings of the Skate Community Engagement survey that has recently taken place. I have been skateboarding in and around the Wellington area for over 25 years and have watched it grow and evolve over that time. Skateboarding is more popular now than ever before and will only continue to grow as a sport. With skateboarding now an Olympic sport combined with the growing popularity of skateboarding, it makes sense for the Wellington City Council to consider acting upon the findings of the Skate Community Engagement survey. If the decision is in favour of this survey, I urge you to employ skateboarders to help with design and planning, as so many skateparks and skate facilities that have been built in the past have been done so without the oversight of actual skateboarders, making these facilities undesirable.

To Whom It May Concern:

Submission on Wellington City Council's Long Term Plan 2021: PEST PLANTS

The Upper Hutt Branch of Forest and Bird has read and fully supports the submission from the Wellington Natural Heritage Trust, particularly the requests that more funding be dedicated to pest plant control and that old man's beard (OMB) on the escarpment between Petone and Ngauranga be dealt with urgently.

Our Branch has been running a programme to clear OMB from important areas of bush in Upper Hutt since 2015. This supplements work done by GWRC and UHCC. We work wherever the bush most needs it, regardless of who owns the underlying land. We pay a contractor (funded through grants and the Branch's own funds) to plan and manage the programme, and to do cutting and pasting and follow-up spray work. Much of the cutting and pasting work is done by volunteers, many of them F&B members.

Our main focus to date has been on the escarpment above SH2 between Keith George Memorial Park at Silverstream and the junction of the Hutt and Akatarawa Rivers. Our vision is that the escarpment, which runs all the way from central Wellington to the Tararua Ranges, will one day be a thriving bird corridor linking Zealandia to Belmont Regional Park, Keith George Memorial Park, Akatarawa Forest and Tararua Forest Park and beyond. To this end the Branch has contributed many hundreds of hours to the control of OMB on "our" section of the escarpment. This work is supported by the excellent work of the Hutt City Council between Petone and SH58 and by the work of GWRC in Keith George Memorial Park and Akatarawa Forest.

The infestation of OMB on the escarpment south of Petone is getting worse every year. Based on our experience, it is probably still at a point where control could have a high level of success. The trees and shrubs underneath the weed are probably still alive and should recover, creating a shading canopy that will help retard future growth of OMB seedlings. If left much longer, however, lasting damage will be done to large areas of canopy, at which point the recovery will take much longer and be much more costly.

I do not wish to be heard in support of this submission.

Yours sincerely,

Graham Bellamy
Chair, Upper Hutt Branch, Forest and Bird.

Haven't put Wellington on my list to skate however, how Kevin Francis featured the survey in manual magazine and social media has increased the focus on Wellington to be tourist skateboard destination.

I am slightly dismayed by the lack of skateboarding facilities in Wellington city. As a mum of 2 young skateboarders, I often hear them overtalking with friends about the 'same old' and limited options they have regarding places to do their sport. While we were on holiday in Christchurch this last xmas, my boys had the opportunity to skate at least a dozen different skateparks, and that was not even them all. I was highly impressed with the standard and quality of the parks, we were amazed by the effort and money spent. We also noticed they were often crowded, and that is such a great thing to see. All these young kids are able to socialise and practice doing their sport together, and getting the support from the local council. It is such a shame that Wellington does not have that many options for these young kids. Please step up and dont be left behind by the other cities in New Zealand.

Just an email here to say I am in HUGE support of new facilities to be made in welly CDB. There has been a huge lack of upgrades or new facilities in CBD over the last 10 years. There are some really cool designs to incorporate the city these days in skatepark design. i'm sure you all know about it ! I look forward to hopefully seeing some discussions. total support! Love Wellington and the skate community :)

I am writing to express my support for the WCC to act upon its findings in the Skateboarding Community Engagement survey. The WCC has yet to act upon what it has agreed to the skateboarding community, and in order to be regarded by the standards of the rest of New Zealand skateboarding, it must act to reach its obligation. WCC should be working alongside its local skateboarding community, utilizing the great number of resources available through New Zealand companies such as Acid NZ, and look into how it can design facilities that help push the rapidly growing subculture into the future. It must take into regard the unique weather of Wellington, speak to those who use the facilities the most, and facilitate feedback to ensure all funding is put into the right place, for designs that are adequate. Besides the bowl, Waitangi (chaffers) park is well below the national standard, as well as Island Bay. Skateboarders have been forced to take action, and now the majority of popular skateparks in the city are D.I.Y. This shows to the community of New Zealand a lack of appreciation for the arts, events, and creative communities brought forward by this unique subculture. Wellington has the potential to be a hub for the progression of skateboarding, but the WCC has thus far shown a lack of interest in its strong skateboarding community. Should action not be taken soon, more drastic measures will surely be undertaken to see political change. We appreciate the time taken to respond, but wish to see meaningful action taken in the near future.

This email is in relation to the merit of improving Wellington's skate facilities, giving a window into some of what passed generations of skateboarders, or youth have gone through, and some of the positive effects councils have had, by coming to party, in times passed. For the most part, I grew up in Hamilton, a teenager in the early to mid 1990's, when there were very few skateparks, or 'legal' skate spots - there was only really the Melville Bowl built in the late 70's. We used to skate anywhere we could - skateboarding was like, if not, a religion to us. We lived it, and breathed it. It was one of the background, to our community - often a group, or groups of 'outcasts' - and in a sense, still is. There was hardly anywhere 'legal' to skate, we would often skate in the city, and at schools etc. This obviously drew attention to us, to the point security guards and 'adults' felt they had the right to abuse us, both verbally, and physically (including theft - attempting to unlawfully confiscate, or steal our skateboards, and of course, the physical assault of children - cases which never saw the inside of a courtroom.) This situation, obviously fueled the fire, and tension, already latent in our resentment towards, and disappointment in, so called authority figures - Hamilton in the mid to late 90's was already an incredibly violent place as it was. To be fair, I can understand why some business owners, and city councilors hate, or hated skateboarders, grinding curbs, etc... though as far equality, generally speaking, it seems people on scooters, including electric scooters seem to basically be able to go where they like, whereas Skateboarders often face No Skateboarding signs etc. When Melville Bowl was updated, and incorporated into an actual skatepark, in 1998 it made a major difference, Fairfield Skatepark followed, as well as a small one in Nawton... we finally had a place to go, or more accessible places, especially to kids often, poor, or out of home, without a car of their own (though still nothing in Hamilton city - apose to Victoria Park Skatepark near the middle of Auckland City - well done to whomever was involved in getting that off the ground.) These days, thankfully things have, and are continuing to change, in what appears to be a positive direction; Place like the Barry Curtis Skatepark in Botany, Auckland, have actually, incorporated a community centre, basketball courts, and an actually park into the design of their park. It is a God send, and also helps to integrate members from different of the community together, apose to the idea of the dirty skateboarder pushed off into the corner. I hope you do invest time and money into skateparks, or skate friendly parts of the city - which also are used by kids on scooters, people on BMX's etc. It gets kids away from staring at screens, outdoors, and if done in the right way, can bring unity to different cultures, beyond race, or wealth, or gender. Respect to you all, for the work you do. I hope it goes well, and the kids of today, don't have to deal with what we went through - a lot of us, wound up in jail, have suffered, or suffer with addiction, and a lot of us are dead.

I'm writing to add my voice to those calling for better skateparks in the Wellington region. For a city as large as Wellington the facilities are a joke. People need more outdoor activities and interests, and there are few choices. If you look at Auckland or even Christchurch, there are a greater variety of styles in skate features, and many more parks to choose from. I would like to see change and I would like you to act upon the findings of the 'Skate Community Engagement' survey. Please support better facilities for the youth, and older people like me (I'm nearly 50 and I still skate ramps.)

I suck at skating but constantly use my skateboard to get around. I can't do any tricks or grind but even then, skating in Wellington sucks even more than I do. All the rough ground, slippery tiles and other hazards means I constantly have to get on and off my board. Compared to other methods of transport this is ridiculous - you don't see people getting out of their cars every 100m and back in again. I love skating and its culture and it has done wonders for many people, including me. I would like to see this sport and method of transportation encouraged rather than punished. (put metal coping on benches instead of grind stoppers).

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Two of the biggest determinants of cycling uptake are geography and weather. Zealots don't mind either but most people do. E-bikes mitigate Wellington's geographic challenges but nothing mitigates the weather. Trying to convince large numbers of Wellingtonians to commute and shop by bike is a fool's errand and spending tens of millions of dollars to do so is ridiculous.

Central Library

---

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

It is vital to the cultural life of the city that the Library is reopened as soon as possible, without compromise of its holdings and traditional library services. The Library is also vital to the life of Civic Square, which has become sadly depleted as a gathering-point for residents and visitors. Delay in strengthening the (undamaged) Library can only lead to higher overall cost, as original estimates are deemed no longer realistic. All haste should be applied to the Library remediation.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

The Council wastes untold ratepayer monies on vanity projects, failed cycleways and rainbow crossings. Ratepayer funds would be easily sufficient if the sillier projects were abandoned, and some focus given to core infrastructure needs.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Having experienced public-private partnership in the UK (e.g. for schools & hospitals), I have first-hand seen the very poor value for money it represents to rate payers, with councils/health trusts being locked into expensive, long term contracts that end up costing far more than if facilities had been built and financed directly by the councils/health trusts. I therefore strongly oppose this council's preference for this, and instead urge the council to fully fund the demolition and rebuilding of the site.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Berhampore golf course could solve a lot of issues. It is hardly used by the majority of ratepayers. If you sold half of the course to a developer and used the other half as green space then you would not need to increase the rates by such crazy numbers! All the above spending increases appear necessary, however such a large increase in rates will be a real struggle for many rate payers....potentially looking at selling off some less used real estate (eg the golf course) could help reduce such massive increases in rates! You need to think a little more laterally rather than just looking at the increases in spending, think how you can recoup some $ also!

As stated earlier- I support the increase in spend for infrastructure, but not necessarily by purely increasing rates. I believe WCC needs to have a hard look at what it's core role is and where it could sell some property which does not fit into this core role (eg Berhampore golf course) to help fund some of the spend and decrease the burden on ratepaters

Doctors for Active, Safe Transport

Submission to the Wellington City Council on the 2021 Long Term Plan

Dr David Tripp

Doctors for Active, Safe Transport (DAST)

April 2021

We would like to present orally on this submission.

Overview

This submission advocates for a much greater share of current investment to be allocated to active transport, particularly cycling. The health benefits of active transport (cycling and walking) are substantial.

DAST recommends that the WCC:

- Note the significant health benefits from increased active transport, including cycling.
- Note that these benefits will only be realised if there is a significant modal shift from private motor vehicles to active transport modes.
- Note that this shift is contingent on development of a comprehensive safe cycling network.
- Agree to increase planning and investment in safe cycling infrastructure in line with Option 4 – the Accelerated Full Programme.

Who is DAST

We are a network of over 130 Wellington and Lower Hutt Hospital doctors advocating for the benefits of active transport.

In our roles as specialist doctors, we are often the ambulance at the bottom of the cliff. We daily see the debilitating and painful – often fatal - health consequences of a national that gets far too little exercise.

We aim to promote the health benefits of active transport for all the people of our region and want to help people make healthy choices.

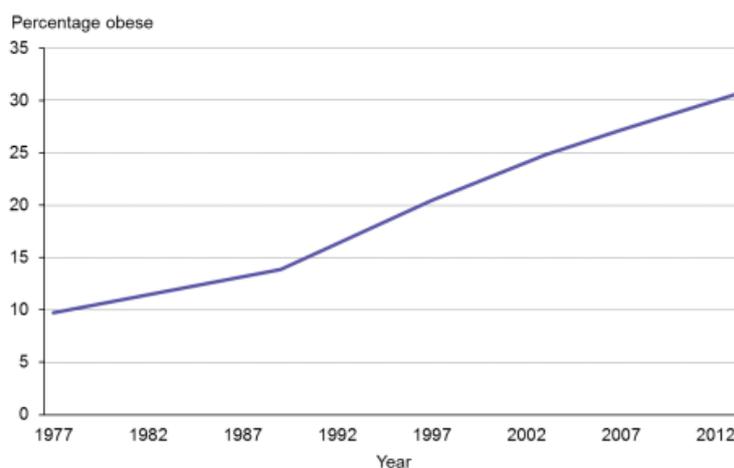

As local political leaders, you can build a fence at the top of the cliff – by leading a paradigm shift from a transport infrastructure focused on private motor vehicles to one which facilitates and promotes active transport.

Despite good intentions, provision for active transport is glacial in terms of progress and consumes a tiny fraction of the budget.

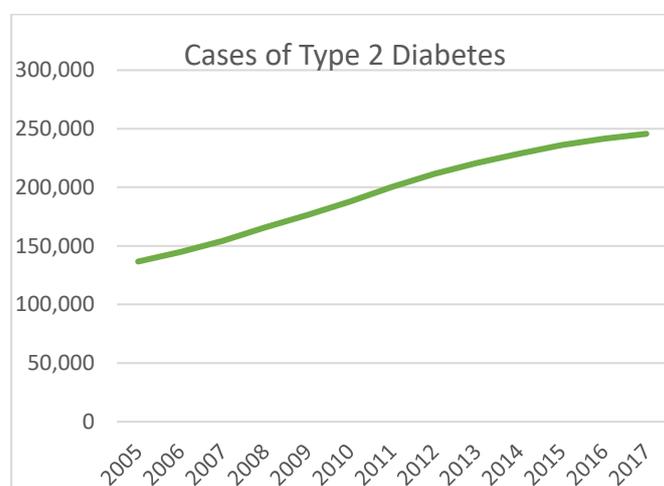

For the sake of the health of the people you lead, and that we care for, this must change.

A Snapshot of Health in NZ

New Zealand faces a dramatic increase in obesity, and the consequent health problems:

Similarly, NZ faces dramatic increases in the number of people with diabetes and cancer:

Health Benefits of Active Transport

In high- and middle-income countries physical inactivity has become the fourth leading risk factor for premature mortality.<sup>1</sup> Declining rates of functional active travel have contributed to this population-level decrease in physical activity, and evidence suggests that rising levels of obesity are more pronounced in settings with greater declines in active travel.<sup>2,3</sup>

Evidence for the considerable health benefits of cycling continues to grow.

A recent 5-year prospective study of over 250,000 people (median age 52)<sup>4</sup>, published in the British Medical Journal, found cycling reduced:

- The risk of all-cause mortality by 41%
- The risk of any cancer by 45%
- The risk of cardiovascular disease by 46%

Commenting on this study, the Guardian said, “If a magic pill were invented that could generate all of these benefits, we would be falling over ourselves to buy it.”<sup>5</sup>

A summary of 174 individual studies have given us insight into how the risk of cancer, diabetes, and ischaemic heart disease reduces with exercise. The message is clear: the more the better<sup>6</sup>:

Exercise in general has been shown to reduce the risk of stroke by 25%.<sup>7</sup>

Cycling has clear benefits to business. A 3-year study in Cambridge, UK, found a 54% in sickness absence from work each year<sup>8</sup>.

A recent, large study published in the British Medical Journal examined the effect of active transport (cycling and walking) on the obesity epidemic and compared this affect with sport involvement.<sup>9</sup>

	Reduction in BMI		Reduction in Percentage Body Fat
	Men	Women	Men	Women
Attributable to active transport	-0.97	-0.87	-1.35	-1.37
Attributable to involvement in sport	-0.10	-0.26	-0.19	-0.34

These findings show a robust, independent association between active commuting and two objective markers of obesity, BMI and percentage body fat. Those who used active modes had a lower BMI and percentage body fat compared with those who used private transport.

These differences are larger than the effect sizes seen in most individually focused interventions based on diet and physical activity to prevent overweight and obesity.<sup>10</sup> They are also approximately four times larger than the reductions in obesity due to involvement in sport.

Active commuting to work has been strongly recommended by the UK National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE) as a feasible way of incorporating greater levels of physical activity into daily life.<sup>11</sup> Policies designed to effect a population-level modal shift to more active modes of work commuting therefore present major opportunities for public health improvement.

Studies consistently suggest that use of active commuting modes translates into higher levels of overall individual physical activity.<sup>12 13 14</sup> A recent UK study provided 103 commuters with accelerometers for seven days and found that total weekday physical activity was 45% higher in participants who walked or cycled to work compared with those who commuted by car, while no differences in sedentary activity or weekend physical activity were observed between the two groups.<sup>9</sup>

Is Cycling Safe?

A New Zealand study of ACC injury risks of road cycling 3 times a week, compared to various other activities, found cycling had similar risks to DIY twice a month, 140-fold fewer injuries than skiing 4 – 5 times a year, and 530-fold fewer injuries than playing rugby every 3 weeks.

The study concludes that fear of cycling in car-dependent NZ arise from causes other than the actual risk of injury.<sup>15</sup>

The Wellington Context

You have the vision – this has all been agreed in policy statements by council for some years. You even have had the budgets. However, it's still not happening. This is a complex process and a “new way of doing business” for council staff, engineering consultants and contractors, community consultation processes, and local businesses.

We are saddened – and your people's health has suffered as a result – that the development of cycling infrastructure remains subject to frequent delays. We note the addition of some cycle lanes – but also note that $16 million has gone unspent from Newtown Connections, the Parade upgrade and the Mirimar networks.

This is also about much more than capital works projects. It is about changing culture and behaviours. It is about changing the choices each of us make each time we leave our homes to go anywhere.

This requires leadership – looking at this evidence and making our cities and roads the best they can be for everyone – not just motorists.

We need to – urgently – reduce our dependence on private motor vehicles – they are the key driver of congestion, they are bad for our fragile environment, and they are bad for our health. This plan does little more than advance the status quo at a glacial pace.

Instead, the heart of our transport plan must be to facilitate and promote rapid modal shift.

Put simply, we must change. And quickly.

We therefore strongly support Option 4: Accelerate Full Programme.

We note with concern the prioritisation of the Great Harbour Way over the development of cycle networks in the northern suburbs. Again – put simply – we must get our children onto bikes. This is more important than a largely recreational route – attractive though that is. We are concerned that cycling budgets are being frequently used to undertake projects providing road resilience – for example Cobham Dr, Te Are Tupua (Petone to Ngauranga) and the Eastborne Path. This implicit subsidy to road users should not be at the expense of the health benefits of cycling.

Each of these topics is clearly pressing, but I am most concerned about Wellington's cycle infrastructure. Wellington's relative inaction is becoming embarrassing as cities like Auckland and Christchurch pull ahead. It's totally unacceptable that people are made to feel unsafe when they choose a transport option that is good for their health and good for the planet.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Cycleways: The use of the cycleways already constructed is way below the modelled take up. If ratepayers were to be surveyed I'm guessing that the majority of Wellington ratepayers do not own a bike or if they do, have little intention of going shopping or commuting to work on one. With so many important projects competing for funding now is not the time to spend $120m on cycleways. Wellington businesses need support and incentives from the council and cycleways are not going to keep ratepaying business in business. Climate Change: I accept NZ needs to address climate change. However, I don't accept that Wellington needs to enter a race to be First to Zero when the national target is an emissions reduction of HALF by 2030. Why should ratepayers fund such initiatives as public EV chargers when only a small number of residents can afford to buy an EV ? Why should we fund community climate action support and an expensive climate change response team ? Most people are climate aware and will make small changes in their own time without council pressuring them to do so. Has the council considered that a significant rate rise of 13.5% could soak up money that ratepayers could have usefully spent on their personal climate change initiatives in their home and in their transport choices ? Central Library: I would like the council to reverse it's decision to retain and strengthen the central library. If the council prefer to demolish and rebuild the MOB and CAB ( which I support) then now is the perfect time to reverse the decision to retain the library. With the whole site demolished it opens up scope for a much more modern and innovative Civic Square site. The existing library will constrain development. Demolishing all three buildings would provide a much more certain costing for completion. Without a fixed price contract for the Central Library strengthening it is almost certain that costs will blow out and ratepayers will be saddled with a much higher investment than a straight demolish and rebuild. Sludge and Waste minimisation: I agree something has to be done to reduce landfill and support Council's preferred option. However, I only support a levy through an SPV if it is to solely cover/repay the sum of the initial investment i.e. between $147m and $208m. SPV's are not supposed to make a profit or provide ongoing funding for the infrastructure in question. - Your FAQ on the web site suggests that a $70 - $100 levy could be charged for 30 years, which is at worst illegal and at best unethical. You may need to review this.

Get Wellington Moving The Council needs to seriously listen to businesses before going ahead and closing roads e.g. Tory St, to make them into pedestrian precincts or taking away car parking in the CBD. (Check out business anger against Auckland Council over the changes to Queen St.) Like it or not, not all shoppers and visitors can use a bus or a bike to shop in the CBD. If the Council continue to make it difficult for car owners to shop in the Capital, they are very likely to spend their money elsewhere. The consequence for the Council will be a reduction in car parking and enforcement fees, a reduction in business rates from the businesses that cease to trade and a declining Capital.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

I would prefer to pay more rates and see the development of cycleway infrastructure that is safe and separate from cars (similar to the cycleway from Ngauranga Gorge to Thorndon Quay). I am not a confident cyclist and don't cycle in Wellington City at the moment as you have to share the road with cars, but I would like to start cycling if there was safe and separate infrastructure in place. I am comfortable paying more rates to see this happen.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

**Cycleways** Safe cycling infrastructure requires significant and urgent investment now, in order to facilitate the mode shift required to reduce carbon emissions, support better health outcomes and make our city safer and people friendly. WCC suffers from decision paralysis, spending too long talking about cycleways and undertaking engagement without actually putting any infrastructure in place. Newtown Connections is a prime example where Council have talked for years yet have made virtually no progress, and are now using LGWM as a scapegoat to avoid making any decision for safer cycling that threatens to remove on-street parking or increase travel times for private car users. It is well past time for WCC to move beyond empty declarations of climate and ecological emergencies to actually put in some infrastructure that encourages cycling, and indeed discourages private vehicle use and ownership. There are three quick solutions that should be implemented immediately in Newtown: Reduce traffic speed limits on roads which are unsafe: * Berhampore, Newtown and Adelaide Road to the Basin Reserve should all be a safe speed zone of 30 km/hr until separated cycleways are in place. * Bus-lanes operate 24 hours, providing more space for cyclists and improving public transport. * Clear zones on main roads. Prioritize movement of people, not parking of private vehicles. Other comments: 1. Prioritise cycle infrastructure that people need to use for commuting, before seawalls. This will benefit the most people and reduce emissions and traffic. The Great Harbour Way is low value for money, and is largely recreational route with extremely high costs due to the road-widening and coastal defences required to provide this route around the entirety of Wellington's coastline. This money would be better spent improving the safety of cycling on commuter routes. 2. Double the Cycling Minor Works Budget to $2 million per year Under the High and Full funding options the LTP allocates $1 million per year to this category which is no increase from recent years. This budget is where the council funds small cycling improvements all over Wellington, including cycle parking like the bike racks in Grey Street. We're constantly told that there's not enough money in this budget for improvements we ask for. We also don't think it's a budget where the council is constrained by capacity in what it can deliver. Doubling this budget to $2 million per year would vastly improve the councils ability to provide parking and other minor improvements over the next decade. 3. Create a new dedicated funding category to deliver rapid changes to the urban environment All around the world we've seen cities like London, New York and Paris react quickly and dynamically to reallocate road space for massive growth in cycling. Here in Wellington, we're still waiting to see any significant improvements delivered for cyclists. In the next month installation of the Brooklyn Road uphill bike path will begin as part of the Innovating Streets programme. We think cycle lanes could be delivered quicker, easier and cheaper with the addition of a dedicated fund for this type of work. Currently the LTP suggests this work could be funded out of the already limited Minor Works Budget, but we think the scale needed to deliver a connected cycle network over the next decade requires a well-resourced and dedicated fund. This fund would also deliver public space improvements outside of cycling in the form of Low-Traffic Neighbourhoods and parklets. 4. Ring-fence cycling funding WCC has a habit of underdelivering on cycleways. This means that while large numbers of multiple millions of dollars are thrown around in the news and social media, whole projects go by with their allocated funding unspent. In the three years since the last LTP more than $16 million has gone unspent from Newtown Connections, the Parade Upgrade and Miramar networks that were planned to have been built. We have an expectation that money allocated to cycling through an extensive LTP consultation process actually get's spent on cycling - without delay. Even if we manage to increase the budget for cycling there's no guarantee that WCC will actually build cycling infrastructure with the money. **Three Waters** Increase the budget for Water Sensitive Urban Design. Remove car park spaces to create greenspace that can be used to filters stormwater and improve biodiversity.

Newtown is expected to carry the burden of housing intensification over the next 10 years. It requires more investment to improve the urban fabric - more street planting, cycling infrastructure, gardens, playgrounds, etc.

Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Decision 5 - Te Ngakau Civic Precinct and Council Office Buildings I favour retaining and strengthening the MOB. It is a significant heritage building and an enhancement to Civic Square. By demolishing it and leasing the site to a private developer, the Council will lose effective control over any replacement building; to maintain the the Council will 'control the design brief' is to live in a fantasy world. A private developer will always prioritise his own commercial interest over those of the Council and the citizens of Wellington. I believe this option would place the plan for a National School of Music in serious jeopardy. I don't buy the argument that the MOB and the CAB must be treated as one building because they are 'joined' by an atrium. The MOB existed as a stand-alone building for some 35 Years; why could it not do so again? Also, the CAB and the Library were 'joined' by an upper-level structure for years, and there seemed to be no problem with simply removing it, leaving each building separate. So, demolish the CAB and lease the site, but the MOB ought to be retained in Council ownership and strengthened, even if the upfront cost to the council is greater. And another thing - the CAB and the Library are relatively modern buildings; how come they are now considered earthquake risks? Has anyone thought to ask some searching questions about the competence of their architects and engineers? Seriously, I have never once heard this mentioned - in public, anyway.

- Cycleways
- Te Atakura (climate change)
- Central Library
- Sludge and waste minimisation
- Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

On "Fixing the Central Library" - But I would pay for sludge minimisation over a new library - we need to look after the planet for everyone's survival, the same cannot be said of books which are a luxury item with need presently being met in other ways. I request council also look into pedestrian access to Ngauranga gorge retail stores. Presently, while sign posted access, there are not safe pedestrian crossing points. For instance crossing the road at the bottom to walk up the hill on the left, there is only a bike crossing light - even if one runs across the road there is not sufficient time before traffic is dangerously whipping around the corner. There also seems no easy way to cross Ngauranga gorge near Lewis's. I could not see how to cross to walk up to shops on the righthand side. How are you going to provide bike access Kaiwharawhara to Ngaio While I back this, the road is impossibly narrow + there are frequent fast travelling busses. I think making existing cycleways more connected and useful would be helpful. I wanted to bike once from Crofton Downs to the CBD. When the Kaiwharawhara bike lane ran out, I was on the road. I got taken out by a car on Featherston St + have been too terrified to ride a bike again. Bike lanes are nice, but they're a waste of time if they don't go anywhere. In terms of first to zero, I would like to see council forcing developers and body corporates to provide: - Recycling facilities for apartment + townhouse residents. - The opportunity for residents to have washing lines or be able to dry washing on their deck. (cf. silly aesthetic rules). - offering greenwaste disposal options other than landfill for residents of multi unit blocks. I would also like body corporates & developers to facilitate solar panels on roofs rather than hinder this. I also feel energy efficient heating should be installed in new builds. I find it profoundly disappointing that densification is the way forward & considered a relatively environmentally friendly way for the city to grow & tackle the housing crisis. But those residents can't actually live freely because of silly council & body corporate rules. For example, no provision of recycling for blocks of > 10 residents. On Te Ngākau: I would like to see likely sea level rise factored into building decisions in the central city. After that, I feel buildings should be at 100% of earthquake code & built in a financially responsible way.

The LTP is a step in the right direction. In terms of a few of the key decisions: Decision 3 - it's good the council is supporting option 3 but given the incredibly slow development of cycleways in WCC I think option 4 would be preferable. In particular for me the absence of safe cycleways from Karori is a real menace. I want to buy an e-bike to commute to the CBD but am terrified of the traffic. The lanes don't need to be right down Karori Rd, and maybe that space should be prioritised for bus priority. Which is a whole 'nother fight. Decision 4 - Completely agree with fully funding. And then more, if possible. Decision 6 - Completely agree with borrowing above the cap to fund this essential cultural infrastructure.

1. Wastewater laterals - it is sensible for the council to take ownership and manage any remediation. I would like water meters introduced to all properties - initially as a measurement device to help spot leaks; and once the usage data has been analysed, to inform a conversation about how water use is charged. 2. Cycleways - it is important to invest in network routes, rather than piecemeal, if you want to effect a mode-shift. I'd like to see more data - current cycle counters only count cycles - can you show number of vehicles, and potentially even separate car/bus/truck data, allowing you to measure if cycling as a % of road activity is increasing. Secondly - please also consider 'off road' options for cycling, such as a connection from Island Bay to Willis St via Berhampore golf/Liardet/Macallister/Prince of Wales/Central parks. 3. Climate change - there are other mechanisms to provide information and education, so I'd de-prioritise this 'big decision' to focus on the others. I'm surprised you didn't survey people on the relative ranking of the big decisions. 4. Central Library - I think you should demolish the central library at the same time as the CAB and MOB, and develop the entire site as a single package. In the mean time, lease a central building (e.g. David Jones on Lambton Quay) to act as central library. 5. Te Ngākau - as above, include central library remediation in the plans. 6. Other - Please use the 10 year plan to give Sport & Recreation equal status to Culture, and reflect this in the funding levels. I'd argue that there are more people that engage in sport/recreation than attend the venues that are costing so much to fix/rebuild.

I would like to see developers pay for any infrastructure that their developments will utilise, _and_ a top-up premium to go toward funding of the previous infrastructure under-investment. I know this will flow through to property costs, but there is already a significant gap between build costs and market price, so this can be absorbed. I would like to see user charging introduced for any parking that takes place on any bus route, inc. suburban routes; to help reduce parking in these areas to allow the buses to flow more freely. I would like to see more investment in the trails network to allow more people to experience our natural capital.

Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library
Sludge and waste minimisation
Te Ngākau funding for future work

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Feedback on key decisions Decision 1 – Three waters 7. I would support option 3 and the rates increase it requires except the document suggests it is undeliverable. I don't have any problem paying for the Council's core functions. I just don't want to do this and pay for all the discretionary and inefficient activity, some of which is identified above. Decision 2 – Wastewater laterals 8. The preferred option simply rescinds a relatively recent change to responsibility for wastewater laterals. I support the preferred option and would encourage the Council not to pad out the substantive issues it wants to consult on with this trivia. Decision 3 - cycleways 9. I cycle to work. I'm a supporter of making cycling safer, but I don't see cycling as being a silver bullet. Particularly in a howling southerly with two kids. I do not have a preferred option. I commend the decision to enable cycling from the top of the Cable Car to Salamanca Road. This has been a game changer for me, allowing me to get to work without braving Glenmore Street and Bowen Street. But that was a simple change that didn't cost anything. Decision 4: first to zero 10. I'm a strong believer in markets and price signals being the most efficient means to achieve important objectives. Central government has a far bigger role to play than the Council in this regard (i.e., using the Emissions Trading Scheme). Similarly, I am deeply opposed to spending money ineffectually and inefficiently to "show we care". As a result, I am particularly opposed to the following proposals that look to be at high risk of spending money without achieving much of note to save the planet: a. Climate and sustainability fund b. Wellington climate lab c. Workplace travel planning d. Climathon e. Zero carbon challenge f. Car sharing support g. Home energy audits. 11. I suspect that this would make me, on balance, a supporter of option 1. Decision 5 – Civic precinct 12. I think I agree with the preferred option, but I would like to extend the demolition to include the St James theatre, the Old Town Hall, the library, and the convention centre. In addition, I would like to see the owners of all heritage buildings in Wellington to be freed of any obligation to protect them, enabling them to make cost-effective business decisions regarding development. Decision 6 – Library 13. I am a supporter of option 2. Well, I'm a supporter of demolishing the building and getting a more cost-effective new build, but that is not an option. Decision 7 – Sludge 14. It's quite hard to avoid noting the covert rates increase of the preferred option, and the Auditor's comments about relying on the Infrastructure Funding and Financing Act 2020. I'm opposed to a PPP – this is not free money and ultimately requires a financier's margin to be funded in addition to the capital cost. 15. In the current fiscal environment I'm a grudging supporter of option 1, noting that if you undertook the type of expenditure review I suggest above, an investment option might become more affordable relatively quickly. The most annoying thing is to realise that the Council's preferred option looks about the same cost as strengthening the Old Town Hall. I know what investment I value more highly.

Feedback on draft Long Term Plan 2021-31

Context

1. For the last three years that I have taken an active interest in the Council's planning and budgeting, it has been reasonably clear that it performs poorly on a number of fronts and that as a result plans and budgets lack credibility. For example:
  - a. Long Term Plans fall into the trap of being relatively detailed in near years, and relatively light in later years. This has the benefit of allowing low average rates increases over a ten year period to be achieved, but they lack credibility as they rely on unrealistically low levels of activity in later years. I'm confident there little chance you will hold rates increases to between 0.7% and 3.2% in the last five years of the plan.
  - b. A review of individual budget lines shows that the overwhelming majority go up at varying growth rates. This is a bureaucrat's dream and suggests no serious attempts have been made to consider service cuts to non-core services, or to find process efficiencies within core services. Council staff will simply get to bank their current budget plus inflation. I suppose this makes for an easy life.
  - c. The qualified audit opinion and emphasis of matters is extremely serious. Audit NZ is telling the patient and thorough reader not to trust your budgets. There is a $403 million hole for housing. The lack of detailed asset condition information should lead to a performance management conversation for someone. Your capital intensions need phasing to be credible.

Where are the options to limit rates increases?

2. In the context of a proposed 13.5% rates increase next year, the approach the Council has taken to developing the LTP is flawed. It starts with the assumption that revenue is flexible rather than a binding constraint. The Council should have developed an option(s) that keeps rates increases limited and anchored (to the inflation rate for example), and identified the types of service cuts that would be required to achieve this. You have identified seven other major decisions for feedback, why is an option for rates constraint not one of them?

3. In the table below, I have identified 43 lines items that are not the core role of a council, and made some observations. I lack the information to make detailed recommendations, but these are the areas that could be pursued in formulating a "lower rates increase" scenario.

4. In addition to these 43 items, I am confident that efficiencies could be achieved within activity areas and their budget lines that are the core role of council. For example, within governance budgets it would be possible to rescind the appointment of two paid and unelected mana whenua representatives on Council committees.

Budget line item	Observation
EV charging and home energy audits	Why is there no revenue line for this item, and why is it increasing from $758k to $3.7m? Isn't your policy to cost recover services where individual beneficiaries can be identified?
Wellington Zoo	The lions have just died, can you cancel the snow leopard enclosure now and use the old lion one? Increase charges and/or scale back activity.
Zealandia	Cancel or reduce the increase in subsidy that sees costs rising from $1.5 to $2.5m / annum (66% increase).
Wellington NZ Tourism	Moderate the 50% budget increase from $6m / annum to $9m / annum.
Events fund	Moderate the 50% budget increase from $5.1m / annum to $7.6m / annum.
Wellington Venues	Charge adequately to cost recover (i.e., reduce the $5.3m subsidy).
Destination Wellington	This appears to be a new $1.9m line item ($0 cost in 2020/21 budget). Is now really the time? Who even knows what it's for.
CBD free wifi	Cancel it. The cost is reducing but it's unclear why a residual $30k lingers across the years.
Wellington Convention and Exhibition Centre	What a monstrous waste at a profoundly inopportune time. Chewing up cash and scarce real resources that you need fixing pipes.
Economic Growth Strategy	$1m per annum – I bet if you cut it no one will notice beyond a couple of Council employees.
City Growth Fund	A $2 million fund for the Council (rather than the market) to pick winners. Cut it. State aid grows zombie companies, not growth.
International Relations	$800k to what? Service sister city relationships? Really? Even now? Cut it. We have a central govt department (MFAT) that does international relations.
Wellington museums trust	Moderate the $5m increase (50%) growth path. Plan for less.

City Events programme	$3.4m / annum. Scale back instead of scaling up. We need to cut our cloth to prevent a 13.5% rates hike.
Citizens Day – Mayoral Day	Can it. Don't give us an electoral bribe with our own money thanks.
Cultural grants pool	Scale it back thanks, do we need this $1.2m fund on top of all the other funds?
Subsidised venue hire for community groups	Remove the subsidy thanks. $200k / annum.
City Arts Programme	$600k / annum. A good times nice to have policy. Scale back or cut.
NZSO subsidy	You subsidise my Chief Executive's season ticket with this $216k. I'll give you a hint, he doesn't need it.
Toi Poneke Arts Centre	Put this on a cost recovery basis and remove the $1.1m subsidy.
Public Art Fund	Who knew we needed this and the City Arts Programme? Remove and save $552k.
NZ Ballet	Remove the $160k subsidy thanks.
Orchestra Wellington	How many orchestras exactly do we need to subsidise? Can we reduce the $292k thanks.
Capital of Culture	Really? We're the capital of the public service. Let's have the $1.6m / annum back thanks.
Swimming pools operations	The $19m / annum level of subsidy provided to the pools need to be reined in. You could start by charging me to take my young children to the pool and increasing user charges.
Natural turf sport operations	Look to increase revenue options on this line.
Synthetic turf sport operations	Look to increase revenue options on this line.
Recreation centres	Look to increase revenue options on this line.
ASB Sports centre	Look to increase revenue options on this line.
Marina operations	We're still subsidising these? Really? $226k back to the ratepayers thanks.
Municipal golf course	Come on. I'll have the $180k subsidy thanks.
Recreation programmes	Reduce the subsidy level please or look to increase revenue.
Passport to leisure	Remove this subsidised option. $120k right there.
Social and recreational grant pool	Scale this back. Save a few million. I've been a middle class beneficiary of this for years through my running club. It's nuts.
Housing lines	The WCC needs an exit strategy and to sheet the responsibility home to central government where it belongs.
Community halls	Reduce the subsidy. $882k / annum.
Community Property and Facility Operations	Review what we own and why with a view to reducing expenditure. $2.2m / annum.
Build Wellington Developments	I have no idea what these are but they cost $2.2m / annum. I'm confident we could do with less.
Te Ngakau programme	Scale back expenditure.
City Heritage Development	If people like heritage, they could pay for it. I'm not sure why this requires a budget of $1.2m, unless people don't actually want to pay for it, but some other people think we should be forced to fund it. You could also lobby central government to disestablish Heritage NZ while you are at it.

Waterfront Commercial Property Services	Rename these the Waterfront subsidised property services. They're undercharging to the tune of $2.6m / annum.
Commercial Property Management and Services	Rename Subsidised Property Management and Services. They're undercharging to the tune of $3.1m / annum.
Maori engagement	This has increased from $108k to $1.2m / annum. For what? This looks like rent seeking. The Council has no Treaty obligations notwithstanding the frequent ill-informed commentary to the contrary. The requirements under the Local Government Act fall well short of this expenditure.

5. If the Council could have a relentless focus on interrogating existing expenditure, in addition to avoiding large and wasteful decisions such as a convention centre and earthquake strengthening old buildings, then I expect rates increases could be materially lowered.
6. I strongly recommend the Council undertakes a genuine expenditure review that includes both efficiencies and service reductions. Make it the type of review your CFO curses you for because you make them work hard.

Investment in three waters infrastructure
Cycleways
Te Atakura (climate change)
Central Library

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Te Atakura: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. Three waters: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Cycleways: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington.

Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making. Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs. WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. The money for this can be used on projects and services that will reduce Wellington's emissions, not increase them. As a private business the Airport can find its own funding easily.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters comments: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Te Atakura comments: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support WCC partnering with mana whenua in the ongoing implementation of Te Atakura. I support WCC/GWRC partnering with mana whenua and to develop a Climate Adaptation and Managed Retreat Plan for Wellington. This plan must be prepared with the community and identify how the city will adapt to climate change and begin managed retreat from areas at risk from sea level rise. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a programme to co-learn with the community about how Wellington can reduce its emissions and adapt to climate change. Cycleways comments: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the Council developing a Cycleway Implementation Plan that sets targets and projects the Council must deliver over several years. I support the building of new cycleways to be separated from the footpath, and where possible, upgrades to existing cycleways to be separated from the footpath to protect people with disabilities from injury. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by committing to decolonisation and working with mana whenua and Māori to identify what this would look like. I think that each activity or project WCC/GWRC commit to must consider how it can honour Te Tiriti and how a partnership approach can be taken in its delivery. I would like to see these considerations included in the final plan. I support WCC/GWRC supporting Māori to explore ways co-governance can be implemented in Wellington. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making.

Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs. WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. The money for this can be used on projects and services that will reduce Wellington's emissions, not increase them. As a private business the Airport can find its own funding easily.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on. As the much-love capital of New Zealand it behoves us to demonstrate strong decarbonising ambition. The vision and strategic framework must be more than a list of basic fields/"nice to haves""(page 13 of consultation document) arranged in a doughnut-shaped diagram as in the KCDC LTP 2021-41. In the absence of anything better with it behoves the Regional level of government, instituted to govern the framework of development at the bioregional and local level, to have a ""doughnut"" diagram that conveys the theory of sustainable development by better representing a ""snapshot"" of the current assemblage of biophysical and social metrics. Following the science of ""planetary boundaries the GWRC is, in my submission, challenged to unite with other progressive cities and nations in using the ""Doughnut Economics/21st Century Economics"" format promoted by economist Kate Raworth. Like standardising the gage of railway tracks, this allows for a more comparative, transparent and effective format of policy communication, deliberation and planning.

Te Atakura I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. WCC must meet their Treaty obligations - we are meant to be a democracy Debts I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. General I support the council sticking to its core business. And, when they make new rules get out from behind their desks and see how it impacts people who have to live with their new rules. If they are going to ticket all cars on paths, spend some of residents rates money on making streets fit for purpose, so cars can park at least on one side of the road to allow service vehicles areas to pass.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by committing to decolonisation and working with mana whenua and Māori to identify what this would look like. I think that each activity or project WCC/GWRC commit to must consider how it can honour Te Tiriti and how a partnership approach can be taken in its delivery. I would like to see these considerations included in the final plan. I support WCC/GWRC supporting Māori to explore ways co-governance can be implemented in Wellington. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making.

Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on.

General I want Wellington to be a place that all NZ'rs could afford to live in, a place that celebrates diversity, that supports young people.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters comments: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Te Atakura comments: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support WCC partnering with mana whenua in the ongoing implementation of Te Atakura. I support WCC/GWRC partnering with mana whenua and to develop a Climate Adaptation and Managed Retreat Plan for Wellington. This plan must be prepared with the community and identify how the city will adapt to climate change and begin managed retreat from areas at risk from sea level rise. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a programme to co-learn with the community about how Wellington can reduce its emissions and adapt to climate change. Cycleways comments: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the Council developing a Cycleway Implementation Plan that sets targets and projects the Council must deliver over several years. I support the building of new cycleways to be separated from the footpath, and where possible, upgrades to existing cycleways to be separated from the footpath to protect people with disabilities from injury. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters comments: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Te Atakura comments: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support WCC partnering with mana whenua in the ongoing implementation of Te Atakura. I support WCC/GWRC partnering with mana whenua and to develop a Climate Adaptation and Managed Retreat Plan for Wellington. This plan must be prepared with the community and identify how the city will adapt to climate change and begin managed retreat from areas at risk from sea level rise. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a programme to co-learn with the community about how Wellington can reduce its emissions and adapt to climate change. Cycleways comments: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the Council developing a Cycleway Implementation Plan that sets targets and projects the Council must deliver over several years. I support the building of new cycleways to be separated from the footpath, and where possible, upgrades to existing cycleways to be separated from the footpath to protect people with disabilities from injury. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by committing to decolonisation and working with mana whenua and Māori to identify what this would look like. I think that each activity or project WCC/GWRC commit to must consider how it can honour Te Tiriti and how a partnership approach can be taken in its delivery. I would like to see these considerations included in the final plan. I support WCC/GWRC supporting Māori to explore ways co-governance can be implemented in Wellington. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making.

Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs. WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. The money for this can be used on projects and services that will reduce Wellington's emissions, not increase them. As a private business the Airport can find its own funding easily.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on.

General I love living in Wellington and I want to stay living here but that will mean we need to get going with the right kind of changes being made now. I want my children who have grown up here so far to be able to remain living in this city that we all love so much. Let's make Wellington the bet it can be.

General I support the installation of Storm X-type catch nets to prevent plastic and other litter from flowing into one of New Zealand's very few marine sanctuaries. I also support the council providing budget for emptying and maintenance of the nets because that is what taking responsibility for our waste looks like. I support the council taking action to clean up our urban waterways, particularly Owhiro Stream and the leachate flowing out of our landfills and into our marine sanctuary because that is what taking responsibility for our waste looks like. I support the council introducing curb side food waste recycling systems to reduce methane emissions and to prevent valuable nutrients from becoming part of the irretrievable toxic soup in our landfill because that is what taking responsibility for our waste looks like. I support council to Reduce, Reuse and Repair facilities and systems that support our citizens to reduce and where possible eliminate waste to preserve valuable resources, extend the life of our landfills because that is what taking responsibility for our waste looks like. I support the council to rapidly shift procurement of resources, products and services to companies that are committed to being part of a circular economy because that is what taking responsibility for our waste, our climate, our water, our land and all the animals that live there looks like.

It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs. WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. The money for this can be used on projects and services that will reduce Wellington's emissions, not increase them. As a private business the Airport can find its own funding easily.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on.

Cycleways

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Double the Cycling Minor Works Budget to $2 million per year to cover bike parking and other improvements. Create a new dedicated funding category to deliver rapid changes to the urban environment without using the Minor Works budget. Ring-fence cycling funding so a failure to deliver doesn't help your budget in other areas, creating perverse incentives. Prioritise children before seawalls - don't delay Northern suburbs cycleways to spend on projects that combine recreational biking routes with expensive coastal protection. These comments are in line with the Cycle Wellington discussion at <https://cycwell.wordpress.com/2021/04/30/planning-for-the-long-term-submission-guide/> and with the Cycle Wellington submission on the LTP.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters comments: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Te Atakura comments: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support WCC partnering with mana whenua in the ongoing implementation of Te Atakura. I support WCC/GWRC partnering with mana whenua and to develop a Climate Adaptation and Managed Retreat Plan for Wellington. This plan must be prepared with the community and identify how the city will adapt to climate change and begin managed retreat from areas at risk from sea level rise. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a programme to co-learn with the community about how Wellington can reduce its emissions and adapt to climate change. Cycleways comments: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the Council developing a Cycleway Implementation Plan that sets targets and projects the Council must deliver over several years. I support the building of new cycleways to be separated from the footpath, and where possible, upgrades to existing cycleways to be separated from the footpath to protect people with disabilities from injury. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

Q21. Do you have any comments you would like to provide about the big decisions, fees and user charges changes, other future issues or any other general feedback on our 10-year plan and budget?

Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by committing to decolonisation and working with mana whenua and Māori to identify what this would look like. I think that each activity or project WCC/GWRC commit to must consider how it can honour Te Tiriti and how a partnership approach can be taken in its delivery. I would like to see these considerations included in the final plan. I support WCC/GWRC supporting Māori to explore ways co-governance can be implemented in Wellington. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making.

Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs. WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. General I would love to see more green in the city and more safe and inviting inner city spaces. I lived in central London for a few years and it was easier there to pop down to a local park to read a book, meet your friends for a picnic, go for a jog / practice yoga, than it is here. Community gardens were also common and something we should consider more of in central Wellington for healthy happy, communities. There are more and more people living in apartments in central Wellington without cars and it would be good to have accessible outdoor spaces for our physical and mental health.

I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by committing to decolonisation and working with mana whenua and Māori to identify what this would look like. I think that each activity or project WCC/GWRC commit to must consider how it can honour Te Tiriti and how a partnership approach can be taken in its delivery. I would like to see these considerations included in the final plan. I support WCC/GWRC supporting Māori to explore ways co-governance can be implemented in Wellington. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making.

Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters comments: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Te Atakura comments: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support WCC partnering with mana whenua in the ongoing implementation of Te Atakura. I support WCC/GWRC partnering with mana whenua and to develop a Climate Adaptation and Managed Retreat Plan for Wellington. This plan must be prepared with the community and identify how the city will adapt to climate change and begin managed retreat from areas at risk from sea level rise. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a programme to co-learn with the community about how Wellington can reduce its emissions and adapt to climate change. Cycleways comments: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the Council developing a Cycleway Implementation Plan that sets targets and projects the Council must deliver over several years. I support the building of new cycleways to be separated from the footpath, and where possible, upgrades to existing cycleways to be separated from the footpath to protect people with disabilities from injury. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. The money for this can be used on projects and services that will reduce Wellington's emissions, not increase them. As a private business the Airport can find its own funding easily.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on.

General I want Wellington to still be here in 20 years time (at current rates of sea level rise, that outcome is debatable). I want Wellington to be a thriving, functional, healthy, affordable low-carbon place for people of all backgrounds to live, work and play. I want our time to be focussed on restoring and caring for our climate and environment and people, not overwhelmed by having to respond time and again to environmental, climatic and structural emergencies. I want Wellington to be a region in which my grandchildren have an affordable and livable future.

Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by committing to decolonisation and working with mana whenua and Māori to identify what this would look like. I think that each activity or project WCC/GWRC commit to must consider how it can honour Te Tiriti and how a partnership approach can be taken in its delivery. I would like to see these considerations included in the final plan. I support WCC/GWRC supporting Māori to explore ways co-governance can be implemented in Wellington. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making.

Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs. WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. The money for this can be used on projects and services that will reduce Wellington's emissions, not increase them. As a private business the Airport can find its own funding easily.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters comments: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Te Atakura comments: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support WCC partnering with mana whenua in the ongoing implementation of Te Atakura. I support WCC/GWRC partnering with mana whenua and to develop a Climate Adaptation and Managed Retreat Plan for Wellington. This plan must be prepared with the community and identify how the city will adapt to climate change and begin managed retreat from areas at risk from sea level rise. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a programme to co-learn with the community about how Wellington can reduce its emissions and adapt to climate change. Cycleways comments: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the Council developing a Cycleway Implementation Plan that sets targets and projects the Council must deliver over several years. I support the building of new cycleways to be separated from the footpath, and where possible, upgrades to existing cycleways to be separated from the footpath to protect people with disabilities from injury. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

General Our city has so much potential but a history of under investment in key areas has lead to a multitude of crises that are terrible for our environment and forcing young people out of the city. I grew up here, and would love to keep living here because the people are awesome and the wind is super fun. We need to be making the right decisions across the board to enable intensification in the city, half our emissions by 2030, and right historic injustice by upholding Te Tiriti o Waitangi. Also I would love to see more cycle lanes because right now I feel like a bad descendent ignoring my Dutch heritage because I am too scared to ride my bike here thanks very much.

Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by committing to decolonisation and working with mana whenua and Māori to identify what this would look like. I think that each activity or project WCC/GWRC commit to must consider how it can honour Te Tiriti and how a partnership approach can be taken in its delivery. I would like to see these considerations included in the final plan. I support WCC/GWRC supporting Māori to explore ways co-governance can be implemented in Wellington. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making.

Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs. WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. The money for this can be used on projects and services that will reduce Wellington's emissions, not increase them. As a private business the Airport can find its own funding easily.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters comments: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Te Atakura comments: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support WCC partnering with mana whenua in the ongoing implementation of Te Atakura. I support WCC/GWRC partnering with mana whenua and to develop a Climate Adaptation and Managed Retreat Plan for Wellington. This plan must be prepared with the community and identify how the city will adapt to climate change and begin managed retreat from areas at risk from sea level rise. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a programme to co-learn with the community about how Wellington can reduce its emissions and adapt to climate change. Cycleways comments: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the Council developing a Cycleway Implementation Plan that sets targets and projects the Council must deliver over several years. I support the building of new cycleways to be separated from the footpath, and where possible, upgrades to existing cycleways to be separated from the footpath to protect people with disabilities from injury. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by establishing and supporting Māori wards. I think that WCC and GRWC can also meet their Te Tiriti o Waitangi obligations by committing to decolonisation and working with mana whenua and Māori to identify what this would look like. I think that each activity or project WCC/GWRC commit to must consider how it can honour Te Tiriti and how a partnership approach can be taken in its delivery. I would like to see these considerations included in the final plan. I support WCC/GWRC supporting Māori to explore ways co-governance can be implemented in Wellington. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a mana whenua lead team to develop and implement a plan for Council to involve iwi and Māori in future decision making.

Debt comments I support Wellington City Council using all financial resources available to future proof our city. This includes lifting its self imposed debt limit to fund all projects which support our ambitions for reducing carbon emissions, protecting the environment, providing affordable housing and enhancing wellbeing. I believe spending money now will create more cost effective infrastructure for our future. It will also lessen the financial burden of future generations who are already facing unaffordable housing, and crippling infrastructure and climate adaptation costs. WCC must not provide a loan or grant to Wellington Airport for repairs to the sea wall or extension of the airport. The money for this can be used on projects and services that will reduce Wellington's emissions, not increase them. As a private business the Airport can find its own funding easily.

Safe Streets comments I want Wellington City Council to work with and support community leaders, disabled people and local businesses to ensure that Wellington's streets are safe and accessible to get around on.

General Wellington is home town. I'm committed to living here and want to see our city and its people prosper and live well. My concern is that unless we act now in terms of developing services and infrastructure to decrease our carbon emissions and prepare the city and region for the effects of climate change, there will be hugely irreparable damage to people and the environment.

Q17. Your comments on the big decisions (optional)

Three Waters comments: I support the council adapting the most ambitious option (Option 3 - Accelerated Investment) for upgrading our water, wastewater and stormwater network. This will mean Wellington is able to provide more housing and reduce the number of pipe bursts happening around the city. I also support council looking into how it can implement good practices (Structure Planning and Water Sensitive Design) that improve how well they operate and reduce their environmental impact. Te Atakura comments: I support WCC fully funding their zero carbon plan, Te Atakura - First to Zero. I think Wellington needs to take urgent climate action. I support WCC partnering with mana whenua in the ongoing implementation of Te Atakura. I support WCC/GWRC partnering with mana whenua and to develop a Climate Adaptation and Managed Retreat Plan for Wellington. This plan must be prepared with the community and identify how the city will adapt to climate change and begin managed retreat from areas at risk from sea level rise. I support WCC/GWRC establishing a programme to co-learn with the community about how Wellington can reduce its emissions and adapt to climate change. Cycleways comments: I support the most ambitious option of the full $226m roll out of Wellington's cycle network programme (Option four - Accelerated full programme) as this matches the urgency of a climate emergency. I support the Council developing a Cycleway Implementation Plan that sets targets and projects the Council must deliver over several years. I support the building of new cycleways to be separated from the footpath, and where possible, upgrades to existing cycleways to be separated from the footpath to protect people with disabilities from injury. I support the acceleration of maximising the number of people in Wellington who have access to cycleways so that they can utilise the most efficient and low carbon mode of transport. I support the building and design of roads and cycleways that prioritise the visibility and safety of cyclists from vehicles. Library Comments: I support Council restoring the Central Library as soon as possible by adopting Option 1. I support the continuation of pop-up libraries because they provide community members with support, resources and a space to connect. I support Council considering how it can provide community gardens and composting facilities around Wellington. I support Council considering how it can provide third spaces across Wellington that provide a free space for a diverse range of people to spend time in.

General Because I lived here and I love it. But I also bike around the streets and just about every day have a near death experience. This city needs too be safe now and for future generations to live and thrive in.
